Wallace State Fine and Performing Arts presents ArtsKids! programs

Gail Crutchfield
WSCC

HANCEVILLE – The Wallace State Community College Fine and Performing Arts department announces its new ArtsKids program for area students in grades 3-8. The first session, SingKids! will be held during Fall 2017 semester.

"ArtsKids is a new outreach program offered through our Fine and Performing Arts programs to give area students an introduction to performance and studio arts," said Lauren Cantrell Salerno, head of the college's Theatre department.

"This fall will focus on singing and dancing with SingKids! In the spring, we will have options for students interested in theater and studio arts with BroadwayKids! and StudioKids!"

At the end of each session, the students in SingKids! and BroadwayKids! will get to show off what they've learned in a performance, and the StudioKids! participants will display their artwork at an art exhibition.

SingKids! gives students the opportunity to hone their vocal and dancing skills through participation in a miniature version of the Wallace State Singers music review group.

The ensemble meets weekly in the fall, and performs at the Wallace State Music Department Christmas Concert.

SingKids! will be held each Wednesday (except Nov. 22) Sept. 13 through Dec. 6, from 3:45-4:45 p.m. There is a limit of 30 students, and the cost is $150.

BroadwayKids! meets weekly in the spring to rehearse and perform a musical theatre production. Through work on the play, students enhance their acting, singing, and dancing skills. The final production is performed for an audience at the end of the semester. This year, the production is Annie, Jr!

BroadwayKids! will be held each Wednesday (except March 14 and 28) from Jan. 10 through May 2, from 3:45 to 4:45 p.m. There is a limit of 40 students, and the cost is $150.

StudioKids! immerses students in studio visual art making experiences through drawing, painting, sculpture and graphic design course projects. The full course culminates in a student exhibition at the end of the term

StudioKids! will be held each Tuesday (except March 27) from Jan. 10 through May 2, from 3:45 to 4:45 p.m.

There is a limit of 20 students, and the cost is $150.

CULLMAN – United Way of Cullman County, in collaboration with its community partners, will host a Day of Caring on Tuesday, Sept.12, 2017. The event will provide community members with a meaningful and collective volunteer opportunity.

"Day of Caring gives our community the opportunity to unite and give back," said Albert von Pelser-Berensberg, United Way of Cullman County board member.

"During Day of Caring, volunteers are able to accomplish projects for our community partners that allow them to focus on their mission."

This year we have eight businesses that are donating time, volunteers and resources to assist with hands-on projects such as cleaning, landscaping and providing lunch for program participants.

Day of Caring promotes the value of volunteerism and demonstrates that neighbors helping neighbors can create a positive change in the lives of children, families and seniors.

Vinemont woman charged with human trafficking

Wendy Sack
wendy@cullmantribune.com

VINEMONT – A Vinemont woman was arrested and jailed on Friday, Sept. 1 for human trafficking. Stefanie Nichole Weaver, 23, is charged with second-degree sodomy, facilitating the travel of a child for an unlawful sex act and first-degree human trafficking.

According to a media release from the Cullman County Sheriff's Office, CCSO investigators discovered that Weaver allegedly met a juvenile on Facebook and traveled to Ohio to meet the victim. The suspect allegedly admitted to CCSO investigators that once she was in Ohio she had knowledge of the minor's true age. Weaver allegedly had a sexual relationship with the minor in Ohio and in Cullman County after she transported the minor here.

The minor was reported as a runaway juvenile from Ohio and was located by the CCSO.

Because the crime involves a minor, no further details are being released by the CCSO.

"This case is disturbing on many levels. I tell parents all the time to always watch who your children are talking to on social media because predators use social media. Also, it shows that predators will drive hundreds of miles, so we as parents and law enforcement have to stay vigilant in this new social media age," said Sheriff Matt Gentry. "I would like to thank our investigators for their prompt and immediate work in this case."

Weaver was booked into the Cullman County Detention Center on a $150,000 bond.

WEST POINT – Two West Point residents were arrested and jailed Tuesday after a search of a residence led to the alleged discovery of methamphetamine, marijuana and drug paraphernalia.

Cullman Police Department Sgts. Chris Thomason, Scott Sanford and Eric Cole, along with Officers Trey Higginbotham, Cole Kelley and Dustin Colburn executed the search warrant at a residence on County Road 1192.

