(BONUS) PET OF THE WEEK

CULLMAN COUNTY ANIMAL SHELTER

Lily

W.C. Mann
craig@cullmantribune.com

CULLMAN, Ala. – Cullman County Animal Shelter Volunteer Donna Ruttkay introduces The Cullman Tribune (Bonus) Pet of the Week:

Lily is a 2-year-old boxer mix who was surrendered by her owner who can no longer care for her. She's a lively medium- to high-energy pet who's not fond of shelter life. She enjoys the shelter's large yard and craves opportunities to exercise in the fresh air.

Being an outdoor kind of pooch, Lily has the makings of a great walking/hiking or companion pet for an active person or family.

Discount doggie!

Lily was already spayed when her owner surrendered her, so her adoption fee will be greatly reduced. Check with shelter staff for details and exact cost.

Animal shelter staff and volunteers work with their dogs to make sure they are accustomed to being around people, walking on a leash and practicing good behavior. Several of the shelter's dogs have even been "hired" to work as therapy and special needs service dogs.

Please consider adopting, to give a rescued pet a chance at a happy and healthy life.

Contact the Cullman County Animal Shelter at 256-734-5448 or cullmancountyanimalshelter@gmail.com. Visit the shelter at 935 Convent Road NE.

Blazers Return home to host South Alabama Saturday afternoon

Ted Feeley
UAB Athletics

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. – The UAB football team looks to earn its 14th straight win at Legion Field this Saturday, Sept. 21, when the Blazers host South Alabama at 2:30 p.m. on NFL Network.

This is the first meeting in program history between the Blazers and the Jaguars. UAB is 2-0 and can extend the nation's seventh longest active home winning streak with a victory. South Alabama is 1-2 with losses to Nebraska and Memphis, and a victory over Jackson State.

UAB will participate in the Extra Yard for Teachers initiative in conjunction with the College Football Playoff this Saturday.

Who: UAB (2-0) vs. South Alabama (1-2)
Where: Legion Field - Birmingham, Ala.
When: Saturday, Sept. 21 - 2:30 p.m.
Watch: NFL Network
On the Call: Rhett Lewis (play-by-play), Max Starks (color), Molly Sullivan (sideline)
Listen: WJOX 94.5 FM
On the Call: David Crane (play-by-play), Steve Irvine (color), Trey Ragland (sideline)
Series: First Meeting

WHAT TO WATCH FOR

• Tyler Johnston III threw for 319 yards and four touchdowns in his last outing at Akron and was named the Conference USA Offensive Player of the Week. Johnston III is 6-1 as a starter and has thrown for over 300 yards in three of his seven career starts.

• Johnston's top three targets have been Austin Watkins Jr., Kendall Parham and Myron Mitchell. This trio has caught 355 of Johnston's 433 passing yards and all five of his touchdown passes. All three receivers are averaging over 20 yards per catch.

• Running back Spencer Brown is 150 yards away from becoming UAB's career leading rusher. Brown has 2,668 career rushing yards and 27 total touchdowns in 28 games.

• If Brown can go over 100 yards against South Alabama he would also become UAB's leader in career 100-yard rushing games. Brown has 12 such games to his credit which is tied with Joe Webb for the most in school history. Brown will also look for his first 100-yard game of the 2019 season on Saturday.

• The Blazers once again find themselves amongst one of the most disruptive defensive units in the nation. Entering the South Alabama game, UAB ranks top 10 nationally in sacks per game, tackles for loss per game and third down defense.

• Through their first two games, UAB has compiled eight sacks and 20 TFL. The Blazers' 10.0 TFL per game rank them sixth nationally, while their 4.0 sacks per game rank them ninth in the country.

• Additionally, UAB has held its first two opponents to just 7-of-31 on third down defense, which is seventh best in the country (.226). The Blazers finished second in this category a year ago.

• Outland Trophy Watch List member Garrett Marino is off to a tremendous senior campaign. Marino is tied for a team-high 13 tackles, while also compiling 2.5 TFL, 1.5 sacks, one forced fumble, one pass break up and two quarterback hurries.

• Along with Noah Wilder picking up a career-high 10 tackles at Akron, the UAB defense got a major boost from fellow linebacker Kristopher Moll who returned to action two weeks ago after missing the opening game of the season. The junior picked up eight tackles against Akron and looked impressive doing so. Moll sets his sights on a breakout campaign after tallying 54 tackles last season.

UAB looks for its first 3-0 start as Division I members this weekend.

Since returning to action in 2017, UAB has been the dominant team in Conference USA with a league-best 21-8 record. The Blazers enter Week 4 as one of 35 remaining unbeaten teams in the country.

