Willoughby Roofing & Sheet Metal relocating to Vinemont

Christy Perry
christy@cullmantribune.com

VINEMONT, Ala. – Willoughby Roofing & Sheet Metal, Inc. is relocating to South Vinemont from the city of Cullman. The Vinemont Town Council on Tuesday night approved a 10-year tax abatement for the company, which is currently located in south Cullman on Old Hanceville Highway. Work on the new location in Vinemont, a vacant property on U.S Highway 31 North near County Road 1301 which used to be the home to a drive-in theater, will begin over the next month according to Kyle Willoughby, the company's vice president.

Cullman Economic Development Agency (CEDA) Economic Development & Incentives Manager Stanley Kennedy spoke on behalf of Willoughby Roofing at Tuesday's meeting in Vinemont. He estimated that 35 employees will be working at the new location. Some manufacturing of sheet metal and roofing products is planned as well. He said the roofing company contracts primarily for commercial jobs but hopes to open a retail location for local buyers.

Vinemont Mayor Radginal "Reggie" Dodson said, "Basically, he wants the town to relinquish part of the monies we accept to entice them to come into our town. This is really normal and I see nothing wrong with it. They aren't asking to just wipe out everything."

Kennedy added, "Normal taxes would begin in 10 years unless there was a substantial expansion. We are not going to take educational funds for the kids. The company will stay pay all taxes related to education."

Total taxes abated over the 10-year period are estimated at $49,766 ($20,700 in sales tax, $4,266 in use tax and $24,800 in ad valorem tax).

Willoughby Roofing's current property in south Cullman is landlocked, hindering future expansion. The South Vinemont property will allow room for growth and also allow room for Willoughby's trucks and equipment. Kennedy said the company will work to make renovations to the property, potentially increasing its value. "Over the next month, we'll begin work on the property so we can move," said Willoughby. "We're trying to hire as many good sheet metal workers and commercial roofers as we can." Willoughby said the company is looking to hire 10 to 20 additional workers. "We're excited about

Lady Eagles standouts Hill and Crider selected as Miss Basketball, 2A Player of the Year finalists MONTGOMERY, Ala. – Cold Springs' Camryn Crider and Elizabeth Hill both put together huge seasons for the Lady Eagles and they've already racked up a plethora of awards thus far, including first-team spots on the All-State team. Now they are heading to Montgomery as two of the three finalists for this year's Miss Basketball award and the 2A Girls Player of the Year award.

Crider and Hill earned a pair of spots at the annual basketball awards luncheon, which will take place at the downtown Renaissance Hotel in Montgomery on March 26. They will join their fellow finalists for this year's State Player of the Year and Mr. and Miss Basketball awards.

Crider finished out her Cold Springs career in style by breaking the state record for most 3-pointers in a season, finishing with 157, tying the state record by making 13 treys in a single game.

