Complacency often leads to treestand, firearms accidents

David Rainer
Ala. Dept. of Conservation and Natural Resources

The Alabama Wildlife and Freshwater Fisheries (WFF) Division's Hunter Education Program wants to teach old hunters new safety tricks. Actually, these are not new safety tricks, but experienced hunters seem to be failing to follow them, according to last year's hunting accident reports.

During the 2018-2019 hunting seasons, 15 treestand accidents were reported, and more than half of those individuals were age-exempt from having to complete a hunter education course. Of the five who did take the hunter ed course, all under the age of 40, only one of those was wearing a full-body harness when the accident occurred.

"That full-body harness probably saved his life or saved him from serious injuries," said Marisa Futral, Hunter Education Program coordinator. "He fell asleep in his stand, but he lived to see another day. He did everything he was supposed to do, excluding the falling out of the tree part.

"Three of the 15 accidents were fatalities. Still, a lot of these injuries could have been prevented with a full-body harness."

For those born on or after Aug. 1, 1977, must complete the hunter education course before they can purchase a hunting license. However, Futral urges everyone who plans to pursue game this fall to take the hunter ed course.

"Even if you are grandfathered in, there's always something you can learn," she said. "I've noticed over the years that it is the hunters who don't have to take the course are the ones having the accidents.

"I think the mentality is they've been hunting their whole life and get complacent. But those older hunters could learn a lot by taking the hunter education course, which is a lot more than firearms safety. The No. 1 hunting accident is falling out of trees. That is covered extensively in the hunter ed class."

Of the three fatalities, none were wearing a full-body harness. Two of the fatalities were using climbing stands, while the other was in a hang-on stand.

The accident reports indicated one fatality occurred when the hunter was using a climbing stand and was about 21 feet off the ground when the straps on the stand broke.

The other fatality using a climbing stand also fell 21 feet when rusty connectors broke as he was sitting in the stand.

"One of the problems is that people aren't inspecting their equipment before they climb," Futral said. "You cannot leave your stands in the woods all year and expect them to be safe."

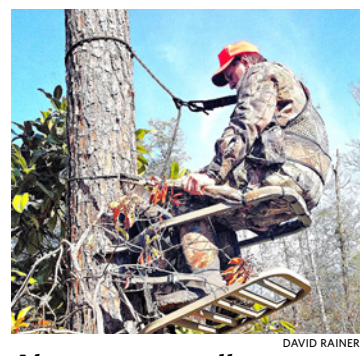

The hunter who was using the hang-on was killed when he apparently fell as he climbed into the stand.

"If they had been wearing full-body harnesses, they would probably still be alive," Futral said.

Futral also stresses that hunters should be connected to the tree in some way when they are climbing and descending the tree. Several accidents have occurred when hunters have been wearing safety harnesses but fell going up or coming down the tree. Several products are available that keep hunters attached to the tree at all times.

Of the non-fatal treestand accidents, the 11 who were not wearing full-body harnesses suffered a variety of injuries, including broken bones and internal injuries.

"Again, the guy who wore a harness had no major injuries," Futral said. "You don't have to suffer the consequences of a major injury."

DAVID RAINER

Always use a pull-up rope to raise your firearm into your hunting stand. Always keep a safety line attached to your full-body harness when you are climbing up and down a tree. Always be aware of what is downrange beyond your target before firing.

CULLMAN, Ala. – In partnership with Kimberly, Alabama-based fitness center 10-41 Strength & Conditioning, the Cullman Wellness & Aquatic Center (CWAC) has started a new class called GOTOWORK (GTW).

Formerly referred to as Iron Ethos by CWAC, the GTW class and its programming and progress are now managed by 10-41. Specifically, 10-41's Jeff Hannah and Strength & Conditioning Doctor of Physical Therapy Courtney Green.

Hannah holds the following certifications: USAW Sports Performance Coach Level 1, ISSA Specialist in Strength and Conditioning, ISSA Plyometrics to enhance SQS (strength – quickness-speed), ISSA developing power and speed in sports and ISSA Specialist in Sports Nutrition.

