Second chance: The Link of Cullman County gears up for program to stop returns to prison

W.C. Mann
craig@cullmantribune.com

CULLMAN, Ala. – In the United States, almost 44% of people released from prison will be arrested again within one year, 68% within three years, and 83% within nine years. The phenomenon, known as recidivism, creates a cycle of hardship on communities, victims, families, law enforcement, courts and even the incarcerated themselves. The Link of Cullman County hopes to change that, at least in Cullman County. The nonprofit agency, through a $500,000 federal grant funded by the U.S. Department of Justice (DOJ) under the Second Chance Act, will roll out a new program in September that will help keep people coming out of prison from going back.

In announcing the award last fall, the DOJ's Bureau of Justice Assistance release read: The Second Chance Act of 2007 (Pub. L. 110-199) provides a comprehensive response to assist in the transition individuals make from prison, jail, or juvenile residential facilities to the community so that the transition is more successful and promotes public » PAGE 8

Cullman Bowling Center open again

MAGGIE DARNELL/THE CULLMAN TRIBUNE

The lanes are open again at the Cullman Bowling Center.

Maggie Darnell
maggie@cullmantribune.com

CULLMAN, Ala. – Entertainment venues (e.g. arcades, theaters, bowling alleys) in Alabama were given the green light to reopen May 22 by Gov. Kay Ivey and State Health Officer Dr. Scott Harris, subject to social-distancing and sanitation rules such as making sure patrons stay 6 away from people from other households. With that, Cullman Bowling Center re-opened its doors.

The Tribune spoke with Cullman Bowling Center Advertising Executive Colby Sandlin to learn what safety guidelines the business is following and how things are different due to COVID-19.

"We're practicing social distancing; we're doing every other lane," he said. "We're making sure bowlers leave equipment that stays here down on their lane when they're done so we can go through as employees and sanitize and get everything ready.

"Other than that, it's just generally keeping the tables farther away from each other, making sure there's not too many big groups side by side."

Sandlin said the bowling center is trying to make things as normal as possible.

"We're still doing our bowling leagues Monday through Thursday; we're still trying to do birthday parties, but it's a little bit different now," he said. "With birthday parties we're keeping two lanes spread apart since it's a bigger group, but we are still taking birthday party reservations, so don't be scared to have your birthday party here. We're going to make sure that we're being careful!"

He added, "Nobody is touching the same keypad. We're going through sanitizing the keypads after patrons are done bowling. With our restaurant (Valley Tavern and Grille), we've set up our tables where chairs are no less than 6 feet apart.

"We actually took out chairs because of it and we've lost some business because of it, but that's just what we got to do."

What does he want customers to know?

Sandlin smiled, "We're open for business; we're glad to be back. It's been a long two and a half months and we're glad to be back and re-opened.

"For customers, just be safe. Do like the guidelines say: stay away from other people you're not with. The main thing would be if you want to wear a mask and gloves, that's awesome.

"We're not enforcing that, but anything to keep you safe, that's our main goal."

Cullman Bowling Center is located at 1710 Tally Ho St. SW, Cullman, AL 35055. Find out more at www.facebook.com/CullmanBowlingCenter or www.cullmanbowlingcenter.com.

'Coach' Andy Page announces bid for re-election to Cullman City Council, place 1

Wendy Sack
wendy@cullmantribune.com

CULLMAN, Ala. – "Coach" Andy Page on Thursday announced he is running for re-election to the Cullman City Council, place 1. The Municipal Election is Aug. 25, 2020.

"With your help and support, I know together that we can continue to make Cullman the best place in the world to live, not only for us, but for our future generations," said Page.

Below is Page's announcement:

Football and teaching originally brought Coach Page to Cullman in 1976. He and his wife raised both of their children here and ultimately retired here. They have watched their granddaughters grow up in Cullman and are happy that they have been able to enjoy everything that the city has to offer.

During his time as a city councilman, Coach Page is impressed with the communication and teamwork of the city council members in achieving their common goal of doing what is right for Cullman.

He said, "A community can grow only when we listen to one another's opinions, discuss different points of view, weigh options, and ultimately do our best to put the people of Cullman first."

He notes that this council has worked closely with two different mayors to build progress for Cullman. Their ties became even stronger as they worked through the aftermath of the 2011 tornado, drafted an alcohol ordinance, and dealt with the Christmas Day 100-year flood.

He stated, "These events have brought the current council closer together and have given us valuable leadership experience in our roles. It has been a challenging and rewarding 12 years."

