Merrill: Alabama's system targeted by Russians in last election, proved safe

W.C. Mann
craig@cullmantribune.com

CULLMAN – On Tuesday evening, while addressing the Cullman County Sheriff's Office (CCSO) Citizens' Academy, Alabama Sec. of State John Merrill took time to talk to the class about incursions into the state's election system by Russian hackers during the 2016 election, assuring students that America's votes, including those from Alabama, were safe then and safe now.

Acknowledging that Alabama's was one of 21 state systems approached by the hackers, Merrill told the class, "If you voted for Secretary (Hillary) Clinton, your vote counted for Secretary Clinton. If you voted for the president (Donald Trump), no matter what state you were in, your vote counted for the president in every state of the Union. Twenty-one states were scanned, probed by the Russians in that exercise in 2016. We were one of those. Our systems were not compromised, our systems were not penetrated, and we have no vulnerabilities that have been exposed--zero.

"You need to know we remain diligent in that effort with our public and private partners. We are continuing to protect your information and the integrity and credibility of the process. This is not something that's going to stop after this election; this is something that's going to be ongoing."

Social media a target; Alabama drives Facebook response

Merrill continued, "And the way that these people are influencing our system primarily is through social media: Facebook, Twitter, Instagram, all those things. You need to know that, and you need to be diligent in that response.

Merrill claims the U.S. Senate race between Democrat Doug Jones and Republican Roy Moore was the impetus for changes in the way Facebook political ads are placed.

"Because of what we went through with Doug Jones and Roy Moore, Facebook changed what they're doing now when people try to place political ads on Facebook. We're the reason that they do that now. Now, if you try to place an ad on Facebook, you have to get a postcard mailed to your home. You have to respond to that before they'll ever take your money, and you have to be in the United States to get that done. That all happened because of us, and because of a meeting that we had with them in Washington after that campaign took place.

"I have received security briefings from Homeland Security Secretary Kirstjen Nielsen two times this year. I have top secret security clearance now that I'm serving as your secretary of state. We met in Washington in February, in her office, and then we met at Philadelphia in July. And I can assure you that they're doing everything that they can possibly do to protect us, and they're working with us as one of our public partners to make sure that everything that needs to take place is taking place to protect your interests and your information."

W.C. MANN/THE CULLMAN TRIBUNE

Alabama Sec. of State John Merrill talks to the Cullman County Sheriff's Office Citizens' Academy Tuesday night about election processes.

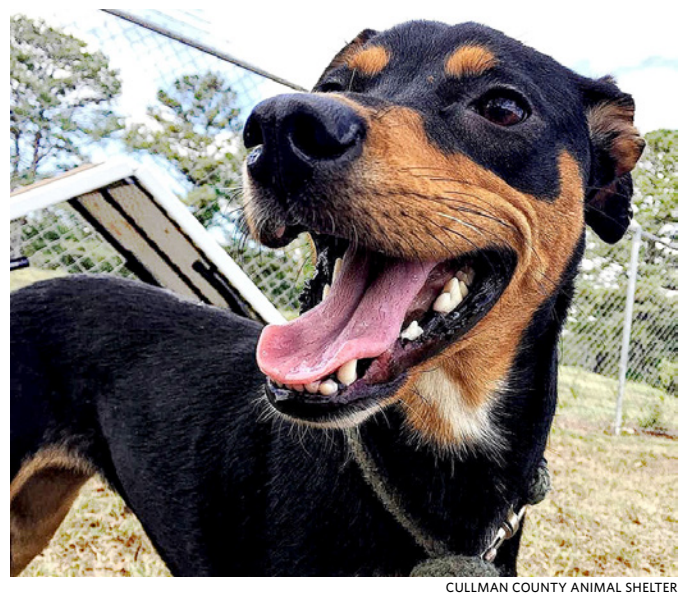

During a break in the class, Merrill told The Tribune, "It's so very important to make sure that we are diligent in protecting the integrity and the credibility of the process. Our people need to know that they have their confidence in the system for a good reason, because what we have in place is protected.

"People know that, if they vote for a certain candidate, their vote is going to be counted for that candidate in this election cycle, because we want everybody to vote--but just one time! We want to make it easy to vote and hard to cheat."

Get registered!

Merrill reported that voter registration is at its highest level in Alabama history, and the Alabama Secretary of State's Office wants to see even more voters registered in time for this fall's elections. It offers online registration, and voters can download a smart device app. Members of the office come to certain community events around the state to register voters and issue photo IDs and can send a representative to someone's home if there's no other way for that person to get an ID and register.