He has more than 17 years of strength and conditioning experience with athletes from 8 years of age to the professional level.

"Our class appeals to any individual that is seeking to become a better version of themselves regardless of age.

"10-41's mission is to develop a superior fitness facility capable of producing science-based client results through the utilization of a professional athlete treatment and training environment," said Green.

"Our vision is we are committed to enriching our local communities by providing unparalleled fitness and education programs, services, and facilities that promote physical, social and emotional health and wellness."

When asked how this class will benefit Cullman, she said, "10-41 Strength & Conditioning is the first in the state of Alabama to combine a certified strength coach and a full-time physical therapist at the amateur level just like at the professional level.

"With that being said, we offer a unique way of treatment and training to all that 10-41 reaches."

Of 10-41's history, Green said, "10-41 Strength & Conditioning is a strength and conditioning-based workout company who focuses on Olympic lifting, strength building, mobility, stability, core, conditioning, nutrition and physical therapy.

"Our class will focus more on training the class like athletes at the professional level of sports. Our theories are based on what we call S.R.A. (Stimulus Recovery Adaptation) which will definitely push you past your limits. We have to induce enough of (Stimulus) to make the body adapt; then when it adapts, it needs recovery. This will allow the body to progress forward with very few steps backwards.

"Our class will be very demanding and will require those involved to give it every ounce of effort. The class will not be for everyone and we know that, but what we have to offer goes well beyond what you can imagine.

"The class will be very difficult at times, but there will also be days we use active recovery style workouts or just technique training. Our motto is 'Professional treatment and training at the amateur level.'"

Class rates:

- Individual or couple add-on: $49/person for 12-month add-on; $56/person
- for 6-month add-on
- Family add-on: $112/family (3 or more)

WSCC Athletics: Goodwin finishes All-Tournament in Dan York Memorial Tournament; volleyball, cross country updates

Russell Moore
WSCC

HANCEVILLE, ALA. – Wallace State's men's golf program takes pride in hosting the first tournament of each fall season.

This week's Dan York Memorial Tournament at Musgrove Country Club in Jasper carried additional meaning for the Lions.

Wallace State sophomore Carter Goodwin made the All-Tournament team, finishing tied for third, and the Lions placed fifth overall in an event honoring York, the late Wallace State Hall of Fame golf coach.

The tournament's name was switched from the Wallace State Fall Invitational to the Dan York Memorial Tournament after York died from cancer in February.

"Renaming this tournament keeps coach York with us. He always enjoyed hosting the first tournament of a new fall season and was excited to see all of the new and returning faces. The friendships that were built from this tournament were important to him," said Wallace State golf coach Sylas Elliott.

"It's tough on all of us that he's not around, but I know he would be very pleased with the number of teams that participated. It keeps him present among us."

A tournament-record 11 teams participated in Wallace State's fall kickoff – a 54-hole event.

Goodwin, a Spain Park graduate, carded a 4-under par 209 (68-69-72), notching his first All-Tournament recognition at Wallace State. He tied with Central Alabama's Dylan Moncus.

Allen Michael Burnett tied for seventh overall for Wallace State, finishing with an even-par 213 (67-71-75) in his first collegiate tournament.

Burnett's 67 on the opening 18 holes tied two others for the best mark that round.

Sophomore Hunter McKelvy and freshmen Alex Flint and Patrick Minor each shot a 12-over 225 for the Lions.

As a unit, Wallace State finished with a 15-over 867 (289-289-289).

The Dan York Memorial Tournament results can be found here: http://golfstat.com/2019-2020/men/mtourfl19/M2328.pdf

WSCC ATHLETICS

Accidents (from Front)

ucation stresses the following 11 guidelines for using a treestand safely:

1. Always wear a safety harness, also known as a fall-arrest system, when you are in a treestand, as well as when climbing into or out of a treestand. Statistics show that the majority of treestand incidents occur while climbing in and out of a stand.