Other noteworthy accomplishments achieved over the past 12 years include the following:

Securing over $30 million in state and federal grants

Securing the largest grant ever awarded to the City of Cullman: $14 million federal grant to widen Highway 157 later this year.

Working with Parks and Recreation to host events such as the Strawberry Festival, Oktoberfest, numerous athletic events, the National Archery Tournament, 2nd Fridays, and the 1A, 2A, and 3A State Championship Track meet for the past five years.

Upgrading and improving the facilities for the following city departments:

- Fire Department
- Street Department
- Sanitation Department
- Parks and Recreation
- Cullman Regional Airport
- Water Department
- Sewer Department
- Wastewater Treatment Plant
- Water Treatment Plant

Coach Page believes the positive evolution that Cullman has seen over the past 12 years is the direct result of a strong team. He explains that there have been countless contributors ranging from city employees, department and committee members, and concerned citizens with the courage to speak up.

CONTRIBUTED

Cullman City Councilman "Coach" Andy Page

He said, "Every citizen who called their representative, attended a council meeting, or stopped by city hall to voice their opinion had a hand in one way or another getting the job done. I am grateful for the community's help and participation. I am both honored and humbled to have been a part of the growth and success that Cullman has seen over the past 12 years! I'm eager to continue contributing to the team and serving this great city!"

Troopers: 5 traffic fatalities, 4 waterway fatalities Memorial Day Weekend

J.R. Ward II
Contributor

MONTGOMERY, Ala. – Troopers with the Alabama Law Enforcement Agency (ALEA) investigated 375 traffic crashes with five fatalities, as well as 10 boat crashes and four non-boating fatalities (drownings) during this year's official Memorial Day holiday travel period, which was from 12:01 a.m. Friday, May 22 to midnight Monday, May 25.

In May 2019, during the same extended holiday, Troopers from ALEA's Highway Patrol investigated 343 traffic crashes resulting in six deaths while Troopers in ALEA's Marine Patrol investigated eight boat crashes resulting in two fatalities, and zero drownings.

This past weekend's traffic crashes involved three drivers, one passenger and one motorcyclist. The deadly crashes occurred in Autauga, Hale, Lee and Mobile counties.

The motorcyclist was using a helmet at the time of the crash; however, three of the four individuals killed while traveling in vehicles equipped with seat belts were not buckled in. Monday, May 25, was the only zero-traffic fatality day of the four-day weekend.

The drownings occurred in the following areas: two at Orange Beach, Baldwin County; one at Little River National Recreation Area, DeKalb County; and one at Lake Martin, Tallapoosa County. Boat crashes investigated by ALEA's Marine Patrol ranged from single-vessel property-type crashes to boat fires and multi-vessel crashes involving injuries.

Although the holiday travel period has concluded, ALEA Troopers will continue to patrol Alabama roadways and waterways throughout the summer and conduct DUI checkpoints and other enforcement activities designed to curb crashes, injuries and fatalities. Troopers will also participate in this year's Click It or Ticket, a National Highway Safety Administration campaign promoting seat-belt usage. This year's Click It or Ticket was postponed due to the coronavirus pandemic and will begin Monday, June 15, and end Sunday, June 28. Everyone is reminded to use seat belts no matter how short the trip, as well as to use personal flotation devices (PFDs) while on the water.

Jeff Shearer
AU Athletics

AUBURN, Ala. – Hal Baird answered the question before Andy Burcham finished asking it, evoking the names of three of baseball's finest hitters from the past half-century.

"If you have to get a hit," the announcer asked the former Auburn baseball coach in a recent Talking Tigers Podcast, "to tie a ballgame...."

"Jay Waggoner," Baird responded immediately, needing no further variables. "Jay Waggoner."

Auburn's all-time hits leader, Waggoner played for Baird's Auburn Tigers from 1992-95, helping lead the '94 team to the College World Series.

"Jay Waggoner was as clutch - if a single or a double was needed to win a game or a championship, Jay was the guy you wanted at home plate," Baird said. "He was Rod Carew and Tony Gwynn and Wade Boggs wrapped into a college player."

Baird recalled an occasion when Auburn trailed by a run with two outs in the ninth at LSU with the SEC Western Division championship on the line. Waggoner delivered a triple to clinch the title for the visiting Tigers.

"He did it over and over and over again," Baird said. "You just got used to it."

Auburn's all-time hits leader, Waggoner's 341 career base hits are tied for No. 4 in in SEC history. He ranks among Auburn's top 10 in batting average, doubles, triples, walks, runs and total bases, and first in singles.

