More than 600 automobile crashes in city of Cullman so far in 2019

MAGGIE DARNELL/THE CULLMAN TRIBUNE

A two-car wreck at the intersection of Second Avenue Southeast and U.S. Highway 278 on June 26, 2019 resulted in injuries.

W.C. Mann
craig@cullmantribune.com

CULLMAN, Ala. – In the last couple of years, the Cullman Police Department (CPD) has been dealing with a rash of vehicle wrecks across the city of Cullman like it has not seen before: 618 crashes to this point in the year, on pace for a total of 967 for 2019. Last year's total was even higher at 1,006. Just a few years ago in 2012, CPD worked a total of only 250.

Traffic Homicide Investigator Sgt. Joey Duncan said, "We work more wrecks than towns that are like double our size. I mean, it's crazy how many wrecks we're having, but the good news is, is all these extra efforts we're doing with public awareness, especially on weekends, we get (Traffic Homicide Investigator Officer Jonathan England) and we attack the high crash areas, and we go after what's causing the wrecks. We've only had two fatalities this year, and that's huge."

The CPD is certainly glad that deaths are down and that it can report that most wrecks are minor incidents, but at 618 so far this year, officers still consider the number way too high.

Where are the wrecks?

A digital map plotting the GPS coordinates of each crash this year, along with the recollections of England and Duncan, pinpointed the most common crash sites around the city:

- Intersection of U.S. Highway 31 and Alabama Highway 157
- Intersection of Alabama Highway 69 and Alabama Highway 157
- Intersection of U.S. Highway 278 and U.S. Highway 31
- Intersection of Cherokee Avenue and 24th Street Southwest
- Intersection of Cherokee Avenue and Patriot Way
- Intersection of Main Avenue Southwest and Graham Street Southwest
- Interstate 65 Exit 310 (Highway 157)

Certain roads see high numbers of crashes all along their length through the city, including:

- Highway 157, with concentrations at intersections with I-65, Highway 31, Childhaven Road and Eva Road
- Highway 31, with strong concentrations through downtown Cullman, at the Highway 157 intersection to the north, and at the Cherokee Avenue intersection to the south
- Highway 278, with concentrations in the heart of downtown, on the west side near West Elementary School and Johnny's Bar-B-Q, and to the east around the Lowery's Station area
- Main Avenue Southwest/ Northwest, with the strongest concentration between Highway 278 and Highway 31

According to England, the busiest times for wrecks tend to be between 11 a.m. and 5 p.m., though there are exceptions. Crashes tend to occur at the 157/69 intersection, for instance, more often during the morning rush. Weekends seem to see fewer wrecks, on average.

Why are the wrecks happening?

Duncan and England identified the two most common causes for crashes as vehicles following other vehicles too closely, especially when drivers are distracted, and vehicles running red lights.

Said Duncan, "Speed intensifies injury; we know that. It'll cause a worse injury, obviously. But the number one cause of a crash, by far, is following too close. It's like percentage- we're almost at 70% of our wrecks. It's that bad, because people are not paying attention; they're doing something so they don't have enough distance to stop before colliding with the other vehicle, you know, and it's bad."

A wreck at the 157/69 intersection, investigated during The Tribune's ride-along with the CPD Wednesday night, Aug. 21, appeared to have occurred when a driver stopped behind another driver in the turn lane from 69 onto 157, looked left until the traffic was clear, and accelerated without noticing that the car in front was still stopped.

At certain intersections, inattention to traffic lights creates danger. According to Duncan, 90% of wrecks at the Highway 157/Highway 69 intersection are due to drivers running the red light.

What should drivers do?

The formula for avoiding the most common collisions in Cullman seems fairly simple:

- Keep a safe distance between your vehicle and those ahead of you.
- Pay close attention to everything around you, especially in traffic.
- Do not run red lights.
- Remember that, as careful as you might be to avoid causing an accident, you want to be just as careful to avoid becoming a victim. If you avoid running a red light, someone else might not.

Said England, "When the light is green, pay attention: look both ways, make sure that nobody's coming through the intersection. Never rely on somebody else."

Avoid distractions: turn off electronic devices

State legislators visit West Point for community forum

W.C. Mann
craig@cullmantribune.com

WEST POINT, Ala. – Cullman area legislators Sen. Garlan Gudger, R-Cullman and Rep. Scott Stadthagen, R-Hartselle came to West Point Thursday night for the third in a series of community forums sponsored by the Cullman Area Chamber of Commerce meant to bring elected officials face to face with their constituents.

W.C. MANN/THE CULLMAN TRIBUNE

West Point got a surprise visit from State Auditor Jim Zeigler, left, who dropped in on Thursday's legislative town hall meeting. Shown also are Rep. Scott Stadthagen, R-Hartselle and Sen. Garlan Gudger, R-Cullman.

The pair fielded a variety of questions and comments from the audience, including:

In light of concern about cell phone use by drivers, should they be allowed to have dogs in their laps?
The legislators expressed concern over any kind of driving distraction, and Stadthagen noted that legislation related to hand-held devices failed in the last session over the question of what could be included in a ban on driving distractions, including food, animals and other things. He indicated that the Legislature is concerned about the consequences of distracted driving, but has struggled to define what constitutes a distraction.

Should unleashed dogs, including service dogs, be allowed in grocery stores?
Gudger admitted to a lack of detailed knowledge about laws governing service animals, but stated that common sense dictates that service animals have to be used within certain boundaries.

What about dogs left outside?
Gudger explained that, as long as outside animals can have some type of roof over their heads and are being fed, the law says they are being cared for reasonably. He also said that he is an animal lover and pet owner, and he believes current laws do not do enough to protect pets.

Can the legislature find more money for the Cullman County Sheriff's Office to patrol more areas of the county?
Stadthagen noted the Morgan County, his home, has a sheriff's office that is stretched thin, too, and said he would be willing to sit down with Cullman County Sheriff Matt Gentry to talk about his office's needs. Gudger said he and Gentry have already been in discussions.

When the asker followed up with a question about the possible use of revenues from the 10-cent fuel tax increase passed earlier this year, Gudger said the gas tax is for infrastructure projects only, and more funding for law enforcement would have to come from a new tax or cuts to other programs.