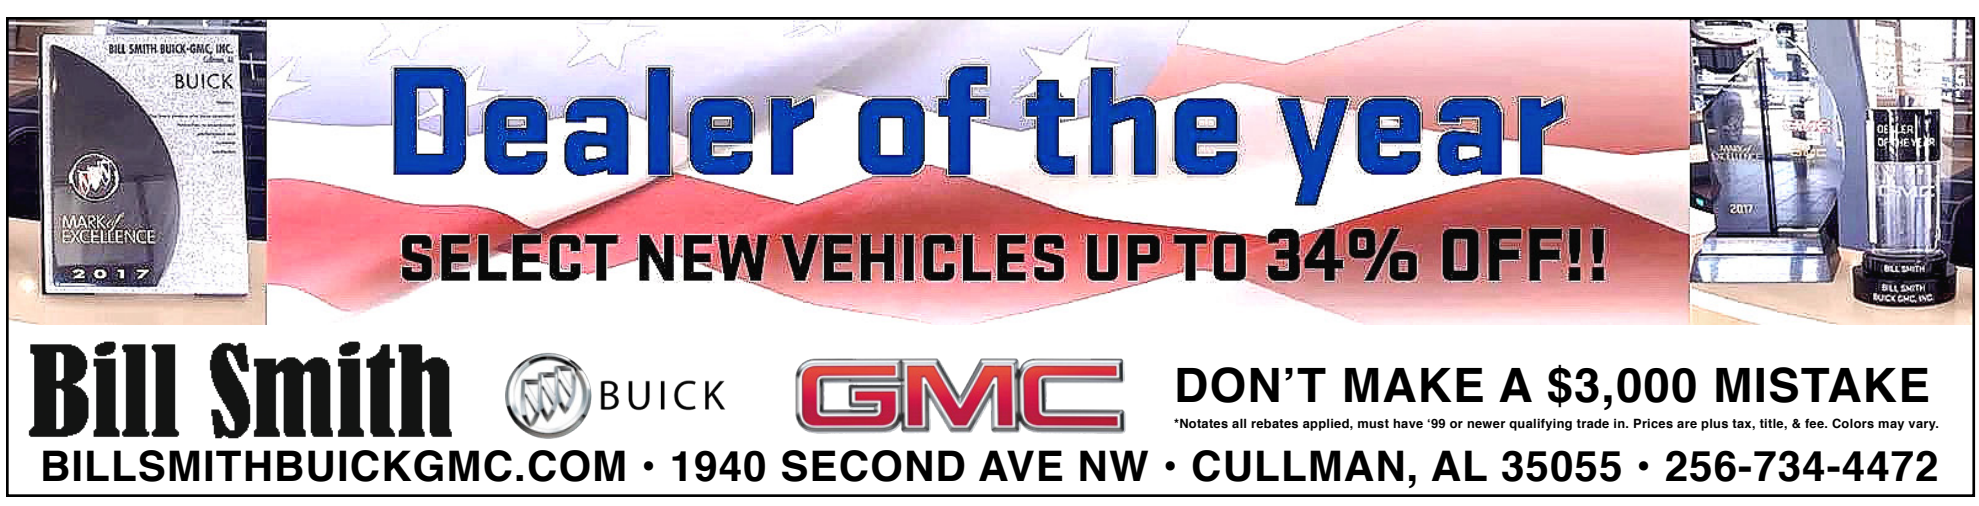

She now holds the state record for most 3-pointers in a single quarter. Crider knocked down seven in the first quarter of Cold Springs' 84-20 rout of Southeasten in January. She was also honored with the Bill Shelton Award at this year's county tournament along with a place on the All-County team. Crider ended this season with 2,002 career points and was selected to both the Northwest Regional and 2A State All-Tournament teams.

Hill battled through some injuries to have a great season as well, collecting All-County honors along with being named to the Northwest Regional All-Tournament team and the 2A State All-Tournament team. Hill earned MVP honors in both the Northwest Regional Tournament and Class 2A State Tournament. She finished her junior season with one of her best performances of the year, posting 30 points, 10 rebounds, five assists, four steals and four blocks in the Lady Eagles' 57-53 win over Fyffe in the Class 2A state championship game, where the team earned its first title since 2009. Hill was also selected to participate in this year's North-South All-Star Basketball Game in July.

County Commission approves new half-cent sales tax to benefit Cullman County Schools

CULLMAN, Ala. - The Cullman County Commission voted Tuesday morning to approve a new half-cent sales tax to benefit Cullman County Schools. The money will go toward facilities and safety upgrades for all county school campuses, as well as what is being called "Project X," the details of which are expected to be released soon, according to Cullman County Schools Superintendent Dr. Shane Barnette. The tax will be imposed for 15 years.

The commission's vote was in a response to a request from the Cullman County Board of Education (CCBOE), which voted in an early Tuesday morning special-called meeting to approach the commission with the request.

According to Barnette, the tax will help fund improved security measures at county schools, including:

• Photo ID visitor check-in systems that can run an instant sex offender checks on visitors using information from a driver's license or state ID card, and issue visitors a temporary badge with their photo on it
• Panic buttons located at multiple easily accessible points around campuses that can notify administrators and law enforcement of the specific location of trouble at the schools
• Extra School Resource Officers (SROs) for larger campuses or multi-campus complexes that could benefit from more coverage
• More fencing to secure the boundaries of campuses. Barnette said, "We don't want our schools to be a prison, but we want to make sure that they're safe and secure."
• Upgraded campus video camera systems accessible to administrators, law enforcement and emergency responders
• Certain other "invisible" security features guaranteeing that active shooters or other threats would face obstacles for which they would be unprepared

Additionally, the tax will help support facility upgrades and another upcoming CCBOE project.

Said Barnette, "We've got work to do as far as the safety and security of our schools, and to be able to do some of the things that I think are necessary to do, we've got to pay for it. And so, with safety and security in mind, I came to them (the commission) and asked them if they would help with that and pass this half-cent sales tax to go toward that and go toward facilities.

