CULLMAN, Ala. – The National Association of Elementary School Principals (NAESP) recently named East Elementary School Principal David Wiggins as the 2020 National Distinguished Principal for District 1 (Alabama).

On Wednesday, Wiggins told The Tribune, "I accepted this award in honor of all at East Elementary School. Any success on my part, as a principal, is a result of the combined efforts of our faculty and staff, our students and our families."

According to NAESP, the National Distinguished Principal program was established to recognize elementary and middle level principals who set high standards for instruction, student achievement, character and climate for the students, families and staffs in their learning communities.

It says the program was based on three fundamental ideas:

1. Children's attitudes towards learning and their perceptions of themselves as lifelong learners are established in the beginning school years.

2. The scope and quality of children's educational experiences are determined primarily by the school principal, who establishes, through the important work of teachers and the support of caring parents, the character of a particular school's program.

3. The dedication and enthusiasm of the outstanding principals who guide children's early education » PAGE 4

Let's Pretend Hospital hosts area 1st graders

HANCEVILLE, Ala. – Hospitals are nothing to be scared of. That's the message the Wallace State Department of Nursing's Let's Pretend Hospital aimed to deliver this week. Around 1,000 first graders from across Cullman County went through the Let's Pretend Hospital Tuesday through Thursday.

Since 2008, Wallace State Nursing students have used the "hospital" as a way to reach children, to get them familiar with what might otherwise be scary situations. The Let's Pretend Hospital featured a friendly, safe version of an emergency room, ambulance, operating room, x-ray room and a "germ room" (where kids learned the importance of washing their hands) and visit with a doctor and firefighter.

"The nursing department students from first semester through fourth semester transform our nursing department into a pretend hospital and all of our nursing faculty helped, too, so it's a very fun week for us for students and faculty to get together," said Wallace State Nursing Instructor Heather Ashley. "What we want to do is teach these first graders that the hospital isn't scary and what to expect if they do have to go to the hospital. We also have Hanceville Fire that comes and volunteers their time to » PAGE 4

The 2019 UAB football senior class and its legacy

Ted Feeley
UAB Athletics

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. – They heard it all summer long. How do you replace 35 seniors from last year's championship team?

They are going to hear it this entire summer. UAB returns the majority of its starter for the 2020 season.

But what about this senior class of 14 players? What is its legacy?

It starts with the only two remaining players from the 2014 team, center Lee Dufour and placekicker Nick Vogel. From experiencing the lowest of the lows, to the euphoria of last year's conference championship, their journeys are among the most unique in college football history.

Following the shutdown, Dufour transferred to South Alabama and Vogel to Southern Miss for the second semester of their freshman year. In constant contact with each other throughout the spring semester, the two best friends made a pact that they would return to UAB if the program was reinstated.

Now, standing on the other side of a championship season and currently boasting a 26-11 record since returning to action, these two have been on the front lines of the greatest comeback in college football history.

Then there are players like Garrett Marino, Fitzgerald Mofor, Will Dawkins, A.J. Brooks, Chris Tucker and Michael Wright who took a chance on UAB in 2016, knowing they would have to practice for an entire year before playing a different team.

Heck, Marino was the first player to sign at UAB when the program was reinstated in 2015.

Mofor transferred from Division II Glenville State and came to Birmingham as a walk-on hoping to earn a spot. Dawkins transferred in from Indiana. All of their stories are completely different, but they have all been instrumental in helping UAB become a top 10 national defense for consecutive seasons.

And the streak. The Blazers have won 17-straight at home. Since bringing the program back, this group has not lost inside Historic Legion Field and own the nation's fourth longest active home winning streak.

It doesn't get much bigger than putting that streak on the line against the Conference USA's league-leader, and with a chance to move into a tie for first place.

The Blazers (7-3, 4-2 C-USA) host Louisiana Tech (8-2, 5-1 C-USA) with so much on the line this Saturday. Kick is set for 2:30 p.m.

Along with Senior Day, it is Kids Takeover Day at Legion Field. Youth sports teams and leagues are invited to participate in Team Day where groups of 10 or more will be recognized on field during the game.

