15 boats hit Smith Lake for 2nd annual Hannah Bates Memorial Bass Fishing Tournament

Nick Griffin
nick@cullmantribune.com

NICK GRIFFIN/THE CULLMAN TRIBUNE

CULLMAN, Ala. – Despite some cloudy and wet conditions on Smith Lake Saturday morning, 15 boats hit the water for the 2nd annual Hannah Bates Memorial Bass Fishing Tournament, topping last year's total of 13.

All proceeds from the tournament go toward the Hannah Bates Memorial Scholarship at Wallace State Community College. The scholarship is offered each year to students in the Fast Track, Business Management or Nursing Programs.

The event not only supports local students, but honors the memory of Hannah, who was killed in an ATV crash at Stony Lonesome OHV Park in February 2018.

Hannah's Father, Lionel, was happy to see a turnout even better than last year's and continue to hear the way his daughter impacted others throughout her community.

"It's wonderful. It shows over time that people are understanding about what happened and the tragedy of that event and there are people starting to learn that they knew this girl, they just didn't know they knew her," he said.

"They say, 'Hey I knew her, she was here, or she was there, or she knew my daughter, or she's been over at my house before'. It happens that way and they just didn't realize that's who it was. It's just great to see people come out and let their heart show. It makes it a good day. It makes it a bright day instead of a cloudy day."

Hannah's Mother, Sonya, was happy to see all the teams there to support the event as well and loves that it gives them a chance to help others while honoring her daughter's memory.

"It's just amazing. All of the support, the prayers and the community coming out means so much to me," She said.

"It's a double-edged sword because we love helping people, even under a tragic circumstance, it means a lot to help someone in Hannah's honor."

One of the things that makes this event particularly special for Sonya is that Hannah loved to fish herself. It means a lot to her and those close to Hannah that they can put together a great event that she would've loved to participate in.

"Hannah fished every day that she could, she loved it.

"She didn't eat fish, she didn't like to eat fish, but she would just fish and fish and throw them back and I never could understand why. I'd tell her, 'Hannah you've caught so many big fish, bring them home and let's eat them' but she didn't and now I see why. Most fishermen just throw them back.

"It just means the world to me to be able to do something that she loved doing and we just hope to grow it every year."

Prizes awarded to top 3 boats:

- 1st place – Christ Strokes: 12.15lbs ($500)
- 2nd place – Jeff Miller, Roger Shiflett: 10.90lbs ($200)
- 3rd place – Matt Lee, Clint Morgan: 9.00 ($100)
- Big Fish – Jeff Miller, Roger Shiflett: 3.10lbs

Growing hemp in Alabama: Informational meeting set for Nov. 4

Tony A. Glover
Cullman County Extension coordinator

The latest United States Department of Agriculture Farm Bill allows for the production of hemp throughout the United States. Historically, hemp was grown as a fiber crop for thousands of years and was once grown on large acreages in the United States. During this period, hemp was a major crop, and up to the 1920s, 80% of clothing was made from hemp textiles.

Hemp was largely displaced by cotton, partly because of the labor-saving invention of the cotton gin. Later in 1938, hemp production was banned altogether. Production was once again allowed for a brief period during World War II when the supply of hemp from the Philippines was cut off. The ban was again implemented after the war ended. Even though hemp has many uses, its use as an illicit drug in the form of marijuana has made its production problematic. With the development of low THC (the compound that causes people to get high) cultivars, hemp has once again become a potential viable crop for farmers.

The Alabama Cooperative Extension System has developed a Hemp Team to educate interested farmers and to research the growing of hemp in Alabama.

For those wanting to learn more about this crop, the Hemp Team has a meeting planned in Cullman County Monday, Nov. 4 from 8 a.m.-3 p.m. at Camp Meadowbrook, 2344 County Road 747, Cullman. The meeting cost is $25. Attendees should pre-register and pay in advance at www.aces.edu/go/dealermeeting . Lunch and refreshments are included. Attendees may register at the door, but lunch may not be available.