'LET'S GO TO OMAHA'

A middle infielder at Birmingham's Vestavia Hills High School for legendary coach Sammy Dunn, Waggoner found a home at third base on the Plains as a freshman in 1992.

Overconfidence, Jay recalls, was not a problem, especially his first day of batting practice.

"The sound is just different, the ball is just coming off the bat harder," he said. "I remember having the thought, 'How in the world did I get here, and what am I doing here?' You just want to kind of hide."

Upperclassman Brannon Veal offered welcoming, encouraging mentorship.

"He was the guy who made me believe that I belonged," Waggoner said.

With tutoring from Baird and hitting coach Steve Renfroe, Waggoner's confidence grew.

"He and Coach Baird were just such a good complement to one another. Such good people, great influences, great to be around, and they recruited good people.

"You just slowly start to believe, okay, maybe I do have a place here," Waggoner said. "Maybe I can do that."

Waggoner and in-state classmate and teammate Ken Key made a pact.

"I remember distinctly us talking about, 'Hey, let's go to Omaha. There's no reason we can't do that,'" Waggoner said.

As juniors, they made good on that pledge, leading Auburn back to the College World Series for the first time since 1976.

"Those were really magical days," he said. "I try to describe to people how great my four years at Auburn were, and you just can't get the right words. They were just so magical."

Waggoner batted .409 in '94, recording 119 hits, an SEC record that lasted eight seasons.

"We just had a lot of role players and a lot of tough guys, a lot of competitive guys," he said. "We didn't have a ton of people who were worried about their draft status.

"I was never worried about it. I hit .400 my junior year and didn't get drafted as a draft-eligible player, if that tells you how scouts graded my toolset."

AU ATHLETICS

Auburn's all-time hits leader Jay Waggoner

DIAMOND DOLL

As many memories as Waggoner made at Plainsman Park, his most lasting impact began in class at nearby Parker Hall, where Jay met his future wife, Courtney.

They had been introduced a month earlier when Courtney tried out for Diamond Dolls. Jay served on the interview panel.

"I was walking into class and there she was," he recalled. "I walked up to her and I said, 'Hey, do you remember me? I interviewed you for Diamond Dolls.' She said, 'Yeah.' I said, 'Well, how are you enjoying it?' She said, 'Well, I actually didn't make it.' Ooh, well, we're not off to the best start."

Jay and Courtney overcame that awkward beginning.

"We ended up striking up a dialogue and about four years later, we were married," he said.

Married in August 1997, they'll celebrate their 23rd anniversary this summer.

At their home in Roswell, Georgia, the Waggoners are raising three Auburn-loving children, 15-year-old daughter Graylyn, 12-year-old son Walker, and 8-year-old daughter Mary Briggs.

A civil engineering graduate from Auburn University's Samuel Ginn College of Engineering, Waggoner works in technology sales for Amazon Web Services.

"I live in the cloud," said Jay, who sells cloud storage to help large companies manage their data.

PROUD ALUM

Among every player to have ever worn an Auburn baseball uniform, none has played in more games than Waggoner's 246, an investment of effort that yielded a lifetime of loyalty.

"I'm an Auburn fanatic. As somebody who poured a lot of myself into that program for four years, it's very satisfying to see what they're doing," said Waggoner, who serves on a Tigers Unlimited development board for Auburn baseball.

"Starting to see the tangible results of some of that effort coming out of the ground in right field now," he said. "Could not be more excited about that staff with Tim and Gabe and Karl.

"What an amazing guy Butch is. Everybody I talked to when they talked about bringing him on, I know a lot of people still in baseball, and every one of them spoke so highly of him. He's proven to be every bit what his reputation suggested he would be.

"My experience was so great. I want other kids to have that same experience. I want kids when they come to Auburn to have that kind of experience, and I believe they are now."

Auburn's steady progress under Butch Thompson mirrors the Tigers' run during Waggoner's playing days, with both resulting in a trip to Omaha.

"I just can't believe how fast he's done it," Waggoner said. "What he's done and how quickly he's done it, it's just amazing.

"I believe the next decade is going to be better that what the decade of the '90s was for Auburn baseball. It was pretty special in the '90s.

"I think they're building something that really is going to be special. It already is.

"Just seeing them play hard and compete, believing in themselves, making that program something, is just really special. It's amazing in 25 years what Auburn has become."

Alabama Men's Basketball announces home-and-home series with Houston beginning in 2020-21

Aaron Jordan
UA Athletics

TUSCALOOSA, Ala. – Alabama men's basketball head coach Nate Oats announced Wednesday that the Crimson Tide and Houston Cougars will begin a home-and-home series that will be played during the 2020-21 and 2021-22 seasons.