He also explained West Point, which currently gets less than $8,000 per year in fuel taxes, will be getting more than $25,000 per year when the new tax goes into effect.

In addition to distributions to municipalities, according to Gudger, the Cullman County will get and additional $1.2 million.

Will the "bridges to nowhere" on Alabama Highway 157 ever have roads?
Gudger reviewed efforts from his days with the Cullman City Council to secure grants that got the 157 completion project funded, and told the audience the project is to be completed by 2023.

One comment supported the use of some of the gas tax for improvements to the state port at Mobile.
Gudger agreed, saying a better port means increased exports of coal and poultry, and more shipping from Alabama means more people doing business with Alabama and more money for Alabama's businesses.

Stadthagen took time to promote the 2020 Census, warning low participation could cost the state a congressional seat, and high enough participation could add one. Gudger added that information gathered during the census is secure and cannot be used by any other agency, and each participant means more money for state programs like mental health and education.

How about more funding for education?
Stadthagen briefly mentioned the possibility of a lottery and touted the Legislature's passage of a 4% raise for public school teachers, but was clear that much more needs to be done. Gudger voiced his support for an appointed Alabama State Board of Education staffed by experienced educators. Both legislators spoke in favor of funding for workforce development and rural broadband technology.

Improving school safety
Talking about school safety, both legislators went to the topic of mental health, arguing for increased funding and more school-based counselors and therapists. Stadthagen noted that 40% of all jail and prison inmates suffer from some form of mental illness and expressed a desire to find ways to get such people out of jail and into care.

The legislators deflected questions and comments from one couple who argued against the use of drugs to treat childhood mental illness, deferring to WellStone Mental Health CEO Chris Van Dyke, who happened to be in attendance at the meeting. Van Dyke told the audience that, under certain circumstances, students have found success in school and life through the use of medications.

Should welfare and food stamp recipients have to take drug tests?
Both legislators supported the idea, and Stadthagen added that anyone receiving assistance who is able to work should also have to present proof that he or she is actively looking for work.

The meeting concluded with a few words from State Auditor Jim Zeigler, who stopped by to visit the legislators. He boasted that the most recent state audit is among the best the state has ever had, and that more than $1.1 billion in taxpayer-funded state property has been accounted for in the audit.

Funny Things from Yesterday: My sore arm

Robert N. Tidwell, Sr.
Tribune Contributor

Several years ago, when I was still on the job, I had my arm in a sling for several weeks. Before I could explain to those who inquired what happened they gave me their ideas of my problem. A local photographer friend saw me and said, "Robert, I know there is a lot of arm twisting in politics, but I thought the politicians were the twisters instead of the twisted."

Another friend sidled up to me at a crafts fair held at the civic center and said, "Robert, when my wife asked me to come with her to the crafts fair, I just came and didn't have to have my arm twisted."

Another explanation given was that some of the people I had written about were getting even with me for things I said about them. Other people asked me how the Alabama fan looked after it was over.

As a matter of fact, all Alabama fans looked better than I did after it (the big game) was over. But wait until next year.

Another friend asked me if the doctor told me I could play the piano when my arm healed. It would be a miracle if I could, because I had never played one before.

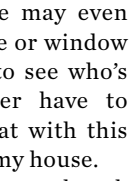

The real truth is not that Rudene told me I had better not write another article about her (as some people thought), but that I tore the muscle in my left arm helping load pallets on one of the trucks.

The day finally arrived that I could remove the sling. I had several men ask me if they could rent the sling so they could be waited on at home and get sympathy from their wives. I'll rent it out, but it didn't get me any TLC.

BILLY BOB'S STORIES AND STUFF

Doors usually allow us to go somewhere

Bill King
Tribune Contributor

There is a mysterious door in my house. We don't always know what or who is on the other side of a door. When a doorbell rings, most instantly wonder who is on the other side of the door. We may even have a peep hole or window that allows us to see who's there. We never have to worry about that with this special door in my house.

No one will ever knock on the other side of it because they can't. Even if they could, there is no window or peep hole I could look through to see them. I always know what's on the other side of this door because it never changes.

Some houses may have a door that opens into a secret room or passageway. Our door doesn't open into anything or lead anywhere. In fact, you can't open it. I guess I could say it has been nailed shut. Even if you could open it, the only thing you would find behind it is a solid wall. I hung the door myself. You may be wondering why in the world I would hang a door, that can't be opened, on a wall. Good question.

The door has been repurposed so it is no longer used as it was originally, or even as intended, for that matter. Most interior doors are what is called a 6/8 door. They are six feet, eight inches tall and thirty inches wide.

The top of our unusual door is only about four and a half feet tall, but the door itself is not that tall because its bottom begins two feet above the floor.

What it lacks in height it makes up in width. Our door is six feet wide.

Early one Saturday morning, a few weeks ago, Jean and I headed out on a forty minute trek to Columbus, Georgia, to search for our special door. We found it at a store called Junque Yard Antiques. You know what they say, "One man's junk is another man's treasure."

We found the one we wanted. When we first saw the door, it was the standard six feet nine inches tall and thirty inches wide.

It is solid wood with no glass. Some call this type door a Christian door because it has four panels, two long ones on the bottom and two shorter ones on the top. The middle section, between the panels, forms a cross.

I stood our newly acquired door up on its side and centered a 1" by 6" board all the way from top to bottom.

After I nailed that one down, I added 1" x 6" boards to the both ends. I added molding to hide the cracks and dress it up a little. Jean painted it with white chalk paint.

We muscled it inside, turned it up on its side, and fastened it to the wall – at the head of a bed. After all that, I needed to lie on the bed and rest! If you look closely, you can still tell that our newly built headboard is a door – a repurposed door... that leads nowhere.

Doors may serve a number of different purposes. Most of them open up and allow us to go through to reach some other place. In life, we look for opened and closed doors, so to speak. These are passageways or opportunities that lead us where we need to go. Occasionally, we may come across a door that leads to nowhere, or somewhere we don't need to go. To reach proper destinations requires going through the right doors. Jesus said, "I am the door."

