CULLMAN, Ala. – Veterans were honored Thursday at Cullman High School during an afternoon assembly in the school's auditorium, where Principal Kim Hall welcomed veterans, families, faculty, staff and the entire student body.

Students from the school's JROTC program presented the flag and acapella group Vocal Point performed the national anthem.

Former Cullman Mayor and United States Air Force veteran Max Townson performed his emotional rendition of "Ragged Old Flag," a performance that has become a greatly anticipated tradition.

Veterans were featured in a visual presentation and those in attendance were given a certificate of recognition and a flag. Veterans were asked to stand as their anthems were played during the "Armed Forces Medley."

Students will be out of school Monday in observance of Veterans Day. The Cullman High School marching band on Saturday will travel to New York City, where they have been invited to perform in a Veterans Day celebration Monday at the Statue of Liberty.

BAILEYTON, Ala. – The Baileyton Senior Center on Thursday morning honored community veterans, presenting them with small American flags and serving up chicken and dumplings provided by Parkside School.

Pat Dyar, wife of Baileyton Mayor Johnny Dyar, said, "In previous years, we'd have 10 to 15 more veterans compared to this year, but that's OK."

Honored were James Burks, Air Force; Bobby Martin, Army; Gene Sumner, Army; and Johnny Dyar, Marines.

Said Pat Dyar, "Really, thanks to Parkside for giving chicken and dumplings for the seniors to have today. We're having a Thanksgiving dinner on the 21st; we've invited the sheriff's office, and Parkside will cater."

Auburn holds off Wofford for season-opening 84-82 win

Wesley Todd
AU Athletics

AUBURN, Ala. – Junior Unique Thompson and senior Daisa Alexander combined for 47 points, and the Auburn women's basketball team held off a late rally to earn an 84-82 win over Wofford Wednesday night to open the 2019-20 season.

The Tigers (1-0) led by as many as 17 points midway through the third quarter but saw the Terriers (0-1) storm back to take the lead just nine minutes later. But strong rebounding and free-throw shooting down the stretch allowed Auburn to withstand a second-half 3-point barrage from Wofford.

"Great offensive night," Auburn head coach Terri Williams-Flournoy said. "We scored 84 points. I don't think we scored 84 points many times last year. I think our kids kept fighting.

"Wofford is a very good team, probably going to win their conference this year. It's a great test for us in the beginning."

Thompson picked up where she left off with her 21st career double-double, scoring 25 points and pulling down 11 rebounds. Alexander finished with 22 points and was 9-of-12 at the free-throw line, including a 7-of-8 mark in the fourth quarter.

Sophomore Brooke Moore scored 15 points in her first career start, and freshman Annie Hughes finished with 10 points, a team-high four assists and two steals.

Sophomore Kiyae' White pulled down a career-high nine rebounds as she started for the first time.

Three freshmen made their Auburn debuts. Hughes started and played just under 30 minutes, and Maliya Perry and Morgan Robinson-Nwagwu saw 11 minutes each off the bench.

Auburn shot 46.9 percent for the game (30-of-64) and was 20-of-28 at the free-throw line.

The Tigers out-rebounded the Terriers 43-32, including 17 offensive rebounds that led to 22 second-chance points. Auburn also controlled the paint, outscoring Wofford inside 38-18.

The Terriers, shot 48.1 percent from 3-point range, hitting 13-of-27 attempts from long range, including 9-of-16 in the second half.

After the teams finished the first 10 minutes tied 11-11, Auburn outscored Wofford in the second quarter 24-13 to take a 35-24 lead at the break.

An 11-4 run over the first 5:13 of the third quarter pushed the Tigers' advantage to as many as 17 at 51-34. Auburn saw its lead shrink a bit by the end of the quarter but still took a 58-48 lead to the final 10 minutes.

But from there, the Terriers got hot, shooting 58.8 percent in the final period including a 71.4-percent clip from 3-point range.