The Cougars will make the trip to Tuscaloosa on Dec. 19, 2020, with Alabama playing the return game in Houston the following year on a date that will be announced at a later time.

"We are excited to have a program of high caliber such as Houston on our schedule for the next two years," head coach Nate Oats said.

"This is a great opportunity for both programs because it adds a quality opponent to our schedule while at the same time creating excitement for both fanbases.

"Playing such quality competition is only going to make our team and our program better.

"Houston has proven to be a perennial NCAA Tournament team that competes for championships each season, so we are looking forward to welcoming them to Coleman Coliseum next year."

Alabama and Houston have met on four previous occasions with the last meeting coming more than 40 years ago during the 1979-80 season.

The Cougars own a 3-1 edge in the all-time series with each of those contests being played on a neutral court.

Last year, the Cougars finished with a final Associated Press ranking of No. 22 in the nation, ending the season with a 23-8 overall mark and 13-5 in American Athletic Conference play.

Troy Football rated one of most cost-effective programs in country

Troy Athletics
troytrojans.com

TROY, Ala. – The Troy football program has operated at a high level on the field for years and in a recent study released by ValuePenguin, a LendingTree company, the Trojans were named one of the most cost-effective programs in the country.

Over a 10-year period (2004-13), Troy ranked 29th nationally and third in the low budget (less than $7 million) category.

Since moving to the FBS ranks in 2001, Troy has won six Sun Belt Conference championships, made eight bowl appearances and knocked off Power 5 opponents LSU, Nebraska, Mississippi State, Missouri and Oklahoma State.

Two of those victories – Missouri and Oklahoma State came at The Vet – and Troy has also hosted Mississippi State, Duke and Navy and will welcome NC State to The Vet this upcoming season.

"Troy Trojan Football has long been considered one of the premier Group of Five programs in the nation due to our great history, spectacular facilities, success on the field, our passionate fan base and amazing support from our University leadership," Director of Athletics Brent Jones said.

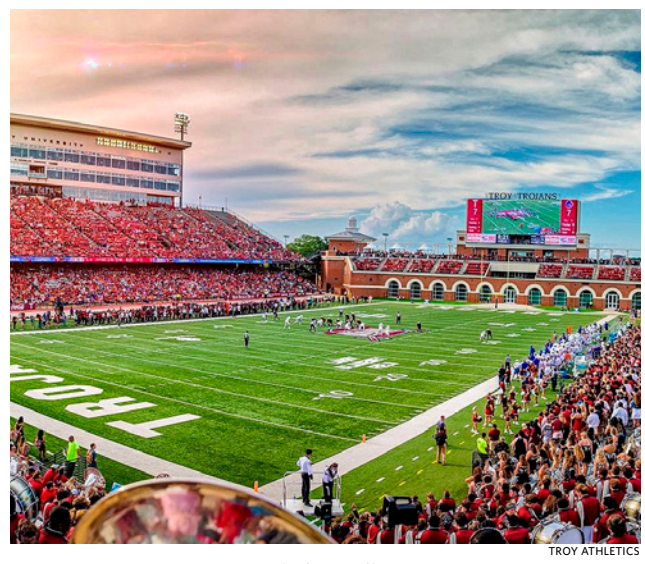

"This study proves what we have known for a long time and that is Troy Trojan Football is a very special program that is nationally respected and feared."

The study considered two factors when compiling their rankings – annual end-of-season ranking, which accounted for 65 percent of the score, and annual average expenses over the 10-year period, which made up for the other 35 percent.

Compared to other programs in the state, Troy ranked just two spots behind Alabama, while being ranked ahead of Auburn and UAB.

Within the Sun Belt, Troy was one of just two teams ranked in the top 60 (Arkansas State, 47).

Troy trailed just Nevada and Northern Illinois in the lower budget classification and rated higher than such programs as Notre Dame, Penn State, Wisconsin and Michigan overall.

Haley Self-Tumlin named Wallace State's 2019-2020 TRIO/SSS Student of the Year

Russell Moore
WSCC

HANCEVILLE, Ala. – Wallace State student Haley Self-Tumlin has been named the 2019-2020 TRIO/Student Support Services (SSS) Student of the Year.

Self-Tumlin, 20, has already earned an associate degree in Engineering Technology at Wallace State and is currently pursuing a Building Construction degree as a complement.

"This is an awesome honor. I was told through Zoom. I thought we were having a TRIO student meeting and was surprised to see I was the only student there. The staff surprised me," Self-Tumlin said. "Guidance is key when it comes to being a successful student, and I can say without a doubt that SSS has definitely played a crucial role in my educational journey at Wallace State."