Following South Alabama, UAB travels to WKU for its first C-USA game of the season.

The Blazers and Hilltoppers meet on Sept. 28 at 6 p.m. in Bowling Green, Ky., and the game can be seen on ESPN+.

CRIMSON TIDE IN THE NFL SPOTLIGHT

Former Alabama players continue their success on both sides of the ball

UA Athletics
Contributor

TUSCALOOSA, Ala. – The second week of the new season in the National Football League wrapped up on Monday. Below is a look at some of the week two highlights from former Crimson Tide players currently in the NFL.

Atlanta's wide receiver duo of Julio Jones and Calvin Ridley helped the Falcons to a 24-20 win over the Philadelphia Eagles. Ridley caught eight passes for 105 yards and a touchdown, while Jones tallied 106 yards on five catches and added two scores. Also standing out on offense was the Titans' Derrick Henry. The Tennessee running back continued his solid start to the season, carrying the ball 15 times for 81 yards and a touchdown.

Alabama's former defensive backs also had impressive individual performances, highlighted by Eddie Jackson of the Chicago Bears.

Jackson posted 10 tackles and two pass breakups in the Bears' Sunday win over the Broncos. Fellow safety Ronnie Harrison finished his afternoon ranked second in the Jaguars in tackles. Harrison combined for eight total tackles, including one sack, in Jacksonville's matchup with the Houston Texans.

In what turned out to be his final game with the Dolphins, Minkah Fitzpatrick recorded six total tackles and a fumble recovery before being traded to the Pittsburgh Steelers earlier this week.

Staying in the AFC East, Levi Wallace put together a big game for the Buffalo Bills. The second-year starter notched eight tackles and a pass breakup from his cornerback spot, helping the Bills to a 28-14 win over the New York Giants.

The Redskins group of former Alabama defenders also had a strong day against the Dallas Cowboys. Landon Collins led Washington in tackles with 12 stops, including a tackle for loss.

He was joined by former Crimson Tide standouts Shaun Dion Hamilton, Da'Ron Payne and Ryan Anderson, with the trio combining for 11 total tackles.

Gov. Ivey says she has lung cancer

Wendy Sack
wendy@cullmantribune.com

MONTGOMERY, Ala. – Gov. Kay Ivey on Thursday announced that she has lung cancer. She issued a statement to the media, printed below in full.

"Throughout my life, I am constantly reminded that I have so much for which to be thankful; God has been incredibly gracious to me.

"One of the highest honors you have given me is serving as your governor.

"Because I always shoot straight with you, I want to share a recent challenge that has been placed in front of me.

"Within the past few weeks, during a routine exam, my longtime family physician discovered a spot on my lung that was unusual. Additional tests confirmed that this was, indeed, a tiny, isolated malignancy.

"The good news is I am one of the fortunate ones where this was discovered early, and it is very treatable.