"We also are doing a feasibility study with our Career Center. We're wanting to offer different programs that are going to help people from north Alabama get some of the business and industry jobs that are here now and that are coming. So we need to invest some money in our Career Center to be able to do that, and that may mean renovating it, maybe building a new one. But we've got to do something to get more kids in there, get them trained so they can come out of high school ready for jobs.

"Then there's another project that I'm really excited about, that's been a dream of mine for a while, that right now I'm just calling it "Project X," and I'll be doing a press release on that in the next few days, I hope. But right now, I just can't release what that is, but it's something that everybody can be a part of. We're really excited about it."

Barnette concluded with a word of thanks to the commissioners.

"I want to thank our commissioners for being bold and taking this opportunity to make a statement to the students of Cullman County that their safety is our top priority. And so, some of these funds will go toward doing many different things for safety, and upgrading some facilities," he said.

"They know as well as I know that nobody likes to pay taxes, especially no additional taxes, but this is an investment in our children, and that's the way I look at it.

"It'll automatically roll off in 15 years unless the people want to vote it back on; if they don't, it automatically rolls off. But the good thing about it is, the people of Cullman County will see what we're spending this money on. It is going to be very obvious what we're spending the money on."

The commission approved only the creation of the tax at this meeting. The date for the implementation of the tax will be determined at a future meeting.

Commission sets $10.25 minimum wage for County employees after controversial raise; Rock the South parking and traffic plan unveiled

W.C. Mann

CULLMAN, Ala. - In the wake of Monday's controversial revelation that Cullman County Engineer John Lang was in February given a $17,000 raise on top of last fall's annual merit raise, bringing his salary to $123,825.74, the Cullman County Commission on Tuesday moved to bolster the bottom end of its pay scale by establishing a minimum hourly wage of $10.25 for County employees.

Under the current pay scale, new hires can make as little as $7.92 per hour. Under the new plan, which will go into effect in the next pay cycle beginning March 16, minimum pay for all Grade C-1 employees through Step 9, all Grade C-2 employees through Step 5, and all Step 1 C-3 employees will be raised to $10.25 per hour.

Commissioner Garry Marchman addressed both Lang's raise--which he opposed--and the new minimum wage, telling The Tribune, "I was against the increase of the salary of the engineer, one of the reasons being is because I believe it's a very competitive pay. It was at $106,000 (after the 2018 merit increase); I think that was a fair salary for what he did, even above fair. John's a good guy, smart guy, does a lot for the county, but when we start looking at pay increases, I try to take into consideration the amount of money that our lower paid pay scales are making.

"And, you know, you look at that. We just increased our minimum wage to $10.25. Well, you know, our fast food places out here pay almost $10 or around $10 an hour to start out with, and we as a county, if we want to look at retention and recruiting employees, then we've got to start looking at how we base our salaries, and the lower paid people in the county's something that really needs to be addressed.

"And when Mr. Lang came in and asked for a pay raise, I was against it; and the other two (Chairman Kenneth Walker and Commissioner Kerry Watson), basically just to sum it up, voted for it.

"And I don't think it was a fair increase."

Rock the South parking and traffic flow

Darrell Skipper of Skipper Consulting updated the commission on its parking and traffic flow study for Rock the South. He showed maps of five proposed parking areas around the site capable of holding up to 7,642 vehicles, with an additional parking area just west of the event venue for RVs and campers.

Visitors in most of the parking areas will be able to access the venue via pedestrian trails set up for the event, preventing them from having to walk along the somewhat narrow roads leading to the venue.

One parking area will be located east of Interstate 65, requiring pedestrian traffic to move west along Swafford Road to reach the venue; according to Skipper, that portion of the road from Logan Avenue to County Road 469 will be closed to all vehicles except emergency responders, and the parking area will only be accessible by car from the east side.

Skipper also showed charts of a study of traffic flow around the site, and proposed a plan for police and lighting locations, temporary road closures at particular times, and temporary conversion of certain routes to one-way flow during high traffic times of the event.

The plan also included a combination of signage and barricades intended to keep event traffic out of the area immediately around the Deer Trace subdivision. Skipper concluded by noting that road conditions will be surveyed both before and after the event to determine the effect of the event on the roads.

Colony storm shelter ready for use; history, heritage programs planned

craig@cullmantribune.com

COLONY, Ala. - It was a light agenda for the Colony Town Council meeting Tuesday evening, but it just gave the council the opportunity to share more good news. Councilman Curtis Johnson reported that the town's community storm shelter recently passed the final fire marshal's inspection, clearing the facility for use during bad weather.