During the search, authorities allegedly recovered approximately 27 grams of methamphetamine, a small amount of marijuana and various items of drug paraphernalia.

Megan Nail James, 33, was arrested for possession with intent to distribute a controlled substance, second-degree unlawful possession of marijuana and unlawful possession of drug paraphernalia. Her bond is $33,000.

Christopher Adam Barnett, 41, was arrested for unlawful possession of a controlled substance. The CPD said Barnett also had multiple outstanding warrants with other agencies at the time of his arrest. His bond is $4,000.

Both subjects were transported to the Cullman County Detention Center where they remain incarcerated as of press time.

Thomason, in a media release, expressed his thanks to the officers involved for the excellent job done. He also asked citizens with information on illegal drug activity to please call 256-734-1434 or 256-775-7179.

According to a media release from the CPD, the officers conducted a routine traffic stop on a vehicle driven by Andrew Jacob Maresh, 18. The CPD says that Kelley had probable cause to search the vehicle. Maresh was placed under arrest for first-degree unlawful possession of marijuana, unlawful possession of a controlled substance and first-degree criminal possession of a forged instrument. Maresh was transported to the Cullman County Detention Center. He has since made bond.

People who took the drug misoprostol for stomach ulcers along with non-steroidal anti-inflammatory (NSAID) drugs had a significantly lower risk of serious cardiovascular events, stroke and kidney failure than those who took NSAIDs alone, according to a study scheduled for presentation at the American College of Cardiology's 66th Annual Scientific Session. NSAIDs, a large category of drugs that includes ibuprofen, celecoxib and dozens of others, are commonly used to treat pain, inflammation and fever and are available by prescription and over the counter. They are one of the most commonly used medications worldwide, with more than 70 million prescriptions written and about 30 billion doses consumed in the United States annually. They have been linked with rare but life-threatening side effects including heart attacks, cardiac arrest, stroke and acute kidney failure, collectively referred to as cardio-renal complications. Because stomach ulcers are a common side effect in many NSAIDs, misoprostol and NSAIDs are sometimes prescribed together in people at high risk for ulcers.

CULLMAN – Although the rain was pouring and the wind was blowing, the afternoon storm did little to dampen the spirits of the Cullman High School swim team, who held its first meet of the year at the Cullman Wellness and Aquatic Center Tuesday. The Bearcats faced Buckhorn and Randolph High Schools.

Cullman's girls took first place with some great work in the water.

The Bearcats had two female swimmers place first in their individual events. Cabri Adams took first in the 100-yard individual medley, 50-yard butterfly and the 50-yard backstroke. Claire Ogstad took first in the 50-yard breaststroke.

Along with impressive individual efforts, the Lady Bearcats relay team of Reese McNeel, Kelly Warren, Adams, and Ruby Hudson placed first in the 200-yard freestyle relay.

The Cullman Bearcat boys' squad took third place.

"We are looking forward to our next meet Sept. 12 at the Cullman Wellness and Aquatic Center," said Cullman swim coach Cory Goble.

Lady Saints play big, come up short against Lindsay Lane

Nick Griffin
Tribune Correspondent

CULLMAN – The St. Bernard Lady Saints' volleyball team hosted the Lady Lions of Lindsay Lane Christian Academy Tuesday night for a hard-fought match between two good teams.

The Lady Lions came away with the victory after winning the first three matches by scores of 25-13, 25-19 and 25-18.

Leading the way for the Lady Saints during the match Tuesday night was Ashley Duke, who finished the night with five aces and seven total points scored. Duke was St. Bernard's most effective server on the night, with Avy Whaley following close behind with three aces of her own.

Defensively, the Lady Saints got a good performance from Olivia Brown who came up with a big block in both the first and third games of the match. Emma Tafazoli was also involved in the scoring, with late kills in both the first and third matches.

Unfortunately, the standout performances were not enough to overcome the Lady Lions of Lindsay Lane. The Lady Saints look to bounce back later this week on the road against the Tanner Rattlers on Sept. 7.

Use of force: CCSO Citizens' Academy, week 3

craig@cullmansense.com

W.C. MANN/THE CULLMAN TRIBUNE

CA students face simulated violent crime scenarios on Wallace State's computerized virtual firing range.

