Community meetings promote CCBOE's plan for proposed 1-cent tax

W.C. Mann
craig@cullmantribune.com

HANCEVILLE, Ala. – Cullman County Board of Education (CCBOE) Superintendent Dr. Shane Barnette visited Hanceville High School Tuesday evening as part of a cross-county push to tell people what he and the board hope to accomplish if voters approve a proposed countywide 1-cent tax March 3.

He began by telling the audience that social media has seen much misinformation posted about the proposal and plan.

"There's a lot of people who don't know the facts," he said. "I would love for them to come and hear the true facts-that would be wonderful-and ask questions to me face to face."

Barnette's plan since first proposing the tax has focused on three areas of improvement: safety and security, creating a new career technical education center and making local campus improvements.

Using a slide show to explain the plan, he assured the Hanceville audience, "Cullman County Schools, our funds that we generate from this 1-cent sales tax, will all go into a separate account, and out of that account, it'll be earmarked for these three areas that are on the screen. I'll talk about those in just a moment. Every month, a report will be generated so that you can see every cent that's spent out of that fund and know what that money's been spent on."

DETAILS ON THE THREE TARGET AREAS INCLUDE:

Campus safety and security

Barnette has said that his first priority will be to improve security on every campus in the system with

- Additional School Resource Deputies – According to Barnette, the hiring of additional SRDs would be the first step, as soon as sufficient funds become available.
- More security fencing – Barnette said he would like to see all campuses fenced in, but not looking like prisons. His idea includes regular fencing » PAGE 7

FAIRVIEW, Ala. – Fairview Theatre Works director Mark Dobbs, who is directing a spring production of "Little Shop of Horrors" with a cast drawn from multiple Cullman County schools, this week announced a countywide contest to design the cover for the show's hand-out program. For you artsy types, there's even a little fortune to go with the fame: the student whose artwork is chosen will receive a $100 prize.

Contest rules

- Only students currently enrolled in Cullman County schools are eligible.
- The contest is open to only those students in grades 9-12.
- All entries must be the original work of the student who » PAGE 4

Campbell's game-winner sends Hanceville to first Final 4 since 1999

Nick Griffin

JACKSONVILLE, Ala. – Things are never boring with the Hanceville Bulldogs. After escaping Locust Fork in overtime in the sub-regional and upsetting No. 1 Piedmont in double overtime Saturday night, the Bulldogs have done it again, toppling Midfield 56-54 on a game-winning shot by freshman guard Zach Campbell, who is already developing a reputation for his late-game heroics. A turnover by the Patriots gave Hanceville possession with just seven seconds remaining and Campbell brought the ball up the floor, cut into the Patriots defense and put up a floater as time expired to send the Bulldogs to Birmingham.

Campbell reflected on the game's final possession and credited his team's intensity on the defensive end for carrying them this far in the postseason.

"We just wanted to get it down the court because there wasn't a lot of time and if they tried to collapse, I would've looked for a kick-out," Campbell said.

"We work on layups, power layups and shots every day and we preach defense. We love defense and that's » PAGE 8

Cullman's Lowry, St. John named Alabama Law Foundation Fellows

Tracy Daniel
Contributor

MONTGOMERY, Ala. – The selection committee of the Fellows of the Alabama Law Foundation meets annually to select lawyers, from among those nominated by incumbent Fellows, to be invited to membership. Those selected have demonstrated outstanding dedication to their profession and their community.

New members were inducted at the annual Fellows Dinner which was held Saturday, Jan. 25, 2020 at the Renaissance in Montgomery, Alabama.

The Fellows program was established in 1995 to honor Alabama Bar members for outstanding service and commitment.

Since no more than 1% of bar members are invited into fellowship, the selection committee chooses new members from an exceptional group of lawyers.

Executive Director of the Alabama Law Foundation Tracy Daniel explained, "We are honored to welcome the 2019 class of Fellows to the Alabama Law Foundation.

"This class reflects the best of the best. Throughout their careers, these men and women have distinguished themselves as lawyers, judges, and servant leaders in the profession and community.

"We are proud to welcome them into the ranks of our foundation."

The foundation depends upon Fellows to provide financial and personal support.

Fellows' gifts help the foundation fund important projects and programs that benefit Alabama residents and the legal community alike, toward the goal of providing equal access to justice for all Alabama citizens.

The foundation awarded $1,147,667 for calendar year 2020.

Eighty-eight percent of grants were given to organizations providing free civil legal aid to low-income residents of Alabama, and the remaining twelve percent went to projects to improve the administration of justice.

Fellows accepted into membership for 2019 are the following:

• Annemarie C. Axon, Birmingham – University of Alabama, B.A. University of Alabama School of Law, J.D. United States District Judge, Northern District of Alabama

Wallace State to welcome David Anthony Johnson Feb. 26 as part of Black History Month events

Gail Crutchfield
WSCC

HANCEVILLE, Ala. – Wallace State Community College will welcome motivational speaker, storyteller and vocalist David Anthony Johnson to campus Wednesday, Feb. 26 at 10 a.m. in the Burrow Center Recital Hall as part of the college's Black History Month observances. His appearance is sponsored by the Wallace State Diversity Committee and Student Engagement.