Topics you can expect to be covered include basic growing information, greenhouse and field production, pest issues, weed control options and economics of production. The Department of Agriculture will explain the application process and fees involved in becoming a producer in Alabama.

For more information, call the County Extension office and speak with Tony Glover. Our number is 256-737-9386 or you may email me at cullmancounty@auburn.edu .

Ivey awards more than $1.4M to 7 Alabama Drug Enforcement Task Force offices

Office of Gov. Kay Ivey

MONTGOMERY, Ala. – Gov. Kay Ivey on Monday announced more than $1.4 million in grants is being awarded to continue the fight to reduce illegal drug use in the state by arresting those who buy or sell illegal drugs or falsely obtain prescription drugs.

Funds will be distributed to the seven regional offices of the Alabama Drug Enforcement Task Force under the Alabama Law Enforcement Agency. ALEA receives separate funding to help administer the task force. The task force offices were formed in January 2018 and are made up of officers in local law enforcement agencies.

"We must combat the illegal and illegally obtained drugs that rob so many people of productive lives and that destroy families," Ivey said. "I am pleased to support this task force, and I am grateful to the men and women who risk their lives to take drugs off our streets."

In its second year, the statewide drug task force has been involved in 991 drug cases resulting in 606 arrests. Agents have seized 508 pounds of marijuana, 228 pounds of methamphetamine and 11 pounds of heroin and opioids along with other drugs and more than 200 firearms.

The task force is made up of 93 law enforcement officers representing 46 state, county and municipal law enforcement agencies.

The seven regional drug task force offices each received $204,100 in grant funding. Each regional office covers eight to 12 counties, although officers have powers in other jurisdictions. Funds will be used to cover overtime and operational expenses and equipment purchases.

The Alabama Department of Economic and Community Affairs is administering the grants from funds made available to the state from the U.S. Justice Department.

"ADECA values its partnerships with ALEA and the regional drug task forces who are making a difference in our communities," ADECA Director Kenneth Boswell said.

CULLMAN, Ala. – Sara Franco Tapia, 32, of Baileyton was booked into the Cullman County Detention Center Monday, 16 days after she allegedly murdered her two young sons, 3-year-old Alvaro Garcia and 9-year-old Taylor Garcia, Oct. 12, 2019.

Tapia had been in an area hospital recovering from self-inflicted wounds since the day of the murders.

Tapia has been charged with two counts of murder. She is being held without bond.

The two young boys were found murdered at the family's home along the 4000 block of County Road 1718 near Baileyton Saturday afternoon, Oct. 12.

A visibly distraught Cullman County Sheriff Matt Gentry addressed the media early that evening.

"You never can prepare yourself in the 20 years I've been in law enforcement for children...for something bad to happen to children. There's a lot of evil in this world, and that's just what we saw today, was evil," said Gentry.

