Happy 102nd birthday, Mr. Davis!

Christy Perry
christy@cullmantribune.com

Jimmie Davis celebrated his 102nd birthday Tuesday afternoon with a party at Westminster Assisted Living. Davis, the former mayor of Albany, Georgia, shared a few laughs with Cullman Mayor Woody Jacobs prior to being presented with a Certificate of Commendation from the City of Cullman.

Jacobs introduced himself to Davis and said, "I understand you were a mayor a couple of years ago."

The quick-witted Davis replied, "I was, but I'm not responsible for anything that's happening immediately."

Davis was born Oct. 8, 1917 in Lexington, North Carolina but lived most of his life in Georgia. He earned his law degree from Emory University and was admitted to the Georgia Bar Association 1941. He served in the Georgia General Assembly and served as attorney for the City of Albany for more than 20 years. He is also a published author and poet.

After Jacobs read the certificate he added, "The things he accomplished, he served his community well. I promise you he helped make that town because the things he served on and the things he did were an integral part of Albany, Georgia."

Davis received more than 100 birthday cards from people around Cullman and celebrated with a beautiful cake. Staff, residents and guests said they were honored to be part of such a remarkable milestone.

Davis thanked everyone for the birthday wishes and smiled, "Stick around and y'all will have one of these one day, too."

Cullman County switching to automated sanitation service

CHRISTY PERRY/THE CULLMAN TRIBUNE

Cullman County Sanitation Department Director James Rollo, right, speaks to the Cullman County Commission Tuesday morning.

Christy Perry

CULLMAN, Ala. – The Cullman County Commission Tuesday morning gave approval for the Cullman County Sanitation Department to begin the process of transitioning to automated garbage pick-up. The County estimates the cost to purchase the necessary equipment will be $5.2 million and will result in a much safer and cost-effective method of garbage collection. The commission hopes the program will begin in summer 2020.

Many counties and cities throughout Alabama already use automated garbage pick-up, including Madison, Morgan and Blount Counties. The $5.2 million investment will include 11 automated trucks, two front loaders and 23,400 95-gallon garbage carts for customers.

The commission said it believes the cost will be offset by the reduction of insurance and workman's compensation claims, as well as the surplussing of the current sanitation trucks.

Cullman County Sanitation Department Director James Rollo said in the commission's work session Tuesday morning, "The company we buy the carts from will set them at each house for us. It's almost a no-brainer, guys. We are behind in that, and almost all counties are doing it."

"We've got 19-21 trucks that we are using that we are going to bid for sale to offset the cost," said Commission Chairman Kenneth Walker.

The commission said no current sanitation workers will be replaced.

"We can't fill the places (open positions now)," said Walker. "I think there has been four (positions) right now open but nobody wants them. Plus, it's going to save us on workers' comp(ensation). That's our biggest workers' comp expense. We are on the WAY back burner for not doing this earlier."

Besides eliminating the risk of fall and injury to workers who currently ride on the backs of the trucks, commissioners said, an automated system greatly reduces the risk of workers coming into contact with hazardous materials.

Cullman Regional launches virtual care services

Mary Beth Sellers
Cullman Regional

CULLMAN, Ala. – Cullman Regional recently announced the addition of virtual care to its services to make health care more accessible to its patients. Created through a partnership between Cullman Regional and Synct, Cullman Regional Virtual Care allows patients to communicate and submit basic care requests to Cullman Regional Medical Group Providers through a computer or smart phone when a face-to-face visit is not necessary.

Cullman Regional Virtual Care supports more than 40 medical and behavioral health conditions including the common cold, flu, fever, pain, headaches, nausea, infections, dizziness, bug bites, rashes, diarrhea, vomiting and other medical conditions that may not require a visit to the office. Additionally, patients can communicate with their physician for care, follow-up questions or other medical- and behavioral health-related needs.

"Patients want to receive care where they are when they need care," said Lisa Courtney, VP physician services. "We value our relationships with our patients and if a virtual environment is an acceptable means for medical care, we want to provide that option to our patients. This service also allows patients to receive care and avoid an urgent care or emergency department when they have a medical condition that is not emergent."

