STATE CROSS COUNTRY

Local teams, individuals shine at AHSAA State Cross Country Championships

Nick Griffin
nick@cullmantribune.com

DANVILLE, Ala. – There's a lot of hardware returning to Cullman County after Saturday morning's AHSAA State Cross Country Championships. The Cold Springs Eagles captured the blue map in the Class 1A/2A race and the Lady Eagles lost a tiebreaker to Whitesburg Christian Academy to finish as state runner ups. This year's Cold Springs boys are the first team in school history to finish the season as undefeated state champions and head coach Casey Howell was very proud of the way both his teams competed on the biggest stage to finish stellar seasons.

"We had talked about coming here and doing things the right way for the people that came before us and the people that are going to come after us and we constantly look back and remember the Cold Springs teams from the past.

"We just wanted to be a part of that history and looking back, one of the things they told me from the beginning is usually there will be one let down per season where the guys just don't bring it so we talked about each week making sure we're focused and we bring it," Howell said.

"It was a total team effort this year because we had a great season and went undefeated, but it wasn't always the same five.

"For a lot of our season, our number seven runner today was our number five.

"There was no pride on this team, there was a lot of humility and everybody was genuinely happy for everyone else.

"We weren't out there trying to beat each other; we were trying to run for each other."

Howell continued, "We had a lot of mottos this year but the big one was we just wanted to remember "Who am I?" and remember that we're children of God," Howell said.

"We constantly ask them, 'Is what you did today glorifying to God?' and I think that brought a realization back to them that everything they do does matter and its just been a magical season.

"I don't think a team from Cold Springs has ever gone undefeated."

The St. Bernard Saints put together a third-place finish in the Class 3A race while the Lady Saints placed eighth and in the Class 6A race, the Bearcats and Lady Bearcats finished third and fourth respectively.

The Holly Pond Broncos and Lady Broncos finished 11th and 12th respectively in Class 3A while the Vinemont Lady Eagles placed 16th.

In Class 4A, the Fairview Aggies went home with sixth place and the Lady Aggies posted a 12th place finish.

Individually, Cold Springs' Reagan Parris and Holly Pond's Camilla Chambers finished as state runner ups in their respective races while Cullman's Will Thompson, Cold Springs' Ethan Edgeworth and St. Bernard's Caleb Guthery each collected third-place finishes.

Brooke Crider placed 14th for the Lady Eagles to finish on the All-State team and Eagles runners Jonathan Collett, Cole Akridge, Will Grimmett and Aaron Spurger earned All-State honors as well with fourth, seventh, ninth and 12th finishes.

St. Bernard's Joseph Arriaga placed 13th in the 3A race to finish All-State and Madilyn Kerber also earned All-State honors for the Lady Saints with an 11th place finish along with Fairview's Peyton Bailey who finished 14th in Class 4A.

Pig Bowl (from Front)

CPD Sgt. Joey Duncan told The Tribune, "We used to play annually and just kind of do it for charity, and give all the money to a local charity. We've kind of talked about it, and both agencies agreed it's something we need to start back. It was a good thing and it helps out the community, and it gives money to charity, so we just kind of decided that we're going to start it back."

The two agencies also previously played an annual charity basketball game. According to Duncan, they may try to restart both traditions.

Said Duncan, "I'm not even sure why it ended, honestly. But I played every year, and it's just a fun chance we get to play with our brothers at the sheriff's office and raise money for charity."

Sheriff Matt Gentry told The Tribune, "When the city came to us and asked us if we would play them as a fundraiser, you know, of course we agreed. It's really good camaraderie for law enforcement. It takes a little of the stress off the plate of the day-to-day activities of law enforcement when you can pick a day to just go out and have fun and raise money for a good cause.

"And again, it builds some camaraderie among the deputies that are playing football, and then a little rivalry between the sheriff's office and the police department. So, both of those are good, if done in the right way. I'm proud to see the guys are practicing, working hard. It's all volunteer: they're doing it on their own time and volunteering their time to do it, to make it a success.

