CULLMAN, Ala. – Two people were arrested Wednesday in connection with the Dec. 10, 2018 crash that took the life of April Dawn Landinger, 30, of Hanceville. Terry Autwell, 28, also of Hanceville, was charged with criminally negligent homicide and failure to the yield right of way, and Skylar Higgins, 20, of Hayden is facing charges of criminally negligent homicide and exceeding reasonable and prudent speed.

The two-vehicle crash happened at Cherokee Avenue Southwest and 24th Street Southwest (just south of the National Guard armory). Landinger was pronounced dead at the scene. She was a passenger in a 2002 Hyundai Sonata driven by Autwell.

The Hyundai was traveling southbound on Cherokee Avenue and attempting to turn left onto 24th Street when it was struck by a 2006 Ford Explorer coming northbound on Cherokee Avenue, driven Higgins. Autwell failed to yield the right of way.

Autwell was transported to UAB Hospital with serious injuries. Higgins was transported to Cullman Regional with minor injuries.

Cullman Police Department Traffic Homicide Investigator Sgt. Joey Duncan told The Tribune, "The Traffic Homicide Unit was called out to investigate it since it was a two-vehicle crash with a fatality. That crash resulted in the death of a front seat passenger, which was April Landinger, and she was from Hanceville, Alabama.

Limestone County Sheriff Mike Blakely indicted on theft and ethics charges

Office of Attorney Gen. Steve Marshall

MONTGOMERY, Ala. – Attorney Gen. Steve Marshall announced the indictment* and arrest of Michael Anthony Blakely, the sheriff of Limestone County, on 13 counts of theft and ethics charges. Blakely, 68, surrendered to authorities and was later released on $49,000 bond.

The indictment includes 13 charges that cover a range of conduct over multiple years. Specifically, the first four counts charge Blakely with four separate thefts from his campaign account that total $11,000.

Counts five through 10 charge Blakley with theft or ethics charges stemming from his illegally taking money from Limestone County funds, including from the Sheriff's Law Enforcement Fund.

Count 11 charges Blakely with soliciting a $1,000 wire transfer from a subordinate other than in the ordinary course of business.

Finally, counts 12 and 13 charge Blakely with using his official position or office to acquire interest-free loans. Specifically, count 12 charges Blakely with using his official position or office to obtain interest-free loans in the form of a $50,000 cashier's check and/or a $22,189.68 credit.

Count 13 charges Blakely with using his official position or office to obtain interest-free loans by taking money from a safe that was used to store the Limestone County inmates' personal funds.

"Public officials are entrusted to perform their duties honestly and above reproach," said Marshall. "When that bond of trust is broken, our society suffers undue harm. My office—working with our federal and state partners—is committed to ensuring that the violators of the public trust be held accountable under the law. I would like to thank the Federal Bureau of Investigation for its investigative assistance in this case. Anyone with information regarding corrupt practices by public officials is encouraged to contact the Alabama Attorney General's Office at reportcorruption@ago.state.al.us."

"While the overwhelming majority of public officials serve honorably, those who corrupt the operations of government rob their communities—their friends and neighbors—of the fundamental right to honest government, and we must insist on absolute honesty, integrity and trustworthiness from everyone," said FBI Birmingham Special Agent in Charge (SAC) Johnnie Sharp, Jr. "I want the citizens of north Alabama to know that if they have information about potential wrongdoing by a public official or law enforcement officer, the FBI wants to hear from you. If you have information, call my office's Public Corruption Tip Line at 844-404-TIPS, share what you know, and join in the fight against corruption."

The case is being prosecuted by the Attorney General's Special Prosecutions Division.

No further information about the investigation or about Blakely's alleged crimes other than that stated in the indictment may be released at this time.

*An indictment or warrant is merely an accusation. Defendants are presumed innocent unless and until proven guilty.

Hanceville's Kelly Pickett commits to Shorter University

Nick Griffin
nick@cullmantribune.com

HANCEVILLE, Ala. – Hanceville's play-making point guard Kelly Pickett announced Tuesday that she has committed to go play for head coach Jared Hughes and Shorter University, a Christian school, in Rome, Georgia. In her three years with the Lady Bulldogs, Pickett has won numerous awards and eclipsed the 1,000-career point mark last season and will look to continue to be a standout in her final season at Hanceville.

