Cullman's Shaddix Company relocating to Vinemont, expanding

NICK GRIFFIN/THE CULLMAN TRIBUNE

The Shaddix Company is currently located at 344 County Road 1177, just off Alabama Highway 157 near Interstate 65.

VINEMONT – The family-owned Shaddix Company is expanding and planning to relocate from Cullman to Vinemont. The business is working to acquire a 23-acre piece of commercially-zoned property located off U.S. Highway 31 between Goodwin Road and the post office for its three-phase relocation and expansion project, and the Vinemont Town Council on Tuesday night voted to grant Shaddix a 10-year tax abatement. The new facility will be located between the ballfields and Perfection Chain Products.

The Shaddix Company makes precast concrete products such as tornado shelters, storm drainage boxes, sanitary sewer manholes, septic tanks and grease traps. Founded in Cullman in 1971 by Mitchelene Shaddix and her husband, the late Tommy Shaddix, the company is a true family affair. Son Dewayne Shaddix serves as CEO, while Mitchelene Shaddix remains active in the business as its president. Daughter-in-law Tracey Shaddix is vice president.

Right now, the company is located at 344 County Road 1177, just off Alabama Highway 157 near Interstate 65.

Dewayne Shaddix explained, "We have always been in Cullman County and we want to stay in Cullman County."

Phase I of the long-term project is finalizing the acquisition of the right piece of property, preparation of the site and the construction of the new facility.

Dewayne Shaddix estimates the first phase will take up to a year and be a $2.5 to $3 million investment with a five-year projection of $5 million. Once the facility and relocation are complete, phases II and III will focus on expansion of the company's product line.

Shared Dewayne Shaddix, "(Last year) 2018 was a good year for us and our budget is based on the current economy. Hopefully it stays strong and everything will go as planned."

That plan includes adding six to eight full-time positions during phase I and additional positions once the new facility is completed. The Shaddix Company currently has 12 full-time employees.

The company has been working with Vinemont leaders, the Alabama Department of Economic and Community Affairs (ADECA) and Cullman County Economic Development for a grant to widen and resurface Park Drive, making the private road commercial-grade.

Dewayne Shaddix stressed, "There will not be commercial traffic on Goodwin Road. We do not want to put any burden on the community. Our hours of operation are from 6 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. Monday through Friday, so we won't co-mingle with the ballpark traffic.

"We have shipping and receiving trucks, but if/when we work on a Saturday, there are no shipments or deliveries on Saturdays."

Dewayne Shaddix estimates the company is two to three months away from breaking ground.

The council approved hiring Community Consultants, Inc. to administer the grant and St. John & Associates, Inc. as the engineering firm for the road paving project.

In other business, T-ball, baseball and softball signups will continue until Friday of this week. Town hall will remain open until 8 p.m. on Friday to allow parents to register kids for the spring ball season. April 20 is the date scheduled for the annual Day in the Park.

Cullman's Jason Sanders says he'll challenge Sen. Doug Jones in 2020

maggie@cullmantribune.com

CULLMAN – Cullman resident Jason Sanders at Tuesday night's meeting of the Cullman County Republican Women spoke about his candidacy for the U.S. Senate seat currently held by Alabama Democrat Doug Jones. Sanders, a Republican, said he intends to challenge Jones in 2020.

Sanders said his interest in politics began when he was in high school, his frustration with politicians increasing as he got older.

"I became so frustrated with politicians who took it lying down," he shared.

Sanders said he supports smaller government and border security and is a big supporter of the military.

"I'm really cut and dry," he said. "I have a lot of political views that are shared by many that are being completely ignored by our current representatives."

Sanders' slogan is that he's "a believer in time tested politics." He said, "Conservative doesn't mean old and outdated; it means time tested and proven."

Colony unveils plan for high-tech summer youth enrichment program

W.C. Mann
craig@cullmantribune.com

COLONY – The Town of Colony is undertaking an ambitious summer camp program for its kids. When the Town's weeklong Summer Enrichment Program begins on June 3, Tom Bevill Library at the Colony Educational Complex will house desktop computers to run a digital cutting machine, 3-D printer, swing-away heat press and laser engraver.