Johnson is best known for his reenactments of the speeches of Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr., emulating the reverend's vocal style.

He has performed for and shared the stage with Civil Rights activists such as the late Rosa Parks, Johnnie Cochran, Maya Angelou and more.

He also specializes in telling stories about the Underground Railroad and the Civil Rights Movements.

He's made it his mission to love, lead, inspire and motivate others by example. He uses his talents to inspire others to use their talents positively to make a difference in their communities.

Johnson said his great-grandmother serves as his biggest inspiration, having taught him the importance of loving everyone from all walks of life. Growing up, he saw her helping people in many ways at church, in their neighborhood and in their community.

She inspired him to learn Dr. King's speeches because she said that she admired him for giving up his life for the cause to love, to free his brothers and sisters of all races.

Johnson is a graduate of Oakwood University in Huntsville, where received a bachelor's degree in church leadership. He and his wife Karina live in Los Angeles and have three children ages 16 to 28.

The event is free, and the public is invited to attend.

For more information about upcoming events at the Burrow Center at Wallace State, visit www.wallacestate.edu or call 256-352-8277.

West Point falls to Madison Academy 69-54 in Northwest Regional Finals

Nick Griffin
nick@cullmantribune.com

HANCEVILLE, Ala. – A stellar season for the West Point Lady Warriors came to an end Wednesday morning in the Northwest Regional Championship Game. After a hot start in the opening quarter gave them the early lead, the Lady Warriors did not make a shot from the field in the second and weren't able to keep pace with Madison Academy in the second half, falling 69-54 and finishing the season with a record of 28-6.

West Point Head Coach John Wellborn is proud of the way his team fought against a fast, physical Lady Mustangs squad.

"You just kind of have to pick you poison against them. If you try to stop their big girl inside, you leave their guards free to do whatever they want to do. That's basically what we did, and you saw that their guards can go," Wellborn said. "We didn't get back on defense well enough, one guard scored 21 and the other scored 20. We did pretty good on (Destinee McGhee). She had 11 points and that's about all we can do against her. Nobody has stopped her all year long but the (Jaden) Langford girl and (Nequoia) Adams are just so quick. They get down the floor fast and they can finish at the rim."

The Lady Warriors led Madison Academy at the end of the first quarter but were held to just five points in the second, all of which came from the free throw line.

"We battled toe to toe except for the second quarter, the second quarter killed us," Wellborn said. "We went from being up 18-9 to being down 22-18 and then down 33-23. I think that was the turning point in the game when they got that momentum."

A three-pointer from Micah Oldacre gave the Lady Warriors an early 3-2 lead but Madison Academy was able to pull ahead 7-5 near the five-minute mark of the first. Lexi Shadix drilled a three to put West Point back in front 8-7 midway through the period and back to back baskets from Shadix and Mackenzie Carter stretched the lead to 12-7. Miriam Oldacre and Carter both completed and-one plays after that to make it an 18-9 game late in the opening quarter. However, the Lady Mustangs were able finish the quarter with a 5-0 run to cut the lead to 18-14 at the start of the second.

The run continued for Madison Academy in the second quarter. The Lady Mustangs moved in front 22-18 early in the second and the Lady Warriors were held scoreless for over four minutes of the period until a Shadix free throw trimmed the lead to 24-19. Miriam Oldacre added a free throw to make it 24-20 but another scoring run by Madison Academy put West Point down 30-21. Miriam Oldacre knocked down a pair of free throws in the final second of the half to make it a 33-23 game at the break.

Another Miriam Oldacre score made it 35-25 at the start of the third but the Lady Mustangs created some separation and pulled ahead 42-27. Ryleigh Jones drained a pair from the line to cut the deficit to 13 and Shadix drilled a three to make it 44-32 midway through the period. Shadix then scored back to baskets for the Lady Warriors to trim the lead to 10 with three minutes to play in the third quarter but Madison Academy responded and moved back in front 50-36. Jones laid one in to cut into the lead with just over a minute to play in the quarter and Carter knocked down a jumper just before the buzzer to make it a 51-40 game going into the final frame.

The Lady Mustangs opened the fourth with an 8-0 run to begin to pull away but two more free throws by Shadix trimmed the lead to 59-44 midway through the period. Miriam Oldacre laid one in to make it a 65-47 game with two minutes remaining and Sheridan Bowers drilled a three from the top of the key in the final 30 seconds but it was too little, too late and Madison Academy held on to win it over West Point 69-54.

Shadix led the way for the Lady Warriors offensively with 19 points. Miriam Oldacre finished with 14, Carter posted seven, Micah Oldacre added six, Jones scored five and Bowers added three.

Wellborn is proud of his kids for overcoming adversity throughout their careers at West Point and was happy to see all of his seniors healthy and playing together Wednesday morning.