After looking around the campus and meeting all of the coaches and potential future teammates, Pickett knew right away that Shorter University was the place for her and even got offered something more after her playing days are over.

"When I stepped on campus, I got an amazing feeling just from the atmosphere," Pickett said. "The campus is beautiful. It really feels like home. Everyone is great.

"Coach Hughes is handing me the point guard position. It was kind of hard not to turn down. They also offered me to be a graduate assistant after I get done playing.

"I can't wait to start this new chapter in my life. I'd like to come back and coach at Hanceville."

Pickett has learned a lot from the coaches that she has played for and she's also really improved each game with the help of her coaches.

"Coach Christina Watson has really helped me become a solid player," Pickett said. "She has pushed me on and off the court. I wouldn't be where I am today without her. My travel ball coach, Greg Harrison, has impacted my life greatly. He helped me to play through the mistakes. I owe a lot to him. He did everything he could to make sure I was seen by college coaches. Each off-season, I've worked extremely hard. I would like to say I have improved a lot each year."

Pickett can't wait to learn a lot about being at Shorter University on and off the court.

"Honestly, it's going to help me become a better person all-around," Pickett said. "A lot of the times, I get caught up. I forget why I am really here and that is to put Christ in the middle of everything. It's going to help me stay focused and to not give up when things get tough."

Her goals for the season are really simple and she can't wait to get on the court with her teammates and start playing.

"My main goal is to become a better leader and teammate," Pickett said. "It's my last year at Hanceville and I want to set a good foundation for the younger kids. It would be awesome to win area and to go deep in the tournament. Playing with this team, it has pushed me to be patient. I had to learn their strengths and weaknesses so when we played, I knew what they could and couldn't do on the court. I take basketball really seriously and they remind me that's it supposed to be for fun. I couldn't ask for better teammates this year. I'm really excited about this season."

Pickett has some advice about younger players who are looking to improve their game just like she has.

"My best advice would be to work harder than your opponent." Pickett said. "Be relentless on the court. Dive after the basketball and do the stuff nobody else wants to do."

Cullman falls to Jasper on the road

James Phillips
Daily Mountain Eagle

JASPER, Ala. – The No. 3-ranked Jasper Vikings opened the season with a 21-19 victory over rival Cullman Thursday night at Ki-Ro/Gambrell Field. The win marked the first time since 2010 the Vikings earned a defeat over Cullman, and it was the first win against the Bearcats in a home game since 2004. The win also gives Jasper the edge in the overall series at 35-34-2.

"It is something special to beat Cullman," Jasper coach Bryan Moore said. "I know what this rivalry is about and how much it means to the kids and the community. You take those wins any way that you can get them. I hope we keep this game going for a long time, because this rivalry is a lot of fun."

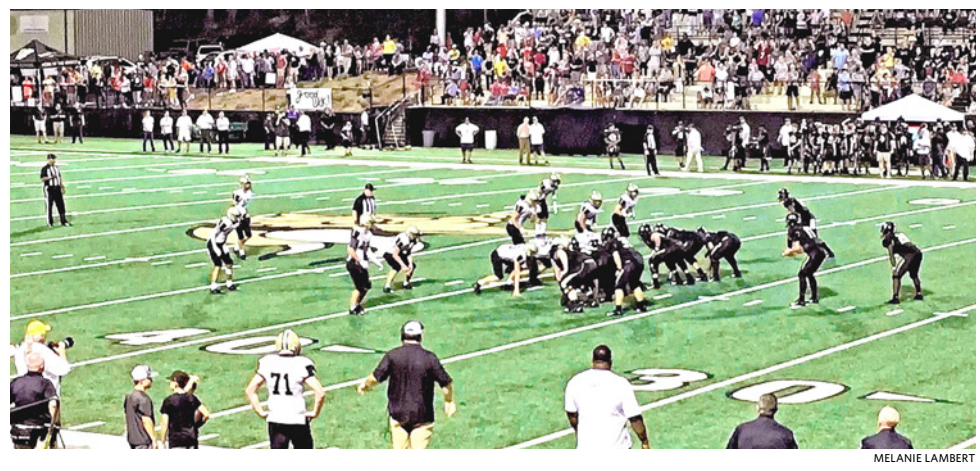

The Vikings dominated on the stat sheet with 372 total yards compared to 285 for Cullman. Jasper finished with 148 yards on the ground, while throwing for 224 yards. The Jasper defense gave up two big plays, but otherwise kept the Bearcats in check for most of the game. Harrison Saunders and Taris Rudolph led the defense with 10 tackles each. Kevon Samuel and Sheldrick Cherry has interceptions on the night. Jayden Vance, Jacob Danner and Kaedyn Marchbanks each had seven tackles.