And all this tech won't just be for show and tell. According to Town Clerk Patricia Ponder, this will be a hands-on event, allowing teens ages 13-18 the opportunity to create their own designs and manufacture items onsite. Most of the software is free and downloadable, so students with access to computers or smart devices can even familiarize themselves with the programs and get started on their designs ahead of the class.

Ponder is providing the equipment from her personal tech gear collection, and told The Tribune, "I wanted to do something different, and not just have it be coloring pages and glue sticks. I have the personal technology, and I enjoy it. Maybe it'll spark interest."

The project is supported by the Benedictine Sisters of Sacred Heart Monastery in Cullman, with Sister Margaret Mary Liang serving as coordinator. Last year, the sisters secured a $1,000 grant for Colony's two month long summer enrichment program, which suffered a drop in attendance in its later weeks. This year, the program will consist of a one-week summer camp from June 3-7 for which, according to Ponder, the Sisters are seeking an $800 grant.

Ponder said, though, that if the interest and participation levels are high, she may continue to make the equipment available through the summer and would consider offering sessions during the Christmas holiday and spring break.

Colony will provide materials including cardstock, vinyl, transfer tape and heat transfer vinyl for use with » PAGE 2

2 charged with trafficking; stolen car recovered

Wendy Sack
wendy@cullmantribune.com

NEW CANAAN – Deputies with the Cullman County Sheriff's Office (CCSO) on Sunday arrested Joseph Bradley Sivley, 35, and Angela Beth Reed Stillwell, 30, both of Arab, for allegedly trafficking illegal drugs.

Sivley was charged with trafficking in illegal drugs, unlawful possession of controlled substance, first-degree receiving stolen property, carrying a pistol without a license and possession of drug paraphernalia. Stillwell was charged with trafficking in illegal drugs, unlawful possession of controlled substance and possession of drug paraphernalia.

According to a media release from the CCSO, the drug bust happened in the New Canaan community after deputies were conducting a follow-up investigation in the area.

"A deputy pulled up at a residence on County Road 1807 after (the) CCSO had gotten several tips from residents that illegal activity could be taking place in the area. Once the deputy was at the residence, he located a stolen vehicle and also located two individuals who were the drivers of the vehicle and were later identified as Mr. Sivley and Ms. Stillwell," said the release.

The arrests netted 6.85 grams of oxycodone, 6.6 grams of methamphetamine, a stolen 2008 Nissan Altima, five morphine pills, a Smith & Wesson SD9 VE pistol and drug paraphernalia.

CULLMAN COUNTY SHERIFF'S OFFICE

"These two arrests and recovery of someone's stolen vehicle were made possible by our deputies being proactive law enforcement officers, following up on tips from citizens and noticing when something is out of place," said Sheriff Matt Gentry. "I would like to say that seizing this many pills and meth off these dealers before it made it into the hands of others is a good day for drug enforcement as well."

Sivley and Stillwell have both made bond.

HAPPY VALENTINE

In the United States we have many holidays each year.
If you listen closely, Happy Valentines, you will hear.
Little school children are joyful and they cheer.
Older folks look at their valentine and in their eye you may see a tear.
For us older folks, we stay at home and enjoy the day.
But youngsters enjoy themselves and want to be out and play.
I didn't want the day to pass away
Without saying have a wonderful Valentine's Day.

Marchman speaks on Rock the South preparations

Christy Perry
christy@cullmantribune.com

CULLMAN - The Cullman County Commission met with Rock the South Producer Nathan Baugh Tuesday morning prior to its scheduled 8:30 a.m. work session to discuss Rock the South and the road improvements needed to accommodate the anticipated traffic for the music festival's announced new location along County Road 469 and County Road 436.

Commissioner Garry Marchman spoke with The Tribune after their meeting, explaining,

"What we've discussed is the City of Good Hope, City of Cullman and Cullman County working together to put pressure on Rock the South to designate monies for the community, for infrastructure.

"That's what we are trying to do."

He added, "Right now, the plan is to not move it back to Heritage Park. I told Nathan, 'You're going to go back to Nashville and you'll forget about this until next year, but we have to deal with this for the rest of the year, especially if it turns out to be a flop for the community. You've got to give the community something.' That's what I'm working on. I'm working toward Rock the South putting some skin in the game on community improvements."

The scheduled commission meeting followed the work session.

