Pence visits Redstone Arsenal

HUNTSVILLE – Both President Donald Trump and Vice President Mike Pence decided to swing through Alabama to stump for Luther Strange ahead of Tuesday's special Senate election. On Monday, Pence flew into Redstone Arsenal on his way to a rally in Birmingham.

The vice president had good reason to drop by Rocket City: over the summer Trump revived the National Space Council, which had been disbanded in 1993 under the Clinton administration, and named Pence to head it up.

According to NASA/Marshall Space Flight Center Public Affairs Specialist Tracy McMahan, "He wanted to see some of the hardware, especially for two of our human spaceflight programs: the Space Launch System (SLS) and the International Space Station (ISS). And he's also going over to Redstone Arsenal, to see some of their hardware."

In the International Space Station's Payload Operations and Integration Center, Pence received a briefing on ISS activities at Marshall Space Flight Center, and got to speak directly to astronauts aboard the station, telling them, "Literally and figuratively, we all look up to you!"

At Marshall's historic Bldg. 4619, a test facility dating back to the days of the Apollo moon missions and Saturn V rocket, Pence got up close with the Space Launch System (SLS) and its Core Stage Engine Section Test Article that just began testing that NASA hopes will help prove that the SLS is a sturdy enough platform to carry astronauts beyond the moon and on to Mars. (See The Tribune's previous story www.cullmantribune.com/articles/2017/05/25/redstone-arsenal-and-nasa-welcome-first-major-piece-space-exploration-hardware.)

McMahan noted that testing began recently, and should conclude in December.

She explained, "They'll take the data that they get from the tests and compare it to computer models, to say, 'Yes, this design's good.' So this test really validates that design."

The SLS is scheduled to make an unmanned, remotely-controlled test flight 40,000 miles beyond the moon (farther than any vehicle intended for human transport has ever traveled) in 2019, and its first manned flight in 2022.

Before leaving Redstone Arsenal, Pence also visited the U.S. Army Aviation and Missile Research, Development, and Engineering Center, where he received a more private briefing on the Army's current missile defense projects.

SLS Program Manager John Honeycutt said of the day's events, "Oh, it's exciting! You know, the Space Council stood up again; vice presidents chaired the Space Council. (It's) unbelievable that he took time to come here and see the progress we're making on the SLS . . . I think he was very impressed; he was awe-inspired. He said, 'This is amazing; you guys are doing good work.'"

Marshall has many ongoing projects that support the jobs of more than 17,000 north Alabama residents, and contributes more than $70 million to the region through state and local taxes.

Of the SLS project itself, NASA's press materials state: "The economic impacts of SLS are heavily concentrated in Alabama. The SLS program supports 13,000 jobs and approximately $55 million in state and local taxes annually. Additionally, a large segment of SLS contracts, nearly $950 million worth, are sourced in Alabama. The total economic impact of SLS in the state of Alabama is $2.1 billion."

Primary opponents line up behind Roy Moore

WASHINGTON D.C. – Republicans who campaigned against Roy Moore in the special election primary, sometimes bitterly, are now voicing support for the former Alabama Supreme Court justice as he moves on to the U.S. Senate special election in December. Moore defeated Sen. Luther Strange in the U.S. Senate special election Republican primary run-off election Tuesday.

President Donald Trump, who personally stumped in Alabama for Moore's run-off opponent, Sen. Luther Strange, last week, tweeted, "Congratulations to Roy Moore on his Republican Primary win in Alabama. Luther Strange started way back & ran a good race. Roy, WIN in Dec!"

Vice President Mike Pence, who visited Birmingham on Monday on Strange's behalf, also took to social media, "Congratulations Roy Moore! We are thrilled you ran on the #MAGA (Make America Great Again) agenda & we are for you!"

The Senate Leadership Fund, a political action committee connected to Senate Majority Leader Mitch McConnell, also pledged its support for Moore, after spending an estimated $7-9 million campaigning against him, often through attack ads. In a statement Tuesday evening, SLF President Steven Law wrote, "While we

Commission on Aging opens senior center in Fairview

craig@cullmansense.com

FAIRVIEW – The Cullman County Commission on Aging (CCCOA) on Tuesday cut the ribbon on its newest senior center, this one in Fairview. In attendance were State Rep. Randall Shedd, R-Fairview, Cullman County Commissioners Garry Marchman and Kerry Watson, Cullman County Sheriff Matt Gentry, and CCOA Director Dusty Baker, among others.

The facility, located at 660 Welcome Road, will be able to host numerous activities for area seniors, and will serve as the base for a Meals-on-Wheels feeding program for homebound seniors in an area corresponding to the Fairview school district, which includes Baileyton, Gold Ridge, Simcoe and other locations in northeast Cullman County.