"I just appreciate all the hard work of the guys and the girls that are playing, and look forward to seeing what they can accomplish on Nov. 23."

Investigator Trevor Clemmons is coaching the CCSO deputies, while Sgt. Chris Nichols heads up the CPD team.

Proceeds support local charities

Proceeds from the event will be split evenly between the two agencies' own charitable programs, meaning that all money raised will stay in the Cullman area.

Shop with a Cop

The CPD will put its proceeds into "Shop with a Cop," an annual Christmas season program that allows police officers to take children from disadvantaged families shopping for Christmas gifts of clothing and toys.

The event serves a dual purpose: to bring a little Christmas cheer to children and families in the community who might have trouble finding it on their own, and to give kids a chance to interact with law enforcement officers in a low-stress and high-fun environment.

Sgt. Adam Clark, who coordinates the shopping event, told The Tribune previously, "We really want this to be a one-on-one with the officer, as much as possible, so the kid has a good experience with the police officer. Our goal is to make sure these kids have a positive outlook on the officers. We just want them to know us as regular human beings, not just police officers. We are here to help them; it's what we're here for."

Officers also shop for special needs clients at the Margaret Jean Jones Center.

The amount spent by the CPD on each participant is based on the number who sign up and the amount of money raised before the event.

Special Needs Track and Field Day

The CCSO sponsors the annual Special Needs Track and Field Day at Cullman High School's Oliver Woodard Stadium, hosting around 150 athletes for a series of fun events planned and overseen by the physical education staff of the Cullman County Child Development Center, and geared toward competitors with physical or developmental challenges. Participants, each of whom is assigned a buddy from a local high school Key Club to help with the day's activities, get medals and ribbons, as well as a T-shirt and free lunch sponsored by local businesses and cooked by Gentry and his deputies.

CCSO Lt. Rex Sorrow told The Tribune, "The sheriff loves working with special needs students. He loves our community first of all, and then he loves our special needs community just that much more. He puts his heart and his soul, and his money, into trying to make this a good thing, just like our rodeo."

Some sources have reported that the CCSO's proceeds will be donated to Special Olympics, but Gentry confirmed that the funds will remain in Cullman County for his office's local event.

Thanks to sponsors

The Pig Bowl is sponsored by Buffalo Wild Wings, which will hold a halftime competition for a year's worth of wings, and Dick's Sporting Goods, which will give away a Field and Stream Lookout Deluxe treestand.

Donations and auction items are seen on a table at the 33rd Annual Ho! Ho! Ho! Christmas Car, Truck and Motorcycle Show.

CULLMAN, Ala. – Custom classic cars rolled into Depot Park Saturday for the 33rd Annual Ho! Ho! Ho! Christmas Car, Truck and Motorcycle Show benefiting local charity Christmas Love.

"We've had donations and bought different things to auction off, we just auction to the highest bidder and everything we get goes back (to benefit Christmas Love).

"Anything we spend on or buy is out of pocket," said one of the event's organizers, Edith Smith. "One-hundred percent of everything from the auction goes to Christmas Love; anything that comes in, it goes back."

Aside from the show and auction, a 50/50 raffle took place to raise even more money.

Another event organizer, William Criscoe, said, "I think it's up to 42 right now," when asked how many classic automobiles were on display so far Saturday morning.

"We just try to share our time the best we can to help somebody else," said Smith.

What is Christmas Love?

Each year, a group of concerned Cullman area citizens works to make Christmas better for needy children and their families through a program called Christmas Love.

Cullman Caring for Kids Executive Director Javon Daniel and Assistant Director Nancy Bryant sit on the board of the nonprofit program, although Cullman Caring for Kids and Christmas Love are two separate organizations.

Criscoe added, "Javon and Nancy, they're good people- it's a good organization to help out, and people support car shows and a lot of them will pass out fliers and they go, 'Well, it's a good cause, we'll support it.' People are looking for something to help. (Depot Park) is a good place, a good location and it's a little brisk, but today's a good day."