Wofford opened the fourth quarter on an 8-2 run, cutting the lead to four at the 8:23 mark, then pulled ahead two minutes later on one of Chloe Wanink's eight 3-pointers on the night to take a 66-65 lead.

With the score tied 66-all, Hughes came up with one of the biggest plays of the night, sneaking in to grab an offensive rebound off a missed Auburn free throw, putting in back up for two and drawing a foul to push the Tigers back ahead 69-66.

The Tigers would never trail again, hitting 12-of-17 free throws in the fourth quarter to hold off a determined Wofford squad.

TODD VAN EMST/AU ATHLETICS

Auburn's Brooke Moore blocks a shot, gets the steal and takes it the length of the court for a foul late in the second half.

Wofford's Chloe Wanink led all scorers with 28 points, including eight 3-pointers. Da'Ja Green added 25 for the Terriers.

The Tigers will return to action next Thursday, Nov. 14, when they host Old Dominion at Auburn Arena. Game time is set for 6 p.m. CT, and tickets are available at AUBTix.com.

Who: UAB (6-2, 3-1 C-USA) at Southern Miss (5-3, 3-1 C-USA)

Where: Hattiesburg, Miss. - M.M. Roberts Stadium

When: Saturday, Nov. 9 - 2:30 p.m. CST

Watch: NFL Network

On the Call: Dave Ryan (play-by-play), Michael Robinson (color), Ashley Stroehlein (sideline)

Listen: WJOX 94.5 FM

On the Call: David Crane (play-by-play), Steve Irvine (color), Trey Ragland (sideline)

Series: Southern Miss leads, 10-7

Last Meeting: Nov. 10, 2018: UAB 26-23 (OT)

WHAT TO WATCH FOR:

• UAB has won three straight and seven of the last eight meetings against Southern Miss. Last year's game was a 26-23 overtime victory, highlighted by Spencer Brown's 17-yard run to secure UAB's berth in the Conference USA championship game.

• UAB has specifically been good at M.M. Roberts Stadium as each of the last four trips to Hattiesburg resulted in Blazer victories. In each of the last three, UAB has had a running back rush for over 200 yards (Darrin Reaves - 223 yards in 2012; Jordan Howard - School record 262 yards in 2014; Spencer Brown - 209 yards in 2017).

• The Blazers continue to play lights out on defense. UAB is ranked No. 5 nationally in total defense for a second straight week. Additionally, the Blazers rank second nationally in fumble recoveries (12), 6th in third down defense (.284), 6th in passing yards allowed (162.9), 9th in tackles for loss per game (8.4), 10th in rushing defense (92.4) and 10th in sacks per game (3.50).

• The defense looks to continue its dominance within league play. In four C-USA games, UAB has allowed a league-low 224.2 yards against and 17.0 points per game. Conversely, Southern Miss is averaging 470.8 yards and 31.5 points per game in C-USA action.

• Kristopher Moll is averaging a C-USA best 10.8 tackles and 2.0 tackles for loss per game in league play, and also ranks 5th in sacks per game (0.88). Moll is a candidate for Conference USA Defensive Player of the Year and is the catalyst for UAB's top ranked defense.

• Moll isn't the only player causing havoc up front for the Blazers. On the edge, Jordan Smith is also putting together an All-Conference worthy season with 30 total tackles, 11.0 TFL, 6.5 sacks, six QBH and two forced fumbles. On the interior line, Garrett Marino and Tony Fair have combined for 11.5 TFL and 5.5 sacks. Fair is coming off a six tackle, two TFL performance at Tennessee.

• Offensively, Saturday's game features four of C-USA's top 10 leaders in receiving yards per game, including the top two in USM's Quez Watkins and UAB's Austin Watkins Jr. In six games, Quez Watkins has compiled 697 yards (116.2/game), while Austin Watkins Jr. is second with 689 yards (86.1/game).