2. A safety strap should be attached to the tree to prevent you from falling more than 12 inches.

3. Always inspect the safety harness for signs of wear or damage before each use.

4. Follow all manufacturers' instructions for use of a safety harness and stand.

5. Follow the three-point rule of treestand safety. Always have three points of contact to the steps or ladder before moving. This could be two arms and one leg holding and stepping on the ladder or one arm and two legs in contact with the ladder before moving. Be cautious that rain, frost, ice or snow can cause steps to become extremely slippery. Check the security of the step before placing your weight on it.

6. Always hunt with a plan and, if possible, a buddy. Before you leave home, let others know your exact hunting location, when you plan to return and who is with you.

7. Always carry emergency signal devices such as a cell phone, walkie-talkie, whistle, signal flare, PLD (personal locator device) and flashlight at all times and within reach even while you are suspended in your fall-arrest system. Watch for changing weather conditions. In the event of an incident, remain calm and seek help immediately.

8. Always select the proper tree for use with your treestand. Select a live, straight tree that fits within the size limits recommended in your treestand's instructions. Do not climb or place a treestand against a leaning tree.

9. Never leave a treestand installed for more than two weeks since damage could result from changing weather conditions and/or from other factors not obvious with a visual inspection.

10. Always use a haul line to pull up your gear and unloaded firearm or bow to your treestand once you have reached your desired hunting height. Never climb with anything in your hands or on your back. Prior to descending, lower your equipment on the opposite side of the tree.

11. Always know your physical limitations. Don't take chances. Do not climb when impaired by drugs, alcohol or if you're sick or unrested. If you start thinking about how high you are, stop climbing.

Alabama hunters also had several firearms-related accidents during the 2018-2019 season with three fatalities and two non-fatal incidents.

Two of the fatalities were self-inflicted. One was in a shooting house when the accident happened. The other occurred when the hunter fell, and his handgun discharged. One fatality occurred when a hunter was mistaken for game.

One of the two non-fatal accidents happened during a dove-hunting outing. The shooter covered another hunter while swinging on a dove. Failure to check beyond the target, a deer, resulted in the second non-fatal accident.

When I write about having a safe and enjoyable hunting season, I always list the 10 commandments of firearms safety:

1. Treat every firearm as if it is loaded.

2. Control the muzzle of your firearm. Keep the barrel pointed in a safe direction; never point a firearm at anything that you do not wish to shoot and insist that your shooting and hunting companions do the same.

3. Be sure of your target and beyond. Positively identify your target before you fire, and make sure there are no people, livestock, roads or buildings beyond the target.