Vinemont drops jamboree to East Lawrence 10-7

Ryan Guthery
Tribune Correspondent

VINEMONT, Ala. – Vinemont hosted the East Lawrence Eagles for the opening jamboree game, East Lawrence came away with a 10-7 victory in a hard-fought game. Costly turnovers and poorly timed penalties were the story of the night for Vinemont.

The junior varsity squads got things started off in the jamboree game. Vinemont went on offense first and after picking up a first down on just three plays, a fumble shut down the drive on the fourth play. The Vinemont defense stepped up and stopped East Lawrence on fourth down but four plays later, Vinemont coughed the ball up once again. The defense once again did its job stopping East Lawrence on fourth down. Vinemont ran the clock out in the first quarter and the JV teams ended with a 0-0 tie.

East Lawrence got the ball first as the varsity squads took the field. An incomplete pass ended the drive, but they got the ball back two plays later thanks to yet another fumble. Lucas Miller intercepted the ball and took it all the way down to the 13-yard line. After back to back penalties, Jack Hill found Teague Whatley for a 17-yard touchdown that put Vinemont up 7-0 with 4:34 remaining in the first half. Vinemont ended up turning the ball over once more in the half but managed to take a 7-0 led into the locker room.

After a Vinemont punt, East Lawrence tied the game, 7-7, thanks to a short run midway through the third quarter. Both teams swapped punts until a 25-yard field goal put East Lawrence up 10-7 with 6:17 remaining in the ball game. Vinemont ended up inside the 20 with under a minute to play with a chance to win the game, but that pesky turnover bug bit again and East Lawrence intercepted the pass in the endzone. A QB kneel was all that left to do for East Lawrence to come away with a 10-7 victory.

Vinemont will get the regular season underway next week when it travels to Falkville for a matchup against the Blue Devils.

Holly Pond drops season opener on the road

Doug Bates
Tribune Correspondent

NEW HOPE, Ala. – The Holly Pond Broncos traveled to the New Hope Indians Friday night for their first game of the 2019 season and after a 30-minute lightning delay, the teams took the field. New Hope received the kickoff at their own 29. On the first play from scrimmage, New Hope halfback, Beebe, took the ball 71 yards for a touchdown to give the Indians an early lead with less than 12 seconds off the clock.

Holly Pond came back with a drive of their own. Starting on their 29-yard line, they drove the ball out to the 50-yard line where Bronco's halfback Kadin Suryono took over from there and sprinted 50 yards to put the Broncos on the board.

The first half saw a strong Bronco running game featuring quarterback Kyler Chaney, along with halfbacks Levi Boatright and Suryono.

Holly Pond seemed to be in command at halftime with a 22-10 lead, but the Indians were able to find some offense in the second half.

Holly Pond looked to continue its success on the ground at the start of the third quarter.

Starting on their own 47, the Broncos drove the ball to the New Hope 33-yard line before fumbling away the ball.

New Hope took over and drove the ball down for another touchdown to cut into the lead early in the second half.

Trailing by five, New Hope recovered another Bronco fumble on the Bronco 37.

Beebe led the Indians to another touchdown on the ground, giving the Indians their first lead since their opening possession at 23-22.

Holly Pond again found its ground game and regained the lead in the 4th quarter at 30-23 but from there it was all Indians.

New Hope ran off 21 unanswered points, all off Bronco turnovers.

The game ended with the Indians sitting at the Broncos' 3-yard line after a failed 4th down attempt from the Broncos, sending Holly Pond home with a 44-30 loss to open the season.

The Broncos will look to bounce back next Friday for their home opener against Ider.

Joles' overtime touchdown lifts Hanceville over Sumiton Christian

SUMITON, Ala. – The Hanceville Bulldogs traveled to Sumiton to take on the Sumiton Christian Eagles to kick off the 2019 season Friday night. A tale of two halves was the story in this game, but Hanceville wound up taking the game in overtime 32-26.

The first quarter saw both defenses make big plays to keep the game scoreless after one. In the second period, though, Hanceville struck first as Bo Joles found Brodie Malcom for a 49-yard touchdown pass to give the Bulldogs a 6-0 lead with 11:21 remaining in the first half. The Eagles tied the game at six on a 28-yard touchdown pass with 9:07 remaining in the half.

The Bulldogs quickly got their running game going on their next drive behind Joles and Logan Guthery. After a nine-yard run by Guthery put them at the 1-yard line, Joles punched it in on the next play to give the Bulldogs a 14-6 lead with 6:15 remaining in the period. Hanceville's defense got a huge turnover on the next drive as Zack Campbell picked off a bad pass and returned it to the 26.

The run game continued to dominate on the Bulldogs' next possession as Guthery and Joles carried the load for most of their 11-play drive before Guthery found the end zone on a nine-yard run to increase the lead to 20-6 with 44 seconds remaining in the half.

Campbell picked off another pass on the Eagles' first play and returned it to the 46. Then Joles found Campbell on the first play for a 46-yard connection and Hanceville held a 26-6 lead at the half.

The start of the third quarter saw Hanceville's defense force a three-and-out.

Then, back-to-back fumbles by both teams saw the Bulldogs looking to extend their lead after a 29-yard pass play from Joles to Trevor Shadden put them at the 5, but a penalty, then a fumble, quickly put an end to their drive. Sumiton Christian was backed up at the six-yard line after back-to-back flags, but they found the end zone on a 94-yard touchdown pass as they cut Hanceville's lead to 26-12 with 2:20 remaining in the quarter.

Then the Bulldogs turned the ball over on downs as a bad snap on fourth down put the Eagles in excellent field position at the 22.

A costly penalty by Hanceville proved to be the difference on the drive as Sumiton Christian would later convert on fourth down, then later on, the Eagles ran a trick pass play on fourth down that led to a touchdown to make it a 26-18 game with 11:42 remaining in the contest.