• Running back Lucious Stanley scored his sixth total touchdown of the season last week at Tennessee with a 15-yard reception. He now shares a team-high six touchdowns (five rushing, one receiving) with wide receiver Kendall Parham who has six receiving touchdowns.

• UAB is 25-10 since returning to action in 2017 and 17-5 since the start of the 2018 season. Both of those marks are tops in C-USA.

Following the Southern Miss game, UAB has two straight contests at Legion Field where the Blazers have won 16-straight and own the nation's fifth longest active home winning streak.

The Blazers will host UTEP on Nov. 16 for their annual Salute to Service game at 12 p.m., followed by welcoming Louisiana Tech on Nov. 23.

Fans can help support the Tickets for Troops initiative by donating a $10 ticket which will then be distributed through VetTix to military members and their families.

Notice to Alabama football fans concerning counterfeit tickets

UA Athletics
Contributor

TUSCALOOSA, Ala. – The University of Alabama is looking forward to welcoming another sellout crowd when the Crimson Tide football team hosts LSU Saturday at Bryant-Denny Stadium, and the UA Athletic Ticket Office wishes to remind fans of the potential danger of being sold counterfeit tickets at Tide home games.

If fans have any doubt about the validity of their tickets, they can visit the UA Athletic Ticket Office at Coleman Coliseum to verify their tickets during regular business hours, between 8 a.m. and 5 p.m., Monday through Friday.

On game day, those tickets can be verified beginning at 10 a.m. by University officials on Saturday at Bryant-Denny Stadium by reporting to Gate 3 or Gate 32.

Officials will be available at those gates to examine any tickets.

Unfortunately, counterfeit tickets – sold on the internet and by individuals around the stadium and on campus on game day – can lead to some fans being defrauded.

With this in mind, the UA Athletic Ticket Office would like to remind fans that any person who purchases a stolen or counterfeit ticket may be denied admission at the gates and any individual trying to gain entry with a ticket found to be fraudulent could be subject to investigation.

Also, any person in the stadium who is caught with a stolen or counterfeit ticket will be ejected.

The lone authorized primary outlet for Alabama football tickets is the UA Athletic Ticket Office.

Fans may also utilize StubHub, the authorized secondary marketplace, for game tickets. Buyers who purchase tickets from other sources do so at their own risk.

Crimson Tide in the NFL Spotlight: Week 9 - Former Alabama players continue to excel on both sides of the football

UA Athletics
Contributor

TUSCALOOSA, Ala. – The ninth week of the 2019 season in the National Football League wrapped up on Monday. Below is a look at some of the highlights from former Crimson Tide players currently in the NFL.

Week nine featured dominant performances from former Alabama defensive backs and running backs. The play on defense was highlighted by Minkah Fitzpatrick, Marlon Humphrey and Eddie Jackson. Joining the trio was Dont'a Hightower, who excelled once again for the New England Patriots.

Fitzpatrick was key once again for the Steelers, recording seven tackles and an interception with a 96-yard return for a touchdown in Pittsburgh's 26-24 win over the Indianapolis Colts.

The pick was his fourth of the season, tying him for second in the league. Humphrey also continued his string of strong performances for Baltimore.

Humphrey recorded six tackles to go with a fumble return for a 70-yard touchdown as the Ravens took down the undefeated New England Patriots, 37-20, on Sunday Night Football.

Jackson joined the duo of Fitzpatrick and Humphrey with a big defensive performance for the Bears. The Chicago safety collected 10 tackles on the day. Former Tide linebacker Dont'a Hightower also posted big numbers for the New England Patriots. Hightower recorded a team-high 13 tackles, including one tackle for loss.

The rushing group featured four former runners, including both of the Crimson Tide's Heisman Trophy winners.

Posting big weeks for their respective teams were Josh Jacobs, Kenyan Drake, Derrick Henry and Mark Ingram. Jacobs, just days away from being named Offensive Rookie of the Month in October, provided a solid performance on Sunday for the Oakland Raiders. The first-year back rushed 28 times for 120 yards and two touchdowns.