"After not finishing the game last year, we did what we had to do this year to come out with a win," Moore said. "We have a lot of stuff to work on, and we have to get better. We didn't execute very well on offense for much of the night and we gave up the big plays on defense. We had a couple of chances to put them away, and we fumbled the ball, which isn't like us."

The Jasper running game only had 24 yards on the ground at halftime, but the senior duo of Kaden Shelton and J.C. Collins bounced back in the second half to finish with strong performances. Shelton ran for 74 yards and a touchdown on 14 carries while also finishing the night with one touchdown pass for 41 yards. Collins ran for 78 yards on 21 carries.

Parker Sawyer, the new starting quarterback for the Vikings, has an efficient night, throwing for 183 yards and a touchdown on 17-of-22 passing. Xavier Waldrep led the receivers with four catches for 64 yards and a score, while Denzel Chatman picked up 48 yards and a touchdown on three catches.

Jasper opened the scoring on the night when Shelton hit Waldrep on a 41-yard halfback pass with 9:28 left in the second quarter. Preston Reed connected on the point after to give Jasper a 7-0 lead. Cullman answered late in the first half when Max Dueland connected with Isaiah Jones on an 83-yard pass. The point after try failed after a fumbled snap, which gave Jasper a 7-6 lead at halftime.

MELANIE LAMBERT

The Cullman Bearcats fell on the road to Jasper 21-19 to open the 2019 season.

Jasper opened the second half with a long drive that saw Shelton cap it with a 14-yard run to give the Vikings a 14-6 lead. Jasper also opened the fourth quarter with its last score of the night when Sawyer hit Chatman on a 16-yard pass. The Vikings were up 21-6 with 11:24 left in the game.

The Bearcats would not give up, scoring two fourth quarter touchdowns. An interception by Samuel late in the game sealed the win for the Vikings.

Jasper will now have a bye week before returning to action in week three of the season when they host Dora in a Class 5A, Region 7 matchup. Cullman will now travel to Mortimer Jordan next week.

ARLEY, Ala. – It was a perfect night to kick off the High School football season as the Cold Springs Eagles traveled to take on the Meek Tigers. Cold Springs looked sharp on offense and defense all night long as they got a convincing 25-0 victory to start the season.

Lawson Burgess quickly put an end to the opening Meek drive by intercepting the ball on the sixth play and took it all the way down to the Tigers' 1-yard line.

The Eagle offense quickly took advantage. On the very next play, Ayden Alexander plunged his way into the end zone, giving the Eagles an early 6-0 lead.

Meek's ensuing possession looked promising but was denied on fourth down.

As Cold Springs was knocking on the door to go ahead by two scores, Meek's Jon Williams recovered a fumble to put an end to the Eagle drive.

The Tigers marched into Cold Springs territory but once again the Eagle defense came up with a stop on fourth down.

Wasting no time, the Eagles found the endzone on the first play of the drive when Brodi Williams hooked up with Lawson Burgess for a 62-yard touchdown that put the Eagles up 12-0 midway through the second quarter.

On the fifth play of Meek's ensuing possession, Roberto Ayala got the ball back to the Eagle offense by way of an interception.

Once again, they would find the endzone as Jordan Lacey rumbled for a 2-yard touchdown to put the Eagles up 18-0 late in the first half.

Meek ran the remainder of the clock out, sending the game to halftime.

It wasn't until late in the third quarter when Ayden Alexander extended the Eagles lead from one yard out, making it 25-0.

The Meek offense went three and out on their next possession, but James Brown intercepted the ball to give it back to the Tiger offense.

However, they were unable to move the ball. Both teams would punt one more time to end the game.