2019 Senior Class:
Thair Blakes, A.J. Brooks, Will Dawkins, Lee Dufour, David Galten, Jonathan Haden, Jaunta'vius Johnson, Garrett Marino, Fitzgerald Mofor, Kendall Parham, Adrienne Talan, Chris Tucker, Nick Vogel, Michael Wright

CRIMSON TIDE IN THE NFL SPOTLIGHT: WEEK 11

Former Alabama players continue to excel on both sides of the football

UA Athletics
Contributor

TUSCALOOSA, Ala. – The 11th week of the 2019 season in the National Football League wrapped up on Monday. Below is a look at some of the highlights from former Crimson Tide players currently in the NFL.

Atlanta Falcons wide receiver Calvin Ridley posted big numbers on Sunday, as he hauled in a team-high eight passes for 143 yards and a touchdown. Joining him was teammate Julio Jones, who also contributed to the Falcons' big win, posting six grabs for 91 yards. The receiving duo helped Atlanta down the division rival Carolina Panthers in a 29-3 routing.

Another pair of teammates excelled, this tandem on the defensive side of the ball for Chicago. Ha Ha Clinton-Dix and Eddie Jackson put together a strong performance in the Bears' secondary on Sunday night. Clinton-Dix recorded seven total tackles with Jackson right behind him, totaling six stops. The highlight of the night for Chicago occurred when Jackson forced a fumble which Clinton-Dix then recovered for the turnover. Despite their efforts, the Bears fell to the Los Angeles Rams, 17-7.

The Crimson Tide's former running backs in the NFL posted big numbers once again. Josh Jacobs, Mark Ingram and newly-activated Bo Scarbrough all stood out for their respective teams this past weekend. Jacobs continued his Offensive Rookie of the Year push by posting 112 yards on 23 carries while adding three catches for 12 yards. His efforts propelled the Oakland Raiders to a 17-10 win over the Cincinnati Bengals.

Ingram found the end zone twice in the passing game, part of his three total catches for 37 yards. The former Heisman Trophy winner also rushed 13 times for 48 yards in the Baltimore Ravens' blowout win over the Houston Texans, 41-7. Just signed less than two weeks ago, Scarbrough proved his worth in Detroit's matchup. The Tuscaloosa native carried the ball 14 times for 55 yards and reached the end zone from five yards out in the Lions' loss to the Dallas Cowboys.

Irv Smith reached the end zone for the first time in his NFL career. The rookie tight end hauled in three passes for 20 yards, including a 10-yard touchdown for the Vikings first score of the day. Thanks in part to his efforts, the Vikings were able to overcome an early deficit and defeat the Denver Broncos by a score of 27-23.

Wallace State's women's basketball cruises past No. 10 Jones County; WSCC men notch road win

Russell Moore
WSCC Athletics

HANCEVILLE, ALA. – Wallace State's women's basketball team upset 10th-ranked Jones County (Miss.) at Tom Drake Coliseum on Tuesday night, rolling to a 93-78 victory.

Sophomore Kyra Williams poured in a game-high 26 points behind four 3-pointers for Wallace State, and freshman Jiselle Woodson scored 24 points, knocking down six treys of her own. Imari Martin scored 16 points for the Lady Lions, Jasmine Baker had nine and Cherelle Straughter added seven points off the bench.

Wallace State (6-2) made a huge statement after losing a pair of weekend games in Illinois to No. 16 Wabash Valley and Vincennes University.

The Lady Lions surged out to a 31-15 lead by the end of the first quarter against Jones County and built as much as a 24-point cushion throughout.

Jones County trimmed its deficit to nine points early in the fourth quarter. Wallace State responded, however, closing the game with another strong run.

"We never like to lose, but there's no doubt that those losses last weekend helped us win this game. We showed great maturity. Not only was it nice to win against a program like this, but it was nice to see how quickly we learned from our mistakes over the weekend. We stepped up and played well," said Wallace State women's coach Jessica McBrayer.

"We showed more maturity during the last 10 minutes of the game than we had the previous seven games. I'm incredibly proud of how we kept our composure. We kept Jones County at bay and did what we needed to do."

Wallace State mounted a double-digit lead less than two minutes into the game and pushed it to 25-12 by the 2:19 mark in the first quarter. After leading by 16 points after the opening stanza, Wallace State sustained a 55-37 advantage at the break and a 74-62 lead after three quarters.

Jones County had four players finish with double figures, including Jatyjia Jones with 18 points off the bench.

Men's Basketball
Wallace State 85, Lurleen B. Wallace Community College 65
Freshman Kuran Garner finished with 18 points, sophomore Markise Davis added 12 and the Lions (5-2) notched their second straight road win.