Wallace State's TRIO/SSS is a federally-funded program by the U.S. Department of Education to help first-generation and low-income students. They offer many services to assist students with basic college requirements, increasing college retention and graduation rates.

"We are so proud to be able to recognize Haley as our Student Support Services Student of the Year. She is an outstanding representative of our program and such a wonderful example of the grit and determination needed for one to be successful and achieve dreams," said Rachel White, Wallace State's TRIO/SSS director.

Self-Tumlin joined the group during her first semester in Spring 2018.

"I took a semester off after high school and I wasn't sure where to start at Wallace State.

"I was made aware of the TRIO program and it completely changed my path and outlook," Self-Tumlin said.

"It has offered me many helpful workshops, activities and opportunities to make new friends and help others."

Self-Tumlin has been named to both the President's and Dean's List during her time at Wallace State and is active in multiple honor societies and organizations on campus.

She'll serve as the Phi Theta Kappa president for the 2020-2021 academic year and completed her role as the Student Government Association's treasurer earlier this month.

She's a Wallace State Future Foundation Lion Leader, a member of Mu Alpha Theta and is involved with Campus Ministries and the Creative Writing Club.

Self-Tumlin plans to graduate in spring 2021 and transfer to Athens State, majoring in post-secondary technical education.

Bering Sea Gold

A new episode finds Shawn getting his first taste of the shifting seabed. Ken decides to change his perspective in an attempt to find new ground. Elsewhere, Kris and Emily each try using some rookie divers, hoping to boost their productivity, but that plan quickly grinds to a halt for one of them.

8 p.m. on WE
Mama June: From Not to Hot

Several members of the family reach their breaking point when June's sizable debt to some dangerously shady characters forces them to go into hiding for their safety in the new episode "Family Crisis: Mama's Open House." In the wake of that shocking development, a furious Jennifer goes on the warpath to get custody of Alana. Later, Doe Doe and Amber rush over to June's house, but nothing could have prepared them for what they find.

8 p.m. on SHOW
Jesus Trejo: Stay at Home Son

Born in Long Beach, Calif., as an only child to immigrant parents, comic Jesus Trejo trains his comedic lens on his early years in this, his first one-hour special. Trejo grew up learning many life lessons in decidedly unconventional ways, always struggling to meet the high expectations of his parents. This first generation Mexican-American also recalls running his first marathon and winning his first fight.

8:30 p.m. on TCM
Movie: Three Coins in the Fountain

Dorothy McGuire, Jean Peters and Maggie McNamara star as three American women working in Rome and dreaming of finding romance in the Eternal City in director Jean Negulesco's charming 1954 romantic comedy, a best picture nominee at that year's Academy Awards. The movie did take home two Oscars, one for its title song by Jule Styne and Sammy Cahn, which became a pop hit. Clifton Webb, Louis Jourdan and Rossano Brazzi also star in the film, which airs tonight as part of a Jean Peters salute on TCM.

9 p.m. on AMC
Friday Night In with The Morgans

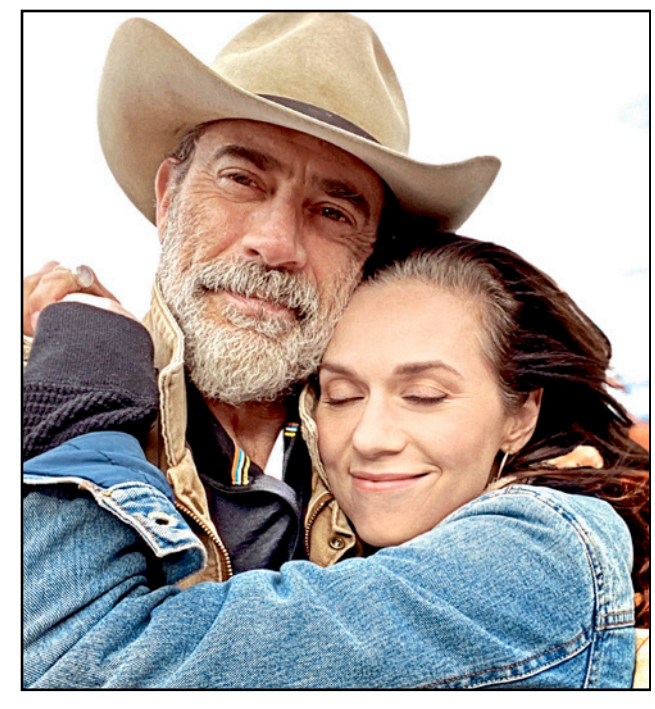

A mini-"One Tree Hill" reunion is on tap in this new episode of the "quarantine chat show," as married hosts Jeffrey Dean Morgan and Hilarie Burton Morgan welcome her former co-star Sophia Bush for a conversation via video chat. This delightfully intimate series, which started with self-shot footage of the Morgans in conversation while sheltering at home at their farm in upstate New York, has turned into a sleeper hit for AMC, which recently ordered additional episodes.