Daniel told The Tribune previously about Christmas Love, "We average between 150 and 200 children every year that we help with Christmas.

"We start by buying them a complete set of clothing from top to bottom.

"That's the first thing; that's our first priority, is to make sure these children have warm clothes: warm coat, socks, underwear, pants, shirts. Then, after that, we start doing the toy part of it.

"They get a lot of stuff, and most of them- I'd say 99 percent of them- would not have a Christmas without Christmas Love, because Christmas Love, our whole mission is to make sure that children have a Christmas."

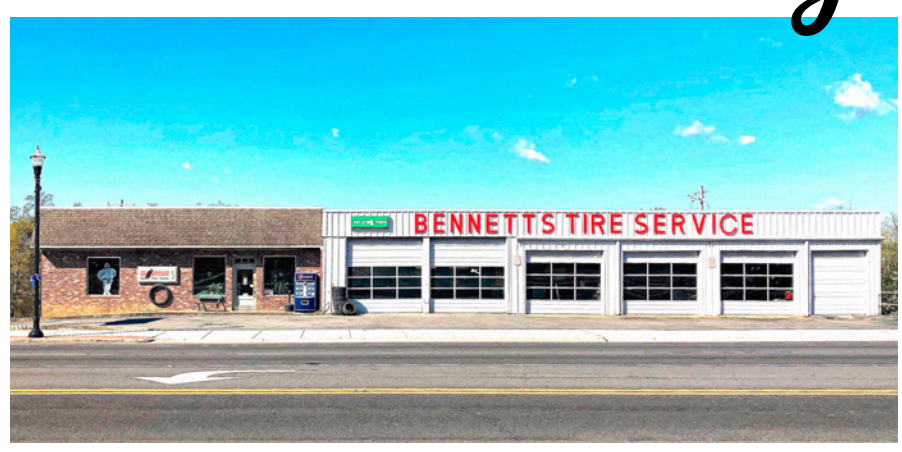

Daniel explained that Christmas Love also helps with whole-family needs.

"And we also, in helping the children, if the family has needs, we try to help with those needs.

"One year, there was a family that didn't have any way to cook, and we got somebody that donated a gas stove. And we carried it and set it down; we didn't hook it up, because we're not qualified. But had a grandmother one time asked for a straw broom, so I went out that day and bought a straw broom to make sure that family box had it."

Organizers posted to Facebook Sunday: "Thank you everyone that came out yesterday, or contributed in some way. As of now we have raised a little over $4,700. We still have a few more contributions coming in. I will post a final total by the end of next week."

PARTY WITH A PURPOSE

Victim Services hosts inaugural Masquerade Ball

Christy Perry
christy@cullmantribune.com

CULLMAN, Ala. – Victim Services of Cullman (VSOC) hosted a night of fun and dancing Saturday at Top of the Town. The inaugural Masquerade Ball drew a big crowd who stepped out in their beautiful gowns, tuxedos and masks for a party with a purpose- raising money for victims of abuse, violence and trauma.

Partygoers enjoyed delicious appetizers and cocktails while bidding on the many silent auction items available.

The room twinkled and the guests sparkled as they danced the night away. A DJ played everyone's favorite dance tunes with a little romance mixed in for the couples.

VSOC Executive Director Carol Horstman and her staff also had a wonderful time, after months of planning for the event.

"This is a good turnout," she said. "Probably more than we expected and that's fantastic."

The organization wasn't sure how much money it had raised at Saturday's event as the silent auction was still collecting bids.

Horstman wished to thank everyone who helped make the Masquerade Ball a success.

"So many people helped by donating to the event. We appreciate the support we receive from the community. We hope to build on this year's and make it an annual thing."

OPINION

Healthy Church, no. 7

Tom Fillinger
Tribune Columnist

Today we continue in our series – The Characteristics of a Healthy Church. Is the church you attend healthy? Read prayerfully and be brutally honest in answering this question.