Joining Jacobs was Drake, who was acquired a week prior by Arizona. The newcomer to the Cardinals roster carried the ball 15 times for 110 yards and added a touchdown while catching four passes for 52 yards on Thursday Night Football.

Henry contributed 13 carries for 63 yards and a score while adding three catches for 36 yards and a touchdown in the Tennessee Titans' Sunday matchup.

Ingram, returning from a bye, showed off his fresh legs with 15 carries for an impressive 115 yards. He also added two receptions for 29 yards as the Ravens knocked the Patriots from the ranks of the unbeaten teams.

Freeze (from Front)

NWS Huntsville
Contributor

HUNTSVILLE, Ala. – The National Weather Service in Huntsville has issued a Freeze Watch, in effect from Friday at 10 p.m. through Saturday at 8 a.m., for the counties of Lauderdale, Colbert, Franklin (AL), Lawrence, Limestone, Madison, Morgan, Marshall, Jackson, DeKalb and Cullman. Sub-freezing temperatures as low as 26 are possible over portions of north central, northeast and northwest Alabama. Frost and freezing conditions could kill crops or other sensitive vegetation and possibly damage unprotected outdoor plumbing.

Take steps now to protect tender plants from the cold. To prevent freezing and possible bursting of outdoor water pipes they should be wrapped, drained or allowed to drip slowly. Those who have in-ground sprinkler systems should drain them and cover above-ground pipes to protect them from freezing.

CULLMAN, Ala. – Temple Baptist Church's homeless ministry, Unsheltered International, will be delivering free Thanksgiving meals Saturday, Nov. 23 from 11 a.m. until 2 p.m. Volunteers from the church will prepare and deliver the meals.

Unsheltered International Event Coordinator Tim Barbee shared, "We're just trying to be a blessing and trying to help people spread the glory of God. This is part of what we do; we're just showing the glory of God and showing that they're loved."

He said the meal is not just for the homeless; it's for anyone in need. "It is a meal for the homeless there in Cullman. It's also for the needy families that may need something like that. We will be delivering meals to the people that call in and give us their address and how many people are in their home. We also have a 'small kitchen' that we're going to carry to the areas of the Economy Inn... I have to talk to the motel owners, but places that I know where people live in the hotels week to week, and they're on a lower income basis. We're just taking the trailer from place to place to kind of help. We're just trying to show people that they're still loved, no matter the situation."

The meals will consist of turkey, dressing, green beans and a roll. Each meal will also have a dessert prepared by the women of Temple Baptist. Barbee said the meals are made possible by donations from supporters of Unsheltered International.

Unsheltered asks those in need to RSVP by Nov. 16. You can RSVP by calling 256-737-0112 ext. 180 or by emailing tara@unsheltered.org.

Barbee said of Unsheltered International: "We are a homeless ministry that is based out of Temple Baptist Church there in Cullman. We help the community itself as far as anyone that needs clothing. We have a warehouse that's located in Cullman County that has clothing, hygiene products and a shower and washer and dryer for anyone that needs that kind of thing."

Unsheltered began in January 2011.

Tables (from Front)

CULLMAN, Ala. – They get up as early as 4 a.m. each weekday, and are at work by 7, preparing hundreds of breakfasts and lunches, and even some early dinners for the students of the Cullman County and City school systems. On Thursday, though, they got to sit on the other side of the table. Child Nutrition Program workers from across both area systems were honored Thursday evening with a dinner sponsored and served by the Cullman Farm-City Committee, partnering with Northbrook Baptist Church, which provided the venue, kitchen and cooks. The nutrition workers had the opportunity to sit back and relax while committee members served plates of chicken, green beans, mashed potatoes and rolls, along with drinks and desserts.