In the meeting, the commission:

• Approved an $85,894,000 tax abatement for "Project Double Down" for building, equipment and machinery; the particulars of the project and the parties involved have not been disclosed.

• Approved a request from the Alabama Department of Senior Services to examine its contract with GA Food Services, Inc. due to ongoing issues with service

• Designated bank depositories for Cullman County funds

• Signed an agreement with Comfort Systems for boiler at the Cullman County Sheriff's Office for annual cost of $5, 318

The next commission meeting is Feb. 26 at 10 a.m.

Cullman Council sends zoning request back to planning commission; police officers honored

W.C. Mann
craig@cullmantribune.com

CULLMAN - On Monday evening, a handful of protesters from the southwest Cullman neighborhood around Morningside Drive showed up at the Cullman City Council meeting, smartphone cameras running, as the council was to set a public hearing for the controversial request to rezone a nearby property to allow the construction of an apartment complex.

When the time come for visitors to address the council, no one from the group rose, though; before they got the chance, the setting of the hearing was removed from the agenda at the request of City Attorney Roy Williams.

According to Williams, a modification made to the request during the planning commission meeting last week (the property owners originally requested that the new zoning be a combination of business and residential, but changed the requested zoning to residential only) meant the modified request would have to go back through the planning commission before the council could consider it.

Just last week, the planning commission declined to offer a recommendation on the request, allowing a motion to do so to die without a second. Instead, commissioners simply noted that the council could consider the request without a recommendation.

Police officers honored

The council recognized two Cullman Police Department officers for their tenure.

Matt Schlosser and Tim Nalley both received 10-year service pins from Police Chief Kenny Culpepper as Council Public Safety Committee Chairman Andy Page presented the officers certificates of recognition.

Rock the South

While no one protested the rezoning request during the public comment time, Rebecca Peinhardt came to share her opinion with the council about Rock the South. She and her husband Curt Peinhardt own property and live near the proposed new RTS site west of Interstate 65, and she protested the proposed move, saying that while she and her husband have nothing against the festival or its producers, it would not be appropriate to hold it in "this country setting of peace, quiet, safety and tranquility."

Event producers Shane Quick and Nathan Baugh have attended two recent council meetings, addressing the council and taking time afterwards to meet face-to-face with residents to hear their concerns and answer questions, but were not present at this meeting.

Mayor Woody Jacobs requests prayer for West Point Mayor Kenneth Kilgo, explains Main Avenue mess

During his remarks, Mayor Woody Jacobs asked council members and visitors to pray for West Point Mayor Kenneth Kilgo, who is critically ill.

Jacobs also addressed the recent mess on the south end of West Main Avenue, explaining that the City was given the opportunity to get resurfacing work done on the street but was given a schedule that required it to do preparation work in a hurry, leading to disruptions along the street over the weekend. According to the mayor, the preparation was completed, and work on the road surface should begin this week.

The Cullman City Council meets on the second and fourth Monday evenings of each month at 7 p.m. in the Cullman City Hall auditorium. The public is invited to attend.

Jason Nunnelley named new director of Technology Village Cullman

W.C. Mann
craig@cullmantribune.com

CULLMAN - On Monday evening, the Cullman City Council named Jason Nunnelly as the new director of Technology Village Cullman (TVC). A longtime Cullman resident, Nunnelley founded internet access provider Linkfast in Cullman in 1997. After selling the company in 2000, he worked as a consultant, helping BubbleUp and its very first client Jimmy Buffett launch Margaritaville's online stores, on the way to growing BubbleUp into a $12 million company. Nunnelley served as chief technology officer for Birmingham-based Telegraph Creative starting in 2015 and has been CEO of Nashville-based UpgradeMedia since January 2017. Additionally, Nunnelley has advised Mixed Reality Football, NPREX, MyGoTrainer, and others and is a startup judge for Alabama Launchpad. According to Cullman Economic Development Agency Director Dale Greer, Nunnelley came with excellent references and a recommendation to the City by a national-level tech recruiter. Nunnelley told The Tribune that he looks forward to "helping some people better plan and create strategies for tech businesses, to build companies and create jobs in Cullman."