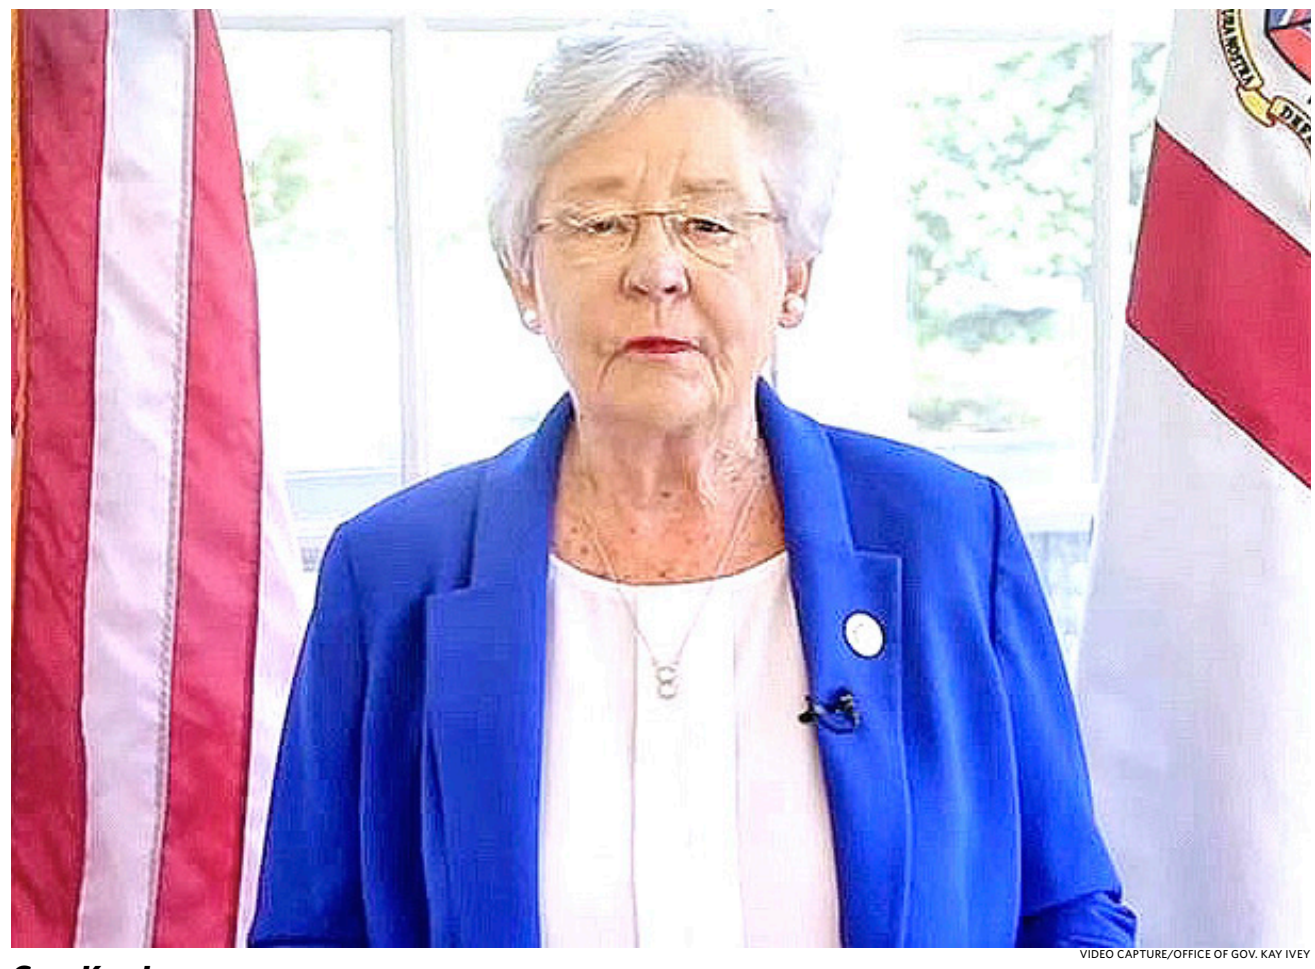

"The better news is Alabama is home to some of the world's leading physicians. My team of doctors have assured me this treatment has a very high rate of success and will have a minimal impact on my schedule.

"Tomorrow morning, I will travel to UAB for an outpatient procedure, which will allow me to soon begin a series of specialized radiation treatments.

"None of this will prevent me from continuing to serve as your governor and doing the work you elected me to do.

"Naturally, I welcome your prayers and your support. Just as so many others who have been affected by cancer, I am confident of God's plan and purpose for my life and feel extremely fortunate this was caught so early.

"May God continue to bless each of you and the great state of Alabama."

Asphalt Shingle Dr. Inc

Maggie Darnell

CONTRIBUTED

Asphalt Shingle Dr. Inc., a division of Roof Maxx, uses a soy-based treatment to extend the life of asphalt shingles, saving its thousands of dollars.

According to Marketing Director Ronald Gill, "Our company is geared toward extending the life of the most important, expensive, but the least maintained part of your home, your roof. Our main focus is to save the homeowners' money and keep their shingles functional and on the roof longer. Our second focus is to keep asphalt shingles out of our landfills. Right now, there are about 11 million tons of shingles put in the landfills each year."

The company's main office is in Cullman.

"Our main office is working out of Cullman and right now we're focusing on Cullman and surrounding areas like Hartselle, Decatur, Huntsville and Birmingham, but eventually we would like to have seven to eight offices that service the entire state of Alabama," said Gill.

"We feel that with a little time this will change the roofing industry for the better...keeping shingles on roofs longer and saving our customers thousands versus replacement cost."

He continued, "What makes our customers happy and coming back is after we've inspected the roof to ensure they're a candidate for RoofShampoo and Roof Maxx, it comes with a five-year warranty. We can apply Roof Maxx up to 15 years in three five-year increments at a cost of about 10-20% the cost of a new roof. New roofs cost anywhere from $250 to $550 per roofing square. Roof Maxx only costs $80 a roofing square. With the Roofmaxx alone, we realized although it does its job, there were still those ugly black streaks. We knew there was the soft wash system with bleach used for cleaning roofs, but we also learned that could dry your shingles faster and also cause corrosion to flashing, caulking, siding and colored bricks.