2019 Farm-City Co-Chair Pat Floyd told The Tribune, "We are recognizing all of the lunchroom employees of the county and city school systems, and just recognizing them for all that they do, being as it's a food-related source.

"We're recognizing them for working with our children, feeding our kids, trying to provide a balanced meal for them. You know, some of these kids, that's the only decent meal that they'll get all day.

"We're just honoring them because of all the hard work that they do. If you've never worked in a lunchroom, it's a lot of hard work."

Farm-City does a salute to some special group each year, such as last year's honorees whose families have farmed in Cullman County for more than 100 years. This year's choice combined two great themes: food and children.

Said Floyd, "We're just trying to recognize someone that works with kids, that tries to teach kids about balanced nutrition and farm to fork, and all that kind of stuff."

Committee member and former County Economic Development Director Cherrie Haney added, "I just think the lunchroom ladies are people that don't get recognized.

"They feed our children; in fact, now they feed them three meals a day: they have breakfast, lunch and 'lupper'--is what they call it. They see all the kids every day, and I think they're very deserving of this because they don't get recognized enough for what they do."

CULLMAN, Ala. – On Tuesday of this week, Cullman Area Technology Academy (CATA) Culinary Arts students competed in the All County Family, Career and Community Leaders of America (FCCLA) Sweet Potato Cookoff, sponsored by the Cullman County Farm-City Committee and Cullman County Sweet Potato Association and held at All Steak.

They came home with less food and more awards, including:

- Katelyn Freeman, first overall in the Sweet Potato Casserole division
- Caleb Knedlik, first overall in the Sweet Potato Pie division
- Josh Stamper, first overall in the Sweet Potato Dessert division
- Bryce Williams, second place in the Sweet Potato Dessert division
- Lily Trussell, third place in the Sweet Potato Bread division

CATA Culinary Arts instructor Amie Veal also recognized Makiaha Harris for her participation in the bread category.

Veal told The Tribune, "It's a great opportunity for the students to get involved, show their work, and they also get to compete against all the other students throughout all the other county schools as well."

CATA FCCLA President Bryce Williams talked about the experience of competition, saying, "It's very nerve-wracking, but it's very fun, and ends up everybody has fun in the end."

