Troopers urge motorists to buckle up this 4th of July

Alabama State Troopers will be aggressively enforcing violations to ensure safe travels

Wendy Sack
wendy@cullmantribune.com

MONTGOMERY – Alabama State Troopers are encouraging motorists to buckle up this 4th of July.

According to Lt. J.R. Ward II, "In 2017 there were eight traffic deaths in the state of Alabama during the 4th of July holiday period. In seven of those crashes seat belts were not used. As of Monday, June 25, 2018, Troopers have investigated 273 traffic deaths. Of those 273 individuals, 236 of them were traveling in vehicles equipped with seat belts, but only 88 individuals were buckled up at the time of the crash."

Ward shared, "For this 4th of July we encourage motorists and passengers to buckle up – no matter how short the drive! Slow down and obey the speed limits. Focus on driving by putting aside cell phones and other items that may distract you. If you plan on consuming alcohol pre-plan for a designated driver, call Uber or a cab. Alabama State Troopers will be aggressively enforcing violations to ensure safe travels. Have a safe Independence Day! "

LG Electronics to open solar panel plant in Huntsville, creating 160 jobs

Solar panels

MONTGOMERY – Gov. Kay Ivey announced Wednesday that LG Electronics, a leading provider of residential solar panels in the United States, plans to invest $28 million to open a world-class solar module assembly plant in Huntsville, creating 160 jobs.

LG will establish the new factory with two production lines at an existing building on the company's 48-acre campus in Huntsville, where the company has had operations for four decades. The new jobs will increase LG's employment by 60 percent, to more than 400 workers.

"LG has a long history as a leading corporate citizen in Alabama. Now, LG is launching our state's first solar manufacturing plant, which represents a major milestone both for Alabama and for the company," Ivey said. "We look forward to seeing where this great partnership takes us in the future."

Soon Kwon, global president of the LG B2B (Business-to-Business) Company, said the new solar panel assembly plant in Huntsville underscores the company's commitment to investing in the U.S. and to driving environmental sustainability.

Starting in early 2019, LG's new Alabama factory is expected to produce 500 megawatts of the company's high-performance N-type solar panels annually. "That's over a million solar panels a year," Kwon said.

The new solar plant will help LG better serve its U.S. customers, Kwon said. The company selected Alabama after conducting a competitive, multi-state search, he added.

"We're thrilled that LG selected Huntsville for its new solar panel assembly plant because the company considered many other locations for this project," said Greg Canfield, secretary of the Alabama Department of Commerce. "LG is a world-class company, and its decision represents a powerful endorsement of Alabama's advantages and its workforce."

The company's new solar module plant builds on LG's legacy of leadership in Huntsville. After starting as the company's first U.S. manufacturing subsidiary in 1981, Huntsville became the home of LG's service division in 1987, which expanded over the years to support LG's growing presence in the United States.

Today, as the headquarters location for North American service operations, LG Huntsville includes the technical call center, service training center, field service operations and parts warehouse.

"LG has long called Huntsville home, and the solar panel assembly factory will add a significant new dimension to our Alabama campus," Kwon said. "Huntsville's high-quality workforce and LG's established presence in the Rocket City point to a bright future for LG in Alabama."

The new factory will assemble LG's "Neon 2" series 60-cell modules, which are high-performance solar panels, generating over 17 percent more power than most conventional panels.

"LG has been a strong community partner in Huntsville for many decades -- a

Blueberry

CULLMAN – The Cullman County Animal Shelter's Donna Ruttkay introduces us to The Cullman Tribune's (bonus) Pet of the Week:

Blueberry is a German Shepherd/Husky mix who's around a year and a half old. She's a laid-back, low energy dog who could make a great comfort companion, or therapy dog. She's alert and a quick learner. She likes to go outdoors and will bury her treats to save for later. She enjoys walking close by her human and loves to be groomed.

And Blueberry came by her name honestly. According to Ruttkay, she enjoys freshly picked, organically grown, partially-peeled blueberries!

Cullman council approves special events, recognizes police officers

CULLMAN – This week, the Cullman City Council, in addition to handling regular meeting business, took time out to recognize two Cullman City Police officers for almost a century of service between them.

Officer Jack Springer, who began his service with the Cullman Police Department in 1968, was honored with a 50-year service pin. Springer also served in the U.S. Air Force. Officer Terry Heaton, a Vietnam veteran, started his career with the department in 1978 and was honored with a 40-year pin. Heaton is the only remaining Vietnam veteran working at the department.

During the tourism report portion of the meeting, Cullman Parks, Recreation, & Sports Tourism Executive Director Nathan Anderson gave an update on the new Connected Playground at Ingle park.