The shelter, located behind town hall, can hold more than 80 people and has restrooms and a generator for independent power.

Johnson reported that the town is still working on completing the installation of the generator at the Educational Complex.

Councilwoman Ethel Alexander reported that Colony representatives will be seeking certification to participate in the federal summer feeding program after the conclusion of Colony's summer camp-style youth enrichment program in early June.

She also told the council that the enrichment program has received an $800 grant, thanks to Cullman's Benedictine Sisters.

Older participants will take part in a high-tech, hands-on workshop, using desktop computers to run a digital cutting machine, 3-D printer, swing-away heat press and laser engraver.

Younger participants will learn about Colony's history in a program that will include walking tours, a hay ride and a picnic in Vivian B. Allen Park.

Alexander also shared that, as part of its contribution to Alabama's Bicentennial celebration, on March 30 the town will unveil a five-panel mural displaying various aspects of the history and heritage of the Colony community.

That will be followed on April 12 by a stop in the town by members of the Birmingham African American Genealogical Group, which will be in Cullman County to visit the genealogy department at Wallace State Community College's library.

Colony's Town Council meets at Colony Town Hall at 6 p.m. on the second and fourth Tuesdays of each month, with work sessions at 5:30.

The public is invited to attend.

HEALTH: Grandparent Caregiver Program offered by NARCOG

Cissy Pearson
Contributor

DECATUR, Ala. – The number of grandparents raising grandchildren has grown to an estimated 2.5 million. These "grandfamilies" present unique challenges for older adults. So much that a new law, The Supporting Grandparents Raising Grandchildren Act was passed last July. The Grandparent Caregiver Program offered through the North Central Alabama Regional Council of Governments (NARCOG) can provide information and assist in finding resources that can help these grandparents.

Caring for a child under the age of 18 is a tremendous responsibility. The Grandparent program is designed to help caregivers manage their responsibilities while taking care of themselves. The program is available for grandparents age 55 and older who are living with and providing primary care for an underage child or an adult child with severe disabilities.

NARCOG can assess your individual situation and connect you with resources. Some of the services grandparents may be eligible to receive include educational programs, respite and supplemental services. Limited funds are also available to assist in covering the cost of sporting activities, summer camps or school supplies for grandchildren.

For additional information on the Grandparent Caregiver Program, call 256-355-4515. NARCOG provides programs and services to the communities and residents of Cullman, Lawrence and Morgan Counties.

Celebration (from Front)

CULLMAN, Ala. – Cullman's inaugural St. Patrick's Celebration will take place this Saturday, March 16, with multiple events happening throughout the city.

The day's festivities will kick off at East Elementary with the PTO's Shamrock Shuffle 5K/1-Mile Color Run. Participants can register up to 30 minutes prior to the start of the races. The first 150 runners to finish will receive medals. The races begin at 8 a.m.

Following the races, the school will host a variety of kids' activities. A sidewalk chalk drawing contest, food vendors, face painting, games and inflatables will be available until noon.

The Merchant Crawl will be taking place downtown from 11 a.m.-5 p.m. Participants will need to pick up a punch card at East Elementary before 11 or at Karma's Coffee House after 11. Fourteen merchants throughout the Warehouse District and downtown are part of the fun. With each purchase at a participating merchant, a participant's punch card will receive one punch. Participants can get five punches in one or two locations or from five different merchants. Once the punch card has been punched five times, the cards can be returned to Karma's where they will be entered for the drawing for a special gift basket.

St. Patty's in the Park kicks off at Depot Park at noon and lasts until 5 p.m. Sponsored by Clayton Homes, all proceeds will benefit nonprofit Victims Services of Cullman, Inc. Kids' activities, a silent auction and raffle prizes are planned, as well as a packed lineup of live music. A variety of vendors, including food, will be at the park. One raffle ticket will be given to those who bring food donations.

Goat Island Brewing will be hosting the pre-party and registration for the St. Patrick's Pub Crawl. Those interested in the Pub Crawl can pre-register until noon on Friday at Goat Island for $15 or at the pre-party from 6-8 p.m. on Saturday night. You must be 21 to enter. Participants will receive a packet with a scorecard.

Eight Cullman pubs and restaurants are participating in the crawl. All are located downtown, except Goat Island and Grumpy's. Starting at 6 p.m., participants can visit the different establishments.

Wisener explained, "You go to as many bars and restaurants that you want to, and for every purchase you make, you draw from a deck of cards at that bar and put it on your scorecard."