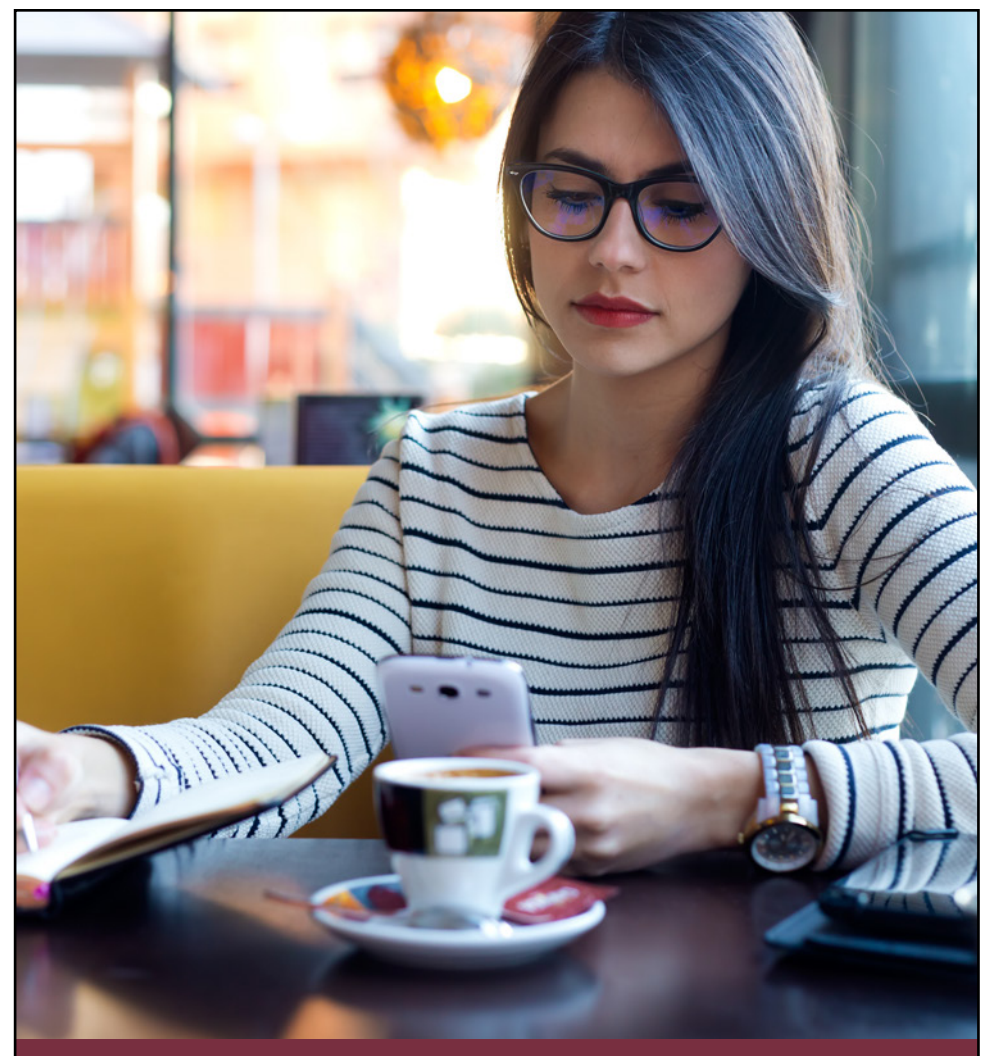

After a Hanceville punt, the passing game for the Eagles shredded the Bulldogs' defense as a 42-yard pass play, later followed by an 18-yarder, put Sumiton Christian at the 7-yard line. The Eagles scored on a five-yard run to things up at 26 with 5:01 remaining in the game. The Bulldogs looked to regain some momentum, but Joles threw an interception. The defense, though, forced another Eagles fumble, but Hanceville gave it right back on their next series with another fumble and neither team could find the end zone, sending the game into overtime.

The Bulldogs forced yet another Eagle fumble to start out overtime, then Joles ended the game on the first play, finding the end zone from 10 yards out, to give Hanceville the thrilling 32-26 overtime victory.

Joles finished the game 17 of 32 for 192 yards and a pair of touchdowns, plus 47 more on the ground and two touchdowns, including the game-winning score. Guthrie finished with 73 yards on the ground and a score. Campbell added a pair of interceptions, and Jackson Drake and Kendrick Johnson each added fumble recoveries.

The Bulldogs will look to move to 2-0 when they host Fairview next week.

Addison blasts Curry 37-0 to start season 1-0

Todd Walker
Tribune Correspondent

ADDISON, Ala. – Friday night was the season-opener for the Addison Bulldogs and to kick off 2019, they welcomed in the Curry Yellow Jackets.

After a scoreless first quarter, Addison put things away in the second quarter. The Bulldogs took over after a short Curry punt at the curry 24-yard line and after gaining 15 yards on two running plays and getting the game's first, first down, Addison scored on a 1-yard run two plays later. The PAT was good, and the Bulldogs took a 7-0 lead.

On the Yellow Jackets' next possession, the quarterback was sacked by linebacker Caleb Crider and on the next play, Logan Wilkins intercepted a pass and returned it 52yds for a touchdown. The two-point attempt was no good and Addison moved ahead 13-0.

On Curry's next possession, they got their first, first down of the game and on the next play Luke Waldrep sacked the quarterback and forced a fumble that Addison recovered at the 43-yard line.

Two long passes from quarterback Dayton Roberts, one of 25 yards and one for 18 yards, got the Bulldogs down to the Curry 3-yard line.

Running back Weston smith carried the ball in from the three for the touchdown and Roberts found Watkins for the two-point conversion, making it 21-0.

After another Curry three and out, Addison converted a 3rd and 7 by throwing a screen pass from Roberts to Freshman running back Sage Smothers for a 38-yard touchdown. The PAT was no good, so Addison held a 27-0 advantage.

After the best of Curry's drives, gaining two first downs and 16 yards, they were held by the Bulldogs defense and forced to punt. Nicholas rice returned the punt 82 yards for a touchdown, but it was called back due to a holding call.

Addison missed a field goal to end the half and took a 27-0 lead into the break.

After swapping punts to start the third quarter, Addison scored on a 31-yard run by Crider. The PAT was good, and the Bulldogs extended their lead to 34-0.

The fourth quarter was rather uneventful with Addison finishing the scoring on a 26-yard field goal from Eli Howse that brought the final score to 37-0.

Addison will have a test in front of them next week as they gear to travel to Piedmont with a chance to start the season 2-0.