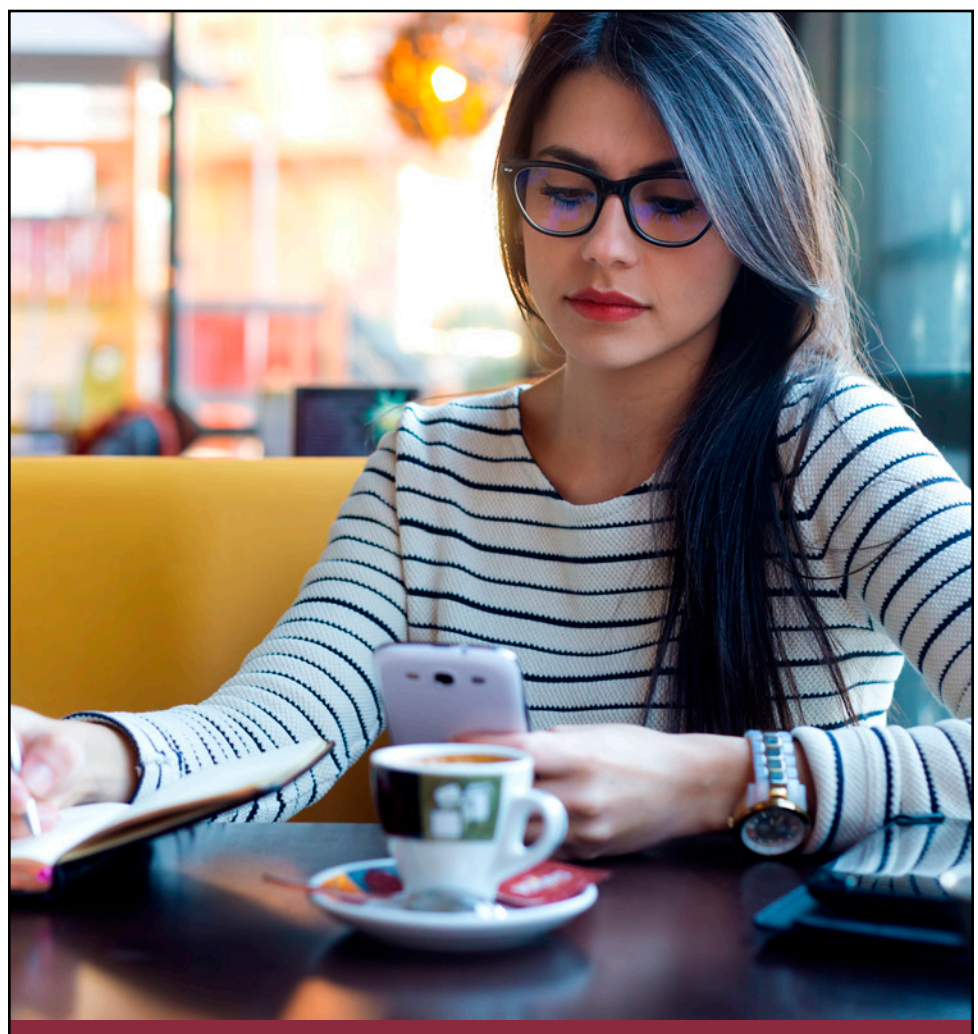

The Cullman County Sheriff's Office (CCSO) said in a statement that dispatch received a 911 call at approximately 2:30 p.m. that day.

"We found two small children that were deceased," Gentry said. "Deputies immediately secured the perimeter. We started an active search. We deployed our K-9s here at the property. Within a couple of hundred yards of the residence, we located the suspect, which is the mother of the children. We arrested the mother and she's been flown to a hospital."

Tapia remained in the hospital until Monday, Oct. 28, when she was released and taken to the Cullman County Detention Center.

‘God is All’: Margot Tanner returns to Cullman to promote book, share stories

W.C. Mann
craig@cullmantribune.com

CULLMAN, Ala. – Margot Tanner, longtime advocate of all things German in Cullman, returned to the city Saturday to promote and sign copies of “God is All: Stories from the Life of a WWII German Survivor,” an account of her life in Germany and the United States.

All 40 copies of “God is All” available at the signing were sold by the halfway point of the two-hour event.

Putting a lifetime on paper

Tanner’s editor and daughter-in-law, Ruth Wiebe-Tanner, who accompanied her to the book signing at Cullman First United Methodist Church, talked about creating the book.

“Margot would send me her stories. She wanted her stories recorded in a book, and she’d been asked to do that,” said Wiebe-Tanner. “She’s been in the community for some years, telling her story to schools and churches, and frequently people have said, ‘You should write a book.’

“She asked me to write the book, and that was some years ago. And I said, ‘Well, OK, but you send me the stories and I’ll type them up, and we’ll see what happens. And so, that’s what she did.”

She continued, “There came a point when it looked like there was really enough to make a book, and then we started working at it a little bit more seriously, filling in holes. I suggested she record some stories about her childhood with her brothers and sisters, and her family. She wanted to talk about her grandmother, and I said, ‘What about your other grandparents?’ So, we put that in.

“I was aiming for somewhere between autobiography and memoir with her. She wrote about that and she wrote about her years in Germany and in the war, and after the war in the aftermath, about meeting her husband, about coming to the United States and getting her citizenship, eventually moving to Alabama where she has quite a long chapter about her friends here and her various activities over the years. We put that together, worked with Kindle Direct Publishing with Amazon, and we have a book.”

