Sounding the alarm

Hanceville residents can get a free smoke detector from Hanceville Fire and Rescue

Christy Perry
christy@cullmantribune.com

HANCEVILLE, Ala. – Hanceville Fire and Rescue Assistant Fire Chief Bart Absher gave an update recently on the number and types of calls the fire department has responded to so far in and around Hanceville in 2019. Absher said the numbers for 2019 are in-line with the 2018 numbers; however, one statistic in particular is a serious concern. He reported that Cullman County is ranked in the top 10 in the state of Alabama for fire fatalities. Hanceville Fire and Rescue wants to make all Hanceville citizens aware of a program where they can receive free smoke detectors.

The Alabama State Fire Marshal's Office has created a program called "Get Alarmed Alabama." Absher said Hanceville is participating in the program, funded by a private foundation, which provides free smoke alarms to its residents.

He said, "We can go out, we can give these to any citizen in our coverage area. We found out, even if it's a rental property, then we can give them » PAGE 5

GOLF CART RULES

'If the tag office down at the courthouse won't give you a tag for it, you can't operate it on the public roadways and streets'

Christy Perry
christy@cullmantribune.com

CULLMAN, Ala. – There's been a lot of discussion in Cullman and the surrounding municipalities the last few weeks about driving golf carts on public roads, on trails or in parks. According to law enforcement, all vehicles must be properly registered with the state, have a tag and be equipped with head and tail lights.

"If the tag office down at the courthouse won't give you a tag for it, you can't operate it on the public roadways and streets," said Cullman Police Lt. Jeff Warnke regarding the use of golf carts, ATVs and other motorized recreational vehicles within the Cullman city limits.

Furthermore, Warnke said, these vehicles are not welcome on trails specifically designed for foot traffic.

Alabama State Law 32-5-240 Section B (1) states, "Every motor vehicle, other than a motorcycle or motor-driven cycle, shall be equipped with at least two but not more than four head lamps." Section C (1) states, "Every motor vehicle shall be equipped with at least one tail lamp mounted on the rear which, when lighted as required, emits a red light plainly visible from a distance of 500 feet to the rear." Standard golf carts do not meet these requirements and are not street legal.

Warnke said besides golf carts and ATVs not being legal to drive on public roads, they are prohibited in Heritage Park, Sportsman Lake Park and on other walking trails.

Although a specific ordinance regarding the use of motorized vehicles does not exist in the City of Cullman, Warnke pointed out, "There's signage at the parks that you can't ride them. Sportsman Lake Park technically resides in the city but is County property. They have signage on their walking trails around there prohibiting any motor-driven vehicles on there. The only thing allowed is bicycles and foot traffic."

The Town of Vinemont does have a specific ordinance prohibiting the use of motorized vehicles on Town property as well as signage clearly displaying that the vehicles are not welcome.

The City of Good Hope, which recently purchased land to expand Municipal Park, is currently planning the addition of walking trails.

Good Hope Mayor Jerry Bartlett said that no ordinance currently exists but added, "We probably will with our new park and trails."

The Town of Baileyton also prohibits the use of motorized vehicles on its walking trails.

When asked about the use of golf carts on the roads in Baileyton, Mayor Johnny Dyar responded, "That will be up to them and the law if they get caught."

According to Hanceville Mayor Kenneth Nail, "We allow golf carts on the city streets but they must have a slow-moving placard placed on the back. Our stance is it could be farm equipment. We have never let ATVs on the roadway and we do not want any vehicles on the paved walking trails."