"Not to mention what bleach does to grass, flowers and shrubs. We found that RoofShampoo in an eco-friendly shampoo that does no harm to the roof, shrubs, grass, people or animals. Our customers realize the benefit of both treatments together, so we reward them with a hefty discount for choosing us for their home improvement needs."

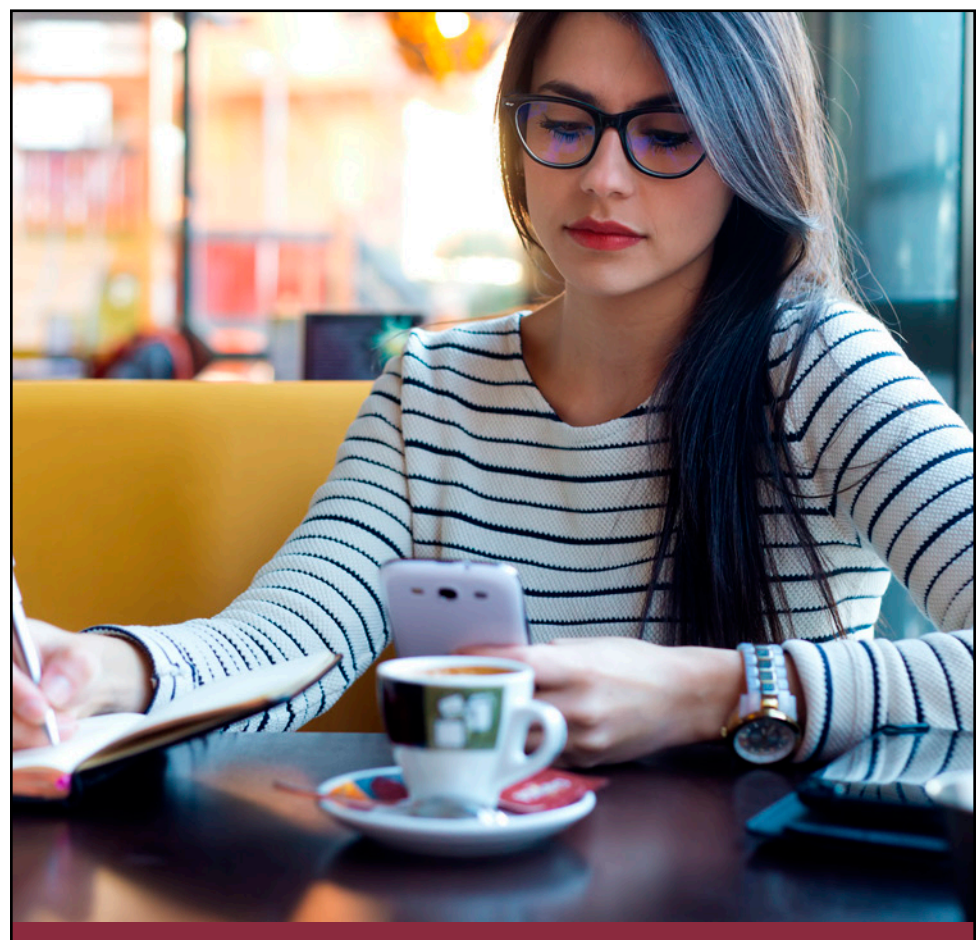

Gill said RoofShampoo immediately kills gloeocapsa magma, which is a blue-green algae (those ugly black streaks), moss and lichens.

"Our Roof Maxx treatment is for asphalt shingles. Shingles are made of fiberglass, waterproof asphalt, crushed limestone, petrol oil and ceramic. What happens is the UV rays dry the shingles out, they become brittle, began to curl and no longer are able to expand and contract during changing weather," he said.

"The shingles can no longer handle winds or hail the way they did when they were new. Roof Maxx is a food-grade soy methyl esther, that when sprayed on a roof immediately and up to 72 hours begins to gain its flexibility and pliability back.

"This allows the shingle to expand and contract. The seal tabs will reseal. They're able to function (like) when they were new."

When asked, "Why Cullman?" Gill said, "My longtime buddy and partner moved to Cullman about seven years ago. For those years all I heard was, 'This is God's country; you have to come up and visit.' Well, finally we did and fell in love with it. Been here ever since. Now we're in the process of buying a house. We then decided this would be the best place for this type of business. Right between Birmingham and Huntsville and all the great little towns in between."

Dollar General (from Front)

craig@cullmantribune.com

COLONY, Ala. – Dollar General quietly opened the doors of its newest Cullman County location Thursday morning, along Alabama Highway 91 just across Interstate 65 from the town of Colony. Colony Mayor Donnis Leeth has made securing a local franchise of the chain part of his platform since taking office in 2016.