Pet of the Week: help Emma find her forever home

craig@cullmantribune.com

CULLMAN – Cullman County Animal Shelter volunteer Donna Ruttkay said the population at the Cullman County Animal Shelter is increasing quickly, saying, "Each day I arrive, more dogs have been dropped off...the place is full!"

The shelter's staff is looking for folks to help out some of its four-legged friends, like The Cullman Tribune's Pet of the Week, Emma!

Emma is a small mixed-breed pup playfully described by Ruttkay as a "mini something!" She's approximately 11 months old and is a medium-energy, submissive pet. She's learning her leash etiquette and has the makings of a companion or comfort pet, or even an outdoorsy hiking or camping dog. She has certain must-see-to-appreciate features like a "delightfully appealing underbite, which is exclusively hers!"

Animal shelter staff and volunteers work with their dogs to make sure they are accustomed to being around people, walking on a leash and practicing good behavior. Several of the shelter's dogs have even been "hired" to work as special needs service dogs.

Emma's adoption fee is $90, which includes: DHLPP vaccine, Bordetella vaccines, rabies vaccine, wormer, general exam at the vet, spaying, microchip, free 45-day health insurance policy issued by 24PetWatch (with valid email only) and a free bag of food from Cullman Pet Depot (you must pay sales tax).

Please consider adopting to give a rescued pet a chance at a happy and healthy life.

Contact the Cullman County Animal Shelter at 256-734-5448 or visit them at 935 Convent Road NE. Reach them by email at cullmancountyanimalshelter@gmail.com.

COURTS

Hudson denied youthful offender status in Osborn murder; Maresh claiming mental disease or defect

W.C. Mann
craig@cullmantribune.com

CULLMAN – On Tuesday afternoon, Tyler Hudson, who was arrested with Andrew Maresh in March for the murder of Daniel Ray Osborn, Jr., saw his motion for youthful offender (YO) status denied by Circuit Judge Martha Williams, according to a source inside the courthouse.

At the time of their arrests, Maresh was 19 and Hudson was 20. Defendants who are younger than 21 at the time of the offense with which they are charged can qualify for YO status, but courts have discretion in their decisions under Alabama Code Section 15-19-1. YO status focuses on rehabilitation of the offender, and keeps the crime off the offender's public record, even in the case of a conviction. If a defendant qualifies as a YO, the penalty of a guilty verdict can be significantly reduced, with prison sentences not to exceed three years.

YO requests often consider the defendant's prior criminal history, role in the offense, seriousness of the offense and potential for rehabilitation, among other factors.

Maresh pleads not guilty by reason of mental disease or defect

Maresh also applied for YO status over the summer, and saw his request denied on Aug. 14. A short time later, he added to his initial not guilty plea an additional plea of not guilty by reason of mental disease or defect. Williams ordered Maresh to undergo an outpatient evaluation by a psychologist or psychiatrist from the Alabama Department of Mental Health and Mental Retardation. His case is currently continued pending the outcome of that evaluation.

Osborn's body was found buried on the Fairview property of Susan Winton Smith, Maresh's grandmother, on the afternoon of March 26, 2018. Court documents revealed that Osborn died of a gunshot wound to the back of his head. Hudson and Maresh were arrested and charged with murder that evening. Smith was later charged with hindering prosecution, and more recently with murder in the case.

A Cullman County Sheriff's Office report available on Alacourt indicates that Maresh claimed that Hudson pulled the trigger, and that he had nothing to do with the murder. Maresh later changed his statement to say that he had helped bury the body but continued to deny involvement in the murder.

Garden City passes 2019 budget, half-cent privilege tax, stipends for volunteer firefighters

craig@cullmantribune.com

GARDEN CITY – On Monday evening, the Garden City Town Council had a full agenda to consider, including the FY 2019 budget, a new local tax and two measures to help out local emergency responders.

The 2019 budget is similar to last year's in most line items, with mostly minor changes. Major changes include a line item to allow the purchase of a new tractor and bush hog which currently has no amount listed, and a zeroed "patrol/enforcement" line in favor of a "police department/county deputy" line budgeted at $40,000.

Monday's council agenda contained a proposed ordinance to reinstate the Garden City Police Department, but the ordinance was not presented during the meeting.

The total FY 2019 General Fund budget as passed is $352,285.95, compared to $311,391.07 last year.