4. Never shoot at water or a hard, flat surface. A ricocheting bullet cannot be controlled.

5. Don't use a scope for target identification; use binoculars.

6. Never climb a tree, cross a fence or jump a ditch with a loaded firearm.

7. Store guns and ammunition separately. Store firearms under lock and key and use a gun case to transport firearms.

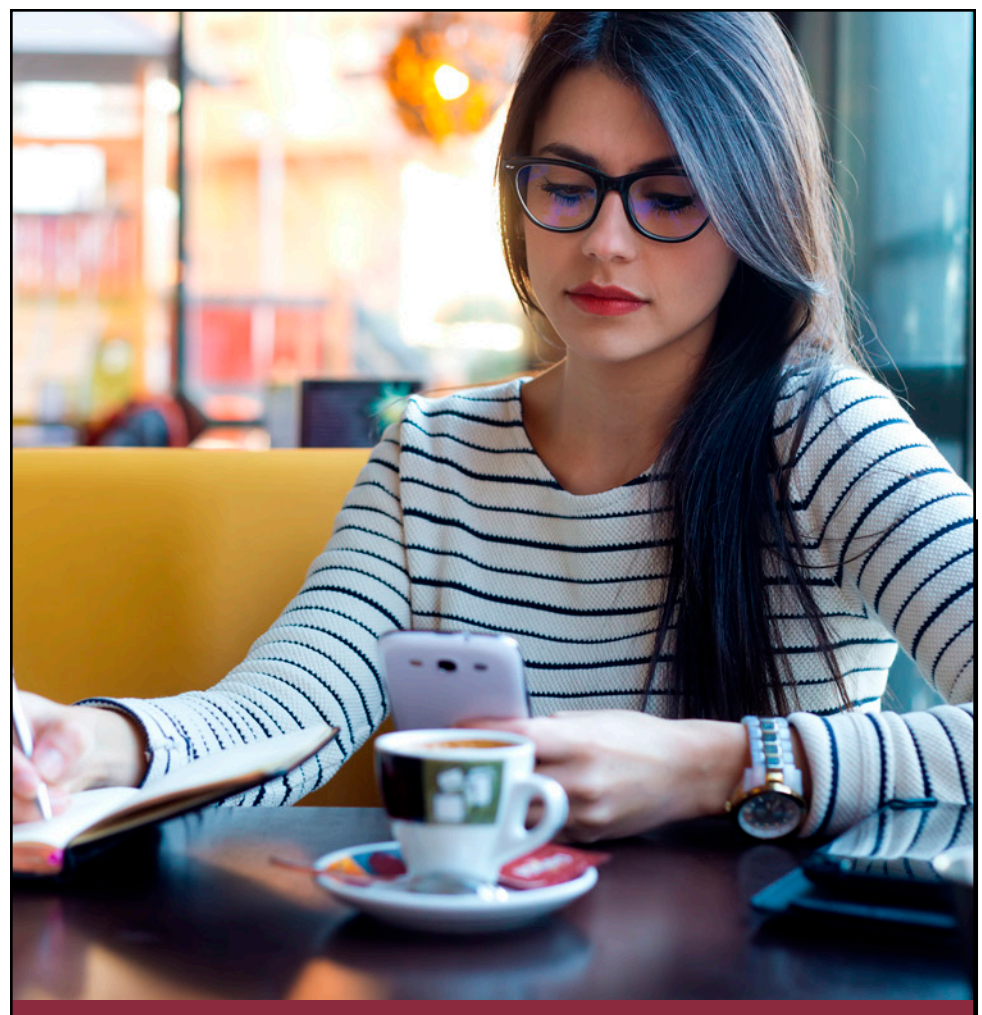

8. Make sure your barrel and action are clear of all obstructions.

9. Unload firearms when not in use. Never take someone else's word that a firearm is unloaded. Check yourself.

10. Avoid drugs and alcohol when hunting or shooting. Even some over-the-counter medicines can cause impairment.

Even if you've been hunting all your life, Futral urges both experienced hunters and young hunters to complete the hunter education course for a variety of reasons.

"You don't have to wait until you're 16 to take the hunter education course," Futral said. "You can take it as early as 10. Don't wait until the last minute. For the older hunters, there's always something they can learn. You may have been hunting all your life, but there may be one bit of information that you hadn't thought about that could save your life. Take a young person to hunter ed class and sit in with them. It'll be a good experience for both."

Dodge City sets date for bridge project bids

maggie@cullmantribune.com

DODGE CITY, Ala. – The Dodge City Town Council Thursday night voted to move its October meeting back one week from Oct. 10 to Oct. 3, when the Town will open bids for the CR 216 – Bridge Culvert Replacement Project.

The project will see the replacement of the drainage structure under County Road 216/Beech Grove Road at Simpson Creek. The existing bridge culvert will be replaced with a triple barrel 10"x5" box culvert. A slight adjustment will be made to the alignment of the stream flowing from the north on the east side of County Road 216. It will also see temporary construction of an easement and optional drainage easements from property owners affected by the construction. Mayor Tawana Canada said she spoke with Sen. Garlan Gudger, R-Cullman about the project. According to Canada, Gudger said an Alabama Transportation Rehabilitation and Improvement Program-II (ATRIP-II) grant could potentially pay for almost the entirety of the bridge project.

ATRIP-II money is the state's portion of the new fuel tax revenue that will be awarded to chosen applicants by the ATRIP-II Committee. Gudger sits on the eight-person ATRIP-II Committee. The approximate cost of the project is $75,000 to $125,000.

Canada said, "I've been talking to Sen. Gudger, there is an ATRIP grant that possibly will pay the total amount of the bridge. "He is on the committee, so he's assuring me that he will give it everything he has to push it through. We filled out the appropriate paperwork."