"We had a good season. We lost some games early and of course Mackenzie (Carter) wasn't playing early on so we probably lost some games early that I don't think we would've lost, and we would've had a better record than what we had," Wellborn said. "They've battled, they've been through a lot and I'm glad that all seven of them could play together for this last game with nobody hurt."

After winning over 100 games as a senior class, capturing back to back county championships and back to back trips to the Northwest Regional, Carter is proud of all she and her teammates have accomplished in their time at West Point and knows they left everything on the floor.

"I'm proud of all the things we accomplished together. At the beginning of the season we didn't really play as a team because we weren't all together but then I think near the end we started coming together," Carter said. "I think there are some things we could've done better, there are always things you could've done better but I think we played as hard as we could."

Seniors Mackenzie Carter, Molly Pendley, Brooke Brownfield, Micah and Miriam Oldacre and Sheridan Bowers will be gone next year but with the foundation they've laid firmly in place, the future looks bright for the Lady Warriors.

Contest (from Front)

submits it.

- All entries must be hand-drawn or painted by the student (no images from the internet).
- Students should not copy logos or artwork from previous productions of the play.
- In no way should any student infringe on copyright laws (it is the student's responsibility to know what works are copyrighted).
- Because the winner's artwork will be scanned to be included in the "Playbill," all artwork should be submitted on 8 ½" by 11" paper (or be able to be trimmed to that size).
- The winner will be chosen by the director and cast of the play. Their decision is final and no appeal will be considered.
- Anyone with questions should email Dobbs at mdobbs@ccboe.org.
- All entries become the property of Fairview Theatre Works.

What should the cover look like?

Said Dobbs, "I want to leave the contest vague enough for all the artists to be creative. I recommend looking at images online of movie and play posters from the past to familiarize yourself with the play and what it typically looks like. Most put the man-eating plant (Audrey II) on the cover. Many use primary colors of red, yellow and green (but you don't have to). Many make any letters in red seem to be dripping with blood (but you don't have to). Look around, learn about the play, be creative and have fun."

Submitting your art

Entries can be submitted in one of two ways:

- Students can scan their artwork, save it in JPEG, GIF or PNG format, and email it to mdobbs@ccboe.org. One of the teachers at your school might be able to help you with this.
- Students can mail or bring their artwork (or a color copy) to Fairview High School. The address is 841 Welcome Road, Cullman, AL 35058.

All entries should be accompanied with the following information:

- Student's name
- Student's school
- Student's grade
- Student's CCBOE email address
- A contact phone number

Schedule

The contest opened Wednesday, Feb. 19 and submissions will be accepted through Friday, March 6. The winner will be announced Monday, March 9.

