Gudger, Harbison field questions at Community Forum in Good Hope

GOOD HOPE, Ala. – Rep. Corey Harbison, R-Good Hope and Sen. Garlan Gudger, R-Cullman came to Good Hope to meet with constituents and local officials Thursday night for a community forum sponsored by the Cullman Area Chamber of Commerce.

Questions and comments from the crowd included:

• Possible expansion of the Cullman County Commission - Harbison explained that he had proposed a legislative act that would have increased the commission to a five-member body with four part-time associate commissioners and a full-time chairman who would serve as a kind of CEO for the body, but the act did not make it through the Alabama Senate after passing the House. Gudger also supported the idea of expansion, saying that groups of three often end up at odds with two siding against one, and that a larger body would bring more diverse opinions and viewpoints to problem solving.

• Status of the recently passed near total abortion ban (the Alabama Human Life Protection Act, signed into law in May 2019)- Responding to an audience member who commended him for his support of the bill, Gudger said that the Alabama Supreme Court has declined to review the act, and that it has been sent to the U.S. Supreme Court. He also explained that the controversial removal of exceptions for rape or incest closed » PAGE 12

SOUTH VINEMONT, Ala. – A groundbreaking ceremony Thursday morning celebrated the family-owned The Shaddix Company's upcoming move from Cullman to the town of South Vinemont. The company's new home will be on approximately 22 acres adjacent to the Vinemont's sports complex on Park Drive. Along with the planned 15,000-square-foot facility and front office, Park Drive is slated for improvements to make it commercial grade. The Vinemont Town Council voted in February to grant Shaddix a 10-year tax abatement.

At Thursday's ceremony, Cullman Economic Development Agency (CEDA) Director Dale Greer recognized many of the individuals and agencies who worked together to make the project possible, including the Shaddix family, Vinemont Mayor Radginal Dodson and the Vinemont Town Council. He also thanked Kenneth Boswell, director of the Alabama Department of Economic and Development Community Affairs (ADECA), which oversees the grant program that made the » PAGE 5

Fire severely damages building at Professional Coatings in Cullman

City dams Ryan Creek in Carroll Acres following fire

CULLMAN, Ala. – A fire in the early morning hours of Thursday, Aug. 15 produced multiple explosions and resulted in the spilling of chemicals into Ryan Creek in the southeast part of the city of Cullman. The City of Cullman dammed the creek, which runs through the Carroll Acres subdivision, following the fire at Professional Coatings. Officials say less than 1,000 gallons of chemicals used in the manufacturing of stain spilled into the water.

According to Cullman Emergency Management Agency (EMA) Assistant Director Scott McDonald, "There were some chemicals that caught fire over there that are used in the making of stain, so when City Fire (Cullman Fire Rescue) put 30,000-40,000 gallons of water on it, it ran off into kind of a catch pond where some storage tanks and stuff are stored, and from there it drained down to the creek.

"Once it got to a certain level in the catch pond, it started draining off into the creek."

