HANCEVILLE, Ala. – Black Warrior Riverkeeper (BWR), a north Alabama environmental organization on Wednesday posted to its Facebook page a large multi-page document found in an e-file on the Alabama Department of Environmental Management (ADEM) website, containing detailed information about the June 6, 2019 spill at the Tyson/River Valley Ingredients (RVI) plant in Hanceville, including a collection of reports on water quality sampling done the day of the spill and in the days following. The reports show a significantly higher level of E. coli bacteria in the Mulberry Fork immediately following the spill than ADEM » PAGE 4

Cullman woman charged with murder in Jan. 2019 wreck

Quintana Rainwater

CULLMAN, Ala. – A Cullman woman was arrested late Wednesday night, charged with reckless murder, manslaughter, criminally negligent homicide, driving under the influence and running a red light in connection with the Jan. 21, 2019 wreck that claimed the life of Charlotte June Nelson, 79, of Cullman.

Quintana Rainwater, 32, was arrested following an indictment on the charges by a Cullman County grand jury.

Cullman Police Traffic Homicide Investigator Sgt. Joey Duncan said he made the arrest.

The wreck that killed Nelson happened on Second Avenue Northwest (U.S. Highway 31 North) at the intersection of Brantley Avenue Northwest. Nelson, who was driving a 2005 Chevrolet Malibu, was turning left onto Hwy. 31 from Brantley, when she was struck by a 2003 Ford Escape traveling north on Hwy. 31 driven by Rainwater, who allegedly ran the red light.

Nelson was transported to Cullman Regional, where she succumbed to her injuries. Rainwater was also taken to Cullman Regional, but her injuries were not life-threatening.

"After the crash investigation was complete it was discovered human error and driver impairment were involved, which resulted in the death of Charlotte Nelson," said Duncan. "This case was turned over the Cullman County District Attorney's Office and grand jury indictments were issued."

Duncan said Rainwater remains in the Cullman County Detention Center on a $100,000 property bond.

Seniors enjoy annual health fair

CULLMAN, Ala. – Seniors from around Cullman County came out Thursday morning to the Donald E. Green Senior Center for the 2019 Retiree and Senior Health Fair. Organized by the Cullman Commission on Aging and Cullman Parks, Recreation & Sports Tourism, the fair offered health screenings as well as useful information and resources for a variety of senior issues.

This year's event had a great turnout according to the Director of the Cullman County Commission on Aging, Dusty Baker.

"The theme today was 'House Divided,' so it's Alabama/Auburn to coincide with football season kicking off," he said.

The seniors had a great time teasing each other while checking out all the different vendors.

Baker added, "We probably had about 250-300 people come through. This is about connecting community and about them figuring out what's available to them, especially to our senior population."

Many of the senior centers from around Cullman County brought groups and Baker explained there was a competition between the senior centers to see which could bring the most people.

As the seniors were waiting for their buses, each had tote bags loaded with goodies and information. Some won some door prizes provided by the agencies, organizations and businesses participating in the event.

One of the services Baker talked to the seniors about is the upcoming open enrollment for Medicare Part D.

He explained, "Oct. 15 through Dec. 7 is the open enrollment for Medicare Part D. During that period, they do Medicare Part D counseling which is their drug and prescription medication. They get them on the right plan based on the prescription and medications they are taking."

The counseling will be offered at the Commission on Aging office at Sportsman Lake Park. Baker added, "Our hope is, in the future, to offer our services out in the county through our senior centers."

"We got just a little bit of everything. I even got a shingles shot," said Colene Wells from Cold Springs.

Wells was there with Sherry Stricklin, also from Cold Springs. Both ladies came with the Brushy Pond Senior Center. Stricklin was especially appreciative of Investigator Trevor Clemmons from the Cullman County Sheriff's Office.

Wells laughed, "I tripped, and he caught me."