Pantry (from Front)

Stam presented a note left at the Hope Pantry by someone who benefited from the project. The anonymous note read (unedited), "Thank you very much for the food. I'm recently for a job. Being through a lot. God Bless You! Thanks again."

Stam recently began looking for help keeping the pantry stocked with food.

She recalled, "It does go fast, but I have been there with people like this one woman (who) was taking a box of opened pancake mix. She said to me, 'I don't know what to do with it. It has ants in it.' She needed it that bad."

Another woman Stam met had walked more than 2 miles to find food at the pantry.

Publix recently donated a basket of food, including breads and pastries, to help Stam in her mission.

"I got to Publix and there was a basket full of pies, cakes and pastries. They aren't able to give canned goods," Stam said.

Stam is challenging local churches and other groups to get involved.

"There are people here that really need this, and I want to get the word out to all these groups that the pantry is here.

"I would love to see the community get behind this; we can exchange different ideas."

There are many items that Stam hopes people will consider donating, including nonperishable food, snacks, easy meals for children (cereal and Pop-Tarts) and toiletries. She also suggested marking through the barcodes of donated items to prevent items from being returned. She hopes that helps make sure all items are reaching the people who really need the help.

Donations can be placed directly in the pantry or those who wish can email Stam at stdeborah@yahoo.com.

Stam said she first became interested in helping food pantries after a trip to Cullman with her husband, John.

"Cullman had one down by Mary Carter," she said. "When we would go eat the buffet at All-Steak, I would see that little pantry.

"I felt like Lazarus- the rich man going over Lazarus to get to the door and stepping on him and there he is begging.

"I said, 'I'm never going again unless you let me bring a big bag of food for that pantry.' If I put food in the pantry then I don't feel guilty lavishing myself at this big buffet because there's a lot of people who can't do that.

"That's when I started to do it, and then we got one here."

Stam is optimistic, saying, "It's grassroots right now, but my goal is every time I go by that thing for it to be full.

"If I could just have 10% of the churches participate, we could easily do that."

Raiders (from Front)

Nick Griffin
nick@cullmantribune.com

GOOD HOPE, Ala. – The Raiders opened up the 2019 season on a muggy, humid Friday in James W. Shabel Stadium and after falling behind 2-0 early, Good Hope put up 28 unanswered points to put away Carbon Hill and start the season with a win.

After turning it over on downs in Bulldog territory on their first possession, the Raiders got behind 2-0 when running back Colton Bagwell was pulled down inside his own end zone with just over three minutes to play in the first quarter. Good Hope responded quickly and took a 6-2 lead after quarterback Tanner Malin connected with Drew Maddox down the home sideline for a 38-yard touchdown. The snap was mishandled on the extra point and the Raiders maintained a 4-point lead early in the game.

Malin extended the lead in the second quarter when he found Cole Maddox at the front pylon for a 24-yard touchdown strike and the 2-point conversion made it 14-2. Good Hope's defense made things difficult for Carbon Hill all night but especially in the first half. The Raiders held the Bulldogs to just eight yards rushing in the first two quarters and 38 total yards to Good Hope's 168.

Carbon Hill also had trouble with the punting game throughout the night and Bagwell took advantage just before the half when he came off the edge and forced the punter to sprint to the sideline and turn the ball over on downs.

On the very next play, Bagwell took it in from 21 yards out to make it a 21-2 game at the half.

The Raiders fumbled the ball on their opening possession of the third quarter, but the defense was there once again to hold the Bulldogs in check. Malin made Carbon Hill pay with his legs later in the quarter when he ran one in from 25 yards out to make it 28-2 and put the game out of reach for Good Hope.

The Bulldogs had a great opportunity inside the Raiders' 5-yard line early in the fourth quarter but back to back incomplete passes turned the ball over on downs and Good Hope began running some clock. Carbon Hill was able to punch one from a few yards out with just under two minutes to play but it was too little too late for the Bulldogs and the Raiders held on to win it 28-9.

After the game, Raiders Head Coach Alan Scott felt good about the information he got on his team tonight and wants to see more of what this group can do going forward.

"Coming into this week we had more questions than answers and we answered some things tonight which is good. We got a lot of guys in the game, I thought our guys rallied around each other really well, executed the game plan like we asked them to and got after Carbon Hill tonight," Scott said.

"They're a well-coached team that plays hard and they've got a great group over there but overall, its just a great way to start the season for a team that's trying to find its identity a little bit."

Good Hope will try to repeat tonight's performance and move to 2-0 when they host Priceville next week.

Crashes (from Front)

are doing or to what is happening around them echo growing concerns about distracted driving across the nation, with electronic devices being cited as one of the biggest culprits. Almost everyone has seen ads, commercials or online videos about the dangers of driving while texting, reading or even talking on a hand-held cell phone. The National Safety Council (NSC) has published studies, though, indicating that even the new generation of hands-free technology does not help nearly as much as people think.

In its 2012 publication Understanding the Distracted Brain, the NSC stated:

Multitasking is valued in today's culture, and our drive for increased productivity makes it tempting to use cell phones while behind the wheel. People often think they are effectively accomplishing two tasks at the same time. And yes, they may complete a phone conversation while they drive and arrive at their destination without incident, thus accomplishing two tasks during the same time frame. However, there are two truths to this common belief.

1. People actually did not "multitask."

2. People did not accomplish both tasks with optimal focus and effectiveness.

Multitasking is a myth. Human brains do not perform two tasks at the same time. Instead, the brain handles tasks sequentially, switching between one task and another. Brains can juggle tasks very rapidly, which leads us to erroneously believe we are doing two tasks at the same time. In reality, the brain is switching attention between tasks – performing only one task at a time.

The study focused on cell phone use, which the NSC considers to be among the biggest safety issues for drivers, including those who use hands-free technology. The report continued:

Vision is the most important sense for safe driving. Yet, drivers using hands-free phones (and those using handheld phones) have a tendency to "look at" but not "see" objects. Estimates indicate that drivers using cell phones look but fail to see up to 50 percent of the information in their driving environment. Distracted drivers experience what researchers call inattention blindness, similar to that of tunnel vision. Drivers are looking out the windshield, but they do not process everything in the roadway environment that they must know to effectively monitor their surroundings, seek and identify potential hazards, and respond to unexpected situations.