- Water Department 2019 - $121,400.00; 2018 - $124,250.00
- Sewer Department 2019 - $30,100.00; 2018 - $28,150.00
- Fire Department 2019 - $34,934.66; 2018 - $24,640.00

Half-cent privilege tax

The council passed a half-cent privilege tax "Upon every person, firm, or corporation . . . engaged or continuing within the Town of Garden City in the business of selling at retail any tangible personal property whatsoever, including merchandise and commodities of every kind and character . . . an amount equal to one half of one percent (½%) of the gross proceeds of sales of the business except where a different amount is expressly provided herein," according to Ordinance 2018-222.

Also included in taxable activities are:

- Events for which paid admission is charged, with the exception of schools
- Sale of mining, quarrying, compounding, processing or manufacturing machinery
- Sale of vehicles, mobile homes, and mobile home setup equipment
- Sale of farming equipment
- Sale of certain items through coin-operated machines

Additionally, the ordinance places a half-percent excise tax on the "storage, use or other consumption" of

- watercraft over five tons displacement
- mining, quarrying, compounding, processing or manufacturing machinery
- vehicles, mobile homes, and mobile home setup equipment
- farming equipment

These taxes are in addition to any current licensing fees and will be collected by the Cullman County Sales Tax Office.

Emergency responders get a boost

Thanks to a unanimous Council vote, Garden City's volunteer fire department, in addition to benefiting from a $10,000 increase in its budget, will also now enjoy stipends paid for attending training and responding to emergency calls. The resolution grants the fire chief $150 per month, and each member of the department will receive $10 for attending one training event per month, $10 for each fire and rescue call, and $2 per medical call, paid monthly.

Additionally, the council authorized the chief to purchase new blood pressure devices and pulse oximeters to update the department's gear bags.

Ongoing issues with Deb's Tire

The council did not take any action but did discuss at length its ongoing problems with the Deb's Tire store in town, with multiple members complaining about the number of mosquitoes around the property, where stacks of used tires are stored outside and exposed to rain.

The Town has an ongoing legal case against the used tire dealer, and members expressed frustration over the lack of progress in the case, saying that the case has repeatedly received continuances (postponements) when court dates have come up. Some council members expressed equal frustration with Town Attorney Roy Williams, suggesting that if the case continues to sit stagnant, the Town should consider another attorney. Mayor Tim Eskew said he would talk to Williams to find out the status of the case and what can be done.

The council also voted to remove Pam Leslie from the town's accounts and assigned Utility Clerk Shannon James to be custodian of all municipal funds.

The Garden City Town Council will meet next on Monday, Oct. 15, at town hall with work session at 5:30. The public is invited to attend.

Berlin discusses FY2019 budget

Christy Perry
christy@cullmantribune.com

BERLIN – The Berlin Town Council held its monthly meeting Monday night, welcoming Jeff Pruitt, executive director of the North Central Alabama Regional Council of Governments (NARCOG), to present the benefits of joining the organization.

NARCOG provides a variety of consulting services and assistance in obtaining state and federal grants.

Pruitt highlighted services available for the aging and disabled regarding insurance, legal matters and meals.

He also explained the assistance NARCOG could provide in revitalization, community development and job development by way of available grants that could fit the needs of Berlin.

The Berlin council did not make a decision Monday night regarding joining NARCOG.

Mayor Patrick Bates reported on tax revenues for August:

- Sales tax- $14,630. 27
- Beer tax- $92.56
- TVA - $1,238

Bates asked the council to approve purchasing workers compensation insurance saying, "We are not legally required to do so but I believe it's wise to have just in case." The council approved the request.

A resolution was also passed for the Town of Berlin to assume responsibility of public roads beginning on May 1, 2020. Towns are required to take over maintenance and upkeep of roads within two years of incorporation. The Town has not begun receiving monies from the gasoline tax which is earmarked for road maintenance.

The FY 2019 budget could not be finalized until the resolution was settled. With the passing of the resolution, the FY 2019 budget does not require road maintenance to be included.

Berlin is expected to begin receiving gas tax revenue in December 2018.

The council discussed the budget and considered the addition of four to six street lights outside of local businesses, the possibility of contracting with the County for a town deputy and contracts with the Berlin Volunteer Fire Department. The official budget will be presented by Bates at the October council meeting.

The council will also gather quotes for liability insurance coverage to be presented next month.

The council did vote to approve a requested contribution of $274.30 to the Cullman County Emergency Management Agency (EMA) and $60 for the town clerk's notary bond.

The next Berlin Town Council meeting will be Oct. 15 at 7 p.m. at the Berlin Community Center.