Margot Tanner in her own words

The German native was shielded from some of the more gruesome realities of life under Adolf Hitler by her government employee father until late in the war, but she suffered horrible abuses under Soviet occupation afterward. Coming to the United States with her American husband, she faced discrimination as a German “war bride.”

Tanner told The Tribune what she hopes is accomplished by the telling of her story.

“What I really would like, or had in my mind: for people to pay attention, to love each other, to take care of each other, to look out for each other. Put away with this hate of black and white and yellow and green, and Jews and Christians and Muslims and so forth. Don’t let that live in this world; we’ve had enough of it,” she said.

“There should be love and care, because we don’t know what God has in store for us, and He may teach us through all that’s going on to stay together and care for each other. That is my intention for the book, because I was a non-Christian under Hitler. It was out of place, because my father worked for the government, and government employees- it was a no-no to be a Christian.

“When I came to Cullman, which was my husband’s hometown- I never wanted to go here after Fort Worth, Texas- but then when I came here and met these people and came to this church, and like today: I’ve been away two years, going on three years. Look how they welcome me and love me, and hug me and go all out of the way for me; that’s what I’m trying to teach and show everybody. We all should be like this.”

She continued, “I met Jesus in this church. And when I met Jesus and felt His wounds and how I was wounded by certain remarks that people made, and I would bury that all inside, praise God I didn’t lash out, because I found out later that Jesus tells us not to do that. I wasn’t a Christian, but that was something that was instilled to me by God. Then, when I met all these people, and the way they accepted me and put up with me, it was such a divine- I don’t know how to say it; I don’t have the words for it. It was like a light came down and shined on me and healed all these wounds.”

Tanner recounted her family’s loss of everything with the fall of Germany and the coming of Soviet occupation, and how she learned to live with little and appreciate whatever she had.

W.C. MANN/THE CULLMAN TRIBUNE

Margot Tanner displays the medal presented to her by the Daughters of the American Revolution for her efforts to teach emigrants about the United States and what it means to be an American.

Said Tanner, “What is God trying to teach us? Love each other. Don’t think about the money, what it can buy, and grab it. We couldn’t eat the money, and we didn’t have any food, and it wouldn’t buy anything.”

She shared one instance in which she was trying to help a group of school children understand real priorities in life.

“I asked the children, ‘What if you’re hungry and you have the money but you have nothing else; could you eat the money?’ ‘No.’ But one little girl said, ‘I guess I’d just go around the corner to Wendy’s and buy a hamburger.’ I looked at her; I said, ‘There were not any Wendy’s or any hamburger place, so you may as well try to find excuses.’

“That’s what everybody’s doing: finding excuses instead of looking into people’s faces and saying, ‘I love you and I care.’ That’s it. That’s how I feel.”

“God is All” is available at www.amazon.com/God-All-Stories-German-survivor/dp/1087067340.

EDUCATION

Wallace State students ‘Help Them Tell Their Story’

Gail Crutchfield
WSCC

HANCEVILLE, Ala. – “Not all education comes from books,” is one message a student learned, appropriately enough, during a project in which a group of Wallace State Community College students visited with residents of Woodland Haus and Woodland Village in Cullman to learn firsthand about historic events from people who experienced them.

More than a dozen students participated in the “Help Them Tell Their Story” serve project during the two-day PULSE Student Development Conference. The project was initiated by Iman Humaideh and Tanya Shearer of the Wallace State Genealogy Department, located in the Wallace State Library. Students spent time interviewing and visiting with residents of Woodland Haus and Woodland Village. The purpose of the project was for students to learn about history from people who actually experienced historical events in the 20th century.

Students relived events such as the Great Depression, World War II, the Korean War and Vietnam. They learned about everyday life in previous generations: children’s games, household routines and what life was like for teenagers in the 1940s, ’50s, and ’60s, in the days before the Internet and cell phones. Students learned to play bingo and Rumicube and worked on puzzles with the residents.