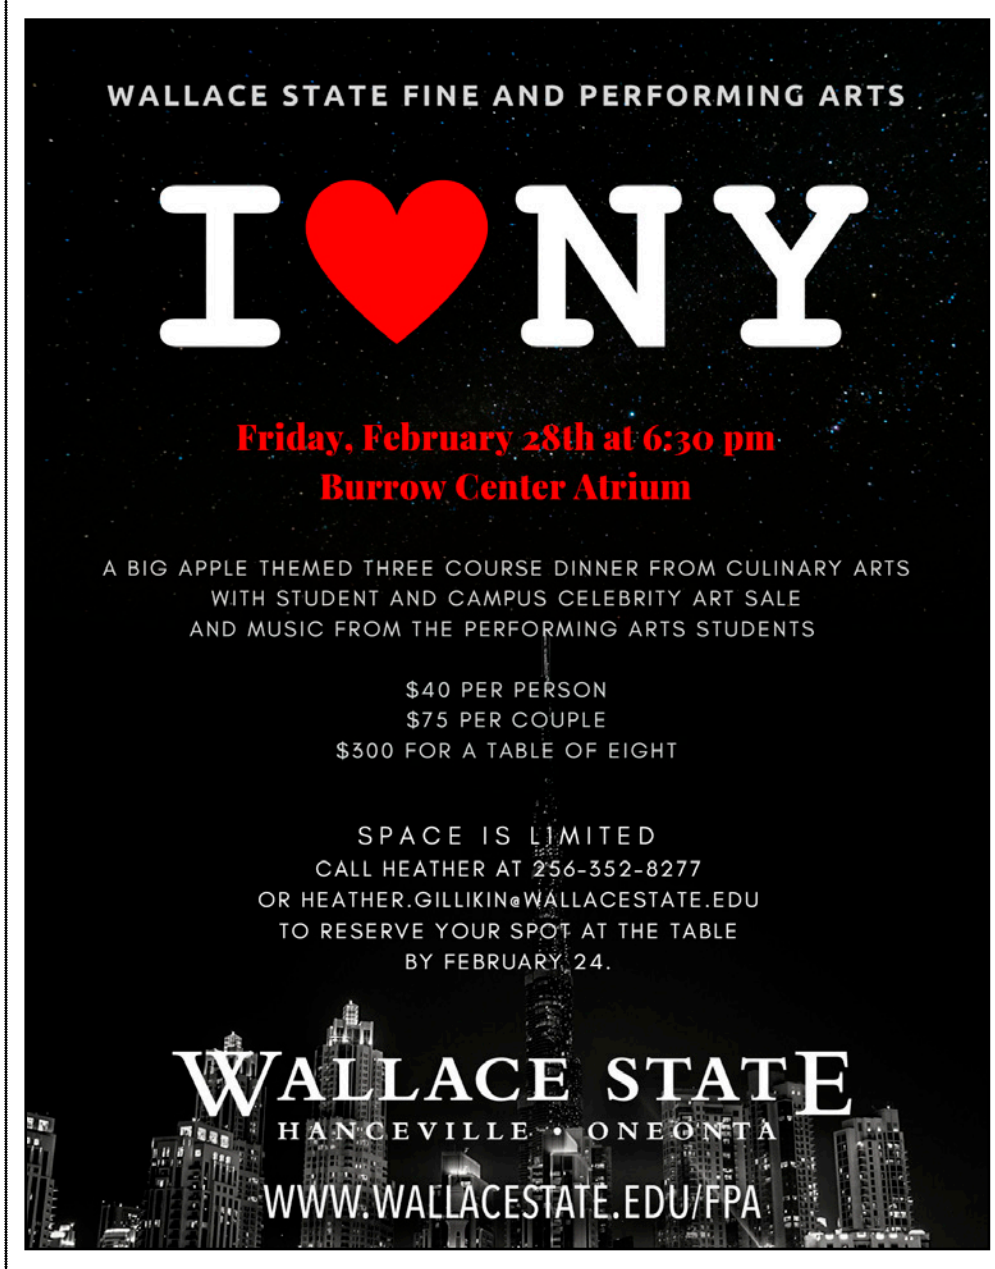

Save the dates!

In-school performances of "Little Shop of Horrors" will begin Monday, April 13. Public shows are planned for Saturday and Sunday, April 18-19 and the following Friday and Saturday, April 24-25.

Watch The Tribune for updates closer to opening and follow Fairview Theatre Works on Facebook at the address above. Subdivision (from Front)

christy@cullmantribune.com

CULLMAN, Ala. – A "groundbreaking" ceremony for a new subdivision was held Wednesday morning at Cullman City Hall. The event was moved indoors due to weather. The new Ellsworth subdivision will be located off Main Avenue Southwest. The development will be built by Birmingham-based Prominence Homes in partnership with commercial real estate firm Retail Specialists.

Ellsworth will consist of at least 200 homes built in four phases. The homes will range in price from $190,000 to the $250,000s. The subdivision will feature new streets and sidewalks, underground utilities, green spaces and a homeowner's association.

"As a growing community, it is exciting to see ground broken on this new subdivision which will bring additional housing options to the current and future residents of Cullman," said Cullman Mayor Woody Jacobs.

"The Ellsworth subdivision gives people an opportunity to live close to where all the amenities Cullman and Cullman County have to offer."

Steve Leara, general counsel for Retail Specialists, said, "We anticipate, literally, moving dirt within the week. Hopefully dirt, not mud. Weather permitting, we can start seeing our home builder up there throwing up foundations, sticks and bricks within 90-120 days. That's our goal and that's our plan."

He said Ellsworth Drive will be widened to 50 feet leading to the two subdivision entrances.

Investor Missy Blaylock was all smiles at the groundbreaking ceremony, sharing, "I think it's just a growing need and we are just happy to be a part of it. They are nice quality homes."

Leara estimates that the project will take approximately 1 to 1 1/2 years to complete.

"Our company's mission is to improve the quality of life in the communities we serve," said Robert Jolly, founder and CEO of Retail Specialists. "Whether it's commercial or residential development, or another way to enhance a city, we are always looking for ways to be community innovators.

"We are excited to break ground on Ellsworth and bring additional value to the city of Cullman."