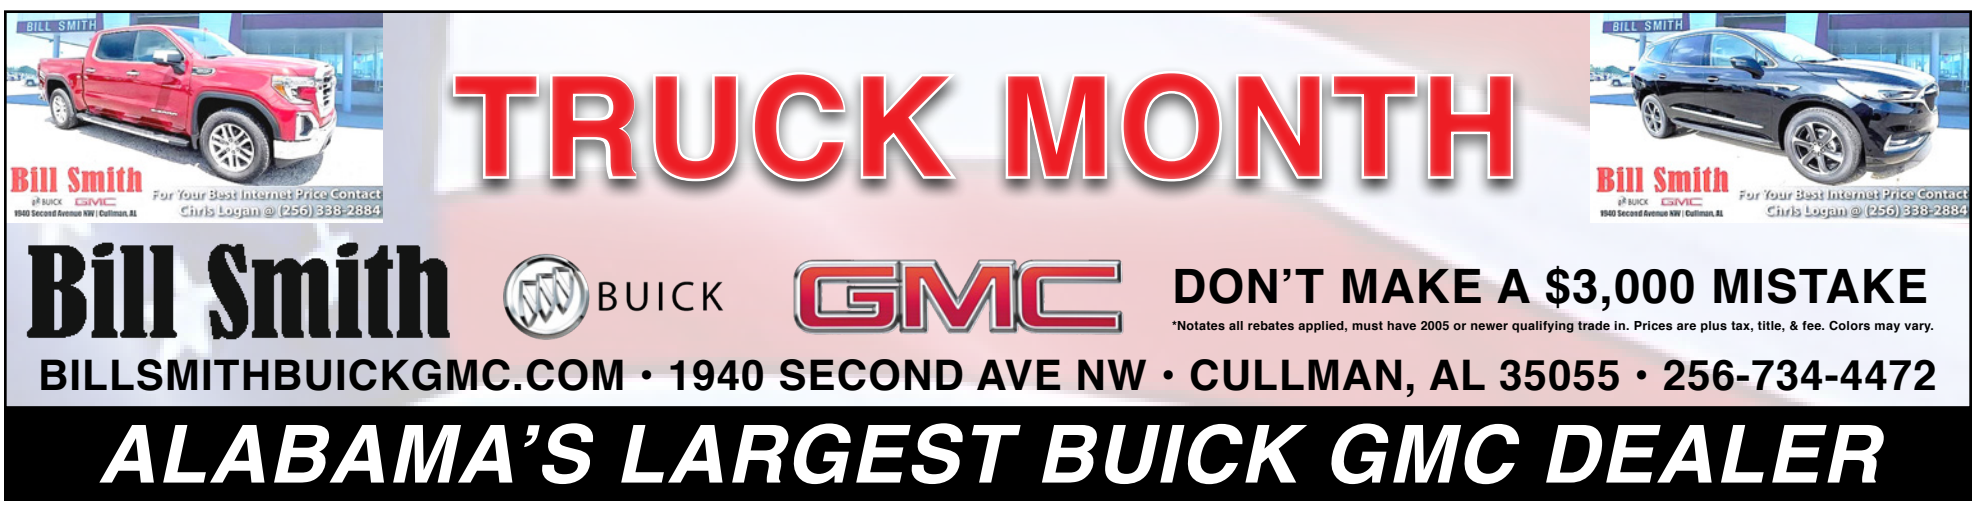

Warnke said the walking trails at Duck River were specifically designed to deter motorized vehicles.

Warnke clarified that the City of Cullman does not consider a golf cart to be farm equipment and the orange triangle placard would not make a golf cart legal in the Cullman city limits. Warnke also made the distinction between Cullman and the retirement communities » PAGE 2 in Florida that allow golf carts on the roadways.

"There are tons of golf carts down there but every one of them has a Florida license plate on the back of it," said Warnke. "They are paying road taxes. Every one of those golf carts has headlights on them. They've got taillights on them and they got a tag on them which makes them street legal. That's the difference."

The Cullman Police Department does work calls pertaining to golf carts and ATVs on the city's streets. Warnke said that typically officers will warn the driver and inform them that they are breaking the law.

However, he added, "The parents, if the child is underage and they have allowed their child to drive, they could be held liable for an accident.

"If a child gets out riding a vehicle that is not street legal, if they are in an accident or even if they are not in an accident, and if they are underage and they don't have a license, that's a traffic citation.

"If the parents are allowing the child to drive that vehicle, that's another traffic citation for the parent and I have issued that citation before. Any number of different violations could be assessed, and if they hurt somebody, there's all kinds of legal ramifications...civil liabilities and everything else that's out there that could end up costing a family a lot of money.

"They could lose the house, the farm and everything else."

If a licensed driver were pulled over in a golf cart, he or she could be cited for a variety of violations including no tag, no headlights or no taillights. A person could also be cited for a DUI for driving under the influence in a recreational vehicle.