Lansoprazole, a cheap and widely used drug used to treat conditions such as heartburn, gastritis and ulcers, could work against the bacteria that cause tuberculosis (TB), according to new research published in PLOS Medicine. People who used lansoprazole, as opposed to the similar drugs omeprazole or pantoprazole, were a third less likely to develop TB. In 2016, 10.4 million people fell ill with tuberculosis and it is in the top ten causes of death globally, killing more people than any other infectious disease. In England, there were a total of 5,664 TB cases in 2016, with London accounting for almost 40 percent of all cases. According to a report by the London Assembly in 2015, one third of London's boroughs exceed the World Health Organization "high incidence" threshold of 40 cases per 100,000 population per year and some boroughs have incidence levels as high as 113 per 100,000 people per year – significantly higher than countries such as Rwanda, Algeria, Iraq and Guatemala.

Medications with anticholinergic properties – including Parkinson's medications, diphenhydramine (Benadryl), trihexyphenidyl (Artane), benztropine mesylate (Cogentin), biperiden (Akineton), antipsychotics, clomipramine (Anafranil) and chlorpromazine (Thorazine) – comprise 30 to 50 percent of all medications commonly prescribed to older adults.

MIDDLE SCHOOL / JV FOOTBALL

Good Hope bests Vinemont 16-6, 26-0

Sammy Confer
sammy@cullmantribune.com

GOOD HOPE – Vinemont and Good Hope faced off this week in middle school and JV football, and the Raiders came away with the wins, 16-6 and 26-0 scores.

Good Hope 16, Vinemont 6 (middle school)

The Eagles started strong as Ryan Stewart carried the load for most of the drive, gaining 22 yards on the ground; Ayden Thompson found Connor Gibbs for a 13-yard completion during the drive, but it stalled after Good Hope's Kason Smith picked off a Thompson pass.

The Raiders' running game started off strong behind Smith, Alijah Coleman and Konner Stevens, as they quickly moved the ball downfield and Stevens finished the drive off with an 8-yard touchdown run to give them an 8-0 lead with 6:37 remaining in the first half.

Vinemont was forced to punt on its next possession, and Good Hope started out strong again on the ground behind 16-yard runs each by Smith and Stevens, but Stevens fumbled on the next play, and the Eagles recovered the ball. The Eagles couldn't capitalize, and both teams went into the half with Good Hope leading, 8-0.

The Raiders' strong running game continued into the second half as Taz Bartlett and Colten Whatley got into the act and the Eagle defense couldn't slow them down; Stevens finished off the drive with a 33-yard touchdown run with 20 seconds remaining in the third period to give the Raiders a 16-0 lead.

A quick three-and-out by Vinemont gave the ball right back to Good Hope; long runs by Charlie O'Neil and Jed Clements put the Raiders inside the 10-yard line, but the Eagle defense stood tall and forced Good Hope to turn the ball over on downs. Vinemont avoided the shutout as Isaac Moody broke free for a 68-yard run to put the final score at 16-6.

Stevens finished the game with 112 yards on just nine carries and two touchdowns. Smith added 39 more on the ground, followed by Coleman, who finished with 37. The Raiders finished with 236 rushing yards for the game; they are 1-2 on the season and will travel to Fairview next Monday.

Moody finished with 109 rushing yards and a score. Stewart added 57 more on the ground for the Eagles, who fell to 0-3 after the loss; they'll look for their first win at home next week against Hanceville.

Good Hope 26, Vinemont 0 (JV)

The Raiders drove the ball down the field to start out the JV game behind big runs by Michael Owens and a 15-yard pass from Tanner Malin to Paydon Bagwell. An Owens 18-yard run put them at the 14-yard line, but Vinemont stopped Malin 2yards short of the first down. The Eagles were forced to punt on its first series, and Malin got picked off on the next series by Nathan Whitney.

Good Hope's defense forced a fumble on its next series, but the Raiders fumbled on the first play of their series. Vinemont started to get a drive going as they moved the ball past midfield behind runs by Deacon Samples and Isaac Smith and a 9-yard pass from Samples to Dalton Farr. After the Eagles got to the 36, the offense stalled, and Samples got picked off by Bagwell, who returned it 57 yards to the 16-yard line.

Malin found Jager Burns for a 16-yard touchdown to put the Raiders on the scoreboard first with 36 seconds remaining in the first quarter. Jesse Blackmon picked off a Samples pass, then Malin found Bagwell for a 35-yard pass, putting the Raiders at the 2-yard line.