Who are these people that serve in the role of elder/pastor in the church you attend?

I promised to respond to my reason for not endorsing voting in the church polity. The reason quite simply is unregenerate members. The Gospel message has been diluted and the result is what Bonhoeffer called "Cheap Grace." That is a Gospel that requires no sacrifice, nor repentance and no genuine transformation. Churches are populated by such people. In that case the Holy Spirit is not guiding them.

Their "vote" is governed merely by personal preference or opinion, not the text of scripture. The persistent decline of the church is evidence that supports what I am stating!

From 1 Timothy 3 and Titus 1, we see that these were men in the congregation. We see this by the masculine terms used.

He must be husband of but one wife and a man (emphasis mine) whose children believe (Titus 1:6). These men must have impeccable character; their homes must to be in order; they must not be given to wine or arguing and fighting.

The primary skill set they must have is teaching (1 Tim 3:3). Therefore, they must know the Word of God in order to teach the church and also refute false doctrine. "He must hold firmly to the trustworthy message as it has been taught, so that he can encourage others by sound doctrine and refute those who oppose it." (Titus 1:9)

These men are called to care for the congregation, which includes all the roles of a shepherd. They should feed the congregation by faithful exposition of the Word.

They must give the members of the church guidance. They must at times correct or discipline the church. They must also protect the church from all the works of the devil.

It is a very comprehensive and difficult position. What also stands out in the text is that they are shepherds of God's flock (v. 2). It is not the pastor's church or the pastor's congregation.

It is the Lord's, but God has made these men to be under-shepherds over God's flock. Christ is the Chief Shepherd. This again says that these men must be abiding in God's presence, knowing his Word, so they can best direct the flock according to God's will.

Peter next gives us vices or bad tendencies that are common in the leadership of our churches, as well as virtues that should be encouraged in elders. Because godly elders are to be examples to the flock, these are also challenges for each member of the church to take to heart.

Credible leadership is not a matter of the number of earned degrees a man has. It is not a matter of the marketplace position he may have (lawyer, bank president, etc.).

The qualification for leadership is godliness expressed with consistent faithfulness. This reality is often ignored.

CULLMAN, Ala. – Local business owners were busy Friday putting the finishing touches on their holiday decorating before Friday evening's 2019 Holiday Window Display Contest, put on by the Cullman Area Chamber of Commerce. There were 28 entries in this year's contest according to the Chamber's Director of Business Development Brian Poole.

Judges came from outside of Cullman, from Gardendale, Decatur and Athens, to score the displays. As they took a break at Karma's Coffee House, they all expressed how impressed they were with Cullman.

They were able to catch the lighting of the new Christmas pyramid at the Cullman County Museum in between stops.

One judge simply said, "Cullman is just beautiful."

As Poole and the judges headed to Village Furniture and Carlton's, he explained, "We have the locations broken down into four groups. We have retail.

"We have service, and that would be like florists and salons.

"We have home decor and then we have restaurant or food service.

In the past, the contest didn't have business types separated. Poole changed that to make the contest fair and more fun.

"Now," he said, "we have the home decor guys like Southern Accents and Vintage West up against one another."

To add a bit of extra suspense, the results will not be announced for a couple of weeks.

Poole expects to announce this year's winners at the Christmas in Cullman Tree Lighting Nov. 22 at Depot Park.

The businesses participating in this year's contest are:

Retail- Doug Doggett Jewelers, Better Than Before, If the Shoe Fits, Platform, Book and Barrel, Monograms Plus, Urban Grace, Ashley Mercantile, Lavish Boutique, Jennifer's Treasures, Bob Wallace Appliance and A Touch of German

Service- Youth Advocacy, Cullman Association of Realtors, Cullman Florist, Sips and Strokes, Pamela Jean Studio and J. Drake Salon

Home Decor- White Willow, Vintage West, Cullman Furniture Market, Southern Accents, Village Furniture and The Added Touch Too

Restaurant- Karma's Coffee House, Kernel Kullman, Dreher's and Carlton's