Warnke's advice for those wanting to ride their golf carts and ATVs is this: "Keep it in the grass somewhere, either on the golf course, out in the field or in the woods. People are trying to push the limits and test the boundaries. If they put a trail in the middle of the park it's designed for people to walk on, run on, or exercise. It's not a race track. It's not a Grand Prix track for a go cart or an ATV or anything else like that. People just need to use some common sense, good judgement and courtesy. You don't want to be walking on a trail like that and have some teen on an all-terrain vehicle come flying around a curve on you and run you down."

Celebrate (from Front)

craig@cullmantribune.com

CULLMAN, Ala. – In downtown Cullman, 2nd Fridays events have become a big summertime thing, but last night, things got even bigger as the Cullman Downtown Merchants Association's Celebrate Cullman event joined the party.

Running simultaneously with 2nd Fridays, sponsored by the Cullman Area Chamber of Commerce and Cullman Parks, Recreation and Sports Tourism, Celebrate Cullman featured carnival rides and games, live music and downtown retailers and restaurants staying open late to give visitors a full evening of fun.

All of the rides and games were free, and kids could get tickets to spend at a prize tent.

Event coordinator Ron Pierce called it "Chuck E. Cheese without the cost!"

Celebrate Cullman began in 2011 as a way to let people know that downtown Cullman was making a comeback from the tornadoes that leveled portions of the retail district.

Pierce explained, "Celebrate Cullman is a result of the 2011 tornadoes that came through here and actually closed the two blocks that we're in right here.

"Most of the stores that were in it- Busy Bee (Café) was wiped out.

"Berkeley Bob's wasn't hurt real bad, but a lot of other stores in this two-block area were. This whole blocked area was closed off."

Continued Pierce, "So we had Celebrate Cullman, and Nathan Anderson that heads up the parks department was a big part of that.

"We wanted to bring people back downtown to shop, because they weren't sure it was open again yet.

"So, every year since 2011, we've tried to have Celebrate Cullman where we give all this back to the community, where rides are free, games are free and prizes are free.

"We've got some good food vendors.

"We've got Link's from up at Mae's Food Hall, we've got a taco truck, we've got a pizza guy, we've got Sno-Biz.

"You know, it's great: lots of games, lots of fun, lots of family atmosphere."

An Open Letter to the Residents of Hanceville and the Surrounding Areas:

RIVER VALLEY INGREDIENTS™

On June 6, our River Valley Ingredients facility experienced an accidental release of wastewater due to a mechanical failure in temporary piping installed by a contractor. Since that time, there has been a lot of information shared through both traditional and social media. A great deal happened quickly but not all facts were apparent. While we provided early comments to news media, I want to directly provide area residents with some additional information.

First and most importantly, we understand that events like this are unacceptable. We strive to be good stewards of the environment and we take that obligation seriously. While this was an isolated event, I want you to know that we've taken measures to improve our operation at this facility.

In August of 2018, Tyson Farms, a part of the Tyson Foods family of businesses, bought the Hanceville, Alabama facility. During the past year, we've worked hard to improve and upgrade the location. Tyson Foods has a high level of commitment to Hanceville and to all of Alabama. Under the Tyson banner, we look forward to continuing to execute on our corporate commitment to continuous improvement, environmental stewardship and sustainability. We are committed to making the facility better than we found it in August 2018.

The facts of this event are that an estimated 220,000 gallons of partially treated wastewater was released from temporary piping we had a contractor install. Since it had not yet completed the treatment process, the water that reached the Mulberry Fork caused the oxygen levels to drop. Fish died as a result of the decrease in oxygen levels. We want residents to understand this was due to low levels of oxygen in the water and not because of the release of man-made chemicals. The oxygen levels in the water returned to normal within a short time of the incident and fish are starting to return.

We continue to have discussions with the Alabama Department of Environmental Management, and Alabama Department of Conservation and Natural Resources about the incident and its impact. We are actively assessing conservation and community projects that we may undertake to further our efforts in the area of the release and in Alabama generally.

We've also opened dialogue with property owners, elected officials, The Nature Conservancy, Black Warrior Riverkeeper, Friends of the Locust Fork River and various other groups. We recognize there are many of you concerned. We will remain engaged in the community and work hard to make this right.