HANCEVILLE – In the third week of the Cullman County Sheriff's Office (CCSO) Citizens' Academy (CA), students met at Wallace State's Advanced Visualization Center to get hands-on with simulated firearms in virtual violent crime scenarios. They got to test their judgment, reflexes, and aim, and in a few cases even got to talk bad guys into surrendering.

All students who wished to do so were given the opportunity to take part in at least two use of force scenarios. Situations included traffic stops gone bad, escalating domestic disputes, business robberies and active shooters in schools and other places.

"This is a new thing that we get to do with the citizens' academy," said Sheriff Matt Gentry. "We were able to do it with the last academy, and it's just a great opportunity to get you a one-on-one look at what a bad situation can be, in a controlled environment."

Defensive tactics instructor Deputy Chad Whaley and firearms instructor Sgt. David Nunn led students through the scenarios, with Wallace State's Brandy Parker controlling things from her computer.

Whaley talked about levels of force, and how law enforcement officers are required to match type and amount of force to the situation and opponent they face in any given situation.

"It starts," he said, "basically with the uniform, the badge. That's the first use of force we have. Being a law enforcement officer, when we drive up in a police car, we're already displaying our force, because we are the authority on scene. And luckily for us, a lot of times that's all it takes."

Whaley went on to outline escalating levels of force, saying, "We have to react and respond accordingly, based on what the people are doing."

• Verbal interaction with persons on the scene of a call
• "Open hand" soft techniques to gain control of a passively non-compliant person and escort them away from the immediate vicinity of trouble
• Grappling techniques to gain control of those who are actively resisting, but not fighting
• Use of intermediate weapons (tasers, batons, pepper spray) and unarmed combat techniques to defend against subjects who become violent
• Use of lethal force against subjects, whether armed or unarmed, who pose an immediate threat to the life or safety of the officer or another person and cannot readily be controlled by lesser means

Whaley emphasized the need for officers to be trained in the use of whatever type of force they use, saying that the use of force by an untrained officer has a strong likelihood of leading to litigation or prosecution.

He also emphasized the need for communication, explaining that it is always better for all involved if an officer can talk someone into compliance, instead of having to physically subdue someone in a fight, or, worst of all, having to take a life.

Whaley said, "There's a big difference between being able to defend yourself and winning fights. Law enforcement, we're not in it to win fights; we're in it to control the situation, and that's what use of force really is."

ADAI opens 4 livestock shelters in preparation for Hurricane Irma

ADAI
Tribune Contributor

MONTGOMERY – With expectations of Hurricane Irma making landfall in south Florida this weekend, the Alabama Department of Agriculture and Industries (ADAI) has been in contact with the Alabama Cooperative Extension System (ACES), Alabama Farmers Federation (ALFA), Alabama Horse Council and the Florida Department of Agriculture and Consumers Services to confirm temporary sheltering facilities for evacuated livestock including horses and cattle.

"Hurricane Irma, upgraded to a Category 5 storm with maximum sustained winds of 185 mph, has the capability of causing catastrophic damage. We stand ready to assist our neighbors in Florida, by providing a place for those who need shelter for their livestock," said Commissioner of Agriculture and Industries John McMillan.

In preparation for this storm, Alabama's State Veterinarian Dr. Tony Frazier has been in contact with Florida's State Veterinarian, Dr. Michael Short, in planning for the potential evacuation of certain livestock and animals. Animals moving in response to evacuation orders will be exempt from a certificate of veterinary inspection. There are four sheltering facilities that are equipped to accommodate these animals at this time. If these facilities reach maximum capacity or if additional sheltering facilities become available, updates will be posted at www.agi.alabama.gov. These sheltering facilities are only equipped to shelter livestock, not pets or companion animals such as dogs or cats. Please contact the facility to confirm that space is available prior to your arrival.

When evacuating, it is important for livestock owners to be prepared to care for their animals while they are away. Please be sure to bring the following items with you:

- Current list of all animals, including their records of feeding, vaccinations, and tests. Make sure that you have proof of ownership for all animals.
- Supplies for temporary identification of your animals, such as plastic neckbands and permanent markers to label your animals with your name, address, and telephone number.
- Handling equipment such as halters and appropriate tools for each kind of animal.
- Water, feed, and buckets. Tools and supplies needed for sanitation.

For question or concerns about sheltering livestock during hurricane evacuation, contact ADAI Emergency Programs at 334-240-7278 or email ben.mullins@agi.alabama.gov.