He continued, "I hope to see forward-facing companies. I'm looking forward to meeting people that are already in Cullman that are smart. As you probably know, we have a lot of bright people in this town. We have a lot of creative people in this town: Bill Smith, the CEO of Shipt, is actually from Crane Hill. And I'd love to see those kinds of companies start and stay in Cullman. "I'm looking forward to getting started, and if there's anyone that's thinking about starting a company, thinking about starting a business, has come up with great ideas and they want to bounce those off of me, I'd love to hear from them."

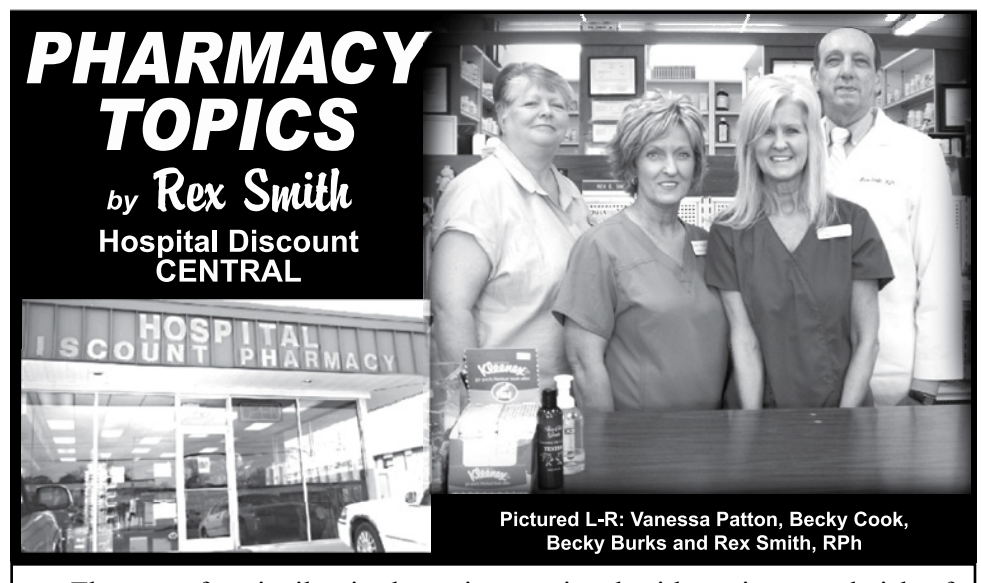

Technology Village Cullman

TVC is a joint venture between the City of Cullman, Cullman Area Chamber of Commerce and Wallace State Community College, in partnership with the University of Alabama (UA). A UA press release issued at the beginning of its technology village program included the following:

The Technology Villages program assists communities in constructing and operating storefront technology-focused incubators by fostering entrepreneurial culture, developing a resource ecosystem and linking University of Alabama resources with emerging tech companies across the state.

The program is unique in its structure, operating less as a traditional incubator and more as a start-up resource hub where entrepreneurs receive real-time distance learning with hands-on consulting support. Additionally, The University of Alabama will provide research, preliminary patent searching, contract manufacturing strategy and a host of other business-related development services in its multi-state network of collaborative programs. UA undergraduate and graduate students from the Office for Technology Transfer will participate in coordinating services, which are funded by participating communities.

According to CEDA, "Participants will use TVC to help get their business venture off the ground. They will receive assistance in: Business coaching, mentoring, networking, product pricing, creating a business plan, identifying and securing funding, identifying and contacting customers, etc. Once these businesses are ready, they will leave the program, and another one will take its place."

The use of antiepileptic drugs is associated with an increased risk of Alzheimer's disease and dementia, according to a new study in the Journal of the American Geriatrics Society. Some antiepileptic drugs are known to impair cognitive function, which refers to all different aspects of information processing. When the researchers compared different antiepileptic drugs, they found that the risk of Alzheimer's disease and dementia was specifically associated with drugs that impair cognitive function. These drugs were associated with a 20 percent increased risk of Alzheimer's disease and with a 60 percent increased risk of dementia. The researchers also found that the higher the dose of a drug that impairs cognitive function, the higher the risk of dementia. However, other antiepileptic drugs, i.e. those which do not impair cognitive processing, were not associated with the risk.