The grand opening and ribbon-cutting ceremony for the new park will be on Friday, June 29 from 4-6 p.m.

The council approved a request to assist in the movement of Cullman's Little Pantry. The free food pantry is located in the empty lot near the Mary Carter Paint Store.

One of the pantry's organizers, Martha Lawrence, requested the City's help in moving the pantry due to the items inside being damaged by exposure to sun and the rain. The structure will be moved closer to the Mary Carter building so that it will be shaded.

A request for a special event permit to hold a 5K run and a 1-mile walk to help to raise money for Multiple Sclerosis sufferers was approved. The run is slated for Aug. 18, 2018 at 7 a.m. and will start and finish at Buffalo Wild Wings. The overall winners of the 5K, male and female, will receive a year's worth of wings.

The council also approved a request for a festival on July 13, 2018 from noon to 9 p.m. in conjunction with downtown Cullman's July 2nd Fridays event. The festival will feature a 40-foot Ferris wheel, live music and will act as a fundraiser for a free summer lunch and learn program.

In other council business, the council:

• approved a request from Larry Jones, Cullman Sanitation Department superintendent, to purchase 48 containers and one compactor from Wastequip, LLC on the NJPA bid list in the amount not to exceed $52,312.

• approved a request from Scott Talley, Cullman Street Department superintendent, to purchase a mower max machine with a 30-foot boom and rotary cutting and mulching attachments from Coblenz Equipment and Parts Co., Inc. on the ACCA bid list in the amount not to exceed $190,695.

• had a second reading of Ordinance No. 2018-33 to amend the business license ordinance of the City of Cullman (changing the number of yard sales from one 2-day yard sale to two 3-day yard sales).

• approved Resolution No. 2018-60 amending Resolution No. 2017-110 to increase the annual budget for the City of Cullman due to the damages from the hail storm on March 19, 2018.

• approved the appointment of Zach Lee to the Cullman Zoning Board

The next Cullman City Council meeting will take place at 7 p.m. on Monday, July 16 in the city hall auditorium. The public is invited to attend.

Good Hope steps closer to ordinance affecting CR 437

Nick Griffin
nick@cullmantribune.com

GOOD HOPE – A brief public hearing for Ordinance #013-2018 kicked off Monday night's meeting of the Good Hope City Council.

The ordinance will rezone the AGCOR Steel property from an Ag-1 Agricultural District to an M-1 Manufacturing District. The ordinance reads "Situated within the city limits of Good Hope, and lying and being in Cullman County, State of Alabama, heretofore designated as Ag-1 Agriculture District on the Zoning Map of the City of Good Hope, Alabama, and is hereby changed from Ag-1 Agriculture District to M-1 Manufacturing District."

The council also held the second reading of Ordinance #012-2018. The ordinance, first read at the council's last meeting, will make amendments to Ordinance #003-2012, changing the minimum distance from a church or school where alcohol can be sold.

Subsection two of the new ordinance reads as follows, "Subject to exceptions contained in this section, no facility or property shall be authorized for on-premises sale or off-premises sale of alcoholic beverages where the building in which the premises are located is less than seven hundred (700) feet from any building in which there is a church, public or private elementary, intermediate or junior high, high school or child development facility." The original minimum distance was 1,200 feet.

The new ordinance would also change section D of the original ordinance, stating that "Where the City licensed premises is authorized for only on-premises sale of alcoholic beverages, the minimum distance between the licensed premises and a church is four hundred (400) feet." That's a change from the original distance of 650 feet.

The council believes the change will help spur economic development down County Road 437 east of Interstate 65, without impacting the city on the west side of I-65.

A vote will be taken on the ordinance during the council's next meeting on July 9.

To wrap up Monday night's meeting, the council read over Resolution No: 014-2018.

The resolution would execute Work Order No. 2 of Step No. 1 of Kendig Keast Collaborative's "Essential and First Priority Edits." Kendig Keast was hired by the City of Good Hope in May to help review the City's zoning ordinance and recommend changes if necessary.

The discussion on the resolution was tabled for the council's next meeting to allow for more time to clarify some of the work order's wording.

The Good Hope City Council's next meeting will be July 9 at 6:30 p.m. in Good Hope City Hall.

Ivey: Ridesharing law effective across Alabama July 1

Companies like Lyft, Uber can now expand into suburban and rural areas

Office of Gov. Kay Ivey
Contributor

MONTGOMERY – Gov. Kay Ivey on Wednesday announced that statewide ridesharing is effective beginning July 1, 2018. Statewide ridesharing received approval from both the Alabama Senate and House and, on March 1, 2018, was signed into law by Ivey.

This allows companies like Lyft and Uber to operate regardless of location or proximity to major metropolitan areas.