Finally, I want to thank my friends and team members who live in the area and work at our Hanceville facility. I appreciate them for their long hours, hard work and dedication over the course of the last couple of months. With sustained commitment to our core values and working together, we'll get through this and improve along the way.

Sincerely,

Shane Parks

THE CULLMAN TRIBUNE • ALABAMA'S OLDEST CONTINUOUSLY PUBLISHED WEEKLY NEWSPAPER

"THE 67-COUNTY, ALABAMA GARDEN PARTY"

FAYETTE COUNTY

Ben Johnson South
Tribune Correspondent

"I'm as corny as Fayette in August" is what that treasured showtune by Rodgers & Hammerstein should have said. What the Vatican is for Catholics or Honolulu is for hula, Fayette County, Alabama is for corn.

This is a challenging place for gossips because all the corn has ears. Now that I've taken humor down to the Alabama red dirt level, let me share another corny joke I harvested in Fayette County:

The way the locals tell it, there was a feller from over in the Pea Ridge community who came into the seed and feed in Fayette to buy a chainsaw.

He said, "Son, I want a chainsaw that'll cut down about 10 trees in an hour's time."

So, the guy at the feed store sold him one.

The next day, the customer from Pea Ridge came into the store angry as a cornered possum.

"Son, this here chainsaw only cut down one lil' ole tree and it took me a whole blessed hour!"

The clerk said, "Gol-lay, I'm so sorry, sir. Lemme take a look at it."

The clerk pulled on the starter rope, the saw started up, and the feller from Pea Ridge said, "Hey, what's that noise?"

I promise you, even if the breathtaking, natural beauty of this part of the state wasn't already worth your drive over to this rural part of west Alabama, it can sure be worth it for the friendly folks who are happy to shovel you a wagonload of great corniness like that chainsaw tale. And, while you're at it, get you a bushel and a peck of Silver Queen or Jubilee Fayette County sweet corn.

When I chatted with Ronni Rena Brasher, coordinator of the Fayette County office of the Alabama Cooperative Extension System, we talked corn, cotton and soybeans as main crops in this still heavily agricultural part of the Fall Line Hills region. She also bragged on local farmers who are diversifying crops with peanuts in rotation.

Ronni Rena, and it's never just Ronni or Rena (pronounced Renee'), is a proud Fayette County native from Hubbertville who moved away for college, but she and her husband missed the gentle pace of life, the neighborly communities and the rolling, green hills and returned to raise a family. Another local source of pride for Ronni Rena is the movie set-charming town square in the town of Fayette, the county seat.

Fayette County was founded in 1824, just five years after Alabama became a state. The courthouse, surrounded by shade trees and crepe myrtles, is a popular place for the community to gather. The Fayette Garden Club has added even more beauty to the town square by adding raised beds punctuated with colorful, blooming roses and annuals.

In 1900, Fayette County had 200,000 acres of cotton. Today, corn, cotton and soybeans are important crops, but 344,493 of the county's 401,718 acres have been reforested and are covered in timberland.

Here are other positive and pleasurable ways PLANTS + PEOPLE come together in Fayette County, including our original recipe for the "Easiest Ever" Roasted Corn on the Cob with Adobo Chili, Lime and Cilantro.

• FAYETTE COUNTY FAIR- One of Alabama's finest with lots of agricultural and home canning displays is held the third week of October. This feels like a good opportunity for me to remind Ronni Rena that I have been a county fair pie judge for years and HAVE FORK, WILL TRAVEL!

• ALABAMA SUNSHINE FARM-TO-TABLE- This Fayette County operation is widely admired for its variety of hot sauces, relishes and pepper jelly which feature locally grown-and-picked peppers. During the holiday season, come to the brick-and-mortar shop and watch them make spicy peanut brittle. (As a special treat for readers of this Bicentennial series we're sharing the ALABAMA SUNSHINE CHEDDAR BISCUIT recipe: INGREDIENTS: 3 cups White Lily Self-Rising flour, 6 tbsp. COLD butter, 1 1/2 cups sharp cheddar cheese, 3/4 cups whole buttermilk, 3 tbsp. Alabama Sunshine Original Hot Sauce; DIRECTIONS: Preheat oven to 450. Place flour in large bowl. Grate butter into flour with a box grater. Combine flour and butter until all butter pieces are thoroughly coated in flour and mixture is crumbly. Mix in cheese. In a separate bowl, whisk together buttermilk and hot sauce. Slowly add to dry mixture. When a soft dough forms, turn out on a lightly-floured surface. Gently knead and fold until all ingredients are incorporated. Roll dough to a 3/4-inch thickness. Cut using a 201/2-inch biscuit cutter. Re-roll scraps of dough, roll out and cut out biscuits until all dough is used. Place biscuits on a cookie sheet pan lined with parchment paper or sprayed with oil. Brush the tops of the biscuits with melted butter and bake for 12-15 minutes, or until golden brown. Hint: Rotate pan halfway through cooking to ensure even browning. Fill biscuits with Alabama Sunshine.