Wallace State overcame a 28-24 halftime deficit.

On Nov. 16, Wallace State registered an 80-75 win at Coastal Alabama-East behind four players in double figures.

Juwan Johnson led the way with 17 points and eight rebounds for Wallace State. Garner finished with 14 points, Christopher Samson had 15 points and six rebounds off the bench and Eugene Leonard contributed 12 points.

Both Wallace State teams are home on Saturday, welcoming Wallace Community College-Selma, beginning at 2 p.m.

RUSSELL MOORE/WSCC

Cherelle Straughter had seven points off the bench for Wallace State in its Tuesday win over No. 10 Jones County.

Jaden Shackelford's Career Night Fuels Alabama Men's Basketball Team to 81-73 Win over Furman

Aaron Jordan
UA Athletics

TUSCALOOSA, Ala. – The Alabama men's basketball team defeated the Furman Paladins, 81-73, Tuesday night at Coleman Coliseum. The Crimson Tide (2-2) used stellar defense and a big second half run to hand the Paladins (4-1) their first loss of the season.

Freshman Jaden Shackelford poured in a season-high 25 points on 7-of-12 shooting from the field, 3-of-8 from deep and 8-of-10 from the charity stripe to lead Alabama.

Sophomore Kira Lewis Jr., who entered the game as the team's leading scorer, collected 19 points and seven rebounds to mark his fourth consecutive double-digit scoring effort to begin this season.

Junior John Petty Jr. had a season-high 16 points, while redshirt freshman Javian Davis added 10 points to give UA four in double figures.

After a back-and-forth opening 20 minutes, the Crimson Tide used a 15-6 second half run that turned a 50-50 tie game into a 65-56 advantage with just under four minutes remaining.

Alabama knocked down 11 straight free throws, going 15-of-18 from the charity stripe in the second half alone, to seal the win.

Furman was led by preseason first team all-conference performer Jordan Lyons' game-high 33 points in the losing effort.

Coach Nate Oats Post-game Comments

• "That was a big win. Huge. We needed that one. We needed to get to 2-2 before we go play North Carolina. We challenged our guys to not let offensive mistakes and adversity on the offensive end affect effort on defense.

"I thought we did a really good job of that. I thought our defensive effort was at a pretty high level for about 38 minutes outside of the first two minutes of the second half. I'm really pleased with almost everybody's effort on the defensive end. I thought both these guys (Shackelford and Petty) were really locked in on defense.

"We've said that if you really get locked into defense when you're a skilled offensive player and just play instinctual, shots are going to drop.

"John was super proud of the fact that his man was scoreless in the second half. It's all he wanted to talk about after the game. When he's thinking about defense, his shot is going to drop.

"And they did tonight. It's good to get him back making shots like he does at a high level. Shack came in, I thought his defense is much improved over these first four games, and he's making shots. That's what we've been challenging our guys to do, and they answered the bell pretty well."

Team Stats

• The Tide outrebounded the Paladins 43-34, grabbing seven offensive boards, which marked the fourth-straight game that Alabama has won the battle of the boards

• Alabama notched its fourth consecutive game recording at least 40 rebounds, finishing the night with 43. Alabama now averages 44.0 rebounds a game.

• Despite finishing with 22 turnovers, UA had just 11 of those over the final 30-plus minutes, with the first 11 coming just over nine minutes into the game

• Four Alabama players reached double figures

• Alabama shot 74.1 percent (20-of-27) from the free throw line, making 15-of-18 (83.3 percent) in the second half

First Half

• After falling behind 6-4 at the game's first media timeout, Alabama answered with a 6-0 run to grab a 10-6 lead with 14:34 to go in the first

• Shackelford scored nine straight points for Alabama on 3-of-3 shooting from deep to give the Tide a 22-17 lead with 8:45 remining in the opening half

• The game remained tight the rest of the half and the Tide carried a 34-31 advantage into the locker room

• Shackelford led the Crimson Tide with 14 points in the opening stanza, while Petty added nine

• The Tide held the Paladins to 33 percent shooting (10-of-30) and 20 percent (3-of-15) from deep

• Alabama was 50 percent (12-of-24) from the field in the first half while draining 39 percent (5-of-13) from beyond the arc

Second Half

• The Paladins opened the second half on an 11-2 run, drilling three consecutive three-pointers to grab a 42-36 lead with 17:23 left