With Cullman Regional Virtual Care, patients pay an amount similar to their copay for an office visit but save time by not having to miss work or school, traveling to the office, or sitting in the waiting room. If the physician believes the patient needs to have an office visit based on the description of the care need, there is no charge to the patient for using Virtual Care services.

Patients can register with Cullman Regional Virtual Care at www.CullmanRegionalMedicalGroup.com. Following registration, the patient is approved to submit care requests.

Cullman Regional Virtual Care is available Monday-Friday from 7 a.m.-6 p.m. For more information about virtual care services, visit www.CullmanRegionalMedicalGroup.com.

Sanitation (from Front)

The County is hoping to have everything set up and ready by summer 2020.

The commission also voted to ratify the City of Hanceville's 10-year property tax abatement for Birmingham Fastener in the amount of $2,158,506, the company's expected capital investment.

No educational taxes were abated as a part of this item.

The expansion of the current facility in Hanceville will create approximately 15 additional full-time positions with an additional 15 jobs over the next three years.

The commission voted to move the Cullman Civic Center voting precinct to the Donald E. Green Senior Center.

The City of Cullman recently sold the civic center to Desperation Church leaving those who vote at the facility asking about future elections. The Donald Green Center was chosen due to the close proximity to the previous location and the center has adequate parking and wheelchair and handicap accessibility.

• Renewed the Juvenile Detention Agreement with Cullman County Partnership for Children, Inc.

Cullman Power Board gives back to the community with Powerfest

Cullman Christian School Pre-K and Kindergarten students performed at the Cullman Power Board's annual Powerfest Tuesday.

CULLMAN, Ala. – The Cullman Power Board (CPB) on Tuesday showed appreciation to the community with its annual "Powerfest" event, providing a free meal and door prizes for the public.

CPB General Manager Mike Manning shared what Powerfest is about.

"We're glad to have Cullman Powerfest once a year and it's a great time show our appreciation to our customers," he said.

"We're a public power community and we certainly value and appreciate the opportunity to serve our customers.

"This event enables everyone to come out and have a great day with some wonderful door prizes, fellowship and we just want to thank everybody for coming and being a part of it!"

Manning talked about the history of the event, saying, "It's probably been about five years (since the event started), or somewhere like that and the name Powerfest came- it used to be Public Power Day, Public Power Week- and it still is, but we changed the name to Powerfest because we used to coincide with Oktoberfest so we just missed it about by one week, unfortunately."

The cooler weather made the event extra enjoyable for everyone involved.

"We postponed it this year for cooler weather, and it's so much more enjoyable outside and folks are really enjoying it," said Manning.

"We want to again thank all the people that came out today. Thanks to Desperation Church for cooking the hamburgers, and they do such a wonderful job with that. Everybody loves the good food and the fellowship."

Local students bring home ribbons in Premier Exhibitor Contest during Alabama National Fair

MONTGOMERY, Ala. – For hundreds of youth across Alabama, fall fair season means one thing- it's livestock show time.

That translates to family time for youth like Cole Eubanks of Cullman County, one of about 250 exhibitors to compete in livestock shows during the Alabama National Fair Oct. 4-14.

The Alabama Farmers Federation and Alfa Insurance annually sponsor shows at the Montgomery-based fair, along with the National Peanut Festival in Dothan Nov. 1-10.

"I like showing livestock because I like to spend time with family, and I like to go places with my family," said 10-year-old Eubanks, who showed Charolais cattle from his family's Holly Pond farm.

On the fair circuit, youth may exhibit beef cattle, goats, sheep, dairy cattle or swine, in addition to competing in showmanship contests.

Preparing for the show ring is no small feat, with youth spending hours each day in the barn learning to fit their animals.

"You fix their hair the right way and brush it till it's right," Eubanks said. "After that you walk into the show ring and are ready to go."

Students also compete in Premier Exhibitor Contests, which test livestock knowledge, evaluation skills and showmanship. Mary Hannah Gullatt of Lee County was named the Intermediate Division High Individual and echoed Eubanks' thoughts on training.

"We work the calves every day, washing, drying and practicing," said Gullatt, 15, who lives in Salem and was inspired to show cattle because of her older sister, Grace.

"We spend a lot of time in the barn and mainly learn about working hard."

