Hanceville 'breaks ground' on new senior center

A ceremonial "groundbreaking" ceremony for a new senior center was held in Hanceville Friday. The event took place inside due to muddy conditions at the site of the new center. HANCEVILLE, Ala. – The City of Hanceville celebrated the groundbreaking for the city's new senior center Friday morning. The ceremony was held at the Hanceville Civic Center rather than the future site of the center at CW Day Park due to muddy conditions. City and County leaders were joined by members of Cullman County's state legislative delegation and representatives from Montgomery and Governor Kay Ivey's office.

Ivey announced in November that Hanceville had been selected to receive a $250,000 Community Development Block Grant (CDBG) to build the 2,500-square-foot senior center. The CDBG program is administered by the Alabama Department of Economic and Community Affairs (ADECA) utilizing funds from the U.S. Department of Housing & Urban Development.

Mayor Kenneth Nail welcomed Kenneth Boswell, director of ADECA, who said to the Hanceville seniors in attendance, "Ladies and gentlemen, Governor Ivey sends her regrets, but she is here in spirit and she wanted me to make sure that all of you knew that she certainly appreciates what you do individually as well as what you do collectively."

Boswell also spoke about Nail, comparing the mayor to a bulldog.

"You could not have, and I mean this with all my heart, you could not have a better mayor and more of an advocate for you as citizens than this man right here," he said, before also complimenting leadership in Cullman County.

Members of the Hanceville Senior Center, known as "the Rowdy Bunch," were praised by Adam Thompson, assistant commissioner of the Alabama Department of Senior Services. He stressed the importance of supporting the senior citizens in every community

"Things like the senior center are so much more than a building," he said. "What makes senior centers throughout the state so important are the activities. the food program, the fellowship, the connections, the classes and all types of activities that go into making that senior center a part of » PAGE 5

Coyotes in Cullman?

CULLMAN, Ala. – The Tribune has received an increasing number of reports of coyotes spotted in and around the city limits of Cullman over the last several months. While coyotes do pose a threat to pets and livestock, with pets under 35 pounds being at greatest risk, there has never been a reported coyote attack of a person in the state of Alabama.

CULLMAN, Ala. – Cullman Savings Bank (CSB) donated $1,000 to Good Samaritan Health Clinic Friday, as part of the institution's Cullman Savings Bank Giving Back program.

CSB President John Riley explained, "We've got a long-standing relationship with the Good Samaritan Clinic. I served as chairman of the board, was on their board for a while, so I saw the good work they do. And now we've got this Giving Back program because of the current situation with this virus. A lot of people think toward small businesses and their people there, but we can't forget the different charities in town and different things that they do, also, because a lot of people aren't giving right now, so we can't forget those people either, and the good work that they do."

Since starting in late April, the Cullman Savings Bank Giving Back program has also supported numerous local businesses, including:

- Dreher's Cocktail Bar and Restaurant
- Rice and Soy Chinese Restaurant
- Handz On Therapeutic Massage
- The Factory Dance Productions
- Branham Tire and Accessories
- Berkeley Bob's Coffee House
- Wonderfully Made Massage
- Werner's Trading Company

When the bank started the Giving Back program, its announcement read, in part, "After making many Payroll Protection Program loans and loan deferrals, the Board of Directors of Cullman Savings Bank felt it is crucial for the Bank to help stimulate the local economy.

"Therefore, Cullman Savings Bank is going into the community to help support local businesses."

Good Samaritan Health Clinic Executive Director Jolanda Hutson told The Tribune, "Good Samaritan Clinic loves and appreciates its partnership with Cullman Savings Bank. Not only do they provide us with financial support, but they're the kind of organization that loves to get behind their partners and help them in additional ways. I know Cullman Savings Bank has been our platinum sponsor for our signature concert each fall, and not only do they provide that financial backing, but they always are there to help with being a ticket outlet or providing manpower, or encouraging their employees and their customers to support the clinic, as well. We greatly appreciate and value our ongoing partnership with Cullman Savings Bank."