10 p.m. on HBO
Betty

In the new episode "Perstephanie," Kirt (Nina Moran) resorts to "alternative" medicine to heal her ailing friendships, while the rest of the crew sorts out relationship issues of their own. Meanwhile, Indigo (Ajani Russell) wrestles with the question of how desperate for cash she really is. Dede Lovelace, Moonbear and Rachelle Vinberg also star.

10:15 p.m. on DSC
Aussie Gold Hunters

In a new episode, the Lone Wolf pays it forward to a couple of beginners, while Lecky and Ted put some hard graft into some hard rock. Elsewhere, things start to take a somewhat "western" turn when the Dirt Dogs catch some poachers red-handed.

Jeffrey Dean Morgan and Hilarie Burton Morgan host "Friday Night In with The Morgans" on AMC.

Hanceville's Confederate Railroad concert a go for Sept. 19

Christy Perry
christy@cullmantribune.com

HANCEVILLE, Ala. – The City of Hanceville is moving forward with its planned Sept. 19 concert at Veterans Park. The popular country/Southern rock group Confederate Railroad will headline the show, with The Tommy Crowder Band and Willie Underwood also performing.

The Hanceville City Council approved a special event license for the show, requested by the City's Alcohol Review Committee, so beer will be served at the concert with Cabin Fever Beverages Owner Kolby Lawrence overseeing the alcohol sales. Food trucks will also be on-site. Pre-sale general admission tickets will be $20 and VIP tickets for up-front seating will be $40. VIP seating also includes a separate bathroom, souvenir seat and VIP parking. The City will announce further details, including show times and where to purchase tickets. This will be the second concert with alcohol sales in the city of Hanceville.

Mayor Kenneth Nail said, "The folks that showed up last year had a good time and Kolby did a great job. I didn't hear the first complaint about any problems."

Councilman Charles Allen announced this year's Hanceville Antique Tractor & Engine Show has been canceled. This year would have been the 22nd year for the show, normally held in June on the Wallace State Community College campus. "We aren't going to be able to have it," said Allen. "I'm sure it wasn't her (Wallace State President Dr. Vicki Karolewics); she is always excellent to work with and always told us to have at it. But, for whatever reason, we can't use the campus."

Nail offered Veterans Park as a substitute location for this year's tractor show, but with this year's event being a state show expecting a large crowd, Allen said he felt they did not have time to change the venue.

He said, "We won't be able to have it but will plan a big one for next year." The City of Hanceville will hold a groundbreaking ceremony Friday morning at 10 a.m. for the new Hanceville Senior Center. The event has been moved to the Hanceville Civic Center due to recent rain. Representatives from Governor Kay Ivey's office, as well as officials from the Alabama Department of Economic and Community Affairs (ADECA) will also be on hand.

The next Hanceville City Council meeting will be June 11 at 4 p.m.