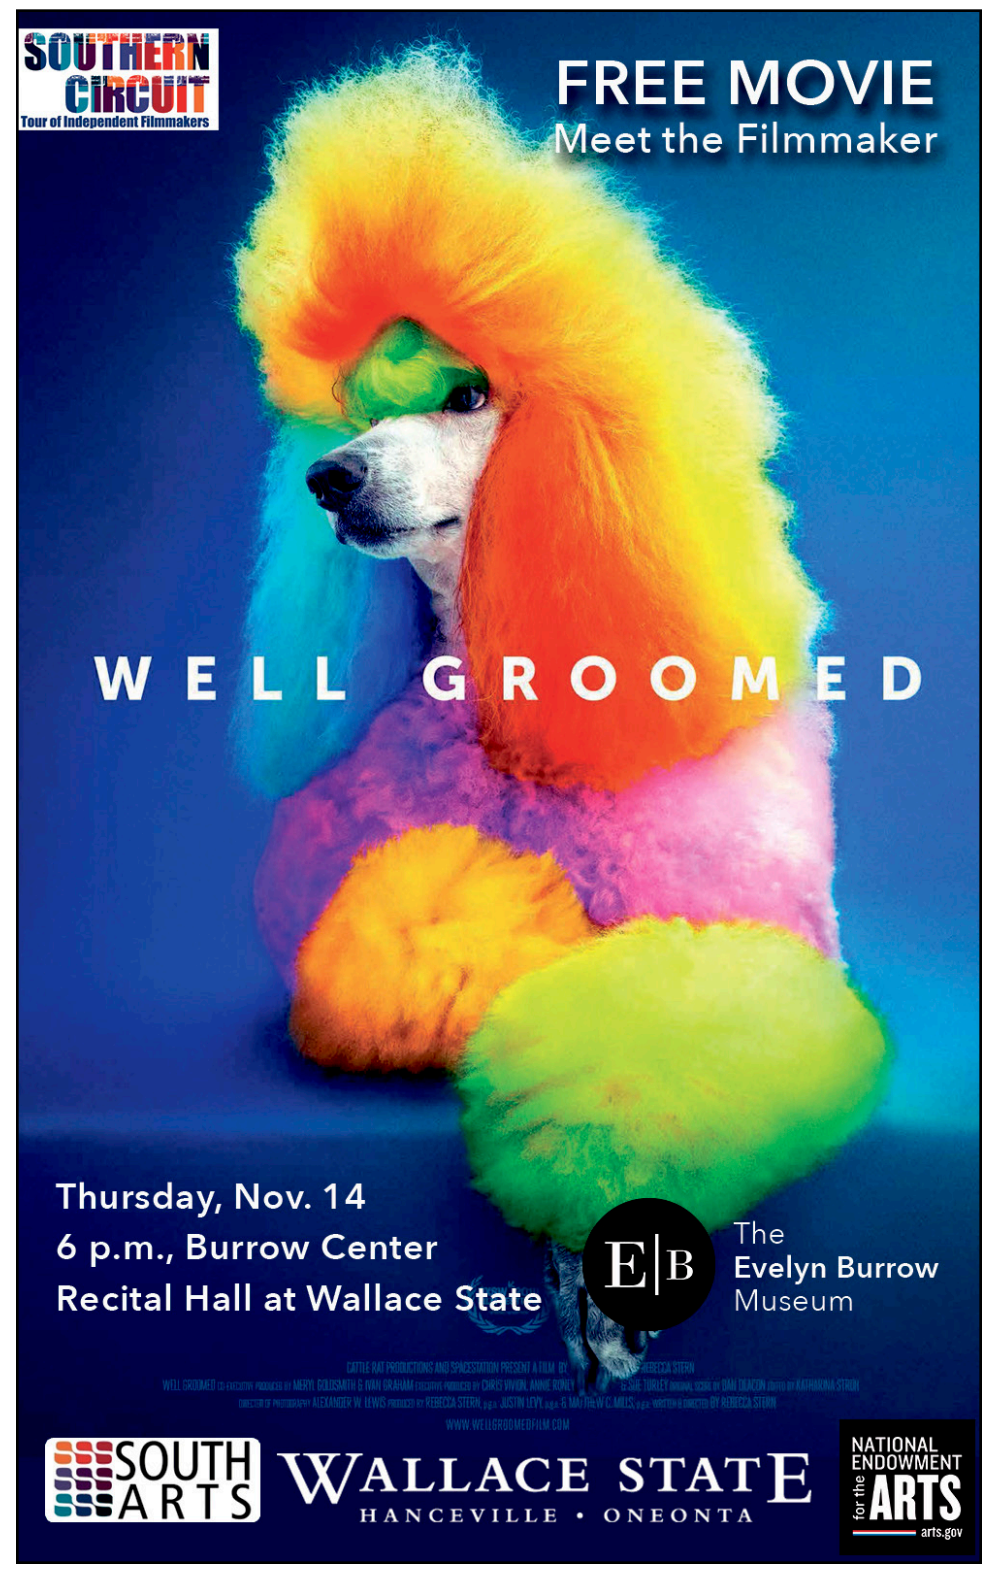

What do folks need to know about CATA Culinary Arts students?

Veal responded enthusiastically, "That they're awesome! They put a lot of hard work into it, and they're very dedicated.

"They're really good about trying the recipes out before they make them; they do a trial run to make sure it's going to be a good fit for the cookoff, and make sure.

"A lot of them try it out with their family members to see if they're going to like it, as well, and get positive feedback."

The Tribune is working to get a full list of all winners from the Sweet Potato Cookoff.