FUNNY THINGS FROM YESTERDAY

The ceiling fan

Robert N. Tidwell, Sr.
robertntidwellsr@gmail.com

I have written before about modern trends and old traditions. This article is about a ceiling fan and two or three helium-filled balloons.

The first ceiling fans that I remember were the ones at People Drug Store. (This, incidentally, was the store where I started my pharmacy career.)

There was a soda fountain, little tables and chairs with round seats and a bar with bar stools. You could have a coke, a double dip ice cream cone or a root beer float. The ceiling fan blowing air down on you would make you cool and comfortable.

Most houses now have ceiling fans. If your home has a wood-burning heater and a ceiling fan you will have a very comfortable room. You will also stay physically fit splitting your firewood and bringing the wood in.

In the years that I served on the city council we had special meetings, some were statewide and some were nationwide.

One year in May, Rudene and I were in Mobile for the Alabama League of Cities meeting and we were staying at the Admiral Semmes Hotel. Each room had a ceiling fan, which made it very pleasant.

But ceiling fans can be a problem if you are not careful with them.

The first night we were there, we had a welcome banquet and part of the decoration was helium-filled balloons. After the dinner the balloons were given to anyone that would like to have then. Rudene got two or three for our little granddaughter, Leanna.

When we arrived in our hotel room, I cautioned Granny (the name that Leanna calls her) to tie the balloons securely to a chair arm to keep them from getting loose and caught in the ceiling fan.

All went well until four o'clock in the morning. We were awakened by a very loud noise: flap, flap, flap! I turned on the lamp switch and was standing on the floor wide awake before the bulb lit, ready to do battle with an intruder.

Then I saw the problem. Granny's string of balloons had gotten loose and was wound around the fan shaft. The fan blades were flapping the balloons against the ceiling.

After 30 minutes of unwinding string from the fan shaft, I was back in bed, catnapping with one eye closed and the other eye on the string of balloons, now tied more securely to the chair post.

Modern trends like helium-filled balloons and old traditional items like ceiling fans just don't mix too well. Advice from a person with experience.

BILLY BOB'S STORIES AND STUFF

The most beautiful place we'll ever go see

Bill King
Tribune
Contributor

Last week I wrote about having to cancel our Louisiana Purchase Land trip. We would be there now, and I'm still disappointed, but thankful to have steered clear of Ms. Corona. I don't know when, but one day we'll make that trip. Hey, I'll keep my notes and my itinerary. When that time finally comes I'll be ready, but I will have to pay again.

I'm still four states away from having been in all fifty. I would have crossed North Dakota and Oklahoma off that list this week. Yeah, I know, it's easy to see how I have missed North Dakota but Oklahoma? I'm not sure myself.

I've been in every state on every side of the Okie state, and this is the third time I've scheduled something there that didn't happen. I'm beginning to wonder.

Lately, my most adventurous travels have been to the grocery store and a couple of disaster relief chainsaw outings.

Last week I ventured out to sing to the residents of a retirement home from under a tent in their parking lot.

They listened from their balconies, or in lawn chairs, safely distanced from me and one another. I loved it.

Today, I finally went to the barber shop. It was either get a haircut or grow an old man's ponytail!

There will be no big trips for my family this year, but I've enjoyed revisiting my pictures from previous ones. Through mission trips and vacations, I have been blessed to see some of God's most beautiful works of creation.

I've looked across grand canyons from Little River Canyon in Alabama to THE Grand Canyon. I've gazed at magnificent mountains from Alabama's Sand, Lookout, and Cheaha Mountains, to the Smokies and Rockies, to Mauna Kea and Mauna Loa in Hawaii, Mt. Denali in Alaska, The Tetons in Wyoming, Cadillac Mountain in Maine, El Capitan in California, Volcan de Fuego in Guatemala, and Etna and Vesuvius in Italy.

I've looked at great lakes from Rainsville's Patton's Pond, Lakes Guntersville and Martin in Alabama, to all five Great Lakes, Salt Lake, Crater Lake, Lake Powell, and Lake Tahoe.