Obituary Announcements: May 29

Dr. Phillip Wood Freeman, 69, of Cullman, Alabama passed away May 26, 2020 of complications from Alzheimer's disease. He was born March 8, 1951 to Chester and Hilda Freeman and was preceded in death by his grandparents Boss and Loice Wood and Willis and Ethel Tucker, his parents and his daughter Amy Freeman Williams. Phil wore many hats and wore them all well. Some knew him as a caring doctor who always seemed to know when a hug was needed and who understood that what his patients needed most was his time and attention. He had a way of making each of his patients feel like they were his only patient of the day. He was also intentional with the gift of prayer and would freely share one with patients, friends, colleagues and co-workers. Many grew up with him as a Sunday school teacher at Grace Episcopal Church or heard him as a guest speaker, guitar player or a witty storyteller. Some of us knew him as an encouraging father, grandfather and beloved husband. We think he wore this hat the best. Phil graduated from Cullman High School in 1969, serving as the president of the student council and co-valedictorian. Following high school, he attended Birmingham-Southern College, where he graduated summa cum laude and Phi Beta Kappa, and then graduated UAB Medical School three years later. After residency he joined Cullman Internal Medicine in 1979 and practiced 30 years until his retirement due to illness. While practicing medicine, Phil also volunteered his time at Good Samaritan Health Clinic and served on many hospital committees. Over several years, Phil served the greater Cullman community through positions on the Chamber of Commerce, Cullman City School Board, the First Federal/First Community Bank board, the Cullman Sports Hall of Fame board, and the CCC (Committee on Church Cooperation) board. At Grace Episcopal Church, Phil served as a Sunday School teacher, a youth group leader, a musician, a chalice bearer, and a senior warden. He loved attending Cursillo retreat weekends at Camp McDowell and serving on staff. He also sponsored many people for Emmaus retreats at Camp Sumatanga. Time with family was important to Phil, and he would wake at 4:30 on work mornings so that he could make his rounds in time to be home for supper. He was devoted to his family and loved nothing more than spending weekends at the lake, going to his children's events, traveling and spending countless hours holding a video camera, recording the dramatic offerings of his daughters and their friends. He was a true family man. Phil is survived by his wife of 47 years Patti Vogel Freeman and his daughter Meredith (Jeff) Middlebrooks; grandchildren Clay and Maggie Williams and Eliza and Thomas Middlebrooks; sister Carolyn (Bill) Peinhardt; nephew Clint (Anne) Peinhardt and nieces Lanie (Jeb) Williamson and Rachel (Wesley) Dawsey; and several cousins, great-nieces and great-nephews. A special thank you goes out to Folsom Center nursing home staff and Pamela Phillips for providing such loving care to him at the end of his life. The family looks forward to celebrating Dr. Freeman at a memorial service on a future date, when no one's health will be at risk. In lieu of flowers (allergies), the family requests that you consider a memorial to Grace Episcopal Church or Grace Place (respite care ministry for Alzheimer patients), 305 Arnold Street NE, or Good Samaritan Clinic, 401 Arnold St. NE.

Julie Elaine Evans, 61, of Cullman passed away Wednesday, May 27, 2020 at her residence. She was born Aug. 8, 1958 to Robert and Idell Mattox. She was preceded in death by her parents; sister Joyce Mattox; and baby brother Robert Wesley Mattox. Survivors include her husband Michael Evans; son Michael (Jessica) Evans, II; daughter Kimberly (Shaun) Stewart; grandchildren Makena, Paisley, Grayson, and Griffin; sisters Brenda (Ray) Cone and Janice (Ron) Chapman; and a host of nieces and nephews. A private family service will be held.

Funeral services for Thomas "Dusty" Barfoot will be at 2 p.m. Sunday, May 31, 2020 at Hanceville Funeral Home Chapel. Burial will follow at Hopewell Cemetery in Hanceville. Visitation will be from 6-9 p.m. Saturday, May 30, 2020 at Hanceville Funeral Home. Mr. Barfoot lived in Hanceville, Alabama and passed away suddenly at the age of 62. He was born in Healdsburg, California to Jack Wayne and Virginia "Ginnie" (Enlow) Barfoot Aug. 8, 1957. He was also a truck driver for River Valley Ingredients in Hanceville. Mr. Barfoot was a husband, father, grandfather, son, brother, uncle, and friend. Above all, he had a love for his savior Jesus Christ. He was a veteran who had a tremendous love for his country. He served 22 years in the Army National Guard, retiring from his position as sergeant in 2003. He loved to hunt and fish. He loved nature and the beauty of God's creation. Family was reluctant to eat his cooking. You never knew what surprise he added to it. He was caught several times adding turtle, emu, beaver, squirrel and rabbit. He was kindhearted. He would give you the shirt off of his back or his last dollar if you needed it. He was quick to lend a hand whenever needed, to family and friends. Mr. Barfoot is survived by his mother Virginia Barfoot Franklin; wife of 25 years, Susie (Burney) Barfoot; daughters Ashley (Eric) Wilhite-White of Hanceville, Amanda Callahan and Holland Branden both of Idaho; sons Adam (Shelby McDonald) Barfoot of Hanceville, Danny Barfoot of Idaho, and Robert Barfoot of Nevada; grandchildren Cierra White, Daniella White, and Jaxon White; sisters Susan (Joey) D'Andrea, Karen Barfoot, Gina Barfoot Sellers, and Julie (Eddie) Burks; sisters-in-law Nancy (Sam) Tyree and Sharon (Doyle) Partain; and a host of nieces, nephews, cousins, and friends. Mr. Barfoot is preceded in death by his father Jack Wayne Barfoot; sister Zebbie (Bill) Mason; grandparents Thomas Grover Barfoot, Nettie Nichols Barfoot, Goldie M. Smith, and Robert V. Enlow; father- and mother-in-law C.J. and Agnes Burney; brother-in-law Gerry Burney; grandson Dell Allen Wilhite; and step-father Ronnie Franklin.