Seniors were able to get flu shots from McSwain Pharmacy. Cullman Regional and the Good Samaritan Health Clinic also offered free health screenings including bone density and blood pressure checks from Blue Cross/Blue Shield.

More than 30 vendors participated in this year's health fair.

WEST POINT, Ala. – The Cullman County Sheriff's Office (CCSO) on Friday arrested Jeffrey Wayne Miller, 30, of Vinemont following a traffic stop in which Miller fled on foot.

A media release from the CCSO said deputies received a tip that Miller, who had numerous outstanding warrants, would be in West Point.

"CCSO deputies made contact with Mr. Miller near Vinemont where deputies conducted a traffic stop on the suspect," said the release. "He fled the vehicle on foot and eluded deputies for a short time and was located and apprehended a short time later near the Vinemont Town Hall."

Miller was charged with attempting to elude, two counts of first-degree attempted robbery, five counts of menacing and five counts of reckless endangerment.

Miller is currently being held in the Cullman County Detention Center on a $26,250 bond.

Bremen man arrested for meth possession after traffic stop

BRUSHY POND, Ala. – A Bremen man was arrested Sunday after Cullman County Sheriff's Office (CCSO) deputies allegedly found a baggie of methamphetamine after a traffic stop.

Kevin Larry Bailey, 42, was charged with unlawful possession of a controlled substance, possession of drug paraphernalia, attempting to elude and numerous traffic violations.

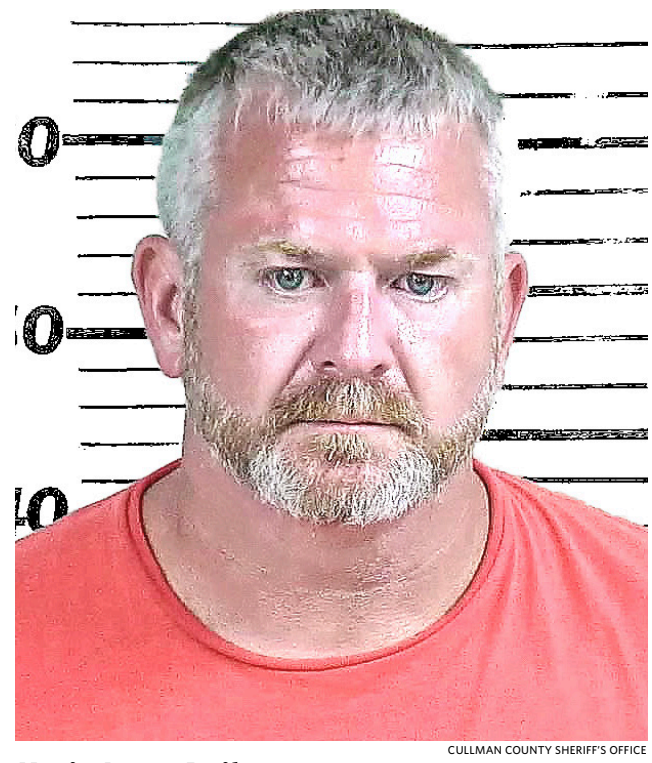

According to a media release from the CCSO, "Deputies observed an ATV driving recklessly on County Road 222 near Brushy Pond.

"CCSO deputies attempted to conduct a traffic stop when the ATV attempted to elude deputies before the ATV became disabled."

The release said deputies located drug paraphernalia while conducting a search of the ATV.

Upon arrival at the Cullman County Detention Center, the back seat of the deputy's vehicle in which Bailey was transported was searched, and the deputy allegedly located the methamphetamine.

"All of our deputies worked very hard this past Labor Day weekend, and these are just two arrests (see also the arrest of Jeffrey Wayne Miller) out of dozens that highlight how diligently and persistent we are at the sheriff's office in arresting those who want to make Cullman County less safe," said Sheriff Matt Gentry.

Spill (from Front)

reported to the public a few days later.