The new store is located outside Colony's town limits, but Leeth said he is working with Dollar General to get the site annexed into the town. This location joins more than 15 others across Cullman County.

A Dollar General representative previously told The Tribune, "I think Dollar General's mindset is to make somebody have to pass a Dollar General on their way to Wal-Mart, at least once, so they'll stop."

According to Leeth, Colony's Dollar General expects to have an official grand opening in the next three weeks.

Stroke (from Front)

W.C. Mann
craig@cullmantribune.com

VINEMONT, Ala. – Stroke is the fifth most common cause of death in the United States, and one Cullman County veteran who survived an incident with circumstances being called miraculous is spreading the word to help others know how to recognize and respond to the condition.

Hanceville native Gerald "Gerry" Sandlin moved to Kansas before joining the Army to serve as a helicopter crewman with the 189th Assault Helicopter Company, 52nd Combat Aviation Battalion in Vietnam.

Ultimately, he and his wife Barbara ended up in a quiet country home in rural Cullman County near Vinemont.

As a soldier, he faced mortal danger in the air many times. The last time it happened, though, there were no bullets flying.

It was a stroke that almost grounded Sandlin for good, and a unique set of circumstances--that, to many observers, were too coincidental to be a coincidence--that saved his life.

First, what is a stroke?

According to StrokeAwareness.com, a stroke is an attack in which arteries in the brain burst or become blocked. The resulting lack of oxygen can kill brain cells, leading to impairment of speech, sight and mobility, and even death.

The condition can occur at any age: 20% of people who have a stroke are younger than 55, and the chance of stroke increases with age.

African-Americans, Hispanics and Asian/Pacific Islanders have a higher risk of stroke than people of other races.

Women are more likely to have a stroke than men, and more women die from stroke than from breast cancer every year. You are at greater risk if a family member has had a stroke.

Crisis in the air

On Feb. 13, 2018, Sandlin and his wife were on a Delta Airlines flight from Salt Lake City, Utah to Atlanta, on their way home from visiting family in Oregon. They were supposed to have flown in the day before, but their Feb. 12 flight was canceled for an unknown reason. That would become an important coincidence.

Somewhere over the Midwest, according to Sandlin, "I decided to have a stroke."

He began to feel odd and his vision was blurring. He turned to his wife, who had her own previous encounter with a stroke, and she saw the signs.

Barbara Sandlin stood up and announced, "I need help, and I need it now!"

Gerry Sandlin was suffering a particular form of stroke known as a basilar artery thrombosis, an aggressive arterial blockage that occurs at the top of the brainstem where oxygenated blood is distributed to much of the brain.

The mortality rate is 85%, and the few survivors often find themselves in a "locked-in" state of total paralysis.

Sandlin's only chance would be a fast response from people who knew exactly what they were doing.

Remember that coincidence thing?

Gerry Sandlin continued, "There were two doctors on board, no equipment or nothing. But they recognized it was a stroke; they talked to me at length and MedLink told them to get down as soon as possible, and suggested Memphis."

The one-day delay in their trip put Sandlin on a flight with a cardiologist and urologist, along with an Air Marshal.

On top of that, the order to land in Memphis, Tennessee--the closest airport along their route that could take their airliner--put them in a city with one of the best stroke response programs in the country.

There, the University of Tennessee Health Science Center operates a mobile stroke unit, a rolling emergency room specifically designed to respond to suspected strokes with equipment like an onboard CT scanner.

Said Gerry Sandlin, "It was lucky that I did go to Memphis. They have what they call a 'strokemobile.' It comes right out on the tarmac.

"The doctor and the paramedic came on board, got me off, threw me in the back of the strokemobile and did a CAT scan, relayed it to the surgeon, and also did a TPA (Tissue Plasminogen Activator, an injected medication designed to dissolve blood clots) right there on the tarmac before we ever left."

From there, Sandlin was taken to Methodist University Hospital in Memphis, where he spent only one night in intensive care before being transferred to a regular room.

Time is considered to be one of the most crucial factors in response to strokes, as with most medical emergencies. From the identification of the stroke on the flight to the beginning of treatment in the mobile unit, 38 minutes passed; half the time normally required for the beginning of treatment in places without such a unit.

When the physical therapy staff showed up at Sandlin's hospital room the next day to get him moving with the aid of a walker, the old soldier would have none of it.

He said, "She came in with a walker, and I jumped up and started walking. The hospital has five quadrangles, and I walked around the first quadrangle pulling her.

"I don't remember if we went another time or not, but anyway, before that day was over, I had been around all five quadrangles at least twice."

Sandlin spent the following day at the hospital doing interviews with television and newspaper reporters about his remarkable experience, before being released the day after that.