Madison man indicted for possessing pipe bomb

Stacy Crane
Contributor

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. – A federal grand jury on Thursday indicted a Madison man for possessing a pipe bomb, announced U.S. Attorney Jay E. Town and Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco, Firearms and Explosives Acting Special Agent in Charge Frank Haera.

A three-count indictment filed in U.S. District Court charges Joshua Andrew Quillin, 29, with possessing the destructive device, which was not registered to him in the National Firearms Registration and Transfer Record, as required by law.

Quillin possessed a pipe bomb on April 23, 2020, in Madison County, according to the indictment.

"The defendant's brazen act could have resulted in a devastating outcome," Town said.

"We will continue to prosecute violent criminals to the fullest extent of the law in an effort to keep our communities safe."

"ATF's focus on removing alleged illegal destructive devices from individuals' aid is reducing the potential for violent crime," Haera said.

The maximum penalty for possessing a destructive device is 10 years in prison and a $10,000 fine.

The maximum penalty for being a felon in possession of a destructive device is 10 years in prison and a $250,000 fine.

ATF investigated the case, along with Huntsville Police Department.

Assistant U.S. Attorney Mary Stuart Burrell is prosecuting the case.

An indictment is merely an allegation, and the defendant is presumed innocent until proven guilty beyond a reasonable doubt.

safety. The Second Chance Act grant funding is designed to help communities develop and implement comprehensive and collaborative strategies that address the challenges posed by reentry and recidivism reduction. Reentry is not a specific program, but rather a process that starts when an individual is initially incarcerated and ends when he or she has been successfully reintegrated in the community as a law-abiding citizen.

Section 211 of the Second Chance Act, codified at 34 U.S.C. § 60531, authorizes grants to nonprofit organizations and federally recognized Indian tribes that may be used for services to promote the safe and successful community reintegration of adults who have been incarcerated.

The Second Chance Act Comprehensive Community-based Adult Reentry Program supports organizations or tribes providing comprehensive reentry services to program participants throughout their transition from jail or prison to the community. Under this solicitation, BJA is seeking applications to implement or expand on reentry programs that demonstrate strong partnerships with corrections, parole, probation, law enforcement, and other reentry service providers. These partnerships should develop comprehensive case management plans that directly address criminogenic risk and needs, as determined by validated criminogenic risk assessments, and includes delivery or facilitation of services in a manner consistent with the learning styles and abilities of the participants. This includes ensuring cognitive behavioral programming is in place pre-release, whether by the lead applicant or a partnering agency.

The Link of Cullman County, Inc. will use award funds to provide a comprehensive approach to adult reentry to identify transitional needs of the offender by providing case management, cognitive intervention, and follow-up measures. The Link Inc. will provide services to a minimum of 40 medium to high level offenders per year in coordination with jail and prison.

The Tribune spoke to Link Director Julie Hall and Aubrey Moore, who will be overseeing the program.

Moore said the ultimate goal of the program is to "Reduce recidivism, specifically in Cullman County.

"That's the overarching thing, is for people who do come through the program, for them not to have any recidivism occurrences."

Hall told The Tribune, "We've been training, we've been planning, we've been doing all kinds of things to prepare for the launch.

"So now, we are both trained in basic MRT (Moral Reconation Therapy). Correctional Counseling, Inc. provides that; they train and prepare. You have to be certified to be a facilitator. We've both been trained in basic and advanced MRT, so we're prepared.

"The whole idea of MRT is that it raised their moral awareness, so that they'll make better decisions and not return to prison.

"It's strictly based on self-responsibility and acceptance. It takes all your excuses away."

Moore added, "It's like moral development. It'll help them develop those moral skills and everything.

"We'll talk about things like their family and different experiences that they've had, but it comes down to what they did and us addressing that with them. We're really excited about MRT."

Before September, Hall and Moore will also complete training in dealing with the types of trauma that can lead a person to criminal activity.

Hall remarked, "I won't say that childhood trauma leads to criminality.

"But, criminality is very often marked by childhood trauma.

"That is why Aubrey and I are receiving training in the Trauma component of MRT."

The Link was one of only 11 agencies nationwide to receive the DOJ/BJA grant for this year.

For Cullman County, according to Hall, the program means "Citizens who are working, paying into the tax base, reunified with their family, spending their money here. They're productive members of society.

"You want them to live in your neighborhood, because they're different people than they were when they were incarcerated."