After the game, Cold Springs Head Coach Rod Elliot was proud of his team for the effort they showed throughout the game. He also mentioned that they are limited on how much they can practice so that was really their first scrimmage of the year. He also added that they seemed to get more comfortable as the game went on, but they still had some disciple issues to correct.

"Anytime you can shut an opponent out it is a good night," Elliott said. "You don't have to score a lot of points when you shut someone out."

Cold Springs will be back on the road next week when they travel to take on Berry.

FAIRVIEW, Ala. – On a surprisingly comfortable August evening at Dafford Smith Stadium, the Fairview Aggies faced off against their cross-county rival West Point Warriors.

West Point won the toss and deferred to the second half kicking off to the Aggies. Tyvn Ellis bobbled the kick but recovered for a decent 16-yard return. In a theme for an opening game for both sides, a penalty helped stall Fairview's opening drive as they were forced to punt after three plays.

West Point was penalized on the punt return. On the second play from scrimmage, quarterback Will Cochran hit Whitt Laney for a 36-yard pass play putting them deep in Fairview territory. Fairview's defense stiffened and forced West Point into a fourth down situation from Fairview's 12-yard line. Scrambling Cochran hooked up again with Laney for a 12 touchdown. The PAT was good by Anthony Selby making the score 7-0 with 7:24 to go in the first quarter.

Drives by both teams stalled during the rest of the first quarter with penalties playing a major factor. The quarter ended with the Warriors leading 7-0.

Fairview started the second quarter with a drive that stalled on their own side of the field. An outstanding punt by Tyler Simmons pinned the Warriors on their own 1-yard line.

Cochran attempted passes from his own end zone completing one for nine yards. Just when it looked like the Warriors might escape from the shadow of their goal post, the Aggies blitzed Cochran and tackled him in the end zone forcing a West Point safety. The score was now 7-2 West Point with 6:27 left in the half.

The Warriors kicked the following free kick out of bounds. The Aggies were in great field position on the West Point 45. The Aggies were able to drive to the West Point 16-yard line. The Warriors forced the Aggies to attempt a fourth down pass that was completed short of the first down and West Point got the ball on downs.

West Point went on an 11-play drive with Cochran completing a pass to Levi Farley as he was being tackled. The Warriors were forced to punt and the half ended with a 15 yard run by Simmons. The halftime score was 7-2 in favor of West Point.

The second half opened with drives by both teams once again being plagued by penalties.

West Point took their third offensive drive on the Fairview 49. After a run for no gain, Cochran dropped back to pass and hit Kobe Bowers for a 49-yard touchdown pass. Selby's PAT increased the Warriors lead to 14-2 with 3:20 to go in the third quarter.

Ellis returned the ensuing kickoff 32 yards giving the Aggies possession on West Point's 48-yard line. On the sixth play of the drive, West Point was called for pass interference. The Aggies were still forced to get a first down on the next play. The third quarter ended with the Aggies deep in West Point's end of the field with the Warriors leading 14-2.

With a first and goal from the 1-yard line, Fairview's quarterback Parker Martin ran for the touchdown. The PAT was no good and the score was 14-8 West Point with 11:05 to go in the fourth quarter.

The Warriors began the next drive on their own 36-yard line and after a 32-yard pass from Cochran to Laney appeared to be ready to score.

Laney caught the next pass and just before hitting the ground fumbled the ball. The Aggies recovered on their own 13-yard line.

Fairview returned to ground game and used a 15-play drive to get to West Point's 22-yard line. On a fourth and one, Fairview was stopped short and the Warriors took over possession with 1:50 left in the game. The Warriors appeared to be ready to close out the game.

The Aggies had other plans. Fairview held West point and forced the Warriors to punt after three plays. Eli Speegle returned the punt for 12 yard giving the Aggies the ball on their own 45 with 40 seconds to go in the game.

After a 13-yard run by Martin, he completed passes of five yards to Ellis, 10 yards to JT White and 20 yards to White. Quickly spiking the ball, Fairview was inside West Point's 10-yard line with two seconds on the clock.

The last play of the game was an incomplete pass in the end zone as the clock expired as Fairview came up inches short of tying the game.

Cochran finished the game 10 of 18 passing for 166 yards. He was also the leading rusher for West Point gaining 35 yards on 16 carries. Farley rushed for 18 yards on 8 carries.