Today, Sandlin still travels and still flies to visit his children out west, as well as attending Vietnam veterans' reunions across the country as head of the 189th Assault Helicopter Company veterans' association. He and his wife have visited the hospital and mobile unit team in Memphis to thank them personally, and have photos of doctors, paramedics and the strokemobile on their living room wall.

Gerry Sandlin reflected, "We were lucky. The kind of stroke I had is supposed to kill you or either lock you in. Your mind runs away, and your body don't do nothing. But I'm lucky; my mind runs away and doesn't talk to my body, but I do what I want to.

"You know, there's minutes that we'd be flying, going in to insert troops or either pull them out. Sometimes it was a hot LZ (landing zone), and I didn't know if I was going to make it to the LZ or make it home that night.

"This is different. You expect death in a combat zone; you don't outside. It means the world to me to be living, to tell other people that I'm a fighter.

"I have overcome several things, and yeah, I've got problems, but I think that my spirit inside me keeps fighting and I don't give up. My body may drag a little bit, but my mind doesn't.

"And like she said, we plan reunions. I've got a Vietnam veterans' organization that I head up; I've got people all over the country, and I'm in contact with them--some almost every day.

"But it keeps me going. I really appreciate being alive."

The couple regularly talks to "anybody that'll listen" to raise awareness of the signs of a stroke, how to respond to one and the need for speed in the process, promoting the BE FAST approach of StrokeAwareness.com.

Recognizing and responding to a stroke

StrokeAwareness.com spokesman Joe Duraes, who arranged The Tribune's meeting with the Sandlins, shared information about recognizing and responding to strokes.

A SUDDEN ONSET of the following symptoms may indicate stroke. Note that these symptoms or a combination of them are not unique to stroke, but if they are sudden and out of the ordinary, they may indicate a sign of stroke and require immediate attention.