Gullatt exhibited the Market Show Bred and Owned Reserve Grand Champion and Hereford Division Reserve Champion Heifer. Her 11-year-old brother, Silas, exhibited the Hereford Division Bred and Owned Reserve Champion Heifer.

Gullatt said her experiences showing cattle encouraged her to pursue joining a livestock judging team in college.

Lessons learned showing livestock will resonate throughout the lives of these youth, said the Alabama Farmers Federation's Brady Ragland.

"Responsibility, dedication and hard work are just a few of the traits students pick up through showing livestock," said Ragland, the commodity director who oversees the Federation's youth livestock programs.

"They also get an up-close look at Alabama's No. 1 industry, agriculture.

"It's important to invest in these youth and help cultivate characteristics we need in future agricultural leaders."

7 p.m. on WTTO
Riverdale

The citizens of Riverdale are happily preparing for their upcoming Independence Day parade when Archie (K.J. Apa) gets a phone call that will change his life forever — the one no son ever wants to get, in the Season 4 premiere "Chapter Fifty-Eight: In Memoriam." That sets the somber tone for the hour, which is a farewell to both Fred Andrews, Archie's TV dad, and actor Luke Perry, whose sudden death last March stunned his colleagues and fans. Lili Reinhart, Camila Mendes and Cole Sprouse also star.

7 p.m. on WABM2
The Goldbergs

Former "Cheers" cast mates Kirstie Alley, Rhea Perlman, John Ratzenberger and George Wendt re-team for a joint guest appearance as a group of Jenkintown customers who prove to be anything but helpful as Murray and Geoff (Jeff Garlin, Sam Lerner) desperately try to salvage the latter's new food delivery service by finding a very important cheesesteak in the new episode "Food in a Geoffy." Wendi McLendon-Covey also stars.

8 p.m. on WTTO
Nancy Drew

Carolyn Keene's enduring "girl detective" comes to life in a decidedly modern reboot starring relative newcomer Kennedy McMann in the title role. As the story opens, the sudden death of Nancy's mother postpones Nancy's plans to enter college, but after a socialite is murdered, Nancy finds herself in the unfamiliar role of suspect, along with other teens who were present at the crime scene. Scott Wolf stars as Carson Drew, Nancy's dad; the cast also features Leah Lewis, Alex Saxon, Maddison Jaizani and Riley Smith.

8 p.m. on HIST
Forged in Fire

Four bladesmiths confront a challenge worthy of an ancient hero in the new episode "Sword of Perseus": forging a blade from Greek armor and artifacts using a five-layer technique known as the Go-Mai. After wrestling with steels of various hardness, two smiths eventually make it through the rigorous testing, then head home to recreate the mythical Sword of Perseus, a weapon formidable enough to take down the deadly Medusa. The one who triumphs takes home $10,000 and the title of Forged in Fire Champion.

8:31 p.m. on WABM2
Single Parents

The new episode "Derek Sucks" pairs up series star Leighton Meester (Angie) with real-life spouse Adam Brody, reprising his guest role as — you guessed it — Angie's feckless ex-boyfriend Derek, who is also Graham's (Tyler Wladis) dad. When he turns up unexpectedly at Angie's door, she immediately turns to Will and Miggy (Taran Killam, Jake Choi) for support, since she's well aware that, despite his many shortcomings, Derek is her emotional kryptonite. Brad Garrett and Kimrie Lewis also star.

9 p.m. on WVTM
Chicago P.D.

What at first looks to be a botched carjacking soon is revealed to be something much bigger in "Familia." Voight's (Jason Beghe) team finds itself going toe-to-toe with an unusually shrewd drug kingpin who works exclusively with women. Meanwhile, new recruit Vanessa Rojas (new recurring cast member Lisseth Chavez, "The Fosters") struggles to transition from her old undercover work to Intelligence, until a new case plays to her strengths. LaRoyce Hawkins and Jesse Lee Soffer also star.

Jason Beghe stars in "Chicago P.D." on NBC.

Eagles, Tigers, Aggies, Broncos hosting region foes; Bearcats traveling Thursday

Nick Griffin
nick@cullmantribune.com

As we make our way through October and the end of the regular season approaches, playoff contenders have separated themselves from the rest of the pack and the remaining games will be critical to determine who will be in the postseason and where they might go. The Cullman Bearcats' road trip to Muscle Shoals has been moved up to Thursday night while Holly Pond, Fairview, Vinemont and Meek prepare to host regional matchups.