The Alabama honeysuckle border was inspired by an 18th century, Southern applique quilt.

• BERRY HERITAGE PARK- (Berry) This is a green haven where you'll particularly enjoy the magnificent magnolias as you meander through a long and winding walking trail.

• GUTHRIE SMITH PARK- It is especially popular during the summer to escape the Alabama heat at the Fayette Aquatic Center, 218 23rd St. NE, Fayette, AL 35555. While you're on the hiking trails leading to the 9-acre lake, notice many of the trees have scientific labels to make this a pleasurable, learning experience.

Y'ALL COME is how I always end installments of this Bicentennial series, but with my invitation for you to come here on your 67-County Alabama Garden Party tour, I want to salute a Berry community (Fayette County) native, Jamelle Moore Folsom, wife of Alabama Governor James "Big Jim" Folsom. Miz Jamelle was the first person I ever heard sing these lines when she performed with The Strawberry Pickers: "When you're livin' in the country, everybody is your neighbor...Y'ALL COME!" That hospitable sentiment is pure Fayette County.

Many thanks to Ronni Rena Brasher, coordinator of the Fayette County office of the Alabama Cooperative Extension System. Also, a big buttery THANK YOU to Laurie Johnson for the easy, spicy corn-on-the-cob recipe. While taste-testing this recipe, my nephew said, "WOW, this corn is delicious, but my lips are burning! May I have another one?"

The Cullman Tribune is celebrating the Alabama Bicentennial (1819-2019) with statewide field reporting by Alabama Master Gardener/Botanical Artist Ben Johnson South. This year-long feature, "The 67-County Alabama Garden Party," will spotlight different counties each week. Each county will get its own "quilt block," along with a historical profile, and we'll share a recipe specific to the area. At the end of the year, all 67 counties will be put in a book to commemorate the Bicentennial.

FAYETTE COUNTY
'EASIEST EVER'
Roasted Corn on the Cob with Adobo Chili, Lime and Cilantro

Summer in Alabama means a profusion of fresh, sweet corn on the cob. Corn recipes also abound, but many involve a lot of prep; pre-silking, pre-husking, soaking and watching closely to not burn. This EASIEST EVER method yields a consistent, tender roasted corn on the cob with virtually no prep or attention, leaving you to tend to the rest of the meal. When done, it's so easy to silk and dress with butter and your favorite seasoning combinations (or just good ole salt and pepper). The seasonings in the recipe below are our favorites. While they chow down, the family shouts, "My lips are burning," as they happily take the next bite, and the next! Adjust seasonings to your taste and have some cold drinks ready! A current, well-known Southern magazine featured corn dressed with either basil/parmesan butter, ranch/bacon drizzle, honey/chipotle glaze or smoky barbeque rub. Use your imagination for flavors, but this basic cooking method is the EASIEST EVER!

INGREDIENTS:

- Fresh corn ears, on the cob and still completely in the husk – one per serving
- Seasonings
  - Stick of butter (at least one!)
  - Coarse ground salt and black pepper
  - Adobo or chipotle chili powder seasoning
  - Lime wedges
  - Minced cilantro (optional – some love it and some hate it)

INSTRUCTIONS:

- Preheat oven to 350F.
- Leave corn in husk and only scissor off excess silk "frizzles" if they exist. Place ears directly on rack in hot oven and roast for 35 minutes. Remove with an oven mitt or potholder to a heat-proof platter.
- Pull back husks completely, and working over a trash can, use a potholder or paper towel to rub the corn in a circular motion to remove the silks. While hot, the silks come off easily and completely. Trim the husk to about 3 inches, leaving a "handle" for holding the corn.
- Over the platter, rub the stick of butter all over the hot corn, rotating each ear as you rub. Once moist with melted butter, continue to rotate as you grind on coarse salt and pepper, sprinkle on the chili powder and squeeze on some lime juice. Rub on another layer of butter to blend the seasonings. Sprinkle with minced cilantro, for those that want it, and serve hot.
- Store and reheat under foil in a warm oven or under paper or plastic wrap in a microwave if needed.