After a targeting penalty moved the ball back to the 22, Malin connected with Owens on a 22-yard touchdown pass to increase the Raider lead to 12-0, the score at the half.

Good Hope's running game wore down Vinemont's defense in the second half; a 17-yard touchdown pass from Malin to Burns widened the Raiders' lead to 20-0 with 7:54 remaining in the game.

Good Hope added its final touchdown of the game when Malin found Burns for the third time, this time, on a 42-yard connection, to put the final score at 26-0.

Malin finished 8 of 11 for 156 yards and had four touchdowns and an interception. Burns finished with 75 yards on three receptions and three touchdowns. Owens added 57 rushing yards and a reception for 22 yards and a score. The defense, led by Will Flynt, Lucas Hill, Blackmon and Bagwell, forced two turnovers and kept the Eagle offense off the scoreboard. The Raiders improve to 2-0 on the season and will travel to Fairview next Monday.

Samples finished with 55 rushing yards for the Eagles, who kept fighting and playing hard until the final whistle; they are 0-2 now on the season and will face off against Hanceville at home next Monday.

Against Vinemont, Lady Broncos notch first area win of the season

Nick Griffin
nick@cullmantribune.com

HOLLY POND – In a marathon match that took all five sets to settle, the Holly Pond Lady Broncos fought off a comeback from the Vinemont Lady Eagles to pick up their first area win of the early season Tuesday.

The first set was the most one-sided of the day as the Lady Broncos got out to a fast start with a 25-17 win. Tess Duke led the way for Holly Pond in the scoring department, racking up six kills including the game winner. Sydney Dunkin had an impressive first set as well, collecting an ace, a block and three kills.

The second set went Holly Pond's way, too. Duke added four more kills to go along with two aces while Kara Hollis posted three kills of her own in the 25-19 victory. Rachel Hall had a big set for the Lady Eagles on the other side of the court, collecting three blocks and four kills in the loss.

The third set is when the Lady Eagles started to shift the momentum. Vinemont got out to a big lead thanks in large part to three aces and two more kills from Bethany Golden as well as two more kills and blocks from Hall. Despite being down 18-10 at one point in the set, the Lady Broncos managed to chip away at the lead but still fell short, 25-21.

The fourth set was another tightly fought contest that the Lady Eagles won to stay alive and force a fifth. Madison Oliver scored five kills in the 25-22 win while Golden added another three kills to her afternoon. On the other side of the net, Duke posted another five kills and two blocks while Dunkin picked up four blocks and two aces.

Holly Pond was finally able to pull away in the fifth set, 15-10, thanks to two big aces from Hollis and two more kills from Duke.

Lady Broncos Head Coach Emily Brown was pleased for the most part with how her squad performed in the win, especially compared to the last time they faced the Lady Eagles.

NICK GRIFFIN/THE CULLMAN TRIBUNE

Holly Pond's Lili Harris sets up for a kill during the Lady Broncos' win over Vinemont Tuesday afternoon.

"The last time we played Vinemont we had a really terrible game and that's when we decided we were going to have to turn some things around," Brown said. "Today we started out super strong and then kind of went back to our old mentality, but they came back and really battled hard and I'm really proud. Maybe we're onto something; we'll find out at the next game."

Brown is optimistic that the Lady Broncos will be able to build off this win going forward and hopefully get hot at the right time.

"We are really working on our blocking and covering on defense. Our offense has been pretty decent as far as passing and stuff, but we're really trying to focus on defense, and I think once we can build on that we'll be OK and maybe we can peak at the right time."

The Lady Broncos will be back in action at Fairview on Thursday for a tri-match with the Lady Aggies and Priceville. Vinemont will have a little time off before its next matchup at East Lawrence on Sept. 25.

BUSINESS

Downtown Dairy Queen to close by Oct. 31

Christy Perry
christy@cullmantribune.com

CULLMAN – A longtime staple of north downtown Cullman is closing its doors. Dairy Queen, located at 410 Second Ave. (U.S. Highway 31 North) announced Tuesday it will be closed by Oct. 31, 2018.

Employees on Tuesday told The Tribune they are "heartbroken" and "having a hard time today." Some will be going to the south Cullman location (1840 Lee Ave. SW).

Owners Michael and Samantha Way said in a letter to customers Tuesday that the contract on the Hwy. 31 store is expiring and that they have not been able to reach an agreement with the Dairy Queen Corporation.

The Ways said they believe the downtown DQ first opened in 1957. The business has been in their family since 1982.