In its Facebook post, BWR claimed, "Among other things, the report shows that ADEM measured -- but did not publicize -- very high levels of E. coli in the Mulberry Fork shortly after the spill."

On June 7, the day following the spill, Tyson Senior Manager for Public Relations Worth Sparkman issued a public warning, noting that "partially treated effluent is believed to have reached the Dave Young Creek, which flows to the Mulberry Fork" and saying, "In an abundance of caution, the public is encouraged to avoid recreating in Dave Young Creek or the Mulberry Fork until further notice."

Sparkman's press release did not include information on contamination levels, but the only water sample taken before the statement was issued was still at an ADEM lab in Decatur, which would not issue a report on its findings until June 14, seven days later. By the time the initial reports came back, E. coli and oxygen levels in the Mulberry/Sipsey river system had returned to normal, leading to suspicions about the timing.

Why the delay?

ADEM's own documents contain a suspicious discrepancy in the lab reports- not in the results found, but in the time it took to report them.

- E. coli results for a sample taken on the afternoon of June 6 at a location where visible signs of contamination (dead and dying fish) were observed did not come back from ADEM's Decatur lab until June 14, eight days later. They would show a massive level of contamination.
- E. coli results for a sample taken on June 7 at another location with the same visible signs of contamination also did not come back from the same lab until June 14. They would show even higher levels that the test from the previous day.
- By June 10, according to the report, "There were no dying or distressed fish at any observed location," and ADEM "determined that response actions were complete at the (Tyson/RVI) facility."
- On June 13, seven days after the spill, three days after cleanup at the plant was completed and three days after the river appeared visibly cleaner, new samples were taken at six different locations. The E. coli results, all showing levels well within the normal range, came back from the same lab in less than 24 hours.

On Thursday, Sept. 5 The Tribune spoke with ADEM Field Operations Chief Scott Hughes, who said that turnaround times of one to three weeks are not uncommon at ADEM labs, but that E. coli tests can often be processed in less than 24 hours, especially in emergencies.

Said Hughes, "It depends on what the test method is. Some of the tests, for instance for E. coli, that is a very quick turnaround. A lot of times, we can get those within a 24-hour period. And there are other tests that we can get within short time frames. It just depends on what the situation is and what our lab loading is at that particular time. For instance, if it's an emergency situation, you know, typically those samples go on the front burner and are analyzed just as quickly as the chemists can get the analytical data completed."

In reference to what constitutes an emergency situation, Hughes said, "... something that we deem to be a critical situation where we need to get the results back and make decisions based on those results, we turn those samples around just as quickly as we can get the samples on the instruments and get the data out the other side."

Hughes went on to say quality assurance/quality control procedures have to be followed after the samples are processed, adding to the turnaround time.

The ADEM document can be located through the ADEM website in the E-File link from the home page by selecting "Water" as the media area and 892 as the master ID, then going to page 20 in the file that opens.

The report is dated 06/06/2019 (the date of the incident). The document gives a detailed account of events during ADEM's fish kill investigation from June 6 to 13 and contains photographs and the previously-mentioned water quality lab reports.

Note that the Alabama standard for the maximum safe level of E. coli in water is 298 bacteria colonies per 100 milliliters (coded as "col./100ml") or a "most probable number" of 298 colonies per deciliter (coded as "MPN/dl;" 100 milliliters equal one deciliter), and a dissolved oxygen level (amount of oxygen in the water) of 5.5 milligrams per liter (5.5 mg/l) is generally considered to be the minimum safe level for aquatic life, according to an EPA standard published by ADEM (https://www.epa.gov/sites/production/files/2014-12/documents/alwqs_chapter335610.pdf). According to the same document, a level of 4.0 can be a minimum under "extreme conditions."