I've been misted by wondrous waterfalls from Alabama's DeSota and Nocalula Falls, to Niagara Falls, and Iguazu in Brazil. I've walked on beaches from Gulf Shores and its sugar sand to the black sand on Hawaii's Big Island, and several Caribbean Islands. God has done an astonishing, even miraculous, job in His works of creation.

One day, I'm not sure when, I'm planning to go to the most beautiful place we'll ever see.

I'm not going for a visit; I'm going to stay...forever. I've never been, but I've read about it many times. I'll have a really nice house there, and you can too... actually mansions. Many of my friends, and most of my family, live there now. I haven't seen some of them since I was a child. Most importantly, Jesus lives there. He said he was going there to prepare a place for us, so that where he is, there we may be also. I am super excited about finally getting to see him.

There are several other well-known people there too, including Peter, James, John, and Paul, to mention only a few, whom I want to see. You can go too, and I hope you will, but a reservation is required.

The trip and admission have already been paid for us. You'll have to talk to Jesus to make your reservation. Please do it today because we don't when we'll go, but this trip will not be cancelled. Please get ready, because you certainly don't want to end up going to the only other final destination.

Poet's Corner

A Small Measure

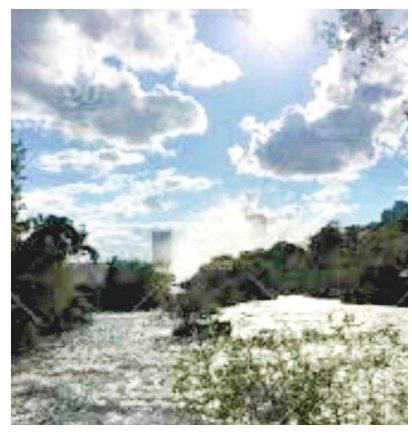

By: Randy C. Hale

We touch the edge
of greatness,
mighty ocean's
sleeves,
trunks of oaks,
sparks of fire,
tender warmth of heat.

We drink
but only ounces, enjoying just a part,
walk toward infinity,
as on this journey start.

We know of life's beginnings, aware of how it ends,
enjoy the skies
unfolding, the sun
seeps in our skin.

Yes, life is just a vapor,
a mist of clouded sky.

We touch the edge
of greatness,
as time goes swiftly by.

Conference USA releases bowl lineup through 2025

Ted Feeley
UAB Athletics

DALLAS, Tx. – Conference USA has announced the league's bowl lineup that will span the six-year cycle from 2020-25. The conference is guaranteed seven bowl appearances in each year of the new cycle.

"We are very pleased with our future bowl lineup," said C-USA Commissioner Judy MacLeod. "Our teams will continue to have postseason opportunities in outstanding destinations that are very accessible to our schools and their fans. We are also excited to have additional flexibility to create great matchups."

UAB has played in three consecutive bowl games since returning to action in 2017.

The Blazers won the program's first postseason game with a 37-13 victory over Northern Illinois in the 2018 Cheribundi Boca Raton Bowl.

As part of the new bowl cycle, C-USA will annually send teams to the Bahamas Bowl against a Mid-American Conference opponent, and to the R+L Carriers New Orleans Bowl against a Sun Belt Conference school. As previously announced, the league will continue its relationship with the Independence Bowl. C-USA is guaranteed to send a team to the Shreveport, Louisiana-based bowl in 2021 and 2025, while holding a secondary agreement with the bowl in the other years of the cycle.

C-USA will also continue its long-standing relationship with the Hawai'i Bowl. The league is set to participate in the Honolulu-based game in 2020, 2022 and 2024.

Auburn's Karen Straub Stanton inducted into Alabama Athletic Trainers' Association Hall of Fame

Jeff Shearer
AU Athletics

AUBURN, Ala. – Joining exclusive company that includes a pair of Auburn athletic training legends, Dr. Karen Straub Stanton has been selected as the Alabama Athletic Trainers' Association 2020 Hall of Fame inductee.

"It was honestly very surprising," said Straub Stanton, who joins former Auburn athletic trainers Kenny Howard and Herb Waldrop in the Hall of Fame.

"These men and women have done amazing things for our profession and they have such a passion and grace for it. To even be considered with them, I'm awestruck."