Today there are more than 320 million wireless connections in the U.S. And although public sentiment appears to be turning against cell phone use while driving, many admit they regularly talk or text while driving. The National Highway Traffic Safety Administration estimates that nine percent of all drivers at any given time are using cell phones, and the National Safety Council estimates about one in four motor vehicle crashes involve cell phone use at the time of the crash.

Cell phone distracted driving has become a serious public health threat. A few states have passed legislation making it illegal to use a handheld cell phone while driving. These laws give the false impression that using a hands-free phone is safe.

The NSC's study indicated that drivers carrying on cell phone conversations, even hands-free, tended to suffer:

- Inattention blindness - not seeing things right in front of them, and especially to the sides. Eye movement studies showed that drivers talking on hands-free phones tended to focus their eyes on a much smaller field right in front of their vehicles and not keep an active watch on other areas within their field of vision. Areas outside the talking drivers' narrow focus include common locations of STOP signs, traffic lights, oncoming side road traffic at intersections, and points from which pedestrians are likely to step out into the street.
- Slower response time and reaction time - In one driving simulator study, participants actively engaged in cell phone conversations had slower reaction and response times than participants with a .08 blood alcohol concentration, legally drunk in Alabama.
- Problems staying in their lanes

The NSC study concluded that a person talking on a cell phone while driving is four times more likely to be involved in a crash than a person not using a phone, whether the device is hand-held or hands-free.

CPD Traffic Homicide Investigation

In 2017, the CPD sent Duncan and England for specialized training in traffic homicide investigation, in order to lay the foundation for a specialized and dedicated Traffic Homicide Unit. In wrecks involving a fatality, the investigators can work up a 300-page package of incident details as specific as the depth of tread on the tires of involved vehicles. In less than two years, their new skill set has produced five indictments for vehicular homicide.

Said Duncan, "The (Cullman County) DA's office loves it. I mean, they're getting everything they need for prosecution."

The Tribune will return to ride with CPD traffic officers next week, for a look at specific actions the department is taking to combat the crash problem and an inside view of how officers reduced accidents on one of the city's "bad" roads last year to a small handful of incidents this year.

Best Bets

5 p.m. on TCM
Movie: Gambit

Per Webster's Dictionary, a gambit is a move in chess where a pawn or other piece is sacrificed for a bigger advantage. Here, the sacrificial piece is Nicole (Shirley MacLaine), a woman whom a thief (Michael Caine) plans to use to help pull off a robbery — which doesn't go as planned. This 1966 crime caper was nominated for three Oscars — for costume design, sound and set decoration. TCM airs it here as part of a day-long MacLaine salute.

7 p.m. on LIFE
Movie: V.C. Andrews' Web of Dreams

Adapted from the fifth and final novel in the Casteel series, the miniseries finale is a prequel that fills in some important blanks and unlocks some major Casteel family secrets. Leigh (Jennifer Laporte), who will give birth to Heaven later in the story, flees her oppressive family manor and the secrets she had to harbor while living there. She soon falls into the arms of Luke Casteel Sr. (Tim Donadt), whose obvious devotion seems like a beacon of hope to Leigh. Max Lloyd-Jones and Cindy Busby also star.

7 p.m. on HBO
Movie: Mortal Engines

After languishing in development limbo for several years, Christian Rivers' 2018 adaptation of Philip Reeve's post-apocalyptic literary thriller finally made it to cinemas with a screenplay penned by Fran Walsh, Philippa Boyens and Peter Jackson, who had collaborated on Jackson's blockbuster "The Lord of the Rings" film trilogy. This project, set in a world wherein entire cities have been mounted on wheels and motorized, was notably less successful at the box office. Hera Hilmar, Robert Sheehan, Hugo Weaving and Patrick Malahide appear in the large cast.

8 p.m. on FOOD
Restaurant: Impossible

In the new episode "Saving a Family's Legacy," host Robert Irvine comes to the rescue of Al's Seafood in Maryland, a restaurant that has been in the family for more than 60 years yet now is on the brink of closing its doors. Third-generation owner Chad and his sister, Cara, desperately want to salvage what they can of their business, which keeps alive memories of their late parents and grandparents.

8 p.m. on HALL
Movie: All Summer Long

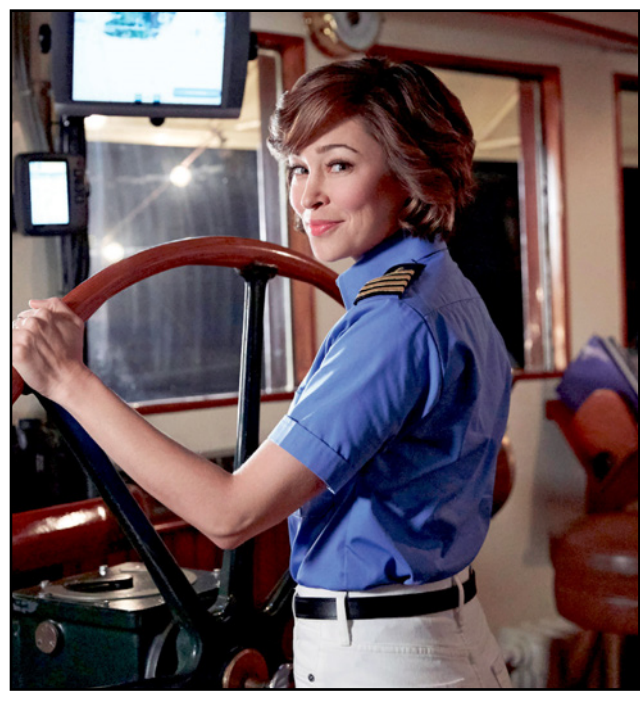

In this new 2019 romance, Tia (Autumn Reeser), a frazzled Seattle lawyer, travels to San Francisco to check out the Pacific Yellowfin, a vintage yacht her aunt and uncle have transformed into a dinner cruise. She's looking forward to captaining the boat over the summer, partly to clear her head, but she's thrown when she discovers who has signed on as the vessel's chef: Jake (Brennan Elliott), who left her devastated 12 years ago when he ended their relationship as their career paths diverged.