• Alabama quickly responded with a 6-0 spurt to even the game at 42-42 with 16:07 remaining in the game

• After trailing 45-42, the Tide surged back with seven straight points and moved in front by a score of 49-45 with 12:15 to play

• At the final media timeout of the contest, Alabama led 63-56 with 3:50 left on the clock

• A steal and slam by Lewis gave the Tide a 72-60 lead with 1:32 remaining – its largest lead of the contest

• After a 13-6 run by the Paladins cut the Alabama lead to just five, Jones came up clutch with a blocked three-pointer to stifle Furman's momentum

The Tide will return to action on Wednesday, Nov. 27 as it faces No. 5/4 North Carolina in the first of three games at the Bad Boy Mowers Battle 4 Atlantis in Paradise Islands, Bahamas. Tip-off is slated for 1:30 pm CT and will be available on ESPN or ESPN2.

Hopewell Baptist hosts annual community Thanksgiving meal

christy@cullmantribune.com

HANCEVILLE, Ala. – Hopewell Baptist Church opened its doors for a free Thanksgiving meal for the community Wednesday night. Church members prepared enough turkey and dressing, green beans, sweet potatoes and desserts for 350 people. Minutes after opening the doors at 5 p.m., the fellowship hall was full.

This is the third year Hopewell has offered a Thanksgiving meal to its neighbors. Many families chose to dine in and enjoy a time of fellowship while others grabbed meals to go. Some difficult decisions were being made at the dessert table filled with homemade cakes and pies.

Ruth Edmondson's Coca-Cola cake was a wise choice; she joked, "I put nuts in it because I'm nuts."

This year, six turkeys, 14 pounds of dressing, 9 pounds of sweet potatoes and 24 gallons of green beans went into serving the meal.

Pastor Layne Howard and his wife Kathy were pleased with the community response.

"I don't know what the count has been today, but I think we have had a great turnout," said Kathy Howard. "We will be here until we run out of food. We enjoy it."

"Hopewell does stuff like this all the time," said church member Victoria Capps. "This is a good way to bring people in and show that we are not just Wednesday night and Sunday morning. We are a church that wants to give back to our community."

Hopewell's music minister Danny Love entertained guests from the piano. He and wife Amber were welcomed to the church in early October and have since welcomed their new baby girl, 2-week-old Ella Grace.

The church will have a Christmas Cantata Dec. 22.

CULLMAN, Ala. – At the annual Farm-City Banquet Thursday night at the Cullman Civic Center, the Cullman Farm-City Committee named Ross and Judy York as the 2020 Farm Family of the Year.

Ross York is a fourth-generation farmer, working in partnership with his sons, the fifth generation.

His grandchildren are already riding in the tractors and combines.

The Yorks' crops over the years have included potatoes, alfalfa hay, cabbage, watermelons, cattle, wheat, soybeans and corn.

Judy York works off the farm as an RN recover nurse at Cullman Regional.

They have three children: Amanda, Andrew and Austin, and five grandchildren.

She enjoys spending time with her children and grandchildren.

The Yorks are active members of Cullman First Church of the Nazarene.

The Farm-City Committee chooses a Family of the Year each year, rotating between choosing a Farm Family and City Family.

The Yorks succeed Jay and Melissa Betts, the 2019 City Family of the Year.

teach the first graders about fire safety and what to do if they see a fireman. Our overall goal, too, is for the first graders to be educated, and it helps our students learn how to teach to the pediatric population also."

Ashley said an estimated 500 nursing students participated in this year's Let's Pretend Hospital, with 12 faculty members helping the students. She also thanked those outside of Wallace State who helped with the three-day event.

"We have Cullman Regional that partners with us and donates bags and coloring books for the students, and then Children's Hospital also partners with us and donates the surgical masks that the students wear when they go in the operating room," she said. "We're just happy that we can give back to the community. It's like a community service project; in teaching these first graders, it helps them understand if they do have to go to the hospital, and also our students learn from it, too. We feel it produces a better nurse because they've gained this pediatric education experience."

experiences should be acknowledged to both show appreciation for their work as well as to allow them to serve as models for others in the field.

"As much as I celebrate and share EES events and accomplishments, I consider our little elementary school to be one of the best kept secrets in the state," said Wiggins. "Being recognized by NAESP is something that I never had on my radar. This is another validation that we, as a school family, are doing what is best for our children."