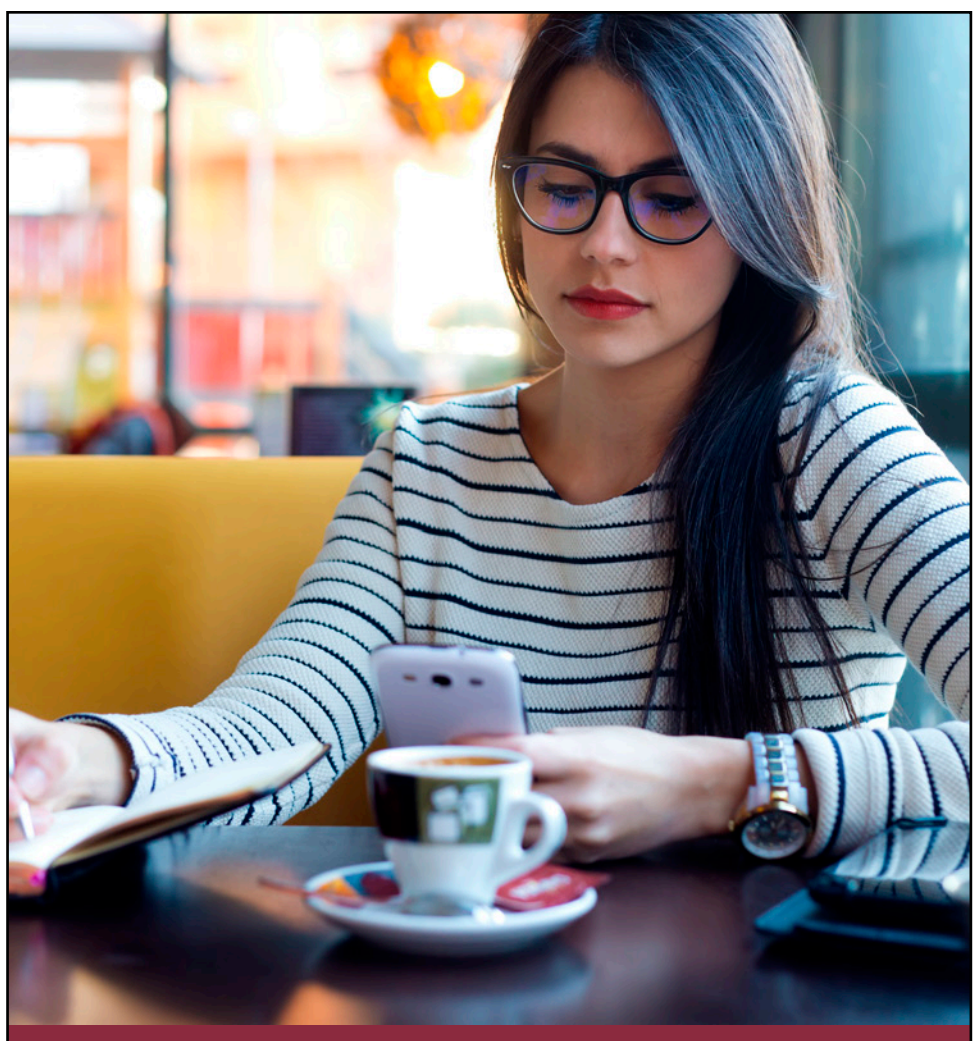

"We've been looking for the right opportunity to build in Cullman for a couple of years and this is the perfect property to develop," said Scott Underwood, chief operating officer for Prominence Homes. "Cullman is a growing area and has the right ingredients for a new development with its access to the Interstate for commuters to Huntsville or Birmingham, its incredible school district, and the shopping, dining and downtown growth. We couldn't be more excited to break ground on this project."

The Ellsworth neighborhood is being developed by Retail Specialists, with Sain Engineering handling the civil engineering, and Prominence Homes constructing the new homes. Retail Specialists is handling the development and infrastructure work including the installation of the underground utilities, the leveling and designation of the individual lots, and preparing the lots for Prominence Homes to build homes. Sain Engineering is the civil engineering firm having worked directly with the City on the rezoning and annexing of the property, as well as handling all construction documentation.

Examples of the types of homes being built in Ellsworth can be seen at https://myprominencehome.com.

With this feature series, The Cullman Tribune is highlighting everyday individuals all around Cullman County who make our community a great place. #IAmCullman

Every once in a while, you cross paths with someone whose light shines so brightly you feel it deep in your heart. Someone so positive and inspiring that meeting them becomes an absolute necessity and a gift. Anyone who shares a space, hug or conversation with Alivia Bencze understands exactly what it's like to be in the presence of pure light and love.

She's just 17 years old, but Alivia's smile, spunk and sass quickly make her the bright star in the room and the life of the party. The Tribune met with Alivia and her mom, Dawn Williams Farley, recently to learn more about this special young lady. We were greeted with one of Alivia's signature hugs and her amazing smile.

Alivia is in the 10th grade and attends the Cullman County Child Development Center. She has Down Syndrome, or as she prefers to call it- Up Syndrome.

She recently experienced a magical evening at the Night to Shine Prom.

"I liked it," she smiled. "I got my dress at The Classy Lady. I picked a dress that matched my boyfriend."

She attended the dance with her boyfriend of five years, Joseph, whom she met playing baseball.

At Night to Shine, Joseph gave Alivia a beautiful necklace with the word "love" along with candies and other gifts. She agreed that he might just be a keeper.

Like most teen girls, she daydreams about her future. She wants to work, get married and be independent.

"I want to go on a honeymoon to Africa!" she exclaimed.

Alivia was chosen by "The Ace & TJ Show" as a "Grin Kid" in 2011 and got to travel to Walt Disney World with her family for six days.

She recalled, "I love Disney! I like Cinderella Castle and I met Mickey, Minnie and Goofy."