Student Grace Knetter captured the moments in photographs and Kailei Griggs shared homemade cookies.

“Students came away with an understanding of the experiences of people in previous generations, their joys and perseverance through trials,” said Shearer. “Residents were able to pass on ‘life lessons’ to another generation and new friendships were formed as a result of this project.”

Student Dawson Culver said his visit with Ralph Brooks left two impressions on him that he will take with him for the rest of his life.

“Throughout my conversation with Mr. Brooks, he repeated to me a lesson he learned over the course of his nearly 90 years of life,” Culver said. “He stated that the key to being a success in this world is to apply one’s self. This wisdom can be applied to any and all aspects of life, from education to relationships to careers. Those words really touched my heart.

“One last thing he said to me was, ‘Not all education comes from books,’” Culver added.

“I took that quote to heart, and I plan to apply it to my career and my life. The lessons learned from Mr. Brooks’ past will impact my decisions in my life.”

The inaugural PULSE (Pathways United for Learning Service and Excellence) event was held Oct. 1 and 2, with students choosing to participate in at least three of more than 60 workshops offered throughout the two days, more than a dozen serve projects, and two keynote address by comedian Mike Goodwin.

The purpose of PULSE was to provide students with professional and personal development opportunities focused on service, success and excellence.

CULLMAN, Ala. – The Cullman City Council on Monday evening voted to apply for airport improvement funding assistance from the Alabama Department of Transportation (ALDOT), for the purpose of making runway improvements at Cullman Regional Airport. Airport General Manager Ben Harrison told The Tribune this project is the “next phase” in the facility’s five-year improvement plan.

While no safety issues were identified with the runway concerning its current aircraft loads, Harrison said it has “currently a few weak spots.” The planned improvement will alleviate those issues and allow the runway to handle heavier aircraft than it does at this time.

One of the main goals of the overall project, from its inception, has been to enable all of the paved surfaces of the airport to support the weight of larger and heavier aircraft, to help make the Cullman area even more accessible and attractive to existing and potential future industries.

A current project to improve the taxiway adjacent to the runway is on pace to be completed in November. Harrison said the runway will be closed for approximately four months while the work takes place.

Then, once the runway is finished, improvement of the apron (also known as the flight line or tarmac) is scheduled for fiscal year 2021.

After approving the resolution to apply for project funds, the council voted to sign a contract with Goodwyn, Mills & Cawood for professional engineering services related to the design of the runway rehabilitation in an amount not to exceed $149,251.

According to Harrison, the firm’s engineers will determine exactly what work needs to be done to the runway before construction begins on the previously mentioned project.

Sewer system improvement grant sought

The council also approved a resolution authorizing Mayor Woody Jacobs to apply to the State Revolving Fund for a low-interest $7.1 million loan to make improvements to the City’s sewer system. The loan is for phase one of a four-part project estimated at a total of $28 million. That first phase will start in areas identified in a St. John & Associates study as the worst in the city.

The council tabled a motion to annex the Marathon gas station located at the intersection of Alabama Highway 157 and Alabama Highway 69 into the city limits, citing improvements to the site that still had to be completed.

Rick Fulmer recognized

The council also took a moment to recognize and congratulate City Planning and Zoning Director Rick Fulmer on his upcoming retirement this week after almost 21 years of service.

The horrifying inferno known as the Camp Fire, the deadliest and most destructive wildfire in the history of California, started on Nov. 8, 2018, in Northern California. OPINION

Healthy Church, no. 5

Tom Fillinger
Tribune Columnist

Today we continue in our series – The Characteristics of a Healthy Church. Is the church you attend healthy? Listen up and be brutally honest in answering this question.

A plurality of elders gives accountability in the teaching of doctrine.
A pastor cannot just teach whatever he wants; there is accountability among other godly men of the church. Look at what Paul says about this in referring to prophecy in the church in 1 Corinthians 14:29: "Two or three prophets should speak, and the others should weigh carefully what is said." When a prophet would speak, the other prophets had to "weigh," or judge, what was being said.