"THE 67-COUNTY, ALABAMA GARDEN PARTY"

ELMORE COUNTY

Ben Johnson South
Tribune Correspondent

few match their Grecophile obsession, but there are still many Greek garden inspirations for Alabama gardeners to be discovered at Jasmine Hill including these:

My mother's favorite ornamental garden in Alabama, other than the one she and my dad created, was Jasmine Hill in Elmore County. Jasmine Hill is more than 20 acres of floral beauty and classical, Greek sculpture including statuary honoring mythical gods and goddesses and numerous tributes to Olympic heroes and heroines. In fact, the Olympic flame burned in a cauldron at Jasmine Hill on its way from Olympia, Greece to the 1996 games in Atlanta, Georgia.

Jasmine Hill is known as "Alabama's Little Corner of Greece." This is a quiet place except for birdsong and a peaceful, green haven for thinkers and dreamers. There are spectacular vistas of the Appalachian Mountain foothills which undulate through Elmore County near the middle of the state. Above the towering pines and flowering dogwoods, American eagles and hawks soar.

The austere stoicism of stone statuary transports you to the Mediterranean coastline with waves of blooming flowers and spreading evergreens replacing the sea. As you gaze at an exact replica of The Temple of Hera you are mentally transported to the Greece of 7th century B.C.

Jasmine Hill was the creation of Benjamin and Mary Fitzgerald, who began it in the 1930s. The Fitzgeralds were a wealthy couple who owned various stores throughout the American South and had the good fortune to sell their businesses just before the crash of the "Great Depression" and then retired to the remote countryside in Elmore County.

Grecophiles, "characterized by a love of Greece and Grecian things," is a word the Fitzgeralds used to describe themselves and their passion. They made 20 trips to Greece to purchase art objects and to study at the American School of Classical Studies in Athens. Jasmine Hill is something like an outdoor museum, a "living memorial" to ancient Greece slapdab in the middle of Alabama.

Since the early 1970s, Jasmine Hill has been supported by Jim and Elmore Inscoe, who have continued the work of the Fitzgeralds. What visitors often comment on is how the Fitzgeralds and then the Inscoes after them have combined "great works of man and glorious nature in harmony."

When you tour the gardens at Jasmine Hill, don't expect to be abruptly flung into a Disney-esque mini-Greece. There has been great thought given to marrying the natural terrain and plantlife of Elmore County with the ancient Greek elements. For instance, the paths that meander through much of the acreage were crafted from native stone where "carved and harvested from neighboring valleys." This was part of a Works Progress Administration (WPA) skills instruction project in the 1930s.

Most of us can't match the financial resources of the Fitzgeralds and SYMMETRY- in garden design lends an illusion of order and generally makes for a more formal experience. Think of this as one side "mirroring" another. Symmetrical elements mean a pairing of plantings or possibly a pair of urns or columns. If you desire order and symmetry, when you place an urn or shrub on one side of a walkway, then place an urn or shrub of similar scale and type on the opposite side of the path. In a word, duplicate.

GARDEN STATUARY- is a grand way to add a focal point or points. Jasmine Hill has an array of magnificent original and reproduction stoneworks to inspire home and public gardeners.

TERRACOTTA- is not a gardening trend. Terracotta is timeless. It's been in gardens for thousands of years. Terracotta is classic as are many of the traditional pots made of this hard-baked clay. The quality of terracotta varies by the quality of clay sourced to create it and the craft of the artisan. Many certain terracotta pots used out-of-doors in Alabama have holes for drainage. The greatest risk to terracotta is standing water in freezing temperatures. Terracotta ages beautifully through the years as the pots at Jasmine Hill attest, but if you wish to speed the aged look of patina, paint your pots with organic yogurt. This simple "aging" process is also effective on stoneworks like garden statuary.

DROUGHT-TOLERANT PLANTS- in Greek gardens are tough and weather-resistant. Plant selection avoids the overly delicate and temperamental.