On June 6, ADEM took water samples at the Interstate 65 crossing downstream from the Hanceville plant, and found:
- E. coli at 9678.4 MPN/dl
- Dissolved oxygen at 0.26 mg/l

At 4 p.m. on June 7, shortly after the contamination plume passed through, ADEM took water samples at the County Road 35 crossing downstream from the plant, and found:
- E. coli at 10,462 MPN/dl
- Dissolved oxygen at 0.3 mg/l

The June 7 report also noted that oxygen levels were rapidly returning to a safe range behind the plume, and that water at the County Road 35 crossing had returned to a safe oxygen level by 8 p.m. that day. The report's notes and photos of abundant dead and dying fish throughout the area, though, indicated that the contamination plume had done tremendous damage as it passed.

Also on June 7, ADEM collected a control sample upstream from the plant, near Garden City, and found an E. coli level there of 104.6 MPN/dl.

Observations by Alabama Department of Conservation and Natural Resources (ADCNR) fisheries personnel on June 8 indicated "depressed levels" of dissolved oxygen between the CR 35 crossing and the forks of the Mulberry and Sipsey Forks, though conditions were still good at the forks. On June 9, though, ADCNR observers saw the effects of the plume after it passed through the forks, noting, "low DO levels and distressed fish."

On June 9, Tyson/RVI and their contracted cleanup crew began collecting dead fish from the river.

On June 10, according to the report, "the rising river levels and rainwater from previous days of rain had diminished any residual impact of the release. There were no dying or distressed fish at any observed location throughout the river system. DO levels were back to normal levels for the Mulberry Fork and Sipsey Rivers at all survey locations."

On June 13, inspectors could find no more dead fish, and took water samples at six locations along the river, finding E. coli levels of:
- 110.0 MPN/dl at Garden City Park
- 61.3 at the Interstate 65 crossing
- 48.0 at the CR 35 crossing
- 79.4 at the forks
- 39.3 upstream of Linn Park
- 10.9 downstream of Linn Park

On June 13, ADEM concluded its onsite investigation of the fish kill, and issued a public report on the following day saying, in part, "This work has now been completed and oxygen levels in the affected streams have returned to normal."

On the same day, BWR issued its own statement which said, in part, "Our water sampling this Monday at the confluence of the Mulberry and Sipsey Forks, 28 miles downstream of Tyson, returned results for E. coli of nearly 600 col./100mL, double the maximum amount allowed by the state of Alabama in surface waters during the summer recreation season. This Tuesday, ADEM confirmed finding pathogens but did not specify where, when, or at what amount. This Wednesday, Tyson reported that dissolved oxygen was improving in the Mulberry Fork but did not specify where or when.

Tyson also oddly announced that folks could start enjoying the river again, but only based that vague suggestion on improved dissolved oxygen, which has little relevance to human safety (unlike bacteria).

Meanwhile, Tyson's slug of spilled wastewater continues to head downriver. We continue to recommend that people and their pets avoid contact with the Mulberry Fork for the time being, especially where water is muddy, stinky, or carrying dead fish."

In its post this week, BWR charged that ADEM withheld the earlier reports, saying, "ADEM did not sample for bacteria again until June 13, publishing those results unlike the prior ones."

UAB hits the road this weekend where the Blazers were 3-3 last year in true road games.

Akron (0-1) is coming off a 42-3 loss at Illinois in its season opener.

Who: UAB (1-0) at Akron (0-1)
Where: InfoCision Stadium - Akron, Ohio

WHAT TO WATCH FOR:

• The Blazers will look to turn around their recent misfortunes on the road in Week 2. Since the return in 2017, UAB has played on the road in Week 2 and is 0-2 in those contests.

• Spencer Brown is 185 yards away from becoming UAB's career leading rusher. He currently has 2,633 career yards and ranks seventh nationally amongst active career leading rushers.

• Brown also needs one more 100-yard rushing performance to set the school record in that category. He and current NFL quarterback Joe Webb are tied with 12 apiece.

• The Blazer defense ranked second nationally a season ago in third down defense and got off to a good start against Alabama State, holding the Hornets to just 3-of-15.