8 p.m. on SHOW
Movie: Hitsville: The Making of Motown

This new documentary from filmmakers Gabe and Ben Turner chronicles the blockbuster success and lasting cultural impact of Motown Records, which celebrates its 60th anniversary in September. The film's main focus starts with the 1958 birth of Motown in Detroit and continues through the company's relocation to Los Angeles in the early 1970s, telling its story through interviews with visionary founder Berry Gordy and some of his superstar artists and creative figures.

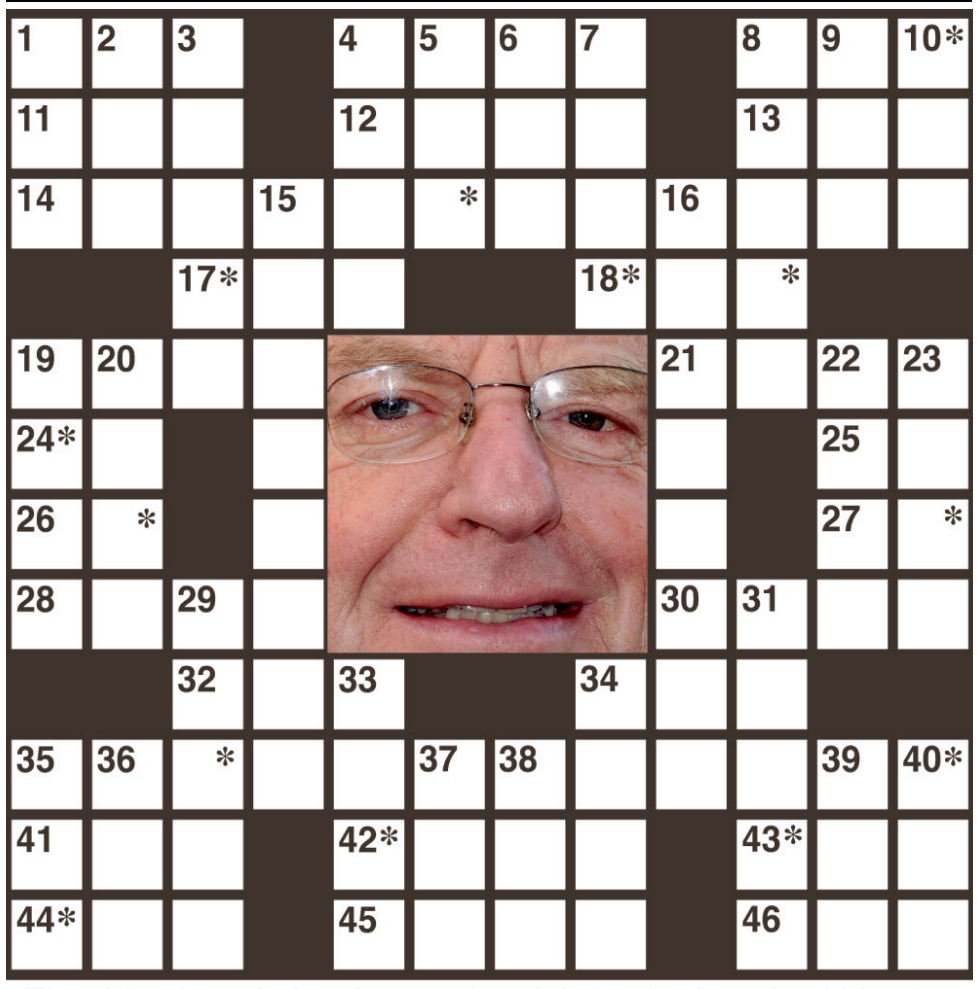

8 p.m. on OWN
Black Love

In a new episode called "Emerging From Darkness," the featured couples share personal experiences about how they have prevailed against some serious challenges to their union, including drug abuse, addiction to pornography, prolonged depression following a miscarriage and other trials. Couples include Ricky and Amy Bell, Rebecca and Terry Crews, Chris and Mattie James, Michael and Mecca Elliot, and Quincy and Deondray Gossfield.

Autumn Reeser stars in "All Summer Long" on Hallmark Channel.

Poet's Corner

The Day Elvis Died

By: Randy C. Hale

In front of the black and white,
the news came that day,
Elvis had died.

Mother said,
she used to run to the radio
when his songs played,
had his picture cut from a magazine, in a ten cent
cardboard frame.

Wearing bobby socks,
pony tails she rocked.

I was taught to love
that baritone,
the enduring smile,
the charisma shone.
Waves of dark hair,
love me tender, teddy bear.
We watched his movies
around that old TV, memories still,
speak to me.

The news still staggers in my mind, the day he died.

THE CULLMAN TRIBUNE • ALABAMA'S OLDEST CONTINUOUSLY PUBLISHED WEEKLY NEWSPAPER

"THE 67-COUNTY, ALABAMA GARDEN PARTY"

LOWNDES COUNTY

Ben Johnson South
Tribune Correspondent

Pecans are native to every county of Alabama, but most are sold in Lowndes County.

It only takes seven years from planting a pecan sapling to have it produce nuts. What are you doing for the next seven years? Planting pecan trees would be a very good use of some of your time and would make you mounds of happy friends.

It often takes as long as a full 12 years for pecan trees to reach their full prime. However, after that you can sit on the porch for the next hundred years and shell pecans while you make yourself and many others happy.

Pecans make a lovely shade tree to look at and cool off under. Lowndes County pecan trees often grow to 70 feet tall and beyond.

Pecan trees have 10-17-inch pinnately compound leaves and cast a dappled shade that allows for underplanting. The trees leaf in late spring and drop their leaves in the early fall.

Global warming is a concern many Alabama pecan growers have. Pecans are native to fertile riversides and creek bottoms. You want loamy soil that drains but also provides lots of water. Ft. Deposit has been the home of Priester's Pecans since they started selling Lowndes County produce at a service station in 1935.

Pardon me for planting this pun, but for decades folks have gone nuts for Priester's. I don't know anybody worth knowing who drives to the Alabama Gulf and doesn't stop in Lowndes County at Priester's, whether going or returning or both.