SHADE- is as treasured in Greek gardens in the intense summers as it is in Alabama landscapes. Plan for vine-covered pergolas and drought-tolerant shade trees.

OLIVE TREES- can be grown in Alabama. There is even a commercial olive farm in southernmost Baldwin County. A few years ago, Jason Powell, who owns the popular Alabama nursery, Petals from the Past (Thorsby, AL), started supplying olive trees for customers who want to grow their own olives and possibly make olive oil at home. The Texas olive Petals from the Past offers is the cold-hardy Arbequina. Olive trees in our state have a spotty history, including a failed "French olive colony" in west Alabama in the 18th century. It is estimated there are 800 million olive trees grown in countries like Greece, which surround the Mediterranean Sea. Perhaps the Arbequina and other cold-hardy olives can give Alabama gardeners some 21st century success with this cherished plant.

"Ode on a Grecian Urn," the poem written by John Keats in 1819, has a theme of the transient nature of human existence. The scenes he describes, which circle the vessel from ancient Greece, are of romantic pursuit and religious ceremony. What Keats reminds us is human life is fleeting, but beauty like that of the urn or his poem or the gardens at Jasmine Hill remain. The famous ending lines of the work are: "Beauty is truth. Truth beauty. That is all ye know on earth and all ye need to know."

Jasmine Hill gardens are open Fridays and Saturdays 9 a.m.-5 p.m., Sundays noon-5 p.m.; admission is $10 for adults, $6 for children 3-12, free for children 2 and younger, $8 for military and senior citizens; www.jasminehill.org

Y'ALL COME to Elmore County on your 67-County, Alabama Garden Party tour! It's quite unique, and Jasmine Hill is delightfully Greek.

The Cullman Tribune is celebrating the Alabama Bicentennial (1819-2019) with statewide field reporting by Alabama Master Gardener/Botanical Artist Ben Johnson South. This year-long feature, "The 67-County Alabama Garden Party," will spotlight different counties each week. Each county will get its own "quilt block," along with a historical profile, and we'll share a recipe specific to the area. At the end of the year, all 67 counties will be put in a book to commemorate the Bicentennial.

The Alabama honeysuckle border was inspired by an 18th century, Southern applique quilt.

ELMORE COUNTY

GREEK INSPIRED CHICKEN

(4 SERVINGS)

Elmore County, Alabama may seem an unlikely spot to have a little haven of Greek-influenced landscaping and structures, but not an unlikely place to create wonderful Greek-inspired recipes. This simple chicken dish combines wine, olives and herbs and is paired with flavorful jasmine rice and asparagus for a comforting Greek feast, right here in Alabama.

INGREDIENTS:

- 4 bone-in, skin-on chicken thighs
- Salt and pepper
- 1 tbsp. unsalted butter
- 1 tbsp. canola oil
- 1/2 cup white wine
- 1/4cup pitted Kalamata olives, halved
- Fresh rosemary
- 1 shallot, sliced into rings
- 2 cups cooked jasmine rice
- 1 bunch of asparagus – tough ends removed

INSTRUCTIONS:

1. Season the chicken on both sides with salt and pepper.
2. In a cast iron or other oven-proof skillet, melt butter and add canola oil on medium-high heat.
3. Place chicken thighs in skillet, skin side down, and cook for 5 minutes.
4. Flip the chicken over and cook another 4 minutes.
5. Add the wine and nestle the olives and some rosemary sprigs between the chicken pieces.
6. Preheat the oven to 375 and bake the thighs for 40 minutes (internal temp of 165).
7. While the chicken is baking, sauté the asparagus and shallots in butter for 4 to 6 minutes, then add the precooked jasmine rice to the asparagus.
8. Remove the chicken from the skillet and set aside. Use the juice in the pan and add the rice and asparagus to the skillet. Mix and place the chicken thighs back on top of the rice mixture.
9. Garnish with fresh rosemary.