• UAB also tallied three sacks and seven TFL last Thursday, which is close to what the Blazers averaged last season when they set the school record with 48 sacks and 111 tackles for loss.

• Quarterback Tyler Johnston III is now 5-1 as a starter for UAB. Johnston III threw for one touchdown and added another one on the ground against ASU. For his career, he has 12 passing touchdowns and five rushing touchdowns.

• Garrett Marino is the reigning Conference USA Defensive Player of the Week after tallying a career-high and team-best nine tackles against Alabama State.

• UAB introduced nine new defensive starters last week, including safety Will Boler who made the game-clinching interception with less than a minute to go. Boler also added four tackles and a pass breakup in his first career start.

• UAB's offensive line, which had four new starters last week, allowed zero sacks and helped the Blazers rush for 176 yards on the ground.

• Akron is playing its home opener under first year head coach Tom Arth. The Zips are coming off a 42-3 loss at Illinois. Junior quarterback Kato Nelson was 10-of-24 for 122 yards against the Illini, while sophomore linebacker Bubba Arslanian led the team with 11 tackles and a sack.

Following Akron, UAB has a bye week before returning to Legion Field to host in-state foe South Alabama for the first time in program history.

The game on Sept. 21 is scheduled for 2:30 p.m. on NFL Network.

7 p.m. on SHOW
Movie: Rust Creek

Adapted from a story by Stu Pollard, Jen McGowan's harrowing 2019 indie thriller stars Hermione Corfield in a raw and gutsy lead performance as Sawyer Scott, an overachieving college senior who is thrust into a nightmare scenario. En route to a job interview, Sawyer takes a wrong turn and winds up lost and stranded deep in the remote Kentucky woods. There, she faces both natural menaces and lethal danger from some outlaws. Jay Paulson and Sean O'Bryan also star.

8 p.m. on FOOD
Diners, Drive-Ins and Dives

Unexpected ingredients are the unifying theme in a new episode "Full of Surprises" which opens with host Guy Fieri at a culinary pub in Santa Fe, N.M., where the fare includes lamb neck (that's not a typo) and tamales. Not to be outdone, a funky tapas joint in Kansas City, Mo., dishes up duck-tongue tacos and braised pork jowl, while in El Paso, Texas, an unconventional deli serves killer fries made from chickpeas.

9 p.m. on WBIQ
Live From Lincoln Center

Breathtaking natural beauty and exquisite music-making share the focus in the new 90-minute episode "ODYSSEY Chamber Music Society in Greece," which takes the virtuoso musicians of the Chamber Music Society of Lincoln Center to the country that often is cited as the birthplace of the classical ideal. The group performs works that embody the essence of classical music, including Felix Mendelssohn's Octet in E-flat major, Op. 20, in such iconic Greek settings as the First Ancient Theatre of Larissa and the historic Church of the Taxiarchon in Pelion.

9 p.m. on SHOW
Couples Therapy

The creative team behind this new docu-series hope viewers can set aside the nonsense they're used to seeing on reality shows about love and dating while watching their nine-episode weekly series, which they insist is "true documentary filmmaking." Each episode takes the format of therapy sessions with four couples, with therapist Dr. Orna Guralnik guiding couples through a complex minefield of confrontations with each other, as well as personal epiphanies.