Martin threw for 67 yards completing 11 passes of 20 attempts. Simmons led Fairview in rushing gaining 80 yards on 18 carries. Ellis added 79 yards on 22 rushes.

Fairview outgained West Point 262 total yards to West Point's 227 total yards.

Warriors Head Coach Don Farley went over some of the strategy that went into the final snap and reflected on another hard-fought game between Fairview and West Point.

"It was a pressure situation, we knew they had no timeouts and we were debating whether or not to take ours but if you take your timeout, you're going to give them an opportunity to set up something they want.

"If you don't, they have to think a little more on the run and Coach (George) Redding is good at that," Farley said.

"They dialed up a pretty good play, but our players made plays right there and it went our way. Great heart and effort on both sides. That's the way a county rivalry should be and that's the way this rivalry has been. It's always a dog fight and we know it. We're just glad to get the win and get ready for next week."

West Point will be back on the road next to take on the Arab Knights with a chance to start the season 2-0.

Decatur couple charged in death of Kelsey Starling operating 1 of 2 boats involved

WINSTON COUNTY, Ala. – Two people were arrested Wednesday, charged with criminally negligent homicide related to the death of Kelsey Starling, 26, of Troy. Starling was killed in a two-boat crash in the Rock Creek area of Smith Lake the night of July 4, 2019. Her body has not yet been recovered.

Alabama Law Enforcement Agency (ALEA) Marine Patrol Division Troopers arrested Nick Bowling Suggs, 50, and Jodi Wallace Suggs, 50, both of Decatur, after a Winston County grand jury convened earlier this week and the pair was indicted.

According to indictment paperwork obtained Thursday morning, Nick Suggs and Jodi Suggs were the operators of the boat that struck the boat on which Starling was a passenger.

Both indictments read: "....did with criminal negligence cause the death of another person, Kelsey Starling by striking the vessel she was aboard causing her to be thrown there from..."

ALEA said officials from the 25th Circuit District Attorney's Office in Winston County will prosecute the cases.

Efforts to recover Starling's body resumed Wednesday morning and will continue through Friday, Aug. 23, according to ALEA Marine Patrol Division Northern District Assistant Commander Sgt. Chad Pate.

Starling was a passenger in a 2012 Mastercraft wakeboard boat involved in a two-boat crash in the Rock Creek area of Smith Lake at approximately 10 p.m. July 4. The driver of the boat, William Jackson Fite, 23, of Decatur, has been charged with boating under the influence.

Starling Family Statement

Our daughter, sister, and granddaughter, Kelsey Starling, is missing and presumed dead since July 4, 2019, following a boating incident on Smith Lake. We appreciate the tireless efforts of law enforcement and search personnel to locate Kelsey. We also very much appreciate the love and support we have received from so many individuals at Smith Lake and throughout our state. We have been especially touched by the blue Kelsey ribbons that have seemingly appeared everywhere in Alabama and states beyond. This has provided our family significant comfort.

We understand that an indictment has now been issued in connection with Kelsey's death; we will not comment on the indictment at this time. We look forward to receiving information yielded from the investigation that resulted in this indictment. The family will have no further comment on this issue at this time, as our efforts remain focused on the recovery of Kelsey's remains.

CULLMAN, Ala. – The Cullman Area Technology Academy (CATA) is seeing something this year it has not seen in the past: a large group of 67 ninth graders coming through the doors. The career center has had freshmen before, but not in these numbers. Even for prospective career tech students, the first year of high school has usually been devoted to core subjects and graduation requirements at their home schools.

CATA Principal Billy Troutman and his faculty are seeking to change that this time around.

Troutman told The Tribune, "We were talking about getting the ninth graders in, because in the past, we had them in 10th through 12th.

"The reason we didn't have ninth graders was because they had to stay at their home school, because there's certain elective credits like health and PE, and a lot of the kids were getting driver's ed; you know, there's a lot of things like that they were trying to do.

"You have to have those things and they're important, but it pretty much forced them to lose a year up here if they wanted to come."

He continued, "We put our heads together and worked out a plan as far as being able to get those credits via some options now that didn't exist a few years ago, like ACCESS and some of the online environments like that. We can work with students that want to do it.