Michael Way said, "It's been really hard on us and our employees, who are like family. One employee has been with us over 20 years. Six or seven have been with us over 10 and four or five others have worked over four years. Many of our employees will be going with us to our Lee Avenue store."

The contract the Ways have with the Dairy Queen Corporation for the Highway 31 location is expired. The Ways said DQ doubled the franchise fees from the previous contract, and despite multiple offers, the Ways explained, "We just couldn't find common ground. We know it's a landmark, but with all the influx on new restaurants coming to Cullman, the financial risk was too great. Small business owners and large corporations don't always see things the same way."

Samantha Way, whose mom bought the store in 1982, said she has grown up there. She has always worked at the Dairy Queen and the loss is difficult for her to talk about.

She shared, "This has been a hard decision for us personally, but we will continue to support our community and hope our community will continue to support us by coming to our other location. There has been lots of praying. Lots and lots of praying. We have faith in God and that he will get us through this."

There is a clause in the Ways contract with the Dairy Queen Corporation that prevents them from opening another restaurant. The Ways own the Second Avenue lot and building, but the no competition clause limits their options to selling or leasing the property. No future plans for the location have been made.

The Ways do plan on having a good-bye celebration and will be providing details about the plans later.

CHRISTY PERRY/THE CULLMAN TRIBUNE

The Highway 31 North Dairy Queen has served customers since 1955. It will be closing by Oct. 31, 2018.

Church (from Front)

W.C. Mann
craig@cullmantribune.com

CULLMAN – On Tuesday, Cullman's Cornerstone Church of the Nazarene (CCN) began a new partnership with Good Samaritan Health Clinic (GSHC), as Rev. Joe McNulty came to the clinic to present a $1,000 check to GSHC Executive Director Jolanda Hutson. McNulty hopes the check will be the first of many monetary and service contributions his church will be able to make.

While GSHC offers a wide array of medical services, the reverend was particularly impressed with the mental health care the clinic has provided for a member of his congregation.

Said McNulty, "Mental health has always been something that's been near and dear to me, and I feel like, to a large degree, the Church has missed the mark. And I'm not just talking about our church, but about the Church as a whole.

"And I think it's because there's such a stigma, at least in people's minds. And I tell people in my church all the time, if somebody is sick with cancer, we don't hesitate a second, saying, 'Let's call them to the altar and pray for them' . . . I said to the people last Wednesday night, 'When was the last time you saw in any church somebody came and say, 'I'm struggling with mental illness, or struggling with bipolar disorder, or personality disorder?'

"Inside the walls of the Church, there are so many people who suffer in silence, and they don't reach out; they don't get the help they need. And it's simply because they're afraid. And I said to the church, 'It's time. It's time that we break down that wall, and it's time that we say you can trust us--and trust is a big issue; it's huge--and you can trust us, and we'll love you, and we'll help you in any way we can."

While teaching his congregation about the need for ministry to those suffering from mental illness, McNulty received a copy of GSHC's annual report, and he was moved to action.

After reading the report and considering the ministry of GSHC to one of his own members, he met with the board of CCN and presented what he wanted to do. Board Chairman and Cullman County Schools Superintendent Dr. Shane Barnette reportedly encouraged him to proceed, telling him, "Pastor, I can only tell you they are the real deal. I'm so glad that you're doing this. They are the real deal."

McNulty told the board, "I'm not asking you to do this because I'm suggesting it; I'm asking you to do it because it's right. It's the right thing to do."

CCN allocated $1,000 to give to GSHC as an initial gift.

"It's going to be more," said McNulty. "They said, 'Pastor, we don't want you to just send a check. We want you to go meet the executive director. We want you to meet the staff. We want you to tell them that we want this to be a partnership."

When presenting the check, McNulty asked, "How else can we help you?" The pastor hopes to see his church make regular contributions and wants to see his members carrying out hands-on service projects for the clinic.

GSHC fundraising concert coming up

On Thursday, Oct. 18 at 7 p.m. in the Cullman High School auditorium, GSHC will host its fourth annual "Caring for Cullman" concert featuring Triumphant Quartet and the Wallace State Jazz Band. Tickets will be available at the door, or from GSHC, Borden Family Pharmacy, Heritage Pharmacy of Dodge City, The Added Touch Too and Yates Chance Christian Bookstore.

He successfully ran vitamin and wellness companies that gave patients the tools they needed to be the healthiest versions of themselves. He wanted to know how he could help others and how he could be a good friend. Tim was a beloved father and husband and adored by many in the community. Although he was not from Cullman, he quickly became one of the community.