Straub Stanton came to Auburn in 2005, working with football and volleyball before serving as the athletic trainer for the Tigers' two-time reigning national champion equestrian program.

"It's a lot of fun for me to practice in this profession because I do get to serve these student-athletes, developing young people, and watch them change and grow and achieve all the dreams that they want to," she said. "No two days are ever the same."

Straub Stanton's interest in the field began in high school, attending athletic training camps.

"I love interacting with people," she said. "Athletic trainers have such a grace in being able to be there in so many big ways in different peoples' lives, that that's what I really wanted to do. "Besides the medical, the athletic, the biomechanics, you do get to enter these peoples' lives in a different way. The relationships you develop in helping and supporting them, and really empowering them, it's different than anything you'll ever do."

A veteran of the ALATA Executive Council, Straub Stanton will mark 15 years of serving Auburn's student-athletes this fall.

"This is a very proud moment for us," equestrian coach Greg Williams said.

"As long as I have been in this, it still amazes me the quality of medical care student-athletes can get here.

"We've got a large group of girls and we're extremely fortunate to have somebody of Dr. Straub Stanton's caliber to look after them. She is a big part of our national championships that we've won the past two years. She's tops in her field."

Straub Stanton credits her husband, Nate, with helping balance her demanding profession with family life.

"My home team is amazing," she said. "I married very well. My husband is a hundred percent my partner in this."

Because of the coronavirus pandemic, Straub Stanton's formal induction will take place during ALATA's 2021 annual meeting.

"I've heard student-athletes state that she's like a second mom to them at the equestrian center," Auburn director of sports medicine Joe-Joe Petrone said. "They look up to her because of her work ethic and the fact that she's raising young children and doing the thing she loves the most, and that's being an athletic trainer at the highest level in Division I athletics.

Auburn trainer Dr. Karen Straub Stanton

"She's an important cog with our staff. She completes our team. She does many things outside of being the equestrian athletic trainer, and that just makes us that much better. Our whole staff is like that, the Auburn family, and she is the epitome of that."

CULLMAN, Ala. – The Cullman City Council on Friday officially granted the special event permit for country star Alan Jackson's June 5 Small Town Drive-In concert in Cullman. The permit was granted to Real World Tours, Inc. for the event, which will take place at York Farms, the site of Rock the South, at 1872 County Road 469. Gates will open at 5:30 p.m. The show starts at 7:45 p.m.

The council approved Resolution 2020-87, to enter into a contract with Real World Tours.

The resolution read, in part, "The City of Cullman will pay to Real World Tours, Inc. the sum of $19,275, which shall be for the promotion of the City of Cullman and its brand in not less than 12 publication of local Southeastern and National distribution, including Rolling Stones Country, MSN Money, USA Today, Tennessean, Al.com, Taste of Country, Yellow Hammer, The Boot, Nash Country Dailey, and others.

"Provide Facebook and other media promotion naming the City of Cullman as one of its sponsors including interviews on CBS 42, ABC 33/40, and NBC WVTM 13...

"Real World Tours, Inc. requests the City to assist them in quickly preparing a site for the performance by cleaning and soil preparation for a maximum of 2,000 vehicles and to provide reasonable number of policeman, fire trucks, operators, first aid equipment, and personnel to assist in parking vehicles for the drive in performance and police officers for the venue."

Cullman City Clerk Wes Moore said Real World Tours, Inc. will reimburse the City for costs incurred for work, equipment and personnel.

The council buzzed with excitement about the concert.

Mayor Woody Jacobs shared, "I would say that hearing from some of the hotels, it looks like they're filling up for that weekend, so I feel that's very positive.

"Comments from them were they were appreciative and very happy that we were able to do something like this, because they've been hit very hard during this time and some of the traveling just now is going back to hotels.

"They were thrilled when Alan Jackson reached out and we were able to be the first part of the tour."

"This is going to be a COVID-19, family-friendly event, and I think it's going to be a positive for Cullman," said Councilman Clint Hollingsworth.

"Everyone's starving to get outside and kind of get back to concerts and events and things.