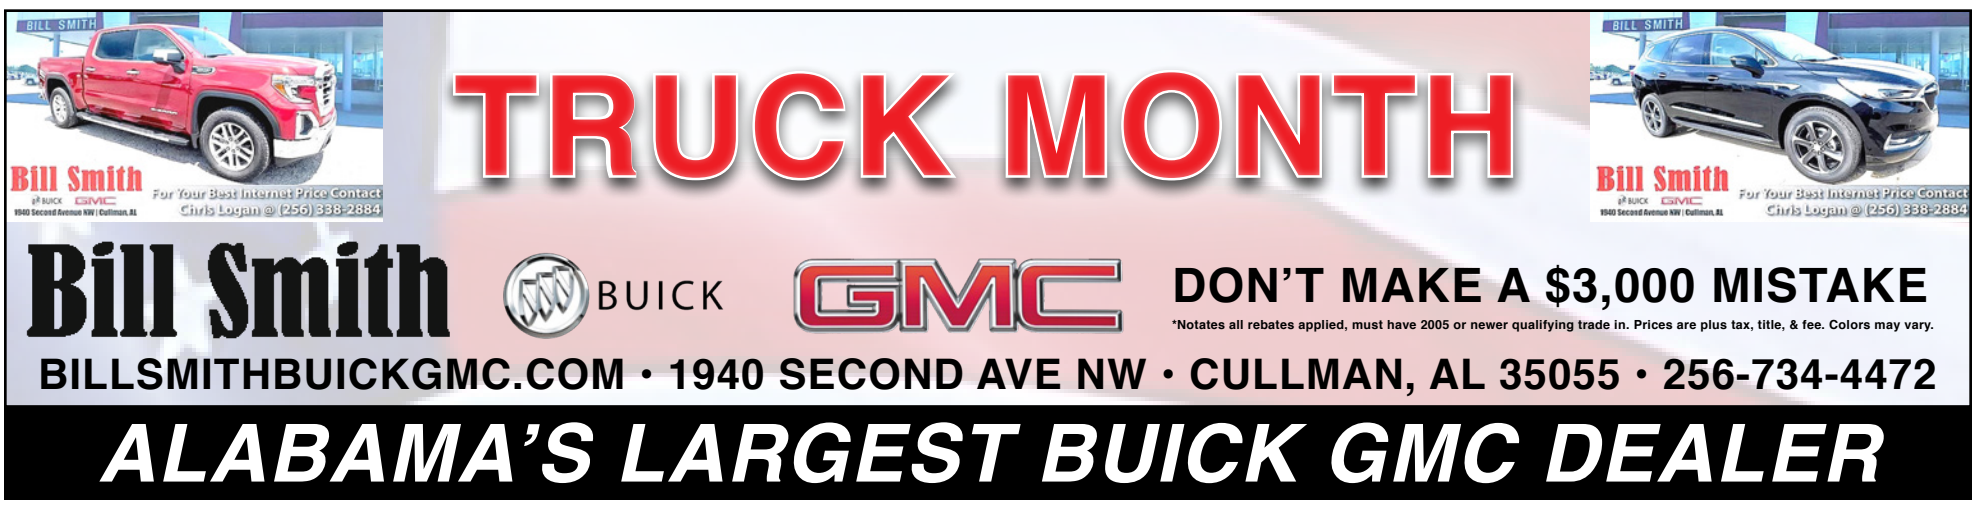

McDonald said the City is working with the Alabama Department of Environmental Management (ADEM).

"The City has dammed up part of the creek to stop the spread of it and ADEM came out this morning and evaluated it, and the owners (of Professional » PAGE 5

Gastric sleeve weight loss surgery now offered at Cullman Regional

Mary Beth Sellers
Cullman Regional

CULLMAN, Ala. – Cullman Regional is offering laparoscopic sleeve gastrectomy surgery. This operation, also known as the gastric sleeve procedure, is a minimally invasive surgical option for severely obese patients, or obese patients who have obesity-related health conditions such as diabetes, high blood pressure or sleep apnea.

During a gastric sleeve procedure, a surgeon removes the outer curve of the stomach to make a new banana-sized stomach or "sleeve." Since the stomach is reduced to 15% of its previous size, the amount of food an individual can eat is greatly reduced. This leads to sustainable and long-term weight loss for patients who follow a strict aftercare program. Aftercare programs include a strict diet that enables the body to recover and adjust to a smaller stomach size, an exercise regimen and follow-up care with a physician. In addition to gastric sleeve, Cullman Regional also offers the gastric band surgical weight loss procedure.

"Being able to provide our patients with the gastric sleeve option is a big step forward for our surgical program," said Dr. William E. Smith, Jr., Cullman Regional's chief medical officer. "Launching new services here at Cullman Regional is always exciting as we strive to make quality health care more accessible to local residents."

Informational seminars are currently being offered for members of the community at no cost. Dr. Mac Cottingham and his team lead an in-depth conversation about what's involved in surgical weight loss, from the costs of surgery to what happens afterward. For more information about Cottingham or services provided at Cullman Regional, call 256-735-5600 or visit at www.cullmanregional.com.

Real Talk with UAB Quarterback Tyler Johnston III

UAB Athletics
Contributor

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. – As countdown to kickoff rapidly approaches, the UAB Athletic Communications staff caught up with starting quarterback Tyler Johnston III to discuss last year's championship season and team goals for the 2019 campaign.

Q: Take us back to your first collegiate start against UTSA. What were you thinking going in, and what was your reaction when you led the team to a school record 668 yards of total offense?

A: I was thinking to not put too much pressure on myself because most of the time a lot of people would. I went into that game knowing my teammates had my back. I was playing for A.J. Erdely who was hurt. He was a great quarterback and he taught me a lot of things. When you have Spencer Brown right beside you, an offensive line that was great and receivers who were catching everything, it was just a great game for us.