9:03 p.m. on HIST
The UnXplained

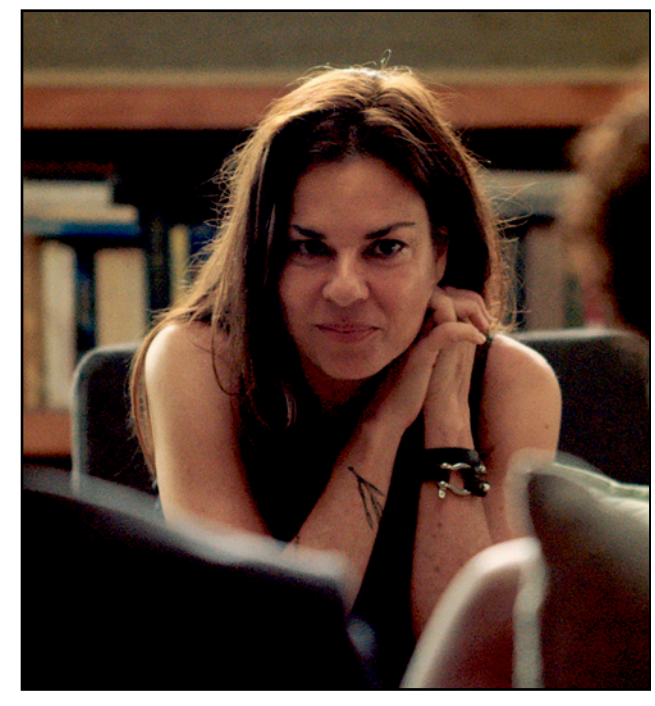

Host William Shatner closes out Season 1 of this series that explores the uncanny with an hour devoted to "Incredible Survivors," lucky people who cheated death by squeaking through a life-threatening situation. Whether it's a skydiver who plummets thousands of feet when her parachutes fail to open, yet sustains only non-critical injuries, or a person in crisis who suddenly yet inexplicably performs a superhuman act to escape, their stories defy belief.

10 p.m. on COM
Good Talk With Anthony Jeselnik

The successful stand-up comic and former writer for "Late Night With Jimmy Fallon" hosts this new comedy-interview show in which he sits down for a half-hour of conversation with one of his friends, who include some of the brightest names in comedy. His guest for the series premiere is actor, comic and voice artist Nick Kroll, whose credits include "The League," "Kroll Show," "Parks and Recreation" and the upcoming "The Addams Family" animated movie comedy. Future episodes will feature David Spade, Natasha Leggero and Kumail Nanjiani, among others.

10 p.m. on HBO
A Black Lady Sketch Show

Among the sketches in "Born at Night, But Not Last Night," the Season 1 finale of this well-received new comedy show, two friends quickly come to rue their decision to visit a new black-owned restaurant, and a judge, bailiff, court reporter and attorneys celebrate their first all-black-lady courtroom. In another bit, a mother and daughter go toe-to-toe in the latest episode of "Get the Belt." Robin Thede, Ashley Black, Gabrielle Dennis and Quinta Brunson also star.

Dr. Orna Guralnik stars in "Couples Therapy" on Showtime.

HANCEVILLE, Ala. – The Evelyn Burrow Museum at Wallace State Community College announces dates and times for screenings of South Arts' 2019-2020 Southern Circuit Tour of Independent. The museum is a screening partner for the tour and will show six films starting this month. The filmmakers will attend the 6 p.m. screenings at the Burrow Center Recital Hall and will be available for discussions after each event.

The first film to be screened on Tuesday, Sept. 17 will be "Dusty Groove: The Sound of Transition," a collection of intimate narratives, akin to a record album of songs, about love, loss and our deep personal connection to music. Director Danielle Beverly is scheduled to attend the screening.

"The City That Sold America" will be shown on Tuesday, Oct. 29. The documentary tells about Chicago's impact on the advertising industry.

For the first time, the film explores how Chicago introduced groundbreaking, behavior-changing ideas like fast food chains, orange juice, soap operas, African-American beauty products, late night talk shows, toothpaste and Kleenex.

Mary Warlick, the film's executive producer, is scheduled to attend the screening.

"Well Groomed," a film about the world of competitive creative dog grooming, will be shown Thursday, Nov. 14. Following champion groomers and their gorgeous, vibrant dogs through a year in the life on the Technicolor competition circuit, "Well Groomed" explores an America not often portrayed in cinema. The film's director, Rebecca Stern, is scheduled to attend the screening.