"This is a little bit different animal compared to Rock the South, obviously, but it will be a COVID-19-friendly event that people will enjoy on a lot smaller scale, with us being the first stop is a big thing, and I think with our success of Rock the South enabled us to have this opportunity to be the first.

"We're excited about it and I think it will be a great weekend for everyone! All these businesses need a jolt for their business and hopefully that'll do that."

Jacobs said Cullman Parks, Recreation & Sports Tourism and the Cullman Police Department will be at the concert to assist with parking and help smooth the process; an ambulance will also be on site.

He added that alcohol will not be sold at the event. Concessions will be provided via phone orders with deliveries to vehicles.

Find out more about the concert at www.cullmantribune.com/2020/05/26/breaking-alan-jackson-to-perform-in-cullman-june-5.

During the special-called meeting, the council amended the agenda, adding two items.

Councilman David Cook added a request from First United Methodist Church to close a portion of Fourth Street Southeast between Third Avenue Southeast and Fourth Avenue Southeast for an outdoor church service Sunday, June 7 from 8-11 a.m.

Councilman John Cook added a request from the Warehouse District for Clark Street to First Avenue Southeast to be closed for the Warehouse District's annual sidewalk sale, which will take place June 5 and 6. Cook noted the event is still pending approval from Warehouse District merchants for participation.

The council approved both requests.

Cullman Economic Development Agency (CEDA) Retail and Workforce Development Manager Susan Eller said a 2020 Census drive will take place at the annual sidewalk sale.

David Moss announces candidacy for Cullman City Council, place 2

craig@cullmantribune.com

CULLMAN, Ala. – Cullman City Councilman David Moss on Friday announced plans to run for election to the council seat to which he was previously appointed. The Municipal Election will be Tuesday, Aug. 25, 2020.

Below is Moss' announcement, in full:
David Moss, Jr. formally announces his candidacy for Place 2 on the Cullman City Council. He wants to continue to serve and work for the citizens of the Cullman community as he has over the past year and a half. Moss currently serves as the chairman of the Cullman City Council Utilities Committee.

In November 2018, David Moss, Jr. was appointed to the Cullman City Council to fill the unexpired term of Garlan Gudger, Jr. when he stepped down to serve in the Alabama State Senate.

"I had no previous experience in public office and did not know what to expect," said Moss. "I was honored to be given the opportunity to serve, and it has turned out to be one of the most rewarding experiences of my life."

These past few months have been like nothing we've ever seen before. The COVID-19 pandemic has posed challenges and obstacles in every aspect of our lives. Moss says he is proud of the city's response to the crisis and vows to continue working with local businesses to promote the safety of our citizens.

"As we adjust to our new normal, we must work together to respond to the economic challenges that have been created. I believe in supporting our local businesses, listening to their concerns and doing what we can to help," Moss said.

Moss is proud of the many accomplishments he and fellow council members have achieved over the past year and a half, such as: applying for and receiving numerous grants, hiring qualified new leaders, completing multiple infrastructure projects, working on a long-term plan for future growth, park development, a 5-year plan for the airport and much more. During his nineteen months on the council, Cullman industries have invested over $158 million in this community and created almost 500 jobs. Prior to COVID-19, Cullman's unemployment rate was at an all-time low.

Over the next four years, one of Moss' main focuses will be addressing the challenges that face the city school system.

"We have many decisions to make, and I want to be part of the solution. I will work with the school board to address the issues we face as Cullman continues to grow. Citizens of the city of Cullman should always feel free to contact me with questions or concerns. When we have tough decisions to make, I welcome input and other points of view," said Moss. "It is an honor to serve this community, and I humbly ask for your vote for Cullman City Council, Place 2, on August 25, 2020."

the community. You can have countless buildings, but if you don't have the community to go with it, it doesn't do any good."

Senator Garlan Gudger, R-Cullman and Rep. Randall Shedd, R-Fairview both thanked the leaders of ADECA, the City of Hanceville, the Cullman County Commission and others in the state delegation for working so well together to secure funding for the new senior center. Cullman County Associate Commissioners Kerry Watson and Garry Marchman presented a check for $25,000 to provide additional help on the project. The City of Hanceville will contribute $50,000 toward the center.