In an interview earlier this year, Baker explained the feeding program, "Our Meals-on-Wheels program makes sure that seniors who are homebound (in other words, can't drive) have adequate nutrition. This serves a dual purpose as it also lets us perform daily assurance checks that lets family and the CCCOA that they are doing OK."

The CCCOA also advises seniors on navigating Medicare programs, assists seniors in finding low- or even no-cost prescriptions, and offers recreational and personal enrichment activities through its centers.

Shedd helped create the CCCOA when he was chairman of the County Commission in 1977. While serving as mayor of Fairview from 1996 to 2012, he also headed up the CCCOA.

Shedd said that the Fairview Senior Center has "been in the works for a long, long time--in planning stages and getting funding. When I was Director of the CCCOA, we studied the demographics of the county. The third largest senior population was in West Point, and the fourth largest was in Fairview. West Point's senior center is in its town hall, but Fairview (Town Hall) was too small for a full-time senior center, so we had to go somewhere else and build one."

The project was a group effort, with funding from numerous sources, including:

- $250,000 from the Alabama Department of Economic and Community Affairs
- $50,000 from Cullman County Community Development Commission
- $25,000 from the Cullman County Commission, which also provided site preparation work
- $25,000 from the Alabama Association of Resource Conservation and Development Councils
- $15,000 from the Alabama Department of Senior Services
- $4,500 from Cullman area Wal-Mart Supercenters and Distribution Center 6006

CCCOA

Local seniors join in to cut the ribbon on the new Fairview Senior Center.

Said Shedd, "It was a partnership project where everybody pitched in." For more information on the CCCOA, visit online www.co.cullman.al.us/coa/index.html, or call 256-734-1241.

The U.S. Food and Drug Administration has approved Dupixent (dupilumab) injection to treat adults with moderate-to-severe eczema (atopic dermatitis). Dupixent is intended for patients whose eczema is not controlled adequately by topical therapies, or those for whom topical therapies are not advisable. Dupixent can be used with or without topical corticosteroids. Atopic dermatitis, a chronic inflammatory skin disease, is often referred to as "eczema," which is a general term for several types of inflammation of the skin. Atopic dermatitis is the most common of the many types of eczema; onset typically begins in childhood and can last through adulthood. The cause of atopic dermatitis is a combination of genetic, immune and environmental factors. In atopic dermatitis, the skin develops red, scaly and crusted bumps, which are extremely itchy. Scratching leads to swelling, cracking, "weeping" clear fluid, and finally, coarsening and thickening of the skin.

Pembrolizumab, an antibody drug already used to treat other forms of cancer, can be effective in the treatment of the most common form of mesothelioma, according to a new study published in The Lancet Oncology. Malignant pleural mesothelioma is a rare and aggressive cancer that represents about 90 percent of all malignant mesothelioma cases. It's primarily caused by the inhalation of asbestos, a fiber commonly found in some forms of insulation, vinyl floor tiles and other material. Tumors form in the pleura, a thin membrane of cells that line the lungs and chest wall. Most patients survive less than a year. This poor prognosis is partially due to the fact that most patients are not diagnosed until they are already at a late stage of the disease. The standard first-line therapy treatment involves chemotherapy and currently there is no approved second-line therapy.

Hwy. 157 turn lane still top project in West Point

Nick Griffin
Tribune Correspondent

WEST POINT – The West Point Town Council met Monday night for its monthly meeting after rescheduling its session last week. After a prayer and the pledge of allegiance, the meeting got underway with a statement from a representative of the West Point High School tennis team, Tim Garner.

Garner was at the meeting to make a request regarding payments on the lights for the tennis courts. Garner asked for money to help pay the light bills due to the amount of time the public spends using the courts. The tennis team uses them three months out of the year but the public uses them year-round. West Point Mayor Kenneth Kilgo agreed with Garner and the council voted to pay $1,500 toward helping the tennis team make payments on the lights.

The bulk of the meeting took place after the council entered a public hearing to discuss the ongoing Alabama Highway 157 extended deceleration/turn lane project.

The lane is planned for the eastbound side of the highway as it approaches the County Road 1242 intersection where Jack's is located. The entire project is expected to cost $200,000, with the Alabama Department of Transportation (ALDOT) committing $100,000 and other sources committing $60,000. All other costs are the responsibility of the developer. The Town of West Point will have to cover engineering and permit costs associated with the project, which is currently estimated to be $20,000.

Kilgo called the project "the most important project for the community since the sewer project."

Kilgo was referring to the town's sanitary sewer system that began developing in 2009 and current plans to expand that system. Everyone on the council agreed they are committed to doing whatever they need to do to get the lane built.