Good Hope anglers Arnold, Curington narrowly miss final round of Mossy Oak Fishing High School Championship

Nick Griffin
nick@cullmantribune.com

PARIS, Tenn. – Kentucky Lake is the site of this year's Mossy Oak Fishing High School Championship and a pair of local boats are out on the water competing. Good Hope Fishing Team is represented on Kentucky Lake by Colton Williams and Landon Graham in one boat and Alex Curington and Breanna Arnold in another.

Anglers hit the water at 6 a.m. on Thursday and after day one, Curington and Arnold found themselves near the top of the leaderboard. Weighing in at 14lbs. 4oz. after reeling in four fish, the pair of Raiders sat in fifth place in a field of over 200 elite high school anglers.

Williams and Graham finished day one outside of the top 100 after weighing in at 3lbs. 15oz.

The tournament resumed Friday morning and after day two, only the top 12 boats can advance to Saturday's championship round.

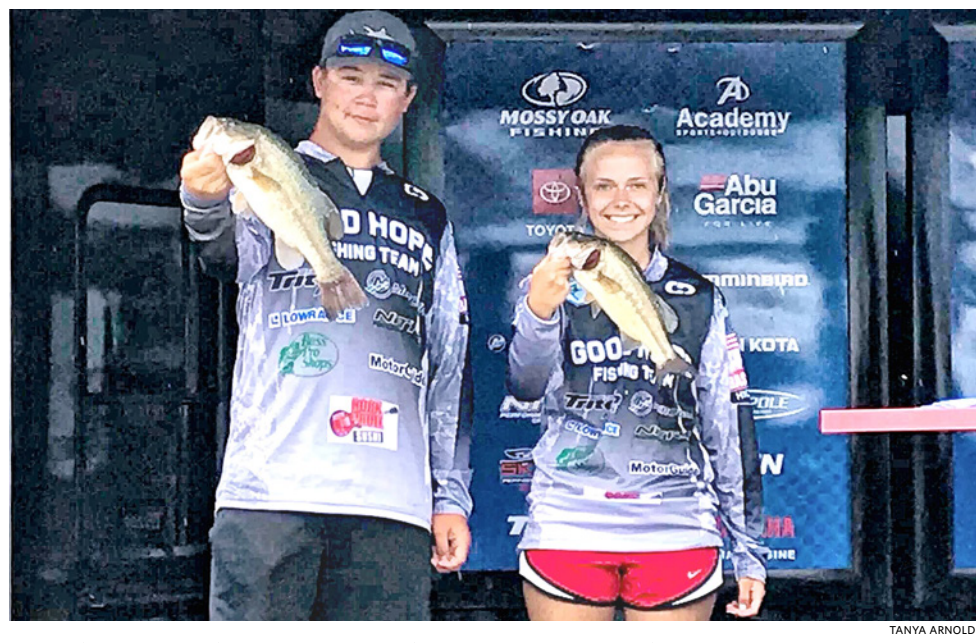

Williams and Graham improved on day one with 4lbs. 8oz. on day two but it wasn't enough to get them into the final group.

Curington and Arnold reeled in 5lbs. 3oz. on day two to bring their two-day total to 19lbs. 7oz, moving them into the top five at the time of their weigh in.

As more boats continued to weigh in, the Raider anglers were knocked just outside of the top 12, ending their run at this year's tournament.

Alarm (from Front)

to a rental because state law says that rental person is supposed to supply, that's part of rental property, but they don't. We have to put on the paperwork, rental property-none were installed."

Any fire department can register for the program to help provide residents with smoke alarms. One requirement to receiving a smoke alarm is the homeowner must allow the fire department to install the device in his or her home to make sure the alarm is installed correctly.