Q: Talk a little bit more about A.J. Erdely. You both came in at the same time. What was your relationship like and what did he teach you throughout the years?*

A: A.J. was always there for me. We did have competition, but every time I asked him about something, he would answer. He wouldn't look away - he would answer. A.J. was a great leader and a great person. We are still friends to this day.

Q: What do you think about him working at Southern Miss?*

A: (Laughter) A job is a job. I get it. That is awesome for him. I'll never just say 'Ah man, you can't do that.' It's great for A.J. I am happy for him. He is a competitive person so it's going to be awesome playing against him knowing he is just right over there. It will be fun.

Q: What have you worked on the most this offseason as a quarterback?*

A: My footwork, a quicker release and being on time with my throws. I want to know every detail about every route and learn different things that I didn't know last year; just knowing more about the game overall.

Q: In the spare time that you do have, what are you favorite non-football related activities?*

A: Going back to see my family and friends. Seeing old friends is always fun. Going to the beach with them and having fun. We live 45 minutes from the beach. Just being able to spend time with them because I don't get to see them much. In Birmingham, just hanging out with my brother, my girlfriend, the guys on the team. We have a lot of people from Spanish Fort on the team. I like to go to Topgolf. I think Birmingham is a great place to live in.

Q: Finally, what are the goals for this year's team?*

A: Going undefeated. That's the biggest goal. I am excited to see how this team is going to grow. Everyone is coming along, and the coaches keep pushing us. Coach Clark is a great coach. Coach [Bryant] Vincent is keeping us positive. He is right there pounding the offense making us better. I can see the defense is getting better from their coaches too. The players are just growing around each other. I know we are a young team but growing together is a big thing for this team.

The Blazers are 15 days away from kicking off the 2019 season at Legion Field on Aug. 29 versus Alabama State. River Valley Ingredients senior vice president issues statement on June 6 spill

craig@cullmantribune.com

WORTH SPARKMAN/TYSON

The June 6 spill occurred at the Tyson/River Valley Ingredients rendering plant near Hanceville.

HANCEVILLE, Ala. – Tyson Foods subsidiary River Valley Ingredients recently took another step in responding to the spill that occurred at its Hanceville plant earlier this summer. On Thursday, June 6 approximately 220,000 gallons of wastewater were spilled from the plant in Hanceville into Dave Young Creek, which flows to the Mulberry Fork. The spill led to a massive fish kill and a warning against recreational use of the Mulberry Fork.

On Friday, July 19, the Sipsey Heritage Commission and Chandler Holdings, along with 40 individual property owners along the Mulberry and Sipsey Forks of the Black Warrior River, filed suit against Tyson Farms, Inc., River Valley Ingredients LLC, RVI Hanceville plant manager Jason Spann, American Proteins, Inc. and Hydraservice, Inc. Charges include negligence, nuisance and wanton conduct.

On Friday, Aug. 9, Tyson Foods/Tyson Farms subsidiary River Valley Ingredients Senior Vice President Shane Parks issued this statement about the June 6 wastewater spill at its Hanceville plant:

Residents of Hanceville and the surrounding areas,

On June 6, our River Valley Ingredients facility experienced an accidental release of wastewater due to a mechanical failure in temporary piping installed by a contractor. Since that time, there has been a lot of information shared through both traditional and social media. A great deal happened quickly but not all facts were apparent. While we provided early comments to news media, I want to directly provide area residents with some additional information.

First and most importantly, we understand that events like this are unacceptable. We strive to be good stewards of the environment and we take that obligation seriously. While this was an isolated event, I want you to know that we've taken measures to improve our operation at this facility.

In August of 2018, Tyson Farms, a part of the Tyson Foods family of businesses, bought the Hanceville, Alabama facility. During the past year, we've worked hard to improve and upgrade the location.

Tyson Foods has a high level of commitment to Hanceville and to all of Alabama. Under the Tyson banner, we look forward to continuing to execute on our corporate commitment to continuous improvement, environmental stewardship and sustainability.

We are committed to making the facility better than we found it in August 2018.

The facts of this event are that an estimated 220,000 gallons of partially treated wastewater was released from temporary piping we had a contractor install. Since it had not yet completed the treatment process, the water that reached the Mulberry Fork caused the oxygen levels to drop. Fish died as a result of the decrease in oxygen levels. We want residents to understand this was due to low levels of oxygen in the water and not because of the release of man-made chemicals. The oxygen levels in the water returned to normal within a short time of the incident and fish are starting to return.