She had dinner one evening with her favorite characters inside the castle. Not a fan of roller coasters, she said her favorite ride was It's a Small World.

Basketball, baseball, soccer, dance and competition cheer are just a few of Alivia's talents.

"I can teach you a backbend," she smiled. "I can do cartwheels and roundoffs and a back handspring with help."

When she grows up, she said, "I want to be a hair and makeup artist."

Alivia enjoys creating makeup tutorials and sharing them with her friends. She also loves watching dance videos on TikTok and listening to music.

She loves Justin Bieber, Frozen, Ariana Grande and many others. Anything she can dance to is great!

She added, "I love animals. I have five dogs, five cats and two birds at my dad's house. I like Pugs. I have one at home named Gizmo but we call him Gizzie."

Her room is also full of stuffed animals.

Alivia participates in many activities throughout Cullman that cater to special needs kids.

"I never thought she would be able to cheer or have a dance class that's modified for her," said her mom, Dawn.

"They have everything: baseball, basketball, dance, soccer. Kelly Pulliam, she is head of the therapeutic group in Cullman for park and rec (Cullman Parks, Recreation & Sports Tourism's Therapeutic Recreation program). She has gone above and beyond with everything!"

Dawn said of her daughter, "She's a little celebrity. Everywhere we go somebody knows her. Everywhere! I'll ask her, 'Who is that?' and she'll say, 'I don't know.'"

Dawn asked Alivia, "Do you love Cullman?"

Alivia instantly replied, "Yes!"

Alivia will turn 18 in September of this year. She has two more years at the CDC and then she plans on transitioning into the Flourish of Cullman program.

Said Dawn, "She wants to work; she wants to be independent.

"She wants to have her own house. She wants to get married."

Alivia said she would love to work at Tangled Tails Pet Parlor in Cullman. Tangled Tails participates with the CDC as part of its outreach program that gives Alivia and others experience working while being graded at school.

Where does Alivia's happiness come from?

"Her!" she exclaimed, pointed to her mom and snuggling up beside her.

Alivia is a role model at school and everywhere she goes by always being positive.

"I'm always happy," she smiled. "I don't get angry. I just don't."

"She never meets a stranger. We call it Up Syndrome because she is always up and positive and upbeat. There's nothing down about her," said Dawn.

The best thing about Alivia according to Alivia herself? Her hugs.

around the sides and backs of campuses and front enclosures that might resemble traditional wrought iron fencing.

• Second secure entry systems – Two sets of controlled access doors at main entrances would allow visitors to enter the front doors and go to the offices to sign in, but still place a controlled access barrier between them and student areas of the buildings. Such systems are already being tested at Harmony School and West Point Elementary.

• Upgraded security camera systems - Barnette's plan includes linking camera systems to an online platform so law enforcement officers can see what is happening inside schools in the event of an emergency.

• More controlled access systems – Barnette proposed having external doors secured with a mechanism that could be accessed by a keypad, card or fob, that would allow immediate lockdown in the event of an emergency.

• Raptor Visitor & Emergency Management System – A basic form is already in use countywide, but more funding will allow more features to be added to the modular system.

A new technology academy at in Hanceville

In what he has called a dream project, the superintendent wants to see the current Cullman Area Technology Academy replaced by a whole new facility to be located in Hanceville, a facility that would also become home to a new Hanceville High School. The plan calls for a two-story structure with the high school on the top floor and career tech shops beneath.

Barnette told his Hanceville audience, "A lot of times, we stereotype these particular types of jobs, but these are the jobs that are available in our country today. These are the fastest growing jobs, these are the jobs that are high-demand jobs, career tech jobs.

"We want to build a facility that not only is able to train kids for jobs today and jobs tomorrow, but we want to build a facility that is going to attract young people into coming to school there."

The new facility would allow regular academics and technical training to take place under the same roof, though students from outside the Hanceville district would still have the option to take their regular classes at their home schools.

The location in Hanceville would also allow students easy access to programs offered through the existing partnership between CCBOE and Wallace State Community College.

At the current pace of progress in industry, according to Barnette, CCBOE's existing CATA facility simply cannot keep up.

Business and industries have identified several potential needs for new technical training courses, but Barnette told The Tribune in a previous interview, "Right now, we have no more space to add any new programs at CATA."

Improvements on local campuses

Under the plan, every school campus would see improvements including new construction, and as the system prepared to put up new program-specific facilities like agriscience and consumer science buildings, the instructors who would actually teach in those buildings would be part of the planning.