(3-4) Cullman (6A Region 7) at (7-0) Muscle Shoals (6A Region 7) (Thursday)
The Bearcats are coming off a tough, 31-17 road loss at Athens a week ago but now they'll have to regroup quickly and turn around for another road matchup Thursday night. Muscle Shoals is on top of region 7 right now, undefeated and are holding opponents to fewer than nine points per game so far this season.

The Trojans are coming off back to back impressive road wins over Florence and Decatur and are returning home this week to face Cullman. Muscle Shoals won last year's meeting at Oliver Woodard Stadium 47-17 so the Trojans will be certainly be favored this time around. However, the Bearcats have other plans. Cullman is bringing a powerful running game to the shoals and if the Cats can find a way to create some turnovers and big plays, they'll have a chance to knock off one of the strongest teams in 6A and take a huge step towards the postseason.

(0-7) Meek (1A Region 6) vs. (5-1) Pickens County (1A Region 6)
With an 0-4 record in the region, the playoffs are all but out of reach for the Tigers, but they have to focus up and prepare for a strong Pickens County team coming to Arley this week. The Tornados are coming to town with the best record in the region and a defense allowing less than 13 points per game.

Meek's offense is being held to just 12 points per game so the Tigers will have their hands fill with Pickens County this week. The Tornados defeated Meek 67-20 at home a season ago so the Tigers will be anxious to play them again this week and turn the tables on the best team in the region.

(4-2) Fairview (4A Region 7) vs. (2-5) West Morgan (4A Region 7)
The Aggies are riding high after routing North Jackson 47-7 at Dafford Smith Stadium last week but now they'll have to turn around and host another region foe with a potential playoff spot on the line. Fairview defeated West Morgan on the road last year and will try to make it back to back wins over the Rebels Friday night.

The Aggies have been clicking offensively this season, especially on the ground, racking up 34 points per game including a 62-point explosion at D.A.R. earlier this season. This week, they'll face a West Morgan defense that allows nearly 35 points per game and if they can execute, they'll more opportunities to make plays and score points. Defensively, Fairview has gone from allowing 31 points per game in 2018 to under 20 points per game this season so things are humming for the Aggies right now and if they ride this momentum through the next few weeks, they'll be preparing for round one of the state playoffs.

(2-4) Vinemont (3A Region 5) vs. (4-3) Locust Fork (3A Region 5)
The Eagles found themselves on top of Fultondale 14-0 at halftime last week but an incredible second half from the Wildcats led to a dramatic comeback and a 36-22 road loss for Vinemont. Now, with three region games left in front of them, the Eagles are headed back home this week to prepare for a big game against Locust Fork. Vinemont fell in last year's meeting on the road, 38-32.

The Hornets are coming off a 48-18 win over the Holly Pond Broncos, extending their win streak to three games. Locust Fork has outscored its last three opponents by a combined score of 111-38 and is playing the best football it has all season, but Vinemont will be looking to stop the Hornets in their tracks Friday night. The Eagles have had great halves this season on both sides of the ball but if they can perform for four quarters this week against Locust Fork, they'll have a shot to knock off the Hornets and get back into the thick of the playoff race in region 5.

(1-6) Holly Pond (3A Region 5) vs. (1-5) J.B. Pennington (3A Region 5)
The Broncos were handed a tough loss at Locust Fork last week and fell to 1-3 in the region, but they have another region foe coming to town this week in J.B. Pennington.

The Tigers have had their own struggles this fall, bringing a 1-5 record into Friday's matchup, but collected their first win of the season, 22-20, over Cleveland last week. Holly Pond fell 28-0 in last year's matchup in Blountsville so the Broncos will be hungry to turn things around in 2019.

J.B. Pennington has been held to seven points or fewer in four of its six games so far this season and is scoring fewer than 10 points per contest offensively. However, Holly Pond has had some trouble on the defensive end so far this fall and is allowing over 35 points per game so we could be looking at a high-scoring affair between the Broncos and Tigers Friday night.