"The Town is now waiting for more numbers to come in from the state and the developer.

The next discussion involved the addition of a street light on County Road 1243.

The council agreed that the area is dangerous for those using it as an extension of the running and walking path and so they agreed to discuss the topic further at their next meeting.

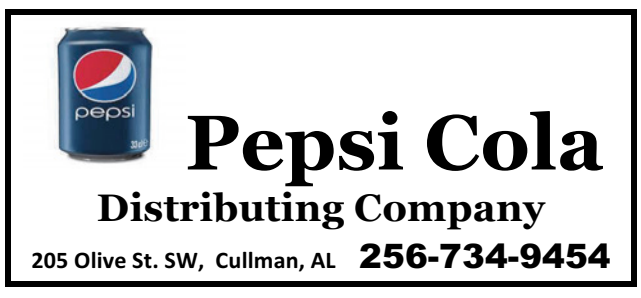

The last item on the agenda was the addition of a community billboard at the intersection of County Roads 1141 and 1242 near the location of the West Point Family Medical Clinic that is currently under construction.

Some of the council members expressed concerns over the billboard being a distraction for drivers and its potential effect on visibility so they agreed to discuss it more in depth at their next meet as well.

The West Point Town Council meets on the third Monday of each month; the next meeting is scheduled for Oct. 16.

CULLMAN COUNTY – Following a full week of action, the Cullman County Fireplug, Wee Wee and Pee Wee teams will be back at it this week. With the play-off picture starting to shape up, it is a battle for position for some teams and a battle to stay alive for others.

Cullman Cyclones at Fairview
The Cyclones are coming off a three- win week with the Fireplugs, Wee Wee and Pee Wee teams all handling the West Point Warriors handily. They look to keep the momentum going as they travel to Fairview this week to take on the Aggies. The Fairview Fireplugs beat Vinemont 8-0, but the Wee Wee squad fell to the Vinemont Eagles 6-0. The Pee Wee squad won 38-0.

West Point at Cullman Bearcats
After falling to the Cyclones in all three games last Saturday, West Point looks to rebound as they travel to Cullman to take on the Bearcats, whose Fireplug squad beat the Good Hope Outlaws 26-12, but whose Wee Wees fell 12-6.

Holly Pond at Good Hope Raiders
The Raiders were winners in Fireplug and Wee Wee action Saturday and they look to stay on top when they welcome Holly Pond to town.

Good Hope Outlaws at Hanceville
The Outlaws split games with Cullman this week, with the Fireplugs falling 26-12, but Wee Wees winning 12-6. They will travel to Hanceville this week.

Cold Springs at Vinemont
The only Vinemont team that scored a victory Saturday was the Wee Wee squad, who kept their hopes for claiming the no. 1 seed in their division alive. The Vinemont Eagles will welcome Cold Springs Saturday.

PREP VOLLEYBALL

Lady Eagles sweep Lady Saints in straight sets

Nick Griffin
Tribune Correspondent

VINEMONT – The Vinemont Lady Eagles hosted the Lady Saints of St. Bernard Tuesday night for a non-conference volleyball matchup and it was all Eagles from the first set. Vinemont swept St. Bernard in three sets by scores of 25-14, 25-9 and 25-14 to win the match. Despite the loss, the Lady Saints got good performances from Emma Tafazoli who finished the match with two aces, four kills and two blocks and Avy Whaley who finished with five kills and three aces.

On the Eagles' side, seemingly everyone played well with a couple of standouts. Junior Maddie Oliver was effective at the server position scoring five aces in the second set to give Vinemont a big lead early on. Closer to the net, junior Rachel Hall was effective offensively and defensively putting up three blocks and nine kills on the night.

Other Eagles with big contributions were junior Cassidy Wright who finished with five kills and sophomore Gracie Kennedy who delivered four aces late in the third set to put it away for Vinemont.

St. Bernard will look to bounce back Thursday night on the road at Falkville and Vinemont's next match will be a rematch with St. Bernard at home on Oct. 2.

Moore (from Front)

were honored to have fought hard for Big Luther, Judge Roy Moore won this nomination fair and square and he has our support, as it is vital that we keep this seat in Republican hands."

In his concession speech, Strange offered these words:

"I congratulated Judge Moore. I've already talked to him on the phone, just to wish him the best. We're both Republicans who care very much about this country, who care very much about this state, and we wished him the best going forward, as he faces the next challenge."

Moore will face off against Democrat Doug Jones in the general election Dec. 12.

On Tuesday evening, Jones made his own statements about the Republican primary in a speech in Birmingham. He offered nothing to his upcoming opponent, but said to Strange, "Louise and I wish Luther Strange and his family well as he continues to serve the people of Alabama during his remaining time in office."