Proposed facility improvements shared with The Tribune previously include:

Cullman County Child Development Center (CDC)
- If the technology academy relocates to Hanceville, according to Barnette, the CDC would expand to include the current CATA campus located next door to the CDC, getting its students out of portable classrooms.
- Completion of the fully-accessible CDC playground

Cold Springs High School
- Expansion of paved parking
- Expansion of lunchroom
- New agriscience/family and consumer sciences building
- New gym
- Updated science labs
- Remodeling of basement gym into auditorium

Fairview schools
- Expanded paved parking
- New agriscience and consumer sciences buildings at high school

- Updated science labs at high school

Good Hope schools
- New library and gym at middle school
- Expanded paved parking at high school
- New high school wing on current elementary school site
- New elementary school building next to Good Hope Primary

Hanceville Elementary School
- Expanded parking in front
- Demolition of old building on back of property and construction of new playground in its place
- Expansion of main building with new classrooms
- Outdoor classroom behind main building

Harmony School
- Outdoor classroom and greenhouse

Holly Pond schools
- Expanded paved parking on northwest campus
- New agriscience, family and consumer sciences buildings at high school
- Additional classrooms on east end of elementary building
- Outdoor classroom at elementary school
- Enclosure of front of elementary school to stop classrooms from opening into parking lot

Parkside School
- Repave and stripe parking lot
- Replace all HVAC systems

Vinemont schools
- New high school building
- Extended goal of new elementary school building

Welti Elementary School
- Improved security

West Point
- Expanded lunchroom
- New agriscience complex and consumer sciences building at high school
- New second-floor classrooms at high school
- New gym at intermediate school
- New classrooms at elementary school

What about the Section 16 land at Smith Lake?

With so many people asking about the CCBOE's property on Smith Lake, Barnette took the proactive step of incorporating the question into his presentation.

What is Section 16 land?

According to the Code of Alabama, "'School lands,' within the meaning of this chapter (Title 16, Chapter 20), are sections numbered 16, in every township, granted by the United States for the use of schools in the township, and such other lands as may have been granted to any township or district for the use of schools; and all such lands are vested in the state in trust to execute the objects of the grant."

Essentially, the 16th section of land within each township (not a municipality but a mapping term for a specifically defined geographic region) in the state belongs to the local educational system, under the oversight of the State. The land can be leased to generate educational funding, or can be sold under certain conditions.

When manmade Smith Lake was formed, this particular Section 16 became lakefront property. In 2014, the board purchased adjoining land that increased access to a peninsula that formed the bulk of the property, as well as a house and land at the southern tip of the peninsula, that fell outside Section 16 but could only be accessed by land through the CCBOE property.

Barnette told the Hanceville audience, "Section 16 land is probably one of the hottest-topic things going right now, and I would love to say that if somebody would've invested and taken this and turned this into millions and millions of dollars, that would've been wonderful if they'd done that already.

"But it hasn't happened, yet. Have we been working toward that? Yes, we have. We've had several meetings on this: how do we use this land; how do we develop this land. We actually met with a group today about another option of how do we turn this land into a revenue source for many years to come.

"But many people think, just like all of our Facebook fans that have all the answers, they think if we were to sell this right now, we might get $100 million for it, and we could build all the schools that we need to build. Well, first of all, nobody's offered us $100 million for it, but if any of you here would like to do that, we'll be sure to entertain the offer."

Barnette said that CCBOE has received offers ranging from $2 million to $4.2 million for the property, and he talked about what would happen if the land was sold for the round figure of $4 million:

• 90%, $3.6 million, would be placed into a trust fund, from which interest would be divided between the county and city school systems based on enrollment.

• 10%, $400,000, would be available for immediate disbursement.

• In both cases, based on current enrollment numbers, the county system would get 77% and the city system would get 23%.

• The immediately available amount for the county system would be approximately $308,000 before deductions for fees related to the sale and disbursement. The actual amount would likely be under $300,000.

Said Barnette, "That's not going to build a whole lot of schools with $300,000; it's just not. So, we've got to continue to work to try to use this land to generate more revenue than this (option of selling) right here. I don't think that's a quick-fix answer for it."

According to Chief School Financial Officer Ed Roberson, who attended the meeting, the 2019-20 budget for CCBOE is approximately $104 million, 80% of which is bound to salaries and benefits.

Hanceville developer Nolan Bradford, also in attendance, did a quick calculation and noted that annual interest on the $3.6 million trust fund from a $4 million sale, at current interest rates, would only amount to around $50,000 per year, also to be divided 77/23 between the county and city systems.

City of Cullman and a possible city tax

During the question and answer session that followed Barnette's presentation, an often-asked question was posed concerning the possible passage of a city tax in Cullman if the county measure fails.

The superintendent did not accuse the City of planning such a measure, but warned that, if it did happen, the county system would not receive any revenue from the tax.

When an audience member mentioned hearing a claim that the City had just such a plan, Barnette told the audience, "I don't know that. A lot of people on Facebook are saying that Shane Barnette has a secret code that he knows all this, you know.

"I pray a lot, you know, but God hasn't written on the wall. I don't know; I have no idea if the City would put it on or not.

"I know they have needs, and I know they have plans to build buildings and repair some buildings and do things like that.

"But if people in the county want money to go toward our schools, our only option is for us to vote on it."

After the meeting, Barnette told The Tribune, "It's such an important vote for the future of Cullman County Schools.