We continue to have discussions with the Alabama Department of Environmental Management, and Alabama Department of Conservation and Natural Resources about the incident and its impact. We are actively assessing conservation and community projects that we may undertake to further our efforts in the area of the release and in Alabama generally.

We've also opened dialogue with property owners, elected officials, The Nature Conservancy, Black Warrior Riverkeeper, Friends of the Locust Fork River and various other groups. We recognize there are many of you concerned. We will remain engaged in the community and work hard to make this right.

Finally, I want to thank my friends and team members who live in the area and work at our Hanceville facility. I appreciate them for their long hours, hard work and dedication over the course of the last couple of months. With sustained commitment to our core values and working together, we'll get through this and improve along the way.

A guide to Census 2020

craig@cullmantribune.com

CULLMAN, Ala. – On Wednesday, Alabama Gov. Kay Ivey, U.S. Rep. Robert Aderholt, R-Alabama and U.S. Census Bureau Director Steven Dillingham visited Cullman, addressing a large luncheon crowd at Cullman Regional about the need for an accurate count in the upcoming 2020 census. But what makes the census so important?

Census counts affect apportionment of federal funds and state representation in Congress

The U.S. Constitution, Article One, Section Two provides for a population count every 10 years that will determine both the number of representatives a state receives in the United States House of Representatives and the apportionment of taxes.

Ivey told her audience Wednesday, "Having an accurate and complete census is vitally important because of the correlation between the participation rate and the federal funds we get that go to health care, infrastructure, education, and on and on. Folks, if we turn out at the rate we did in 2000, we will lose two congressional seats. If we turn out to the rate we had in 2010, we'll lose one."

According to the official website www.census.gov, "Federal funds, grants and support to states, counties and communities are based on population totals and breakdowns by sex, age, race and other factors. Your community benefits the most when the census counts everyone. When you respond to the census, you help your community gets its fair share of the more than $675 billion per year in federal funds spent on schools, hospitals, roads, public works and other vital programs.

"Businesses use census data to decide where to build factories, offices and stores, and this creates jobs. Developers use the census to build new homes and revitalize old neighborhoods. Local governments use the census for public safety and emergency preparedness. Residents use the census to support community initiatives involving legislation, quality-of-life and consumer advocacy."

According to Aderholt, the state receives $1,600 in federal funds per year for each person counted in the census.

How the 2020 census will work

The 2020 census will officially count all persons living in Alabama on April 1, 2020. Certain census activities are already underway.

Census workers recently began surveying addresses to make sure that dwelling places are actually occupied, in preparation for the official count coming next year. They use existing address lists along with such resources as satellite imagery to identify recently constructed dwellings in a given community. Their information will give direction to the workers performing the official count to follow.

When the official count begins, approximately 95% of citizens will receive their invitations to participate in the census in the mail, while around 5% will get their invitations directly from a census worker and fewer than 1% will be counted directly by a census worker. Special provisions have been made in the planning for counting students living in college or university housing and even those who are homeless.

Those who receive invitations will have instructions on how to respond and will be able to respond by mail, by phone or online. In cases when responses are not received from a known address, census workers can go and knock on the door.

Invitations will be mailed out March 12-20, staggered over several days to help prevent rushes of large numbers of people who could overwhelm the website or back up phone lines. In areas where residents are unlikely to respond online, invitation letters will be accompanied by a paper version of the census questionnaire. Reminders will be sent a few days later. For those who do not respond by the first of April, a second reminder will go out, followed by another letter and paper questionnaire. Starting April 20, census workers will begin knocking on the doors of households that still have not responded.

STATE

'Sweet Grown Alabama'

Maggie Lawrence
Contributor

MONTGOMERY, Ala. – Shoppers who want to buy local will soon have a new way to identify products raised in the state, thanks to a new marketing effort called "Sweet Grown Alabama."

"As I travel across the state, most of the questions I receive from consumers are about their food and where it comes from," said Commissioner Rick Pate of the Alabama Department of Agriculture and Industries. "We want residents of Alabama to walk into a grocery store or farmers market and easily identify products grown in Alabama. The Sweet Grown Alabama brand logo will allow them to do so and ensure the product they purchase is grown to the highest standards of quality and food safety."

The Mission

This new initiative's mission is to enhance marketing opportunities for the state's farmers.

The initiative will connect retailers and consumers to Alabama-grown foods and other agricultural products.

Farmers and value-added product makers can join the program and brand their Alabama-grown products with the logo. Also, an online, searchable directory will list member farms and products.

"We are proud to be part of this effort to provide additional marketing opportunities for Alabama farmers," said Jimmy Parnell, Alabama Farmers Federation president.