New Town Deputy David Pitts reported the ACE Hardware in Dodge City was burglarized the weekend before Labor Day.

Lastly, the council voted to suspend the rules in order to vote on purchasing a new computer for Canada for an estimated $662. The purchase was approved.

The Dodge City Town Council normally meets on the second Thursday of each month. The next scheduled council meeting is Oct. 3 at 6:30 p.m.

Ivey announces report ranks Alabama no. 1 for jobs from foreign investment in 2018

Office of Gov. Kay Ivey
Contributor

MONTGOMERY, Ala. – Gov. Kay Ivey on Thursday announced that a highly respected survey of international corporate investment decisions from experts at IBM Services names Alabama as the top U.S. state for job creation from foreign investment in 2018.

Alabama also scored high rankings in other metrics related to foreign investment in the 2019 Global Location Trends report, prepared by IBM-Plant Location International, which provides site selection services to corporate clients and advises economic development organizations.

Key findings in this year's installment of the closely monitored report are:

- Alabama is the No. 1 state in the U.S. based on new job creation from foreign investments announced during 2018.
- Alabama is also No. 1 for foreign investment job creation per million inhabitants in 2018.
- Alabama ranks No. 7 among the states for job creation from foreign and domestic (state-to-state) investment together.
- Alabama is No. 2 for job creation per million inhabitants from foreign and domestic investment combined.

"Foreign investment has been an important driver of job creation in Alabama for many years, and it continues to generate significant new opportunities for communities and working families around the state," Ivey said.

"Our economic development team has worked tirelessly to strategically position Alabama for investment from around the world, and this ranking validates the team's diligence."

The 2019 Global Location Trends report will be officially released later this month.

Officials at IBM-PLI's Center of Excellence in Brussels, Belgium, notified the Alabama Department of Commerce of the upcoming report's findings days ago.

Alabama is coming off a record year for foreign investment, totaling $4.2 billion in 2018, the highest annual tally ever.

According to data from the Alabama Department of Commerce, companies from 16 different countries launched Alabama projects with more than 7,500 new jobs last year.

The momentum has continued into 2019. This week, Hyundai Motor Manufacturing Alabama announced plans to invest an additional $292 million in new machinery and equipment to facilitate the production of redesigned Hyundai Elantra and Santa Fe vehicles and a new, more fuel-efficient Theta engine at its plant in Montgomery.

The Montgomery Area Chamber of Commerce said Hyundai's new investment in Alabama totals $680 million over the past two years, strengthening the company's presence in the Capital City and demonstrating its confidence in the area's ability to support a growing workforce.

Greg Canfield, secretary of the Alabama Department of Commerce, said foreign investment typically represents 30 to 50 percent of the total new capital investment from economic development projects in Alabama each year.

"Foreign investment continues to invigorate Alabama's economy and spark dynamic growth across many industry sectors, from automotive to aerospace and chemicals to forest products," Sec. Canfield said.

"It's a priority for us as a state to continue to build on relationships we have formed with international companies and to make sure we are at the top of their list for new investment and job creation."

HANCEVILLE, Ala. – Students Colton Hunter and Kason Hitt were recognized Thursday by the Hanceville City Council and Mayor Kenneth Nail. The two boys went above and beyond to help other students at Hanceville Elementary School by setting up a lemonade stand over the summer.

The boys, both second graders at Hanceville Elementary, wanted to help less fortunate students by raising money for lunch fees. They decided that a lemonade stand would be a great way to do that, so they set up one day at Hanceville City Hall. The community showed up to support these young philanthropists and the boys raised an impressive $1,194.

Nail presented the two boys with official proclamations recognizing their "charitable spirit and effort helping those in need."

"This is a credit to their moms and dads," said the mayor. "These two fellas seen there was a need and they opened up a lemonade stand." Nail asked the boys if helping others gave them a great feeling and the boys, both flashing huge smiles, nodded yes.