"Not only can we fix some security and some small things immediately, but we can plan for the future and we can lay down a plan for several generations going forward on how do we fix things the right way, and how do we replace buildings that need to be replaced the right way.

"It's not anything personal between Shane and everybody else, like some people have turned it into, but it's basically me and the board's put together a plan of saying, 'Here's a plan to move our school system forward.' If the people vote it no, we'll continue to band-aid our schools and do the absolute best that we can do.

"But if they vote yes, they can see some serious changes happening, and really set our kids up for success for generations."

The CCBOE will hold its last two community meetings at the Fairview High School auditorium Thursday, Feb. 20 at 6 p.m. and the Holly Pond lunchroom Monday, Feb. 24 at 6 p.m.

Obituary Announcements Feb. 20

Larry Guy Bonner, Sr., of Cullman, Alabama passed away Thursday, Feb. 13, 2020. He was born Dec. 25, 1949 to Arthur Ford and Dorothy Ann Sparks Bonner. His parents and wife preceded him in death. Hanceville (from Front)

what keeps us in it."

Hanceville Head Coach Stephen Chandler is excited for what this win means for the program but more than anything he's proud of his team for the way they have fought and competed to stay alive and exceed expectations in the postseason.

"Man, it was just another gutty performance. We talked the whole time about having to fight to the end in the last two games and we knew today was going to be the same thing.

"We knew Midfield was athletic and long, but we felt like we could handle it," Chandler said.

"I'm just so proud of these guys. All eight of them we've got stepped in and helped us in some way, whatever it was.

"These guys keep fighting, keep putting themselves in a position to win and we just never feel like we're out of it."

Senior Cainon Moore wasn't surprised that the Bulldogs found a way to pull it off again Wednesday. Hanceville has been playing in tight games all season and he believes that has been the key to he and his teammates remaining calm under pressure.

"We've been putting ourselves in this situation all year, so we know how to handle the pressure and how to handle the situation," Moore said.

"We just put our heads to it, put it together, didn't break apart and went out there and did us. We finished and that was the big thing."

Moore scored down low to tie the game at 2 early in the opening quarter and after Midfield built a 9-2 advantage, buckets by Raiden Morgan and Campbell cut the lead to three around the five-minute mark of the first.

Morgan drained a three to tie the game at 9 with three minutes to play in the period and knocked down another one just before the buzzer to keep things knotted at 12 going into the second quarter.

Morgan's third three-pointer of the half gave the Bulldogs a 16-15 lead early in the second and he, along with Moore, scored two more baskets inside to keep Hanceville in front by one midway through the quarter.

Matthew Cornelius drove the baseline and laid one in to add to the lead, but the Patriots were able to respond and take a 25-24 lead with just over a minute to play in the period.

The Bulldogs finished the half strong and after Campbell scored at the rim to hold the lead to one, Tyson Bellmon buried a three at the buzzer to tie the game at 29 going into the break.

Morgan knocked down a jumper to keep things tied at 31 to the start the third and baskets by Moore and Izayah Glenon gave Hanceville a four-point lead near the six-minute mark of the period.

Another score by Glenon made it a 39-35 game midway through the third quarter and after a 6-0 run gave Midfield a two-point lead, Cornelius laid one in to tie the game at 41.

Bellmon drained another three to give the Bulldogs a 44-43 lead with just over a minute to play in the third but the Patriots were able to move back in front 46-44 by the start of the fourth.

Another triple from Morgan gave Hanceville a 1-point lead at the start of the final period and Campbell dropped one in to stretch the lead to 49-46 with less than six minutes to play.

A 6-0 run put Midfield back up 52-49 with just over three minutes remaining but Moore scored inside to cut the deficit to one.

A Bellmon free throw made it a 54-52 game with two and a half minutes to play and Glenon added a pair from the line to tie things up at 54 with less than two minutes on the clock.

An offensive foul against the Bulldogs gave the ball back to Midfield with just 40 seconds remaining in regulation but a travel gave possession right back to Hanceville with seven seconds to play.

Campbell brought the ball up the floor, drove through the Patriots defense and got a floater to fall as time expired to complete Hanceville's second major upset of the postseason.

Morgan led the Bulldogs with 19 points in the win, followed by Moore with 11 and Campbell with 10.

Glenon and Bellmon each scored seven and Cornelius added two for Hanceville.

Moore and Morgan earned spots on this year's Northeast Regional All-Tournament team and Morgan was named the tournament's MVP.

Morgan feels some relief in getting past the Northeast Regional and knows that he and his teammates have put in the time and effort to reach the next stage and compete for a blue map.

"It's big for us to finally get over that hump," Morgan said.

"We expected to be back here this year, but we had a lot more obstacles to go through and better teams, but I knew once we got here, we'd be good.

"Coach has been killing us every day and working on literally everything we can, and we were ready for it."

The Bulldogs will be on the floor at the BJCC in Birmingham at 10:30 Tuesday morning to face Pike County in a final four matchup with a spot in this year's 3A State Championship Game on the line.