It would be like driving through Lynchburg, Tennessee and forgetting there's a sour mash distillery in the vicinity. Priester's provides only the freshest pecans from various nutteries in the American South.

Here are varieties of pecans that any Alabama grower should consider (Note: "scab resistance" is of paramount importance when growing pecans, and each of these are scab resistant):

- KANZA—earliest maturing with quality small-ish nuts
- LAKOTA—medium-sized nuts
- GAFFORD—good-sized nuts and quality
- McMILLAN—good-sized nuts and quality
- ELLIOT—small size and late-maturing
- AMLING—good-sized nuts and quality
- HUFFMAN—new University of Georgia release
- AVALON—new University of Georgia release

Lowndes County pecans = happiness. Try this Alabama math problem: If you have 25 pecans and you eat 20 of them, what do you have? Uh, the answer is HAPPINESS.

Here are other positive and pleasurable ways PLANTS + PEOPLE come together in Lowndes County:

- LOWNDES COUNTY FARMERS' MARKET- 653 State Highway 21 South, Hayneville, AL 36040; Wednesdays 7-11 a.m., Fridays 3-6 p.m., Saturdays 8-11 a.m.; open in June
- LOWNDES COUNTY FARMSTAND & U-PICK- MP's Vegetables and Fruits, 4371 State Highway 21 North, Burkville, AL 36752; open July-November, 10 a.m.-5 p.m.
- BEST PLACE IN LOWNDES COUNTY TO TAKE A VISITOR- Lowndes County coordinator for the Alabama Cooperative Extension System, Tana Shealey, suggests spending some quality time at the Lowndes Interpretive Center. This National Park Service site honors those who peacefully marched through the area on the historic Selma to Montgomery voting rights march for equal justice.
- LOWNDES COUNTY OKRA FESTIVAL- (Burkville) This annual celebration of "the pods of the gods" will be this Aug. 31. It offers a taste of Lowndes County farm produce, cultural arts, music and crafts.
- ROBERT F. HENRY LOCK AND DAM- On the Alabama River in northern Lowndes County, this is an essential destination for any birding trip. The natural, protected habitat features extensive grassy meadows that slope gently to the river. There is a copse of mature shade trees bisected by an off-road vehicle trail. The mix of habitats welcomes an enviable roster of birds throughout the year.
- CALICO FORT ARTS AND CRAFTS FESTIVAL- (Hayneville) April 2020 will mark the 50th anniversary of this annual event, one of the largest and most popular food, music, arts and crafts fests in Alabama.
- JAKE'S FISH CAMP- 125 Jake's Landing Road, Lowndesboro, AL 36752, 334-263-1991. You can arrive by boat or land to enjoy delicious, locally-sourced food, LIVE music and lollygagging on the grassy banks of Pintlala Creek.
- DEEPWOODS by MARY BELL- 345 Commerce St., Hayneville, AL 36040, 334-548-5227. The owners call their cooking "Soul2SouthFood;" they use fresh ingredients and creative, healthy substitutes for traditional soul food dishes. Their motto "Food Becomes Flesh" and they aim to serve food that makes a positive impact on lives. DeepWoods is open sunrise to sundown every day except Saturday.
- PRIESTER's PECANS- 80 Bishop Bottom Road, Fort Deposit, AL 36032, 334-227-8355. Part café, part candy factory with viewing area, part retail store, it's open seven days a week from 8 a.m.-6 p.m. excluding major holidays.
- PLANTING AN IDEA- Lowndes County could be an ideal place to create an Alabama nuttery to celebrate all the nut-bearing trees of the world. Plant tourists would go "nuts" over this.

Y'ALL COME to Lowndes County on your 67-County Alabama Garden Party tour. Anybody who can't find happiness exploring this part of Alabama is just plain "nuts."

Many thanks to Tana Shealey, coordinator of the Lowndes County office of the Alabama Cooperative Extension System (ACES) for sharing lots of information, suggestions and enthusiasm.

If you have questions about planting pecans or anything else in this part of the state, ACES is the place to contact. Also, thank you to my sister-in-law, Laurie Johnson, who remembered my beloved mom, Miz Ruby, with her easy, oven-overnight PERFECT Toasted Pecans recipe.

The Cullman Tribune is celebrating the Alabama Bicentennial (1819-2019) with statewide field reporting by Alabama Master Gardener/Botanical Artist Ben Johnson South. This year-long feature, "The 67-County Alabama Garden Party," will spotlight different counties each week. Each county will get its own "quilt block," along with a historical profile, and we'll share a recipe specific to the area. At the end of the year, all 67 counties will be put in a book to commemorate the Bicentennial.

The Alabama honeysuckle border was inspired by an 18th century, Southern applique quilt.

Lowndes County
PERFECT TOASTED PECANS

Each fall my father in-law harvested a bounty of fresh pecans from their trees and he worked hard to shell them for themselves or for gifts. Everyone's favorite holiday treats were the toasted, salted pecans that my mother in-law made. And they were always perfect – great pecan flavor, not too dark, not too raw and with the perfect amount of salt. I tried to duplicate them, using recipes I found elsewhere, and usually failed by getting them too burned or toasting all the flavor out of them. Finally, I learned her secrets. Don't use butter and put them into a preheated oven, turn it off and forget about them. Below is her recipe for the PERFECT toasted pecans.

INGREDIENTS

- 1 lb. shelled pecan halves, preferably fresh (See note below if using bagged pecans from the store; they are typically less moist and need a lower temperature.)
- Cooking spray
- Coarse sea salt

INSTRUCTIONS

- Preheat oven to 200F. If your pecans are not fresh, but from a bag at the store, drop the temperature to 150F.
- Spray a sheet pan lightly with cooking spray.
- Spread pecan halves on pan and spray them lightly with cooking spray.
- While moist with spray, liberally grind the sea salt over them. Stir or shake the pan around to help distribute the salt.
- Place into the preheated oven, turn it off immediately and FORGET ABOUT THEM until the oven is cool, or overnight. You might want to tape a note to your oven door to remind you or others to take them out before preheating for some other use (I learned this lesson the hard way!).