Colton Hunter is the son of Cody and Khali Hunter. When he isn't in school or working to help others, he enjoys basketball, baseball, soccer and racing remote-controlled cars.

Kason Hitt is the son of Kevin and Valerie Hitt. He enjoys basketball, baseball, shooting his bow and arrow and racing remote-controlled cars. Kason Hitt laughed after the presentation saying he thought he might be getting a key to the city. Both boys described the experience as "exciting" and said they hope to continue giving back to their classmates and the city of Hanceville.

Voting (from Front)

According to a media release from the office of Alabama Sec. of State John Merrill, after it is verified that a voter's disability prevents his or her attendance at the polls, the voter will be placed on a permanent absentee voter list and will automatically be mailed disabled voter absentee ballots before each election within the calendar year.

The voter's application for an absentee ballot is good through the end of the calendar year in which the application is filed.

If an election continues into the following year, the application is valid for the entire election cycle.

"I would like to commend Rep. Victor Gaston, R-Mobile and Sen. Vivian Figures, D-Mobile for their dedication in making this possible," said Merrill.

"We want all eligible Alabamians to be able to participate in the electoral process without impediments.

"We must do everything we can to remove these boundaries in order to make voting as easy as possible."

Following the enactment of Alabama Act 2019-507, a valid form of photo identification must be presented at the time a voter applies for an absentee ballot.

7 p.m. on LIFEMOV
Movie: Dating a Sociopath

If it's true that trouble comes in threes, poor Jane (Hannah Vandenbygaart) had better watch her back in this 2019 melodrama. She's recently gone through two devastating experiences, the trauma of seeing her parents' long marriage collapse, followed by her own near-fatal car accident. Now, as she recovers from her injuries, Jane starts to fret that Mom's new boyfriend seems a little too charming to be real. Jessalyn Gilsig and Jon Cor also star.

8 p.m. on WTTO
Peaking

This new half-hour docu-series — which premieres tonight with two back-to-back episodes — presents intimate, surprisingly candid portraits of athletes, told in their own words and experienced from their perspective during the 72-hour period immediately before, during and after a landmark event in their careers. The opener focuses on supercross star James Stewart as he prepares to make his comeback after being banned from competition for 16 months. Immediately following that, Swedish cross-country mountain bike rider Jenny Rissveds reflects on her first race on the big stage.

8 p.m. on WABM2
Reef Break

Much like its main character, Cat Chambers (Poppy Montgomery), this engaging summer action drama from Down Under deserves points for audacity. ABC still hasn't announced whether a Season 2 is in the cards, but that hasn't stopped the cast and producers from delivering a cliffhanger of a Season 1 finale, "Endgame." The story finds Cat on the run and fearing for her life. Expect hearts to be broken and multiple fates to hang in the balance. Ray Stevenson and Desmond Chiam co-star.

8 p.m. on FOOD
Diners, Drive-Ins and Dives

Host Guy Fieri goes searching high and low for taste-bud ticklers from across the spectrum in the new episode "Far-Flung Flavor," which starts at a Middle Eastern eatery offering juicy shawarma and salmon souvlaki in Santa Fe, N.M. Kansas City, Mo., is home to a funky spot that serves up some outrageously tasty Scandinavian specialties, while a family-run tortilla factory in El Paso, Texas, specializes in first-rate tamales and tostados.

9 p.m. on WBIQ
American Masters

He's best-known to millions for his deadpan movie work as Gomez Addams in "The Addams Family" and its sequel "Addams Family Values," but Broadway playgoers knew Raul Julia as a rising superstar of the American theater. In the new "Raul Julia: The World's a Stage," Ben DeJesus offers a warm and insightful portrait of the Puerto Rico-born thespian, who was only 54 when he died following a 1994 stroke. Interviews include such colleagues as Anjelica Huston, Rita Moreno, Edward James Olmos and James Earl Jones.

9 p.m. on SYFY
Killjoys

The fifth and final season of this sci-fi action dramedy, which has been delivering the thrills at a breakneck pace lately, hits its penultimate episode tonight with the new episode "Terraformance Anxiety." It finds the Lady's nefarious scheme — to alter the atmosphere of Westerly to accommodate her new master race — becoming a reality. That means that moon will be totally uninhabitable for humans, sending Dutch, John and D'avin (Hannah John-Kamen, Aaron Ashmore, Luke Macfarlane) scrambling to stop her.