"They have to know up front, 'Look, you're going to have to take an ACCESS health or you're going to have to take a semester of ROTC to get a PE in there,' but we can work it.

"But the beauty of it is that if they come up here that early, it gives them three full years to do career tech programs or even a couple of career tech programs, and then it opens up their senior year- or possibly some of their junior year, if they're old enough- anyway, it opens up the last year of school for them to do co-op, to do Fast Track for Industry, to pursue other options: apprenticeships, internships, options like that, that existed, but it's just easier to move into them because of their experience and their education so far in career tech classes."

The initial view is that the recruiting plan seems to be working, and Troutman is pleased with his 67 freshman enrollees. Initial signups of interested students numbered in the hundreds, but those numbers always drop as the start of the school year approaches.

The principal told The Tribune, "To be honest, we thought we'd have between 30 and 40, so the fact that we've got 67 is awesome!"

As other CCBOE programs like Fast Track and Dual Enrollment- both programs for juniors and seniors- grow in popularity and attendance, getting students into and through CATA programs is becoming more of a challenge.

Building Construction teacher Mike Burkett explained, "We lose our 11th and 12th graders when they've got all these other choices like co-op and dual enrollment, and so we were looking at only having 10th graders up here, maybe a few 11th . . . They're going to go to Wallace, they're going to go to Fast Track, they're going to go to dual enrollment, co-op, whatever.

"We're only going to get them for a couple of years, so that means not only are we trying to boost enrollment, but we've got to get them in here for basic training. We do the basic training, and then they, theoretically, would go on and get their advanced training at Wallace."