PREP BASKETBALL

Good Hope's season comes to an end with 64-62 heartbreaker on the road

Sammy Confer
sammy@cullmantribune.com

GRANT - Good Hope's boys looked to move on to the Northeast Regional at Jacksonville State when they traveled to Grant to take on the D.A.R. Patriots Tuesday night.

D.A.R., though, had other plans and wound up winning the game, 64-62, ending a stellar season for Good Hope.

The Patriots got off to a very hot start, jumping out to a quick 15-8 lead. They later stretched it to 20-10, but Good Hope had an answer as Cole and Drew Maddox each hit a trey to make it a 20-16 game.

However, D.A.R. scored the final eight points of the quarter and went into the second period up 28-16.

Matt Dixon got a huge steal and a layup to start out the scoring for the Raiders and later in the second, a three by Cole Maddox, plus five points in a row from Noah Fendley, cut the deficit to just four at 30-26.

The Patriots later nailed a long-range shot to make it 36-28, but Good Hope's Michael Lowe hit a pair from the line and Cole Maddox nailed one from long-range to make it a 36-33 score at the half.

After a D.A.R. free throw increased the Patriots' lead to 40-35, Good Hope forced some turnovers and made them count as an 8-0 run put the Raiders ahead 43-40, but the Patriots countered with an 8-0 run of their own to make it 48-43 They held a 50-45 lead going into the final period.

Good Hope's Cole Maddox (2) attacks the basket during the Raiders' 64-62 loss at D.A.R. Tuesday night.

MARTHA NEEDHAM/THE CULLMAN TRIBUNE

Cole Maddox hit a layup to make it 50-47, and Fendley later nailed a trey to tie the game up at 52.

Four free throws by Tanner Malin, plus baskets by Lowe and Cole Maddox, gave Good Hope a 60-54 lead, but everything changed with a little over two minutes to play in the game.

Fendley got a very controversial technical foul called on him and the Patriots hit both shots from the line, plus a three from the top of the key, to make it a 60-59 game.

Good Hope looked to increase its lead but missed a shot from the stripe, allowing D.A.R. to take advantage and hit four straight free throws, giving the Patriots a 63-60 lead.

Cole Maddox got a rebound and a putback to make it 63-62.

The Patriots split from the line to make it a one-possession game and that gave the Raiders one last chance to win it, but their last-second heave from half court fell short and they wound up falling 64-62.

Cole Maddox led the way for Good Hope with 22 points, seven rebounds and two steals.

Fendley added 12 points and four steals. Lowe (six rebounds and seven blocks) and Drew Maddox (six steals) each ended up with 10 points. Malin added four points.

Eli Phares finished with two points, five rebounds and a steal. Dixon ended up with two points, a block and a steal.

Good Hope's season ended with a record of 23-7.

Good Hope will lose two key players to graduation in May, so the Raiders will have almost everyone coming back as they look to make another deep postseason run next year.

PREP BASKETBALL REGIONALS

6 local squads set to battle it out in the regionals

Sammy Confer, Nick Griffin

CULLMAN COUNTY - The sub-regionals behind them, six local teams are set to battle their way through upcoming regional tournaments. Cold Springs, West Point, Holly Pond and Fairview have women's teams still in the mix while on the men's side, Hanceville and Holly Pond are alive as well. The Lady Aggies and the Bulldogs will be traveling to Jacksonville State for the Northeast Regional Tournament and the others will be playing in the Northwest Regional here at Wallace State.

GIRLS

Class 2A: Hatton (23-7) v. Cold Springs (24-6)

Cold Springs continued its red-hot streak by rolling past Vincent 77-31 in the sub-regional game and will take on Hatton Friday at 6 p.m. in the Northwest Regional. Hatton defeated Addison 54-40 to advance to the regional tournament. The Lady Eagles' last meeting against the Lady Hornets came in 2015 when Cold Springs defeated Hatton 52-44 in a sub-regional game. Camryn Crider, Elizabeth Hill, Toni West and Lina Lieckfeld, to name a few, have had huge games when it has mattered most, and smothering defense has made it very difficult for opposing teams to get anything going. The Lady Eagles have to keep limiting their mistakes and continue their red-hot shooting if they are to move on to the regional finals.