Another program that people can look for is "Turn Your Attention to Fire Prevention." Absher described this program as "a work in progress" as departments get on board. The program will focus on education and fire prevention.

Why would Cullman County rank so high for fire fatalities?

Absher explained, "Unfortunately, it's demographics. It's financial and living (at or below) the poverty level. We have a lot of people out in the county that live in low-income, mobile homes, campers and make-shifts. It's just financial, and when they are in that they don't have resources such as fire extinguishers, smoke detectors, and out in the county there's no building codes or building regulations. Something we've seen a lot of, they are buying these slide-off sheds that you see on the side of the road, the little barns, because you can get those for $2,500 when the cheapest mobile home now is $60,000."

There are very few requirements for running electricity into a home or structure in Cullman County, according to Absher. He did say, however, that the Cullman Electric Cooperative requires a few things.

"The Co-op, when they go out, there has to be a certified weather head with a box, UL listed. But, after that, once it leaves the Co-op's meter and goes through the appropriate box, they can do what they want to with it," he said. "They can run it across the ground, they can put it underground and they can string it through trees."

Absher warned that smoke detectors over 10 years old are no longer viable and need to be replaced. In 2020, new guidelines will be put in place requiring smoke detectors to detect different chemicals that are produced by the synthetic materials common in homes today.

Having a fire plan in place is something else people can do to reduce the risk of becoming a fire fatality.

Said Absher, "They have to have an escape plan. They have to have a meeting place and everybody's got to know where that is. A lot of the fire fatalities we get are two-fold. Everybody gets out, but everybody goes to a different place. So, the kids are in the backyard and parents are in the front yard. The parents freak out and go back in to find kids. The other thing is they are going back in to find their pets."

He continued, "Kids are the least likely to die in the fire. Older adults, 65 and up, are number one in fire deaths. It's either mobility issues or the smoke detector has been up there for 40 years and the battery died 20 years ago."

Absher said of the 2019 numbers, "Our biggest uptick has been fires this year. At this half point last year we were at 51 and this year we are at 64 but that includes mutual aid fires."

Mutual aid means assisting other fire department, such as Hanceville assisting in the recent cottage fire at Stone Bridge Farms.

The Alabama Fire Marshal's Office has made an effort to improve data collection from around the state; Absher said 60% of fire departments, mostly volunteer, haven't been reporting data each month. This data Absher describes as "extremely crucial" he said will help give more accurate information regarding community risk reduction. A new app is being used now that allows a firefighter to enter information and pictures in real-time.

Hanceville residents can contact Hanceville Fire and Rescue now to sign up for a free smoke alarm. Call 256-352-5544.

Saratoga Race Course in Saratoga Springs, New York has bigger races coming, including the Travers, but today's Breeder's Cup Challenge gives the winner an automatic berth in the 2019 Breeders' Cup. Movie: Aquaman

James Wan's 2018 blockbuster was the first full-length feature film to focus mainly on this particular DC Comics superhero, which may help explain why the project went through such a tortured development process for more than a decade. It paid off in this case, thanks in no small part to a charmingly self-effacing performance in the title role by burly Jason Momoa, already known to fans from his TV role in "Game of Thrones." Amber Heard, Willem Dafoe and Patrick Wilson also star.

My Favorite Shapes by Julio Torres

Julio Torres isn't yet a household name in most of America, but in the comedy world, he's red-hot. He has written some wildly acclaimed "Saturday Night Live" sketches — including one starring Ryan Gosling as a writer tortured by an unconventional movie title font — and recently starred in Fred Armisen's off-the-wall summer HBO sitcom "Los Espookys." In this stand-up set taped before a live audience in Brooklyn, N.Y., Torres reflects on, yes, his favorite shapes, each of which has a story connected with it.

Funny Things from Yesterday: A different hairdo

Robert N. Tidwell, Sr.
Tribune Contributor

It's funny how hairstyles change over the years. Almost any style goes today. Some girls have their hair cut short like a boy's and comb it back and it looks pretty. Others have long hair that hangs over their shoulders and down their backs. This style is very popular today and right pretty.

Several years ago, there was a style that I just didn't like. It was right popular and Rudene was caught up in this style. The beautician would tease and comb all the hair straight up and then spray it with two or three cans of hairspray until it was solid. Then they called it a hairstyle. To me it looked like a hornet's nest upside down on top of a woman's head.