On Tuesday, Feb. 4, "Community First, A Home for the Homeless" will be show. The film is about the Community First Village created for the homeless in Austin, Texas. "Community First, A Home for the Homeless" explores the heartbreaking events that cause homelessness, and the heartwarming stories of being welcomed into a nurturing environment where dignity and self-worth are restored. Layton Blaylock, the film's director, is scheduled to attend.

"Mossville: When Great Trees Fall" is a documentary about the devastating impact pollution has had in the town of Mossville, La., and one lifelong resident who promised his dying parents to fight the sprawling chemical companies swallowing up his neighborhood.

The screening will be held on Tuesday, March 10, with director Alexander Glustrom, producers Daniel Bennett, Katie Mathews, Catherine Rierson and executive producer Michelle Lanier scheduled to attend.

The final film in the series is "Who Will Write Our History," about secret archives created in the Warsaw Ghetto by a secret band of journalists, scholars, and community leaders who decided to fight back.

Led by historian Emanuel Ringelblum and known by the code name Oyneg Shabes, this clandestine group vowed to defeat Nazi lies and propaganda not with guns or fists but with pen and paper.

The film will be screened on Tuesday, April 21, with director Roberta Grossman scheduled to attend the screening.

All of the films will be screened in the Recital Hall of the Burrow Center for the Fine and Performing Arts. Times will be announced at a later date. Admission is free to all of the screenings.

Cullman mayor proclaims Family Day and Family Week

CULLMAN, Ala. – "The simple, little things you do with your kids make a big difference." That's a quote from the website CASAFamilyDay.org, a site devoted to celebrating the importance of family and to promoting Family Day, a day set aside each year to celebrate the positive influence parents have on their kids.

On Thursday, Sept. 5, 2019 Cullman Mayor Woody Jacobs officially proclaimed the fourth Monday in September (Sept. 30, 2019) FAMILY DAY in the City of Cullman. He also proclaimed the entire week of Sept. 29 through Oct. 5, 2019 as FAMILY WEEK. On hand to accept the proclamation was Kenneth Paschal, President of ALFRA (Alabama Family Rights Association).

In the proclamation, Jacobs stated, "Children are our future and society's greatest asset, and committed families shape and guide children by preparing them for obstacles and encouraging them to overcome life's demanding challenges."

Statistics show that children who spend significant time with both parents show lower risks of suicide, dropout, teen pregnancy, incarceration, and drug above.

However, approximately 40,000 children in Alabama alone see one parent for only two to six days a month.

"Strong families with concerned and involved parents are so important," said Jacobs. "Government can only do so much, but people like Kenneth Paschal and groups like ALFRA and CASA (Center on Addiction and Substance Abuse) work tirelessly to increase awareness of the importance of strong families to the health of our communities."

On Family Day and during Family Week, parents are encouraged to spend time with their families and participate in activities to honor and strengthen families in our community and throughout the state.

Simple activities like sharing a meal, having a conversation, or reading a book together can have an enormous impact on the life of a child and create a solid foundation for the future health and happiness of that child.

Other suggestions include:

- Eating dinner together as a family and using conversation starters.
- Playing games that involve the whole family.
- Hosting a potluck at church or organizing a community block party.
- Attending a movie night at the park.

In order to further increase awareness, parents can post pictures on social media of their Family Day or Family Week activities using the hashtags #MyFamilySelfie or #FamilyDayAL19.

For more information, visit CASAFamilyDay.org for tips on how to talk with children about the perils of drug use and for information on creating a warm and supportive relationship with their children. The site ALFRA.org/family-day also has information on Family Day and Family Week.

MONTGOMERY, Ala. – Gov. Kay Ivey has awarded a $686,265 grant to support an organization that aids victims of domestic violence and sexual assault in Cullman and Winston Counties.

Victim Services of Cullman, Inc. will use the grant funds to continue providing services to victims including temporary shelter, counseling, court advocacy, a 24-hour crisis line and assistance with jobs, education and housing.