Class 3A: Lauderdale County (17-14) v. Holly Pond (15-13)

It was a back-and-forth battle in the sub-regional game between Carbon Hill and Holly Pond as each team looked to move on to the Northwest Regional, but in the end, the Lady Broncos came out ahead. A late layup by Maddie Heatherly gave them a 44-43 lead with 16 seconds to play and they sealed the win with a blocked shot on the last possession of the contest. Holly Pond will take on a tough Lauderdale County squad Saturday at 6 p.m. at Wallace State. The last time that the Lady Broncos won a regional game was in 2014 when they defeated Saks 87-29 and Plainview 67-51 to move on to Birmingham. They fell to the Lady Mustangs in the state championship game 56-35. Behind a very balanced scoring attack and a ferocious defensive scheme under head coach Andrew Kelley, Holly Pond has made a lot of noise this season and will look to continue to that when it takes on Lauderdale County Saturday night.

Class 4A: Fairview (18-10) v. Cherokee County (22-6)

After falling just short of winning the area championship against Oneonta, Fairview quickly brushed that aside and concentrated on its sub-regional game at North Jackson. After a close first quarter, the Lady Aggies pulled away from the Lady Chiefs and wound up taking the game 69-57 to move on to the Northeast Regionals at Jacksonville State University. They will face off against Cherokee County next Tuesday at noon. Despite losing some key players last season, under first-year head coach Justin Billings, Fairview has gotten balanced scoring from almost its entire roster and its defense has been strong and tough to score on. The Lady Aggies are 9-2 in their last 11 contests and will look to continue their strong run when they face Cherokee County.

Class 5A: West Point (27-5) v. Pleasant Grove (21-8)

West Point got off to a quick start in its sub-regional game against East Limestone, scoring the first seven points and finishing the quarter on a 15-2 run to take a 22-10 lead into the second period. The Lady Warriors quickly pulled away to win the game 65-46, allowing them to advance to regionals for the first time since 2006. The Lady Warriors will take on Pleasant Grove Saturday at 9 a.m. at Wallace State. Miriam Oldacre finished with a game-high 31 points for West Point in the sub-regional victory and they'll look to get that same performance from her going forward, along with Lexi Shadix, Mackenzie Carter and Molly Pendley to name a few. Their defense gave the Lady Indians fits at times, and that'll be a big key against the Lady Spartans, along with limiting turnovers. If West Point can do all of that, it'll have a great chance to move on to the regional finals.

BOYS

Class 3A: Holly Pond (15-15) v. Westminster Christian Academy (24-4)

The Broncos fought off Lamar County in a thrilling 87-84 contest in sub-regionals to secure their spot in the Northwest Regional and they'd certainly like to build on that momentum going forward. Holly Pond will have its hands full when it faces Westminster Christian Academy Saturday at 7:30 p.m. The Wildcats are ranked second in Class 3A and have compiled a 24-4 record to this point in the season. The Broncos are starting to hit their stride as the games become more important and they'll need one of their best performances of the season Saturday night if they want to keep advancing.

Class 3A: Hanceville (23-7) v. Piedmont (22-4)

It took a huge fourth quarter for the Bulldogs to overcome Midfield on the road Tuesday night and now they've set their sights on the Northeast Regional Tournament. Hanceville will face sixth-ranked Piedmont at Jacksonville State University Monday at 4:30 p.m. and it'll take one of its best games of the season to advance further. Piedmont has won 18 of its last 20 games so Hanceville can make a big statement with a win on Monday.

Memorial service for David D'Wayne Bethke, Sr., age 75, of Crane Hill, will be at 2 p.m. on Monday, February 18, 2019, at Cullman Heritage Funeral Home. Cullman Heritage Funeral Home is in charge of arrangements. Mr. Bethke passed away on February 12, 2019, at UAB Palliative Care. He was born January 25, 1944, to Louis Bethke and Georgia Phillips. Mr. Bethke entered the U.S. Army right out of high school. He served active duty for 21 years, including two tours in Vietnam and multiple overseas duties. David decided to retire from the Army, and finished his master's degree. Later, he worked for the U.S. Civil Service as a Laser Protection Officer, Emergency Management, Logistician, Director of Military Support in Waegan, S. Korea, and finally by fielding and teaching helicopter and fixed-wing aircraft pilot and crews survivability systems. David served his country with distinction for a total of 50 years, retiring in 2012. David's passion was always classic cars, spending the last year of his life building a 1923 T-Bucket Hot Rod, of which he was very proud. When, he wasn't working on cars, he was the best husband ever, and strived to be the ultimate grandfather. He was preceded in death by his parents and a brother. Survivors include his wife, Jolene Bethke; daughters, Pamala Bethke (Chris Fretz), Angel Bethke (Tim McErlean), and Constance (Douglas) Gillon; sons, Rodney (Katherine) Ratliff and David Bethke, Jr. (Rosa Vera); grandchildren, Ariel (Daniel) Batton, Mogan Gillon, Shaun Torres, David Bethke, III, Mia Fuhrman, and Ethan Redmond; great-grandchildren, Luke Batton and Chance Batton.