The way to keep their hair neat over night was to wrap it in toilet tissue. Since Rudene wore her hair this way it took more toilet tissue to wrap her hair one time than we use in two bathrooms in two days.

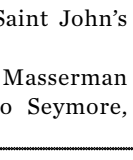

Another thing about this hairstyle was the stiffness. One day we were out on Rudene's brother's farm and Robin, our daughter, felt the hair on a baby pig and she said, "Mama, this pig's hair feels just like your hair." When Robin was in the second grade, her teacher told the children to draw a picture of their mother and what they do to help the family. Robin drew a picture, a very good likeness of her mother, with the big hairdo on top of her head. Her mother was holding a mop with a bucket beside her. As a matter of fact, we still have that picture, and it could be made available for viewing.

Well, hairstyles do change, and I am glad that one is gone for two good reasons. First, we save a lot of money by not having to buy so much hairspray, and second, I don't wake up at night in a bed full of toilet tissue.

BILLY BOB'S STORIES AND STUFF

Some people say some seriously funny stuff

Bill King
Tribune Contributor

I love words. I especially enjoy hearing how we use words – most of the time. I must admit that sometimes I am annoyed by things people say, but I usually find them amusing. Sometimes we use the wrong words, or like Barney Fife used to do, we mispronounce words. Sometimes we contradict ourselves or use an oxymoron.

Here are some examples of what I'm talking about. When someone tells me they learned something they didn't know, I'm tempting to ask, "Oh, can you learn something that you already knew?" Don't you love it when someone tells us, we should never say never?

Well, I guess an exception to that rule is when you're telling someone to never say never. Maybe we should never tell someone they should never say never. Have you ever asked someone if you could ask a question? You just did. Have you ever said, "I thought to myself?" May I ask you a question? (See what I did there?) To whom else can we think?

Here are a few of funny things others have said. (This is not an endorsement or promotion of any of these people.)

Clara Barton said, "I distinctly remember forgetting that." Edith Konecky said, "I have a terrible memory. I never forget a thing." Andy Warhol said, "I am a deeply superficial person."

Anthony Haden- Guest said, "Of course I can keep secrets. It's the people I tell them to that can't keep them." Dolly Parton said, "You would be surprised at how much it cost to look this cheap." Arthur "Bugs" Baer said, "She used to diet on any kind of food she could lay her hands on." Irene Peter said, "Always be sincere, even when you don't mean it."

Josh Billings said, "Live within your income, even if you have to borrow money to do so." Yogi Berri was a master at these kinds of sayings, but he once said, "I never said most of the things I said." Yogi was said to have said, "Why don't you pair them up in threes?" Mark Twain had quite a few good ones too. He said, "It usually takes me about three weeks to prepare a good impromptu speech." I've heard that both he and Oscar Wilde said, "I can resist anything, except temptation."

Isaac B. Singer said, "We must believe in free will. We have no choice." Sometimes, and with certain things, we don't have a choice, but in this life God does give us a free will. Adam and Eve had a choice.

"He allows us to make choices. We have the ability to choose the words we use. Sometimes we say things that make about as much sense as some of the sayings I have quoted. Our words can bring joy. They can inspire, uplift, encourage, and unite, but sometimes we say things that are mean, hurtful, and spiteful. Sometimes our words cause division.

We should all choose our words carefully. Wise Solomon said, "Be not rash with your mouth, and let not your heart utter anything hastily before God."

Poet's Corner

Calluses

By: Jennifer Riggs
Huntsville, Alabama

I've seen them on hands from working the earth until worn or hours spent with tools under hoods of old Ford's On many feet
indiscriminate of age soldiers, dancers, athletes tired mamas earning a wage They're also on knees babes who've mastered the crawl
even on animals
hoofed or with paws
Easy enough to spot
hardly worth mention
they come on with time
from labor and friction
We can smooth them or salve them with lotions or balms or some may just leave them alone
"It is what it is",
some old farmer might say,
"these hands have held many a hoe."
The ones we don't see concern me the most evidence of a life dealt some hurt turned stubborn and bitter critically unkind diseased with a tough callused heart.