"Alabamians in all areas of our state now have the option to enjoy the many benefits of ridesharing, including opportunities for those looking to make extra income; increased economic activity for local businesses, cities and towns; and the expansion of safe, affordable transportation options," Ivey said.

"I was pleased to have a part in bringing this much-needed service statewide and look forward to watching these platforms grow in the years to come."

Previously, ridesharing companies were allowed to operate only in select cities in Alabama.

Suburban and rural areas will now have access to innovative transportation methods, and more residents will have the opportunity to earn additional income through these expanded opportunities.

"This is a great day for individuals around the state of Alabama — for drivers and passengers — as they can now experience the various benefits of ridesharing, including having access to responsible and reliable transportation statewide," Jake Darby, general manager for Lyft, said.

"Governor Ivey played an instrumental role in bringing this law to fruition, as did our regulator the Alabama Public Service Commission, and we are excited that a new chapter officially begins today."

Rep. David Faulkner and Sen. Bobby Singleton championed the effort to pass the bipartisan ridesharing bill, which passed unanimously (28-0) in the Senate and 97-3 in the House — and signed on Gov. Ivey's desk within 11 days of introduction in the Legislature.

With assistance from the Alabama Public Service Commission and staff, the bill is going into effect within just months of being signed.

Throughout the legislative process, statewide ridesharing was supported publicly by the Ride for Alabama coalition, comprised of multiple Chambers of Commerce and third-party entities, such as the Alabama Hospitality and Restaurant Association, Birmingham Urban League, Decatur-Morgan County Chamber of Commerce, the National Association of Women Law Enforcement Executives, the Alabama Black Chamber of Commerce and the Alabama Association for the Deaf, among other organizations.

Alabama becomes the 45th state to welcome comprehensive ridesharing.

Governor Ivey encourages all Alabamians to take advantage of ridesharing during their summer festivities and throughout the year.

History made: Berlin holds first town council meeting

W.C. Mann
craig@cullmantribune.com

BERLIN – On Monday evening, the recently incorporated town of Berlin held its very first council meeting at the Berlin Community Center. District Judge Rusty Turner administered the oaths of office to Mayor Patrick Bates and Councilmen Don Bates, Matthew Blair, Jimmy Quick and Donald Gunter.

Before administering the oaths, Turner told the council and crowd, "Two hundred and forty-two years ago next Wednesday, an event occurred in our nation's history that was probably the most important thing.

"A group of people got together for a common purpose and dedicated their lives and their fortunes to founding a new nation and furthering the strongest democracy the world's ever seen.

"And I think it's entirely appropriate that here, in a little over a week, you know, we'll be celebrating that again, but tonight, to be able to do this for kind of celebrating the same purpose: that a group of people got together to form peaceably, and to form a group that wants to govern and take this community further and unite it for a common purpose. And it's kind of neat to be doing this, this time of year. And so, I appreciate the honor and the opportunity because, as a judge, it's probably one of the most honorable things I've ever been able to do, is to help get a new political organization going forward, that's going to govern this community for a long time to come."

The mayor and council positions were scheduled for election after Berlin voted to incorporate in February, but no seat had more than one candidate, with one seat still remaining unfilled.

For that reason, the entire Berlin town government was seated without a vote, to the chagrin of one unidentified resident present in the audience. The council declared the vacancy for Place 5, calling for interested parties to present themselves in person at the next council meeting in July. Mayor Bates even invited the protesting resident to come to the next meeting, if he was interested in joining the council.

W.C. MANN/THE CULLMAN TRIBUNE

Berlin's first government: (L-R) Councilmen Don Bates, Matthew Blair, Jimmy Quick and Donald Gunter with Mayor Patrick Bates

Most of the meeting was devoted to the basic administrative tasks of a new municipality, including:

- appointment of Sue Freeman as meeting secretary in the absence of an appointed town clerk
- establishment of 7 p.m. on the third Monday of each month as the regular council meeting time
- authorization of Mayor Bates to negotiate a long-term agreement for use of the Berlin Community Center one day per week for Town business
- discussion of options for the Town's bank accounts. Following council members' recommendations, Mayor Bates will talk to Peoples and Merchants Banks. According to him, the County is already holding sales tax revenues for the Town, and the Town could have as much as $13,000 in hand by July's meeting.
- appointment of Heath Meherg as town attorney at a rate of $175 per hour. Meherg is a Berlin native who has represented the airport and county government in the past. In response to a question from the audience about possible conflicts of interest, Meherg attested that he does not currently have an official relationship to any other municipality.
- authorization of Mayor Bates to secure a post office box for Town correspondence at a rate of $214 per year

In addition to calling for Place 5 candidates, the council also called for any interested candidates for the position of town clerk to present themselves at the July meeting. Opening the floor to entertain petitions for annexation received no responses, though one local resident did take an application form after the meeting.