Cold Springs' Brody Peppers (14) races after a loose ball during the Eagles' 55-49 loss to Sumiton Christian Tuesday night.

BREMEN – After more than doubling their win total from a year ago, the season came to an end for the Cold Springs Eagles Tuesday night with a 55-49 loss to Sumiton Christian.

The Eagles always seemed to be within one or two possessions of taking the lead in the second half but just couldn't get enough shots to fall.

Missed free throws and turnovers plagued Cold Springs throughout the night, but its strength on the offensive glass kept them in striking distance.

A 3-pointer from Landyn Freeman gave the Eagles an early 6-0 lead but Sumiton Christian was able to tie the game at eight later in the first.

Adam Hill laid one in at the buzzer to give Cold Springs a 15-13 advantage at the start of the second quarter, but the Eagles couldn't maintain the lead for long.

A 10-2 run put Sumiton Christian ahead 23-17 midway through the second, but the Eagles were able to trim the lead to 25-22 before the half.

A basket from Landyn Freeman cut the lead to 27-26 early in the third quarter and Hill knocked down two free throws to make it a 29-28 game later in the period, but Sumiton Christian was able to finish the quarter strong.

A three-point shot at the buzzer put Sumiton Christian on top 39-33 at the start of the fourth quarter.

A 3-pointer from Freeman cut the lead to 39-36 at the start of the fourth and the Eagles trailed Sumiton Christian 47-43 midway through the final period.

A pair of free throws from Freeman trimmed the lead to 49-46 with just under two minutes to play but Cold Springs couldn't draw any closer than that, and Sumiton Christian held on to win it 55-49.

Freeman led the Eagles with 18 points in the loss, followed by Hill with 13 points, Brody Peppers with eight, Logan Rice with six and Mason Harris with four.

The season came to an end at 17-10 for Cold Springs and only a few seniors will be leaving this spring, but there will be a lot of production to replace on the floor for the Eagles next season.

OTHER TUESDAY NIGHT SUB-REGIONAL RESULTS

CLASS 3A: HOLLY POND 87 – LAMAR COUNTY 84

The Broncos came from behind to knock off Lamar County in a shootout Tuesday night and secure their spot in the Northwest Regional.

Holly Pond trailed 48-40 at the half and were still down by six going into the fourth quarter, but a late scoring surge from the Broncos propelled them to a dramatic victory.

Holly Pond will try to ride this wave of the momentum at Wallace State Saturday at 7:30 when they take on Westminster Christian Academy.

CLASS 3A: HANCEVILLE 67 – MIDFIELD 62

The Bulldogs trailed Midfield at the end of the first quarter, went into the half down 34-31 and trailed at the start of the fourth quarter, but they were still able to find a way to win and punch their ticket to this year's Northeast Regional.

Hanceville outscored the Patriots 23-14 in the final frame to pull away and will try to keep the ball rolling when the Bulldogs take on Piedmont Monday at Jacksonville State at 4:30.

GENERAL SALES MANAGER

Fred Crutcher has been with Tony Serra Nissan of Cullman since December 1, 2011. Fred says his favorite part of working at Tony Serra Nissan is being able to help customers who may be facing unique situations which would generally get the customer denied at other locations.
"I've spent the better part of 25 years in the car business, I would like customers to know that I have a unique set of skills working with credit challenges. I work really close with several banks and with the combination of the two, I have helped many customers overcome being denied. When others say no, we say yes."
Though Fred has been in the business for over two decades he said "there is nowhere else I'd rather be. The loyalty from All my customers here is Amazing!"