"Our goal is to increase demand for Alabama-grown products and, ultimately, improve sales and profitability for farm families.

"Alabama is among America's most agriculturally diverse states, and Sweet Grown Alabama gives us a chance to showcase the quality and variety of our products."

Gary Lemme, director of the Alabama Cooperative Extension System, shares Pate's and Parnell's enthusiasm for the Sweet Alabama Grown initiative.

"Purchasing locally-grown products strengthens the economy and quality of life in Alabama communities," Lemme said.

"The initiative will make it easier for the people Extension is educating in the importance of increased fruit and vegetable consumption to locate and buy them."

Membership

Program membership is available in three categories, and dues are based on the farm or company's annual sales.

- Member. For farmers and makers of value-added products with at least 50 percent of ingredients grown in Alabama.
- Associate. For associations, institutions, retailers, restaurants, businesses, farmers markets and others who support the mission but do not have a product to brand themselves.
- Supporter. For those committed to the Sweet Grown Alabama mission with a desire to improve the state's agricultural industry and overall economy and who contribute a minimum of $5,000 annually.

Beneficial to the entire state

"By strengthening agriculture, Sweet Grown Alabama will benefit the entire state," said Horace Horn, PowerSouth Energy Cooperative's vice president of external affairs.

"Agriculture already contributes $70 billion to Alabama's economy and accounts for more than 500,000 jobs.

"Sweet Grown Alabama will enhance economic development in rural communities by giving farmers and associated businesses additional resources for marketing."

Kevin Burkett, a member of the Alabama Extension agribusiness management team, said there is growing interest and excitement about the Sweet Grown Alabama effort.

"Programs that can help Alabama farmers be financially successful are always a good thing," Burkett said. "We expect it will benefit everyone involved."

He said that Alabama Extension programs and research can contribute to this initiative.

"We all have a similar goal in supporting and highlighting Alabama agriculture," Burkett said. "This program is another strong step in supporting farmers and their marketing efforts."

Coatings) have contacted a clean-up company, HEPACO.

"My understanding is the clean-up crew will work on the other side of the road (at Professional Coatings) to start with, getting all the chemicals cleaned up, and then work on the creek," he said.

Around 3:40 a.m. Thursday, Cullman Fire Rescue, supported by the Vinemont-Providence Volunteer Fire Department, Cullman Police Department, Cullman County Sheriff's Office and Cullman EMS, responded to the fire at Professional Coatings, 1807 Third Ave. SE (Old Hanceville Highway).

The blaze caused multiple explosions in what were reported to be chemical storage containers in a building to the southwest of the main building on the property, forcing the closure of streets around the property.

Because the incident involved chemicals, the EMA also responded.

The fire was under control by 4:30 a.m., though firefighters stayed on the scene into the daylight hours, checking for hot spots in the remains of the building.

Cullman Fire Chief Brian Bradberry reported to The Tribune that one firefighter was treated on the scene for heat exhaustion, but no responders were injured.

The fire is under investigation.

Professional Coatings is a paint and coating manufacturer.

Randall Shedd, Garlan Gudger

FAIRVIEW, Ala. – Sen. Garlan Gudger, R-Cullman and Rep. Randall Shedd, R-Fairview confirmed Thursday that Gov. Kay Ivey has approved a project for improvements, including adding traffic signals, to the intersection of Alabama Highway 69 and Wesley Avenue at Fairview near The Hutch Restaurant. Shedd said the project was made possible because of the 10-cent fuel tax increase that was signed into law earlier this year by Ivey.

"The citizens of Fairview have expressed concern over this area for many years.

"I am honored to work with Representative Shedd and be a part of making this vitally needed project a reality," said Gudger.

"I anticipate seeing many projects like this come to fruition throughout District 4. This is another great example of what we can achieve when we work together and make decisions that will impact our communities and state for years to come."

"This is the first of a lot of new highway and bridge projects we expect to announce in the coming months and years," Shedd said.

"I have been working on this project for more than 20 years. The traffic coming from Holly Pond approaching Highway 69 is really in the most danger the way the intersection is configured."

Shedd complimented Gudger on his work to secure the project and for his support.

The Alabama Department of Transportation (ALDOT) is currently working to acquire some additional right-of-way for the project.

The configuration of the intersection is difficult, requiring a cost of at least $188,000 for the project.

The project will be paid from new revenue from Ivey's Rebuild Alabama Program passed by the legislature this year, which means it must be after Oct.1, 2019.