10 p.m. on HBO
Room 104

From the fertile imaginations of sibling writer-directors Mark and Jay Duplass, this quirky anthology series — in which each episode revolves around characters who pass through the same room at a generic American chain motel — opens Season 3 with a premiere called "The Plot." Luke Wilson and Christine Woods ("Brockmire") star as an estranged brother and sister who reconnect at the site of their future joint investment. Macon Blair wrote and directed this episode.

"Raul Julia: The World's a Stage" airs on "American Masters" on PBS.

Vaping illness spreads to Alabama

AUBURN, Ala. – Alabama joins a rapidly growing number of states confronting reports of severe illness related to vaping. The Alabama Department of Public Health has announced investigations into five reports of potentially severe lung disease associated with e-cigarette use.

Adrienne Duke, a family and child development specialist with the Alabama Cooperative Extension System, said the Sept. 6 report from the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC) identified 450 possible cases of the lung disease—all linked to vaping.

"Alabama was not among the 33 states mentioned in that report," Duke said. "But given the most recent information from the ADPH that will likely change when the next CDC report comes out."

Six deaths linked to the lung illness have been confirmed in California, Kansas, Illinois, Indiana, Minnesota and Oregon.

With the confirmation of cases in Alabama, Mississippi is the only state in the Southeast that has not reported any cases.

The CDC said the lung illnesses are likely from exposure to chemicals used in e-cigarettes.

E-cigarettes are battery-operated devices that include vapes, mods, JUULs, e-hookahs and vape pens.

These hand-held devices work by heating a cartridge containing liquid nicotine and other chemicals into a vapor.

Duke, who is also an Auburn University assistant professor of human development and family studies, warns that young people have relatively easy access to e-cigarettes and are vaping in higher numbers than some adults might suspect.

"The ease with which pre-teens and teens are obtaining these products is very concerning," she said.

Duke points to the results of a recent national study of more than 1,000 12- to 17-year-olds.

- 74% of teens reported they obtained a JUUL from a physical store or retail outlet.
- 52% reported they acquired a JUUL from a social source, such as a friend or family member
- 6% bought a JUUL from the internet

"Minors are easily able to purchase e-cigarettes from the Internet," said Duke. "That's because many Internet e-cigarette vendors do not use age-verification measures.

"Some teens borrow vaping devices if they don't own one themselves and haven't been able to purchase them because of age restrictions. Every state law is different regarding the purchase of e-cigarettes."

2019 Alabama E-cigarette laws

- Legal purchase age: 19
- Banned on most University campuses

The Stringer-Drummond Vaping Act:

- Requires vape shops to have a tobacco permit.
- Prohibits advertising vape and other alternate nicotine products as a means to stop smoking or a healthy alternative to smoking.
- Requires the Alcoholic Beverage Control Board to regulate e-cigarettes and vape products.
- Restricts the in-store and on-line sale of alternative nicotine products and electronic nicotine delivery systems to minors.
- Arrests can be made for selling or giving anyone under the age of 19 e-cigarette products, with up to 30 days in jail, and a $100 to $300 fine.
- Prohibits advertising such products near schools and or opening vape shops within 1,000 feet of a school, childcare facility, church, youth center or public library, playground or park.
- Retailers and manufacturers may only advertise the flavors of tobacco, mint or menthol on outdoor billboards.

Duke offers these tips if you or your child is currently addicted to e-cigarettes, JUULS or any other device.

- Talk to your doctor
- Consider nicotine replacement therapies, including patches, lozenges, gum and other medications approved for the treatment of nicotine addiction, which may help with withdrawal symptoms.

Duke and Extension colleagues Leigh Akins and Sallie Hooker as well as Auburn University undergraduate research assistant Devin Van Cleave recently published a comprehensive article on the risks associated with vaping. Find it on the Alabama Extension website.