The National Distinguished Principal program every year recognizes principals from all 50 states, including U.S. public and private schools and those from the United States Departments of Defense Office of Educational Activity and the United States Department of State Office of Overseas Schools.

According to NAESP, "Public school elementary and middle-level principals are nominated by peers in their state, and final selections are made by committees appointed by each of NAESP's state affiliate offices. Honorees from private schools and overseas schools are selected by special committees."

The 2019 class of National Distinguished Principals numbered 59.

"It is humbling be named as one of Alabama's Distinguished Principals," said Wiggins.

Cullman Florist's Carla Fussell featured in The Retail Florist magazine

Maggie Darnell
maggie@cullmantribune.com

CULLMAN, Ala. – Cullman Florist Manager Carla Fussell was recently recognized in Teleflora's national publication, The Retail Florist.

Fussell shared, "They called, and they were looking to do an article on I think entrepreneurship, because I'm part of the Teleflora Team, the education team, and they had my name and so they called here and asked if they could interview me!"

Fussell said she talked up Cullman in the magazine.

"We talked about the history of Cullman, about how the florist moved from place to place and why and then the (2011) tornado and all that," she said. "I was asked about the owners and what kinds of things we like to do here, and I gave them all that and they wrote it up. I mentioned a lot of Cullman stuff in there, like 2nd Fridays. I was asked what we do for our community and we talked about our business-to-business service that we offer and how we always participate in the Chamber events and everything like lights and window displays and such. I tried to make sure Cullman got a shout-out in there!"

Fussell was pretty excited to be featured in the national publication.

"Oh, it's pretty neat! I think all the florists in the country get that magazine, it's (The) Retail Florist, and it's not a big magazine, but it is an industry magazine, so it'll go across the nation and that's pretty cool!"

Of the article, she said, "Part of it is my history and that I was a teacher to begin with, so I mean, I never planned to do this! But it ended up being an opportunity that fell into my lap and I really enjoyed it and so, maybe your first career is not the best thing you do, maybe sometimes your second career is.

"So that's kind of cool for younger people to think that even if what you're doing right now isn't what you want to do or isn't working out, there could be something better around the corner, you never know!

"Another part of the article would be the history of the community, because I was telling them how this building used to be a bar and a bowling alley; you can look down at the floor and see just a little bit of a slant. Some people used to sit in here and set up pins. They had pin-boys and they would set up the pins for people to bowl. It's just, you wonder and think of all the things that went on in this building before we were ever here and that's pretty cool. It was built in 1905 and a lot of our older customers that come in, they'll tell me 'Oh, I used to eat lunch here with my dad,' or 'We used to go to the movie theater right over there,' and it's like 'Really? There was a movie theater over there?' It's neat! I didn't grow up in Cullman and was raised in a military family, my parents are from here, so I didn't know about that. I wanted to bring a little bit of the aspect of the history and the community in general, just Cullman in general."

Smiled Fussell, "I was just privileged to be featured in it, and I hope I represented well. We've been here 53 years now, and we really enjoy working with all the people in the community."

Movie: The Magical Christmas Shoes

Her name may conjure up happy mental images of Christmas figurines, but for some reason, Kayla Hummel (Erin Karpluk, "Rookie Blue") is just not feeling the yuletide season this year as the holidays approach. Thankfully, however, that changes when a pair of magical shoes dance their way into Kayla's holidays, rekindling her usual vivacious Christmas spirit and even leading her to find love. Damon Runyan also stars in this 2019 fantasy.

Dynasty

Blake (Grant Show) tries to prepare his family to celebrate what may well turn out to be his last Thanksgiving with them, which includes a plea for Adam and Cristal (Sam Underwood, Daniella Alonso) to call at least a temporary truce in the new episode "Shoot From the Hip." Meanwhile, Fallon (Elizabeth Gillies) keeps her focus on a new project, while Liam (Adam Huber) bumps into an old friend. Elsewhere, Sam and Anders (Rafael de la Fuente, Alan Dale) get outside assistance with the hotel.

Movie: Ready for War

The recording artist Drake is an executive producer for this 2019 documentary from director Andrew Renzi, which explores the current politically charged phenomenon of deporting U.S. military veterans. The film follows three green card-holding soldiers at various stages in the process, including one in Tijuana fighting to come home to be reunited with his family in the United States.