An exact timeline for installation depends on right-of-way acquisition.

More than 1,000 signatures asking for safety improvements to the intersection were submitted to the Fairview Town Council last year and in years past.

Gudger and Shedd expressed appreciation to Ivey and ALDOT Director John Cooper for their approval of the project and funding.

Gudger and Shedd also confirmed that construction on completing Alabama Highway 157 is on schedule with construction to begin next spring (2020).

Park Drive improvements possible.

The Shaddix Company is a 48-year-old, second generation precast manufacturing company established in 1971 by Tommy Shaddix and his wife Mitchelene.

Of their business' history, the Shaddix family said in a statement: "The beginning of the vision: Tommy pulled from the weeds a septic tank mold discarded by another plant and relocated it to the front yard of their home in Trimble, Alabama.

"Working all night, they and teenage son Dewayne made their first concrete septic tank. Continuation of the vision: Losing their founder in 2015 was difficult.

"However, Tommy had firmly established his vision in the mind of the second generation. The Shaddix Company continues to invest in the community that has been so good to them."

The family said the new building should be ready by spring 2020. The company will expand its product line, and a minimum of six jobs will be added to the manufacturing plant.

The Shaddix Company's relocation helped the Town of South Vinemont receive an ADECA grant to upgrade Park Drive to commercial grade.

The improvement will aid those participating in games and traveling to the sports complex, said the statement.

It continued, "Always seeking divine guidance and giving thanks for it, the company would also like to thank the Town of South Vinemont Mayor Radginal Dodson; Public Works Director Mike Graves; members of the town council; Jeff Taffar and Peoples Bank of Alabama; The Shaddix Company employees; and all others instrumental in making the relocation and expansion possible."

Mitchelene Shaddix spoke to the guests and explained the genesis of The Shaddix Company and the vision her late husband Tommy Shaddix had 50 years ago.

"Not only was he my husband, but he was my friend and my business partner.

"Today we have two of our children with us, Dewayne Shaddix and Sheri Rasco. When Tommy laid down his precious vision in April of 2015, he moved from here, this life, to his ever life. But he didn't lay down his vision. It continues through his son Dewayne."

Dewayne Shaddix said, "We honor our past by continuing to grow in the future, by continuing to endeavor to expand dad's vision and where we are going.

"We are excited to be not only relocating to this property in South Vinemont but to be expanding."

Dewayne Shaddix said the new location will triple the space the company currently has, sharing, "We are excited not only for this expansion, but for future expansions we have planned in different phases."

The Shaddix Company employees were on-hand to participate in the celebration and Dewayne Shaddix thanked them for their hard work, dedication and work ethic, smiling, "They are the core of who we are. I'd also like to thank our customer base. Our customers are the reason we are building this building."

The Shaddix Company started with septic tanks, but it now focuses on sanitary, sewer, manholes and storm drain boxes. It is currently located at 344 County Road 1177, just off Alabama Highway 157 near Interstate 65.

With over a dozen seniors missing from last year's roster, several of which were impact players on both sides of the ball, one of the biggest challenges for Glasscock and his staff going into the year is creating depth. Coach Glasscock is looking for leaders to step up this fall whether they are seniors or not.

"One thing is we have a really small senior class and you know there's a coaching axiom 'You're only as good as your senior class' so we're going to have get a lot of mileage out of them and some of those guys are going to play on both sides of the ball. We've got a big junior class and some of those guys are going to have to step into leadership roles to make up for the lack of numbers in the senior class," Glasscock said. "You know, I'm their fourth head coach and I went through the same scenario when I was in high school. I played for four different head coaches when I went through here and I think we had seven seniors, so this isn't necessarily unfamiliar territory, but it does bring a different set of challenges. You've got to find leadership from some guys that are younger, and we've got to make it happen."

Cullman's numbers are a little lower this season than they have been in the past and that forces the coaching staff to see more guys playing more positions before the season begins.

"We're hovering around about 55 kids 10-12 but to build depth everybody has an offensive and defensive position," Glasscock said. "We're not going to have anyone that starts both ways but we're going to be rotating receivers in and stuff like that. We may have defensive linemen working in that are starting on the other side of the ball, so we've been working hard on not being too complicated. If you're starting a guy on defense, we're not going to ask him to know the whole offense, but he'll know a package of plays in case injuries or anything else happens."

Schematically, Coach Glasscock plans to change things up a little to adjust to the personnel Cullman will have on the field. The Bearcats have focused on moving the ball through the air in the past but this year they want to try and control the ball and the clock to better manage each game.