The event ends at Mae's Food Hall with the Pub Crawl Post--Party from 10-11 p.m. The person who turns in the best five-card poker hand wins $250 cash.

For those not interested in the Pub Crawl, each bar and restaurant will be offering St. Patrick's Day specials for everyone.

Cullman Parks, Recreation and Sports Tourism Marketing Coordinator Jasef Wisener said of this year's celebration, "We are more of an umbrella for everything that's happening. We wanted to do a Pub Crawl. Everything else, other than the Merchant Crawl, it's an umbrella, so these events were going to be happening anyway. East Elementary was doing theirs and Victims Services was doing theirs and we really just wanted to do whatever we could to help out with promotion and bring more exposure. This is what we are good at. We are good at events. Even though we aren't in charge of or planning a lot of these, having us handle the marketing for it is really helping everyone else. We are here to help everyone else out." Find out more at www.facebook.com/events/495671590957115.

The U.S. Food and Drug Administration today expanded the approval of Xeljanz (tofacitinib) to include adults with moderately to severely active ulcerative colitis. Xeljanz is the first oral medication approved for chronic use in this indication. Other FDA-approved treatments for the chronic treatment of moderately to severely active ulcerative colitis must be administered through an intravenous infusion or subcutaneous injection. Ulcerative colitis is a chronic, inflammatory bowel disease affecting the colon. Patients experience recurrent flares of abdominal pain and bloody diarrhea. Other symptoms include fatigue, weight loss and fever. More than 900,000 patients are affected in the United States, many of them experiencing moderately to severely active ulcerative colitis and there is currently no cure.

A study led by Massachusetts General Hospital (MGH) investigators identifies two subanesthetic dosage levels of the anesthetic drug ketamine that appear to provide significant symptom relief to patients with treatment-resistant depression. In the October 2018 issue of Molecular Psychiatry they describe finding that single intravenous doses of 0.5 mg/kg and 1.0 mg/kg were more effective than an active placebo in reducing depression symptoms over a three-day period. Two lower dosage levels that were tested did not provide significant symptom relief, although some improvement was noted with the lowest 0.1 mg/kg dose.

Meth (from Front)

CULLMAN, Ala. – Five people were arrested in Vinemont Wednesday after a traffic stop resulted in the discovery of approximately 24 grams of methamphetamine, 28 grams of marijuana, prescription pills, suboxone strips, syringes and other drug paraphernalia, according to the Cullman County Sheriff's Office (CCSO).

CCSO deputies made the traffic stop on U.S. Highway 31 North and found the drugs and other items after conducting a search of the vehicle.

Charged with possession with intent to distribute methamphetamine, unlawful possession of a controlled substance, illegal possession of prescription drugs, second-degree unlawful possession of marijuana and possession of drug paraphernalia were: Christopher Lee Carter, 51, of Decatur; Dustin Michael Edward Jenkins, 29, of Hartselle; Frank Scott Lang, 47, of Hartselle; Kara Beth Griffin, 23, of Trinity; and Kimberly Roshell Lambert, 29, of Hartselle.

"I would like to commend the deputies who made these arrests for the outstanding job they did in getting these drug dealers off our streets. This is another example of our deputies being proactive by seeing a suspicious vehicle that did not belong in the area and conducting a traffic stop," said Sheriff Matt Gentry. "This is a lot of meth, marijuana, pills, etc. that we seized today that was not able to be sold to our citizens here in Cullman County."

All suspects are currently in the Cullman County Detention Center, each on a $27,800 bond.

MEET DANIEL COOMBS
USED CAR MANAGER

Daniel Coombs served as the New Car Manager at Tony Serra Nissan of Cullman before being named Used Car Manager of the Used Car Supercenter lot this past February. Daniel says this Used Car Supercenter is something that is new to Cullman and that he is glad that Tony Serra Nissan is able to help customers find the perfect car, whether new or used.

"In the past we have carried an inventory of 40 to 50 pre-owned cars on the lot. We have spent the past year moving earth and paving a new parking lot just south of our main store. The new lot is located at 301 Broadway Drive SW.

This lot will allow us to stock over 100 pre-owned vehicles in addition to the 300 new vehicles we keep in stock.

We will have a bigger selection of trucks, SUV's and cars."

Daniel said they do their research to ensure they are giving their customers the best deals possible

"We try to set a fair price and eliminate the need for customers to feel like they have to be a good negotiator to get a good deal."

Come meet Daniel Coombs at the Used Car Supercenter, located at 301 Broadway ST. SW, and see what he can do for you!