Movie: Carole's Christmas

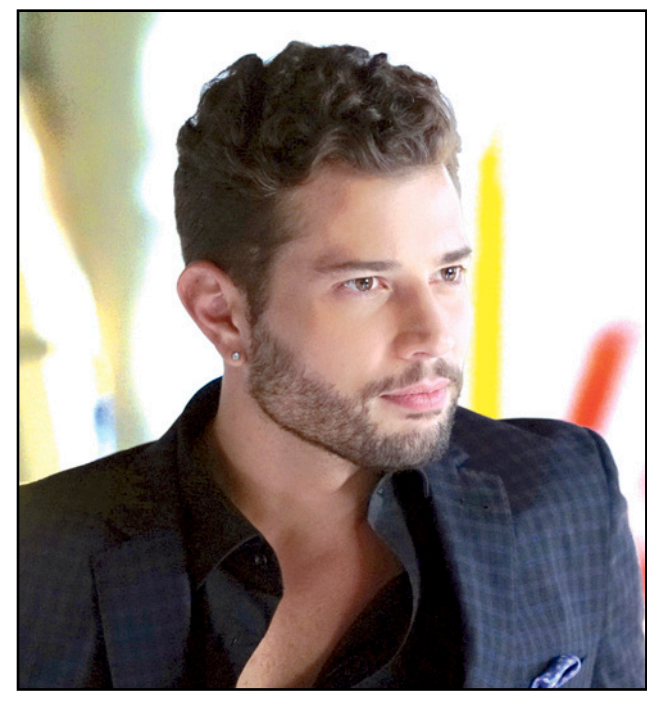

In this new yuletide fantasy, Kimberly Elise stars as overworked businesswoman Carole Jordan, who finds her everyday reality turned upside down after casually wishing she had taken a different path in life. As this new life fills her days with "excitement" that keeps Carole from devoting any time to meaningful things like family, friends and the joys of Christmas, her only confidante is Iris (Jackée Harry), a woman Carole recognizes from her previous life. Cayden K. Williams ("David Makes Man") co-stars.

Great Performances

William Shakespeare's beloved romantic comedy "Much Ado About Nothing" gets a striking makeover in this new production from New York Public Theater's Shakespeare in the Park, which features an all-black ensemble in a staging by Kenny Leon ("American Son") that moves the action to present-day Georgia. Heading the cast as constantly sparring lovers Beatrice and Benedick are Danielle Brooks ("Orange Is the New Black") and Grantham Coleman ("The Americans"); the company also includes Margaret Odette ("Instinct"), Jeremie Harris ("Legion") and Tiffany Denise Hobbs ("Claws").

Comedy Central Stand-Up Presents...

Season 3 concludes with two final back-to-back episodes, starting with a half-hour set from Charles Gould, who also has appeared as an actor in the acclaimed dramedy "The Big Sick" and the TV sitcoms "Superstore" and "Search Party." Gould's comedy style unfolds like a conversation with a close friend who has just gone through a day that went horribly wrong. Sara Schaefer, who won an Emmy for her interactive media work on "Late Night With Jimmy Fallon," follows in the season finale.

Rafael de la Fuente stars in "Dynasty" on The CW.

OPINION

Op-Ed: Support LOCAL shops and restaurants on Small Business Saturday

Rosemary Elebash
Contributor

Governor Ivey has proclaimed Nov. 30, the Saturday after Thanksgiving, as Small Business Saturday in Alabama.

Small business really is the bedrock of Alabama's economy. It accounts for 99.4 percent of all businesses in the state and employs about 47 percent of the workforce, according to the latest figures from the U.S. Small Business Administration.

Small Business Saturday, then, is a day when we can support the locally owned shops and restaurants that support our communities throughout the year.

Small Business Saturday was created 10 years ago to support the clothing stores and coffee shops struggling to recover from the Great Recession.

Since then, it has become one of the busiest shopping days of the year.

We don't have sales figures for Alabama, but, nationwide, shoppers spent a whopping $17.8 billion last year on Small Business Saturday, according to American Express and NFIB, the nation's leading small business advocacy organization.

To put that in perspective, people spent only $7.9 billion online two days later on Cyber Monday.

Overall, an estimated 104 million Americans supported local stores and restaurants on last year's Small Business Saturday. And it wasn't just brick-and-mortar businesses that benefited from the sales holiday. According to American Express and NFIB, 41 percent of those who participated in last year's Small Business Saturday shopped small online, too.