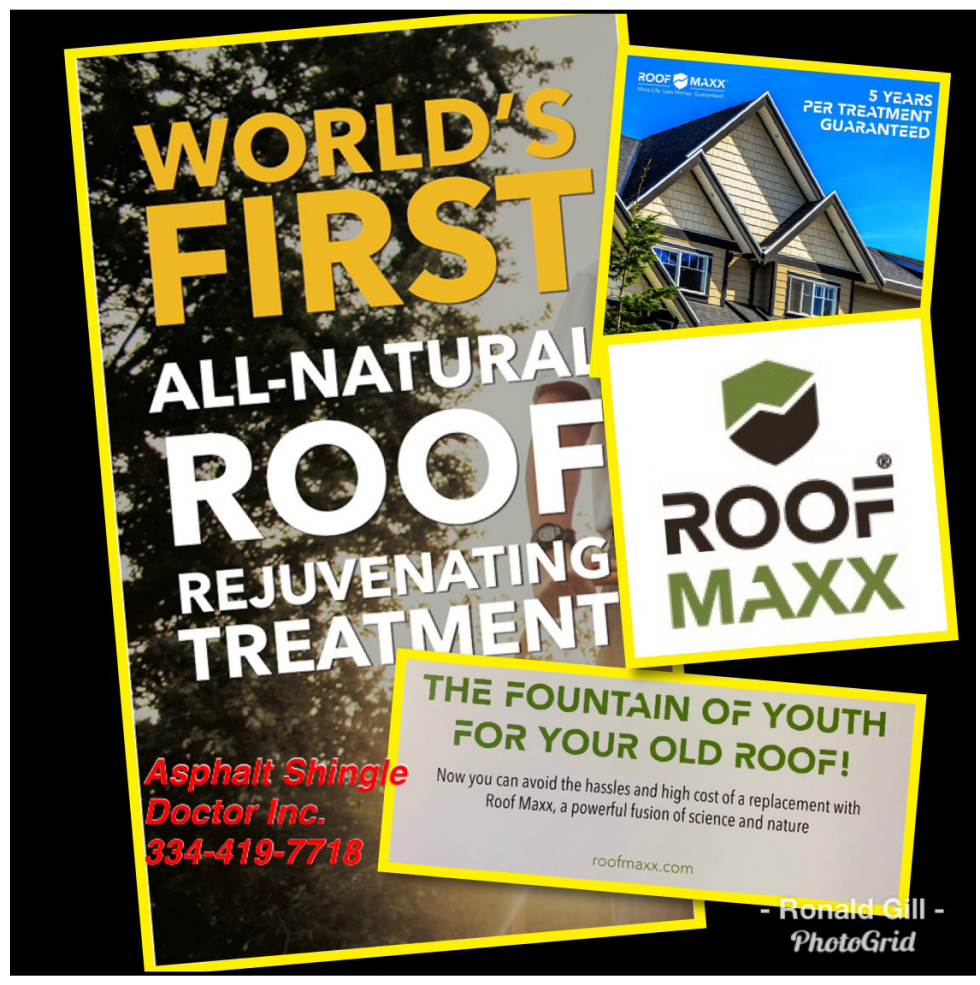

Cosmetology teacher Tasha Flanigan talked about the advantages of the extra year her ninth graders will get: "They're going to get more training in different areas. They're going to have more time to critique their work, and they're going to have more hours to carry to Wallace. We have an articulation agreement set up with the Cosmetology Department there, so they're going to get to carry over some more hours there.

"They're just going to be able to advance more, having that extra year. They have more time to work on time management, their speed, their skill. It just opens up another year, a new beginning just to be better. You've got more time to advance. That's what I'm seeing: they start early, they're going to have more time to get better at what they're taught."

When they heard that the freshmen were on the way, some worried about how a large group of students lacking in maturity might affect CATA's programs, programs that are technically challenging and, in certain spots, dependent on equipment that can be dangerous to careless users.

Burkett added his own observations about the 2019 class: "So far, I think I have not heard of anybody having problems with ninth graders, not the apprehension that we were thinking it was going to be: 'Oh, my God, it's going to be a disaster!' (It has) not happened at all. What I'm hearing from my colleagues is that they're doing really well, and they're pretty smart!"

The Tribune will meet more of CATA's freshmen, and will be following them as they work their way through the career center.

Freeze veggies this summer

Justin Miller
Contributor

AUBURN, Ala. – From tomatoes to squash, summer is filled with a wonderful bounty of garden vegetables. Wouldn't it be great to have these fresh vegetables all year long? Luckily, you can freeze fresh produce from the local markets or homegrown vegetables this summer and enjoy them throughout the fall and winter.

Janice Hall, an Alabama Extension food safety and quality regional agent, said when done correctly, freezing is a great way to have fresh vegetables year-round.

"When properly selected, prepared and stored, vegetables hold their fresh qualities for about a year," Hall said. "The flavor, texture and nutritional value doesn't change."

The best vegetables to freeze are ones that are tender and just matured.

The fresher the vegetable, the better it is after freezing. The rule of thumb is to have vegetables prepped, packed and in the freezer within two hours of picking them.

Prepping vegetables

The first step to prepping vegetables is to wash them thoroughly. While washing, look for inferior vegetables or overly mature ones and lay them aside. Hall said after washing the vegetables, blanching them is the next step.

"Properly blanching vegetables is a must," she said. "This stops the enzymes from destroying the fresh flavor of the vegetables, while also removing bacteria."

After blanching, cool the vegetables down quickly to stop the cooking process. This is sometimes known as "shocking."

"To cool the vegetables, submerge them into cold water that is at least 60F or below," Hall said. "Blanching and cooling should take about the same length of time."

Packing and storing

When packing vegetables, choosing the correct container is important. Pack meal-size portions of vegetables firmly in moisture-vapor-resistant freezer containers. Also, use containers that are odor-free, crack-proof at zero degrees and grease-resistant.

"If you are packing butter beans, peas or snap beans, add enough cold water to just cover the vegetable," Hall said.

"Be sure to leave three-fourths to 1 inch of space at the top of the container."

Before placing in the freezer, be sure to write the name of the vegetable and the date on the container.

Place the containers in the coldest part of the freezer and store at zero degrees or below.

Wallace State reflects on European tour of 'Stars Fell on Alabama'

Gail Crutchfield
WSCC

HANCEVILLE, Ala. – While fall semester classes have started for students at Wallace State Community College, several students and faculty members are reflecting on the happenings at the end of the spring semester. More than 50 students, faculty and family traveled to Europe in May to present portions of "Stars Fell on Alabama: Music Inspired by a Southern State," a production celebrating Alabama's Bicentennial.

For more than a year, Wallace State Singers director Tiffany Richter narrowed down song selections from artists born or raised in Alabama as well as music made in Alabama.