The Berlin Town Council's next meeting will be held at the Berlin Community Center at 7 p.m. on July 16. The public is invited to attend.

Met-South (from Front)

W.C. Mann

HANCEVILLE – On Wednesday morning, Met-South celebrated its official grand opening at its new location in Hanceville. The company has been operating there since the end of January. Owners Don and Cathy Jesse relocated their company from the south side of Birmingham after discovering that most of their employees were Wallace State graduates who were commuting to work each day.

Said Don Jesse, "We're so happy to be here. One reason is the Wallace State grads. The grads have worked out just great, easy trainable. Their program over at Wallace State is phenomenal. We ran through the mill at our previous locations, trying to find good, qualified people. We could get the people, but they don't have the expertise level. These young guys are easy trainable, moldable into what we're looking for. We give them a well-rounded training and application for building of the gauges and fixtures and jigs, and things like that.

"They're not only machinists, but they do the entire product for us. Not only are they cross-trained, but if someone's running a program or something like that, anyone can jump on it."

The new Hanceville facility has also allowed Met-South to purchase larger equipment to take on bigger projects to expand its customer base.

"We've been very fortunate--divine intervention--that we have got the work that we have," said Don Jesse, "and that we have a lot of irons in the fire, a lot of new customers that are interested in us, and just being here, getting a lot of exposure right now is really a good thing. We think it's really going to skyrocket for us."

Don Jesse commended Hanceville Mayor Kenneth Nail and the city of Hanceville, along with the city's police and fire departments, for their help in preparing the site and securing the facility and its equipment during the transition from Birmingham.

Nail told The Tribune, "We're glad that Met-South has chosen Hanceville as their new home, and I know that they've done hired several new folks since they've been here. And I talked to Don, and I said, 'Hopefully, in a year or so, we can have 50 or 60 employees here.' He kind of looked surprised when I said that, but I said I hope his business takes off to the point he has to expand rather quickly."

What Met-South does

The "Met" in Met-South is metrology, the study of measurements. The company produces precision measuring tools and gauges for automotive parts manufacturers and others. When the move to Hanceville was first announced, Wallace State Applied Technologies Director Jimmy Hodges explained a little about what the company hopes to get from the school:

"They are a company that makes gauges and fixtures for the automotive supplier industry, and so our machine shop produces machinists, CNC programmers and tool and die technicians. All of those trades are used in their business.

"Our students are useful in all of those areas that they have. We also helped them get an apprenticeship. They have a registered Department of Labor apprenticeship going on in their business; and that's just an added benefit for our students."

Wallace State Machine Tool Department Director Gary McMinn added, "The main thing they're looking for is CNC operators and programmers. The last two semesters (applied technology) students are at Wallace State, they do CNC programming, setup and operations. We have a wide variety of machines in our department, and we give them a basis of mathematics: geometry, trigonometry, and also give them blueprint reading and general machine shop projects."

Met-South supplies automotive parts manufacturers and already has business relationships with REHAU, Topre and Yutaka, as well as companies in Tuscaloosa, Opelika, Birmingham, Huntsville and Pulaski, Tennessee. The company currently employs six machinists, all from Wallace State.

relationship that has deepened through visits to the company's headquarters in Korea and successful advancements in technological innovation," Mayor Tommy Battle said. "LG chose Huntsville as the place to do business in the U.S. more than 30 years ago, and they've chosen Huntsville again as a place to prosper with the new solar module plant."

"With the expansion of LG in the Huntsville-Madison County, Alabama region, LG will utilize the latest technology in a high-growth market to produce these solar panels," said Dale Strong, chairman of the Madison County Commission.

"The diversity and worldwide recognition of the Madison County economy demonstrates we continue to thrive with our finest hours still ahead."

Blueberry (from Front)

Animal shelter staff and volunteers work with their dogs to make sure they are accustomed to being around people, walking on a leash and practicing good behavior.

Several of the shelter's dogs have even been "hired" to work as special needs service dogs.

Blueberry's adoption fee is $90, which includes: DHLPP vaccine, Bordetella vaccines, rabies vaccine, wormer, general exam at the vet, spaying, microchip, free 45-day health insurance policy issued by 24PetWatch (with valid email only) and a free bag of food from Cullman Pet Depot (you must pay sales tax).

Please consider adopting to give a rescued pet a chance at a happy and healthy life.

Contact the Cullman County Animal Shelter at 256-734-5448 or visit them at 935 Convent Road NE. Reach them by email at cullmancountyanimalshelter@gmail.com.