"The biggest change for us is putting a big emphasis on running the football and being a physical, downhill type of team. I think what people have seen in the last several years is a lot of pass-first and we're going to be run-first because we're going to control the clock, control the ball and try to keep the opposing offense off the field. We're going to try and make people snap the football on defense," Glasscock said.

"We're not going to be taking a bunch of chances at midfield with zero coverage because we want people to have to snap it a bunch of times to score. On the flip side of it, we want to snap it 12-15 times on offense and that's going to give us a chance going into the fourth quarter against some of these teams that are really talented that we're going to play. That's what I believe in and I think the kids have really embraced the changes we've made."

One of those personnel is running back Jayden Sullins. Sullins is returning as the feature back in the Cullman backfield after earning an honorable mention on last year's Alabama Sports Writers Association (ASWA) 6A All-State Team. The senior recently committed to play at the next level for the United States Naval Academy and Glasscock credits Jayden's success to his work ethic and leadership.

"Jayden's here every time the door is open. He strives to get better and Jayden's really focused on the team first and that's what I'm really proud of. He doesn't let the individual attention that he's getting distract from his role as a team leader. He's a leader and if other guys aren't here, he'll call them, and he wants the most for his senior year with this team first," Glasscock said. "I'm really happy about the opportunities he's going to get at the next level but the thing I'm most excited about it is seeing him run the football. He's going to be our feature player on offense whether we're throwing it to him or handing it to him or whatever, he's going to get the ball."

Cullman High School collected this year's 6A AHSAA Sportsmanship Award in July and Glasscock credits the culture around campus that was being established even before he arrived.

"I give a lot of credit to Mark Stephens, the Athletic Director and Mrs. (Kim) Hall, our Principal, and Coach (Matt) Plunkett who was here last year. There's been a big emphasis on sportsmanship, playing with class and I think it's a huge deal to win that sportsmanship award at all-star week," Glasscock said. "I don't think that can be highlighted enough and you know football is a sport that has a fine line between being aggressive and physical and getting after people and then crossing the line and getting into unsportsmanlike behavior."

Glasscock continued, saying that his team still has a little growing to do before they strap it up in Jasper for their first game but he's proud of the way they've worked this offseason and knows they'll play with class once the lights come on.

"Some guys need to mature and understand how you play this game and it's the greatest game there is, but you have to understand how to play within the rules. We're going to promote sportsmanship, playing with class and we have a goal for zero ejections but it's always a work in progress. I'm proud of our school and proud of the steps we've taken," Glasscock said.

"Since arriving here, I've been extremely impressed with the focus on character development, sportsmanship and playing with class in all sports and I think it's a top-down approach that goes from the superintendent to the athletic director. Now we're going to play physical and be aggressive and get after people but it's going to be within the rules of the game."

The Glasscock era at Cullman will begin Thursday, August 22nd when the Bearcats travel to Jasper for another matchup with the Vikings. Cullman won last year's game in Oliver Woodard Stadium in dramatic fashion so Jasper will be looking for some revenge when the Bearcats arrive to kick off the 2019 season.

Addison Bulldogs

Bill Miller Photography

2018 was another great season for the Addison Bulldogs. After advancing to the quarterfinals of last year's AHSAA Football Playoffs and finishing with two players on the Alabama Sports Writers Association (ASWA) 2A All-State First Team, expectations are high in Addison. Those two players, Zayne Guthrie and Hayden Ray graduated in May and left some pretty big shoes to fill for the Bulldogs. That's going to be one of the biggest challenges for Addison this season, but head coach David Smothers is excited to face it with head on.

"It's an exciting challenge. The kids know how important those guys were to us and they know someone is going to have to step into those roles and we're excited to see how that develops. We're going to miss all four of those seniors," Smothers said. "They all four played critical roles from leadership, to scoring points, to defending plays but we've got kids that can step up into those roles."

Smothers has been pleased with how the offseason has progressed for his team and is looking forward to putting on pads for fall camp. All of the Bulldogs' summer programs have gone well in preparation for the upcoming season.

"Our focus has totally been on just conditioning and working out and we'll start focusing on the football side of it soon," Smothers said. "We've improved in our passing camps this summer and everything's going good, just like we'd want it to."

With a new man under center, Smothers and his staff are preparing to make a few adjustments on the offensive side of the ball. Last year's offense was tailored to the strengths of All-State Athlete Zayne Guthrie and now the Bulldogs will lean into the strengths of their new signal caller.