"We did a little exploration into the Muscle Shoals sound and songs that were recorded there," she said. The set list included songs made famous by Wilson Pickett, Bob Seger, the Eagles, Hank Williams, Nat King Cole, Little Big Town — which includes Wallace State alum Jimi Westbrook — and many more. Richter and Ricky Burks, chair of the Fine and Performing Arts program and director of the Wallace State Jazz Band, and Jacob Keisler, director of the Wallace State Concert Band, all created arrangements for the songs. Lauren Salerno, director of the Wallace State Theatre program, choreographed the show. Students wrote their own monologues about living in Alabama.

After debuting the "Stars Fell on Alabama" at the college near the end of the spring semester, they took the show across the Atlantic to tour in France and Germany, with the first performance in Cullman's sister city of Frankweiler, Germany. Two more performances followed in Strasbourg and Paris, France.

The instructors and their students said they were amazed at the reaction of the audiences overseas.

"The first night of performance was in Frankweiler and that is our sister city," Richter said. "It was a packed room and from the moment they started singing the crowd was with them. It was magical. I have very rarely seen something like this. They were enamored."

That reaction continued throughout the trip.

"Every show had a standing ovation," said Meredith Short of Lacey's Spring, a saxophone player with the Wallace State Jazz Band and Concert Band. "They loved it so much. You looked out at the audience and they had ginormous smiles and they were clapping. "

"They welcomed us like we were family," said Samuel Isaac Hewitt of Albertville, a member of the Wallace State Singers, Choir and Theatre. "And they responded so well to us that it felt like we were preforming for family."

Favorite tunes that garnered great responses included "Sweet Home Alabama," "Cheeseburger in Paradise," "Old Time Rock and Roll" and a Wilson Pickett medley.

Richter said the tour manager for their group thanked them for performing that style of music for the European audiences. "This is authentic American music; this is what we want to hear," Richter said the manager told her.

Before returning home, the group made a final stop at the American Cemetery and Memorial in Normandy, just days before the 75th anniversary of the D-Day invasion. The group laid a wreath at the site, played "Taps," and "America the Beautiful" and sang the "National Anthem" and a hymn.

The stop proved to be an emotional one with a lot of impact on the students and faculty.

"Actually, getting to perform there at the American Cemetery was really a lot harder than I thought," said Burks, whose father was a WWII veteran. "When I stood there looking across those in excess of 9,300 graves and realized all those young men were between the ages of 17 and 24, which was the age of all of the students on the buses with us. It was really hard when you started to think what if they had been there on the beach that day."

"I almost started crying, just because there's so much history there," said Isabella Allred of Cullman, a member of the Wallace State Singers, Choir and Theatre. "Before we went there, we went to the beaches of Normandy and I just remember standing there; I had no words. This feeling of gratitude and sorrow washed over me because those people gave their lives for us."

"The mood at that place was so sacred," Richter said. "Some were pensive and some were moved to tears. It was really beautiful that you could see they really understood the impact of what had been done for them.

"One kid said, 'I just hope that somehow they know that what they did mattered, that we appreciate it.' That's when I thought that was worth it, that one moment."

The overall impact of the trip taught the students several things, among them possibilities for the future and how music brings people together.

"They discovered that the world really isn't that big," Salerno said. "You can go over there and work and have a career. So, I think it will make international work, be it performing or something else, a bit more accessible."

"I am so thankful that I got to do this trip with my best friends here and got to perform in these amazing cities," said Caroline Grimes of Orange Beach, a member of the Wallace State Singers, Choir and Theatre. "This will always share a special place in my heart."

"For me to be able to go to places like Europe and Germany and Frances, it was very life-changing," said Jorelle Webster of Hayden, a member of the Wallace State Singers and Choir. "This was eye-opening because it showed me the impact that we had on the people that we performed for."

"When the music started it was like there was no difference between us," added Hewitt. "Everyone can enjoy the music, enjoy the monologues, everything together. It's that connection that we have with every culture."

Those who didn't get to see the show or want to see it again have two more chances. Portions of the show will be performed at Cullman's Oktoberfest on Oct. 5 at 10 a.m., and again on Dec. 14 during the local celebration of Alabama's Bicentennial.