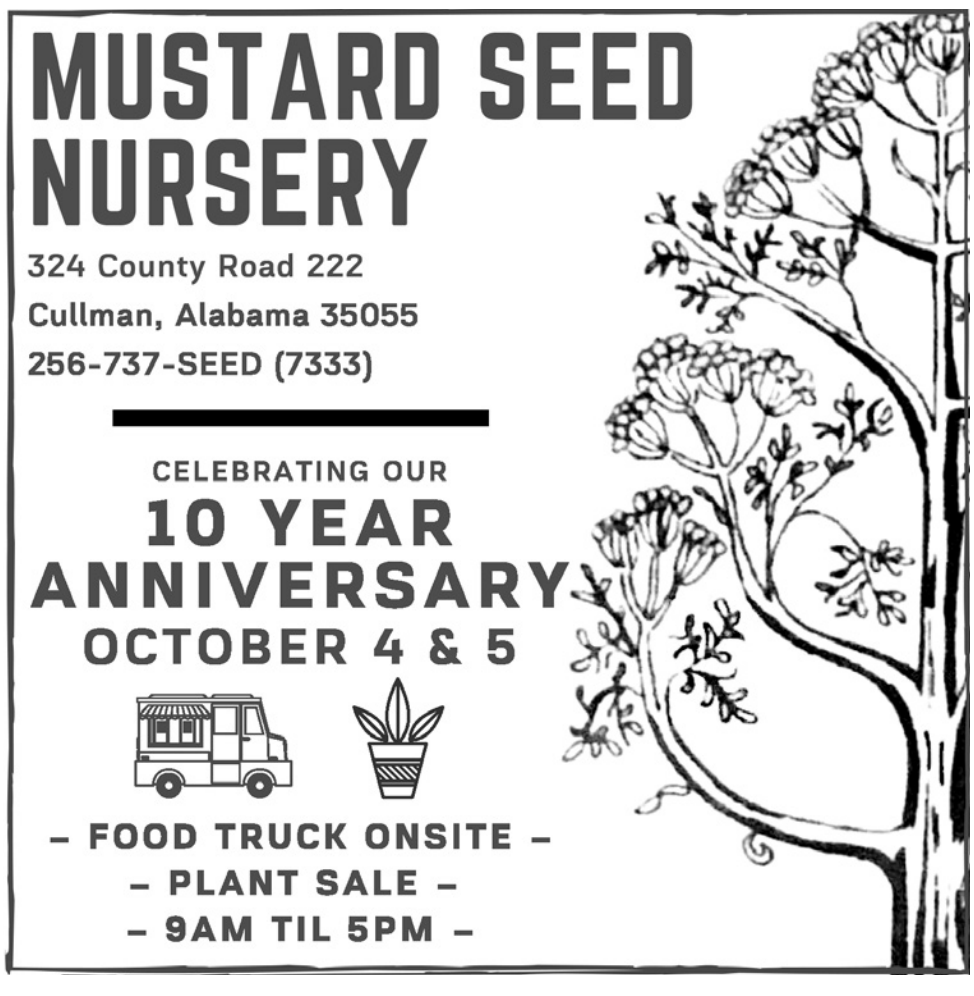

10 signs and symptoms of a stroke

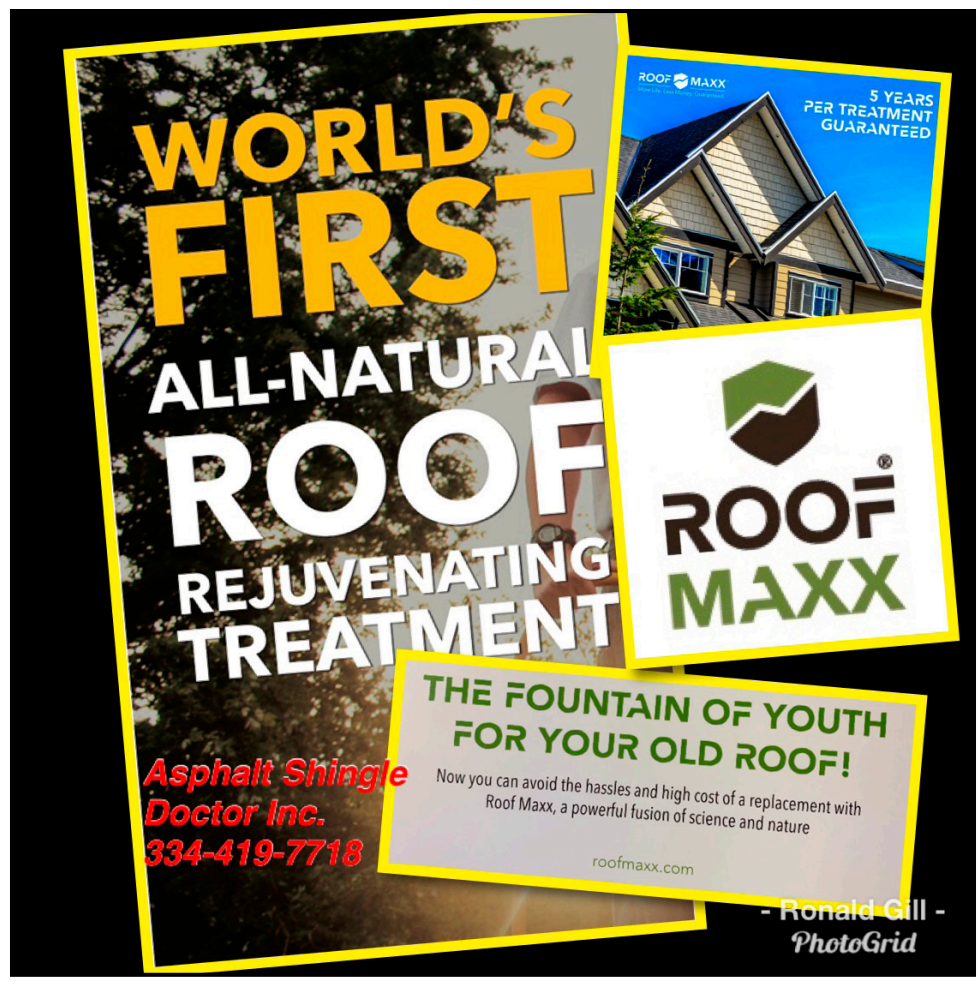

1. Confusion
2. Difficulty understanding
3. Dizziness
4. Loss of balance
5. Numbness
6. Severe headache
7. Trouble speaking
8. Trouble walking
9. Vision changes
10. Weakness

The group's recommended response to a possible stroke is summed up as BE FAST:

- B = Balance, watch for sudden loss of balance
- E = Eyes, check for vision loss
- F = Face, look for an uneven smile
- A = Arm, check if one arm is weak
- S = Speech, listen for slurred speech
- T = Time, call 911 right away

Movie: Replicas

After the rest of his family is killed in a car accident, grief-stricken neuroscientist William Foster (Keanu Reeves) persuades a reluctant colleague and longtime family friend (Thomas Middleditch, "Silicon Valley") to bend rules of laws and ethics to bring his deceased loved ones back to life via a controversial experimental process that implants their minds into android vessels. Alice Eve ("Iron Fist"), John Ortiz and Emily Alyn Lind also star in Jeffrey Nachmanoff's 2018 sci-fi thriller.