"We'll be somewhat different just due to the personnel that's available and having a younger, experienced quarterback will make us a little different probably," Smothers said. "But, it won't' be so drastic that people will probably even notice it. We'll call plays a little differently on offense."

The Bulldogs have advanced to at least the quarterfinals of the AHSAA State Football Playoffs for three consecutive seasons and as a result, the expectation has become postseason or bust in Addison. Only four seniors are gone from last year's roster and a lot of guys with playoff experience will be back on the field, but Coach Smothers knows that none of last year's accomplishments will help them in 2019.

"The kids at Addison do a good job of just liking to go out there and compete at their best. We talk about last year where we made it to the quarterfinals and we only lost four players but that doesn't mean anything this year," Smothers said. "We've got to make sure we don't think 'Hey we've basically got the same team'. We can't rely on that so we're just trying to keep them focused in that aspect. We're not going to have anything given to us, we'll have to earn it every game."

Most of the roster is back from last season and nearly everyone on it has picked up some postseason experience at this point so the Bulldogs look to be in good shape for another successful season. The challenge for Addison will be taking things one week at a time and not looking ahead to potential playoff seeding as they work their way through this year's schedule.

ALEA welcomes 32 new State Troopers

Senior Trooper Reginal King

SELMA, Ala. – The Alabama Law Enforcement Agency (ALEA) welcomed 32 new members to its family Thursday, Aug. 15, during Trooper Class 2019-A's graduation at the agency's training facility in Selma.

Prior to administering the oath of office, Alabama's Secretary of Law Enforcement Hal Taylor addressed the new Troopers and officially welcomed them into the ALEA family, adding they each earned it during the 10-week training, an accelerated class for individuals who already were certified with the Alabama Peace Officers Standards and Training Commission (APOST).

"It is an exciting time for us at ALEA. Our Trooper graduations are becoming a regular occurrence thanks to Governor Kay Ivey and the Legislature's continued support and funding," Taylor said.

During FY2020, which begins Oct. 1, the agency will receive $5.5 million more to hire and equip 50 additional Troopers.

The agency received a General Fund appropriation of $3.3 million in FY2018 to hire and equip 30 Troopers and it received $3.2 million for FY2019 to hire another 30 Troopers.

Special guest speaker Alabama Attorney Gen. Steve Marshall said he was honored to be part of the commencement at ALEA's Alabama Criminal Justice Training Center in Selma.

He said it was important to celebrate not only the graduates' achievements thus far, but what they will accomplish as they embark on this new adventure as ALEA Troopers.

They are a select group of men and women who are called to public safety, who are willing to risk their own personal safety and who are joining a proud organization. Trooper Class 2019-B, a 24-week academy for individuals who are not APOST-certified, is currently in session and set to graduate in the fall. A third class, Trooper Class 2019-C, is set to begin Sunday, Oct. 6. Troopers of Class 2019-A have been assigned to ALEA's Highway Patrol posts across the state.

Three will go to Troop A (Mobile area), six to Troop B (Dothan area), three to Troop C (Tuscaloosa-Selma), three to Troop D (Montgomery-Opelika), four to Troop E (Sheffield-Hamilton), 10 to Troop F (Decatur-Huntsville) and three to Troop G (Birmingham-Jacksonville).

a loophole that could have led to the bill being overturned at the federal level, and that states will be able to revisit specific exceptions after the U.S. Supreme Court hands down its opinion. Harbison said that work on the bill was hard, but "If we can save one life, it's a good thing."

• Protection against vote fraud - Harbison commended Alabama Sec. of State John Merrill for the work his office has done to prevent and respond to voter fraud, and touted the Legislature's passing of a photo ID requirement for voters. He also noted that photo voter IDs can be obtained free of charge at the Cullman County Board of Registrars office for anyone without a driver's license.

• Possibility of revisiting a possible Cullman County Commission expansion in the next legislative session - Harbison said he could not speak for other legislators, but he would be willing to talk with other members of the local delegation about another attempt at the State House. Gudger said that he was open to the idea, but would want to get more input from the current commission and more local citizens before he made a final decision.

As they drew the meeting to a close, both legislators took time to voice their support for the upcoming 2020 Census.

Gudger noted that Alabama only had a 72% participation rate from its approximately 4.8 million residents in 2010, and explained that an 80% participation rate (the state's goal for the 2020 Census) would mean $1 billion more per year for the state in federal funding for numerous programs at the state and local levels.