"Domestic violence and sexual assault victims deserve to receive assistance that helps them find safe places to escape their abusers, navigate the legal system and begin rebuilding their lives," Ivey said. "I commend the staff members and volunteers of Victim Services of Cullman for their diligent work to assist those seeking help in Cullman and Winston counties."

The Alabama Department of Economic and Community Affairs is administering the grant from funds made available to the state by the U.S. Justice Department.

"ADECA stands with Gov. Ivey in supporting organizations that assist victims of abuse," ADECA Director Kenneth Boswell said. "Our partnerships with these organizations help victims have access to the assistance they need in a timely manner."

ADECA administers an array of programs supporting law enforcement and traffic safety, economic development, energy conservation, water resource management and recreation development.

Ivey notified Erin Dover, Victim Services of Cullman Inc. board president, that the grant had been approved. Matching funds of $171,566 will supplement the grant.

Cullman Regional files CON application for expansion project

Lindsey Dossey
Cullman Regional

CULLMAN, Ala. – The Health Care Authority of Cullman County/ Cullman Regional Board of Directors announced Thursday that they have officially filed an Alabama Certificate of Need (CON) application for the proposed expansion project announced in June. The $30 million expansion to the current facility, if approved, will increase the capacity of the Critical Care Unit (ICU) by 50%, increase the capacity of the Emergency Department by 50%, reduce the usage of semi-private rooms throughout the facility and add an outpatient behavioral health treatment program.

"Cullman Regional continues to see a growing number of patients through the Emergency Department," said Board Chair Beth Anderson. "Last year, the ER provided care for nearly 50,000 patients in a facility built to care for up to 40,000 annually. Many of these patients are sicker and require a higher-level of care which is provided best in our critical care unit (ICU). Therefore, we need a solution that allows more critically-ill patients access to critical care beds more quickly."

The expansion plans include:

- Increase the number of Critical Care Beds (CCU) from 12 to 18
- Expand the current Emergency Room Facility from 21 exam rooms and 3 behavior health treatment rooms to 30 exam rooms and 8 behavior health treatment rooms
- Create an Outpatient Behavioral Health Program
- Hospital-wide infrastructure upgrades to accommodate the additional capacity

"In order for us to more effectively and efficiently provide care for all patients coming to us for treatment, these upgrades to our current facility are necessary," Cullman Regional CEO James Clements said. "Particularly the need for more effective treatment options for our behavioral health patients is needed in order to prevent continuous readmissions of those patients."

Cullman Regional's Emergency Department provided medical care to more than 1,000 behavioral health patients in 2018. Caring for behavioral health patients is a national, state and local issue that is not unique to Cullman County.

With an addition of an eight-bed behavioral health unit in the emergency department combined with an outpatient behavioral health program, Cullman Regional hopes to provide care for patients in our community that consistently face barriers to receiving behavioral health care.

The overall facility will receive an infrastructure upgrade in order to accommodate the additional capacity.

The infrastructure upgrade will include the expansion of the onsite power plant by approximately 1,100 square feet, replacement of the cooling towers, addition of two new chillers, addition of new elevator controls and modification of remaining two service elevators to allow them to access all levels of the hospital.

"The administrative team began reducing the use of semi-private rooms in the fourth quarter of 2018 and has only utilized them during high-census periods, when more patients are being admitted. By reallocating those beds and expanding our ICU, we will be able to care for more critically-ill patients."

The benefits of the expansion include:

- Reduction in semi-private room usage house wide
- Expansion of emergency room capacity from 40,000 to 60,000 annually
- Better access to the highest level of care for the sickest patients
- Better access to outpatient behavioral health treatment for our community
- Upgrades existing infrastructure to make it more sustainable for the future.

If approved, anticipated construction will begin in the third quarter of 2020. Phase 1 of construction will include the expansion of the Emergency Department; Phase 2 will include infrastructure improvements and Phase 3 will be the addition of the critical care beds which will be a ground floor to fourth floor expansion of the west units of the current facility.