In the same way, the elders help judge and protect the church from error. When one of the elders teaches, the other elders should be testing what is taught. They must make sure it is true to the text and healthy for the congregation.

In another sense, this is true for all believers in the church. The Bereans were called noble because they tested the teachings of Paul (Acts 17:11). Therefore, each church member must participate in this judging, especially the elders.

One of the specific jobs of an elder is to encourage sound doctrine and refute false doctrine. Listen to what Paul says in Titus 1:9: "He must hold firmly to the trustworthy message as it has been taught, so that he can encourage others by sound doctrine and refute those who oppose it" (emphasis mine).

5. A plurality of elders brings victory and safety through their wisdom in decision making.
"For lack of guidance a nation falls, but many advisers make victory (or it can be translated "safety") sure" (Prov 11:14).

Solomon said a nation will fall without having many wise advisers to make victory sure.

6. A plurality of elders brings continuity to a church.
Often when a pastor leaves a congregation, there is a tremendous amount of instability. In the process of finding a new pastor, the church often loses many of its members. This doesn't happen as much when there is a strong elder core that shares in the leadership of the church.

The most ideal setup is raising leadership up from within the church among the elders in order to have a stable congregation.

Scripture supports this model over the solo-pastor model. In my undergraduate studies one of my professors cautioned us that being a pastor is one of the easiest places to be lazy.

Pastors frequently tell me how busy they are. The question is – what constitutes your busyness? A plurality of Elders minimizes this tragic condition which leads to grief at the Bema Seat of Christ.

If there is not a plurality, create a system of accountability in which the pastor is required to detail how he spends his time. HE will be very thankful for this at the end of his days.

Does the church you attend have a plurality of Elders that lead with effectiveness applying the Word of God to every circumstance?

There are several opportunities for the kids to show off this year's costumes while filling up those candy buckets and putting smiles on the faces of many of our area seniors.

CULLMAN, Ala. – Good news from the Cullman County Animal Shelter: Donna Ruttkay shared that the last two Cullman Tribune Pets of the Week have been adopted! The shelter still has dogs available, so here's a new canine companion:

"Another Chance" is "mixed with all the right stuff," around a year and a half old. She's a laid-back, low- to medium-energy pet who likes to stay close to her humans. She is well-mannered and enjoys playing with her toys. Another Chance has the makings of a therapy, emotional support or companion dog.

Animal shelter staff and volunteers work with their dogs to make sure they are accustomed to being around people, walking on a leash and practicing good behavior. Several of the shelter's dogs have even been "hired" to work as therapy and special needs service dogs.

Chance's adoption fee is $90 which includes: DHLPP vaccine, Bordetella vaccines, rabies vaccine, wormer, general exam at the vet, spaying, microchip, free 30-day health insurance policy issued by 24PetWatch (with valid email only) and a free bag of food from Cullman Pet Depot (you must pay sales tax).

Please consider adopting, to give a rescued pet a chance at a happy and healthy life.

‘As a company, we appreciate our associates’

Alabama Cullman Yutaka Technologies hosts annual company picnic

Maggie Darnell
maggie@cullmantribune.com

CULLMAN, Ala. – While many stayed inside Saturday, about 900 people- employees of Alabama Cullman Yutaka Technologies (ACYT) and their families- gathered in a pavilion at the Cullman County Fairgrounds for the company’s annual picnic.

ACYT Vice President Brian Buckner shared, “It’s our annual company picnic, all our associates come, we give out prizes; this year we gave away a car. We get food and just have a good time and enjoy each other’s company! It was great, we had a good turnout, I think we had about 900 people with family members. As a company, we appreciate our associates.”

You heard Buckner right: a car was given away to an ACYT employee. The car was a 2013 Honda CR-V with 19,500 miles. The grand prize winner was Tech Specialist Ginger Edwards, who has worked at ACYT for seven years.

“Ecstatic!” Edwards said when asked how she felt about winning. “I’ve never won anything in my life, I’m super excited! It seems surreal (that I won), it feels like an out of body experience! I’m just excited!”