One of the things I enjoy most about shopping small is the service. When you #ShopSmall, there's a good chance you'll be dealing directly with the owner, someone with a personal stake in making you a satisfied customer who'll become a regular.

And it appears they're succeeding; 96 percent of shoppers surveyed by American Express and NFIB last year said Small Business Saturday makes them want to shop at small businesses the rest of the year, too.

Shopping malls and chain stores can be generic, but small businesses are unique. When you shop small, you stand a better chance of finding clothes and gifts they don't sell at the mall.

Plus, more of the money we spend at a small business stays in the community – 67 cents of every dollar, according to a study by American Express. What's more, every dollar spent at a small business creates another 50 cents in local business activity because of employee spending and purchases to keep the business up and running.

Small business is important. Small business is fundamental to the economic health of our communities. Small businesses are owned by – and employ – our family, friends, and neighbors. They create jobs and support our local charities and schools.

Please join me and go out with your family and friends and enjoy shopping and dining on Small Business Saturday. Small business really is the glue that holds our communities together. When we help small businesses, we help everyone.

Salad products sold in AL and other states recalled due to possible E. coli contamination

Mitch Adams
Contributor

WASHINGTON, D.C. – Missa Bay, LLC, a Swedesboro, N.J. establishment, is recalling approximately 75,233 pounds of salad products that contain meat or poultry because the lettuce ingredient may be contaminated with E. coli O157:H7, the U.S. Department of Agriculture's Food Safety and Inspection Service (FSIS) announced Thursday.

The salad products items were produced from Oct. 14, 2019 through Oct. 16, 2019. The products subject to the recall can be found at http://bit.ly/34a8SsR.

The products subject to recall bear establishment number "EST. 18502B" inside the USDA mark of inspection. These items were shipped to distribution locations in Alabama, Connecticut, Florida, Georgia, Illinois, Indiana, Louisiana, Maine, Maryland, Massachusetts, Michigan, Minnesota, Mississippi, Missouri, New Jersey, New York, North Carolina, Ohio, Pennsylvania, South Carolina, Virginia and Wisconsin.

As part of a foodborne illness outbreak investigation, the Maryland Department of Health collected an unopened package of Ready Pac Bistro Chicken Raised Without Antibiotics Caesar Salad with FSIS EST number 18502B on the label. The state collected and tested individual ingredients in the salad and the lettuce tested positive for E. coli O157:H7. All products from the same lot of lettuce are included in the recall.

Most people infected with STEC O157:H7 develop diarrhea (often bloody) and vomiting. Some illnesses last longer and can be more severe. Infection is usually diagnosed by testing of a stool sample. Vigorous rehydration and other supportive care is the usual treatment; antibiotic treatment is generally not recommended.

Most people recover within a week, but, rarely, some develop a more severe infection. Hemolytic uremic syndrome (HUS), a type of kidney failure, is uncommon with STEC O157:H7 infection. HUS can occur in people of any age but is most common in children under 5 years old, older adults and persons with weakened immune systems. It is marked by easy bruising, pallor and decreased urine output. Persons who experience these symptoms should seek emergency medical care immediately.

FSIS is concerned that some products may be in consumers' refrigerators even though they are past their use by dates. Consumers who have purchased these products are urged not to consume them. These products should be thrown away or returned to the place of purchase.

FSIS routinely conducts recall effectiveness checks to verify recalling firms notify their customers of the recall and that steps are taken to make certain that the product is no longer available to consumers. When available, the retail distribution list(s) will be posted on the FSIS website at www.fsis.usda.gov/recalls.

Consumers with questions regarding the recall can contact Mary Toscano, Consumer Affairs Manager for Bonduelle at 1-800-800-7822.

Members of the media with questions regarding the recall can contact the Bonduelle Newsroom at 626-678-2222 or bfa-newsroom@bonduelle.com.

Consumers with food safety questions can call the toll-free USDA Meat and Poultry Hotline at 1-888-MPHotline (1-888-674-6854) or live chat via Ask USDA from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. (Eastern Time) Monday through Friday. Consumers can also browse food safety messages at Ask USDA or send a question via email to MPHotline@usda.gov.

For consumers that need to report a problem with a meat, poultry, or egg product, the online Electronic Consumer Complaint Monitoring System can be accessed 24 hours a day at https://foodcomplaint.fsis.usda.gov/eCCF/.