Live PD

Veteran journalist Dan Abrams returns as host as this suspenseful unscripted series launches its fourth season. Each live three-hour episode shines a light on the hot-button issue of policing in America by presenting a transparent look at law enforcement on duty. Incorporating dash cams along with fixed rig and handheld cameras, the series captures the work of a mix of urban and rural police forces on typical Friday and Saturday nights. Tom Morris Jr. and Sgt. Sean "Sticks" Larkin provide additional analysis.

Ghost Brothers: Haunted Houseguests

It probably should come as no surprise that malicious paranormal entities have no regard for laws of the living, as reflected in the new episode "Mr. Creepy," which finds ghost hunters Dalen Spratt, Juwan Mass and Marcus Harvey investigating an aggressive haunting in the home of a Texas deputy and his family. Soon, the guys uncover a brutal crime against a child that may have a connection with the evil spirit behind this domestic terror.

Great Performances

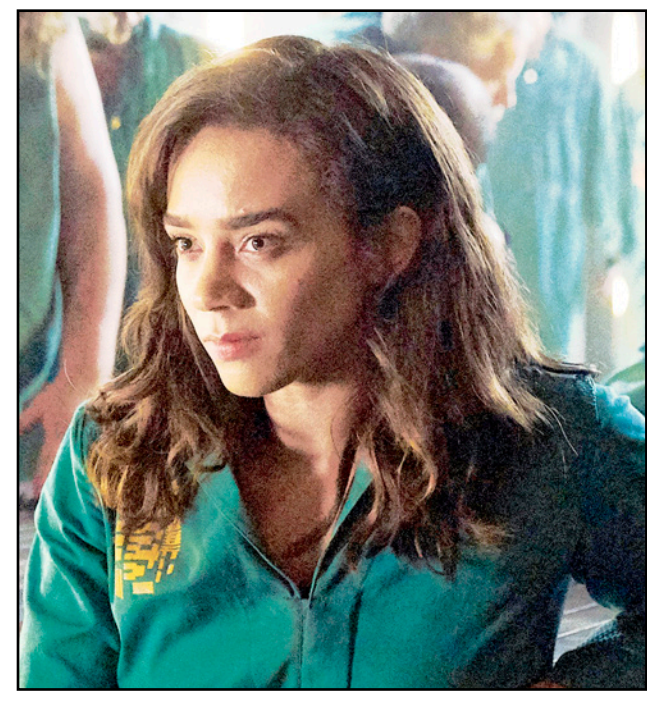

Renowned violinist Scott Yoo hosts "Now Hear This," a new four-part documentary miniseries in which he meets and collaborates with celebrated performers, master instrument makers, music historians and others as he travels through Europe. Each episode focuses on a great composer, starting with tonight's premiere, "Vivaldi: Something Completely Different," which dives into the background of that composer's masterwork "The Four Seasons." Yoo also discovers a "new" Vivaldi work and a trove of original manuscripts in Italy.

9 p.m. on SYFY
Killjoys

When this series premiered in 2015, it was a pretty straightforward, action-driven space opera, but starting with Season 2, the cast and writers began building a rich, complex world populated by complicated characters, with an interesting mythology and dialogue that crackles with genuinely witty banter. "Killjoys" goes out at the top of its form tonight with the series finale "Last Dance," in which Dutch (Hannah John-Kamen) uses Khlyen (Rob Stewart) to bait The Lady, initiating a final showdown. Aaron Ashmore and Luke Macfarlane also star.

10 p.m. on WBIQ
VOCES on PBS

By the age of 15, Victor Rios was already a high school dropout and a gang member with three felony convictions. It took a convergence of events, including his best friend's murder and the quiet persistence of a teacher, to help him start turning his life around. In "The Pushouts," Dr. Rios, now an expert in the school-to-prison pipeline, explores how to help young people forced out of school against their choice.

Hannah John-Kamen stars in "Killjoys" on Syfy.

HANCEVILLE, Ala. – Wallace State's Adult Education Department's ESL (English as a Second Language) partnership with Tyson Foods, Inc., in Blountsville is paying dividends.

Multiple employees in the program were recently honored at the plant for completing 40+ hours in the classroom since the program was launched.

"We're excited to have formed this partnership and we're thrilled to see the progress being made.

"The participants have been working hard and are appreciative for the opportunity," said Wallace State's Director of Adult Education Cynthia Arrington.

"Tyson Foods has made a great commitment for its employees and we're glad to help fulfill that need and any need our industry partners present to us."

ESL classes are taught by Wallace State Adult Education instructors three times a week at Tyson Foods, before or after a shift ends.

Tyson employees in the program have also been encouraged to enroll in free GED prep and job skill development classes offered by Wallace State's Adult Education program, including the college's site in Oneonta.