Director of the Cullman County Commission on Aging Dusty Baker recognized Hanceville Senior Center Director Evon Fowler, smiling, "She keeps the Rowdy Bunch busy and let me tell you, that Rowdy Bunch, they come by that name honestly. The name is well-deserved."

Barbara Bailey, president of the Hanceville Senior Center, concluded the program saying, "We are so thrilled about having this new building and the location. Where we are at now, a lot of people don't know where we're at and they can't find it.

"We are looking forward to seeing a lot of new faces to come to the new building and enjoy the fellowship and the food that we have. I think they will really enjoy themselves when they do come and just get a feel of being out of the house for four hours in the morning. It makes a big difference. You'd be surprised how many of our seniors said that they look forward to coming every day just to get out of the house for a couple of hours."

Bailey informed everyone the seniors are planning a big grand opening.

The new building was designed by local architect Tim Burney, and he explained some of the features. The new building will include a covered pick-up and drop-off area, a gas fireplace and sitting area, an exercise room, new stainless kitchen, a classroom area and a large dining and activity area. The building will also open into the park, which will allow the incorporation of outdoor activities.

Burney said, "I think that's one of the best aspects of this new center. They will be able to enjoy both the new indoor facilities and outdoor activities."

Burney estimated it will take six months to complete construction of the senior center.

Movie: The Captive Nanny

Chloe is eager to adopt a child of her own, but she recognizes she needs to get her life in order first. She finds what looks like the perfect live-in nanny position with a couple and their son, but is alarmed when she notices that the family seems obsessed with their home security. The wife explains all the locks are because of her ex-husband, a musician and stalker, but things soon take an even weirder turn. Karynn Moore and Austin Highsmith star in this 2020 thriller.

Movie: The Red Shoes

One of the most visually beautiful films ever made, this 1948 drama stars Scottish-born ballerina Moira Shearer as a dancer torn between her art and her new love: the composer of a ballet based on the Hans Christian Andersen fairy tale "The Red Shoes." That's the one about the girl whose magic shoes force her to dance until she drops dead. Nothing good can come of that, but the movie's centerpiece — the ballet itself — is a knockout. Airing as part of a Shearer evening on "The Essentials."

7 p.m. on HBO
Movie: Lucy in the Sky

Noah Hawley (TV's "Fargo") co-wrote and made his feature directorial debut with this 2019 drama based somewhat loosely on a real-life tabloid scandal involving astronaut Lisa Nowak's criminal activities around a messy romantic triangle with a male fellow astronaut. Natalie Portman heads the cast as Lucy Cola, an astronaut whose space journey leaves her feeling unmoored from her mundane life on Earth. Jon Hamm stars as the colleague with whom Lucy drifts into an affair; Dan Stevens plays her underappreciated spouse. Zazie Beetz and Ellen Burstyn co-star.

In addition to these two heartwarming stories of second chances for wounded animals, Dan also takes in over a dozen exotic farm animals.

Movie: Full Metal Jacket

Most of the big-name directors made a Vietnam picture in the late 1970s or the '80s. Stanley Kubrick's contribution was this 1987 drama, which follows the sardonic Pvt. J.T. "Joker" Davis (Matthew Modine) through Marine boot camp and into battle. As a "Stars and Stripes" correspondent, his assignment isn't killing, but Vietnam was a war without rules. Vincent D'Onofrio gives the film's most chilling performance as a misfit recruit, while R. Lee Ermey received a best supporting actor Golden Globe nomination for his role.

Karynn Moore stars in "The Captive Nanny" on Lifetime.

Participate in Alabama Backyard BioBlitz June 5

Weeks Bay National Estuarine Research Reserve

FAIRHOPE, Ala. – All Alabamians are invited to join Weeks Bay National Estuarine Research Reserve in celebrating World Environment Day by participating in the Alabama Backyard BioBlitz Friday, June 5, 2020.

The event encourages the public to explore and document the natural world from the comfort of their own backyards.

"The theme of this year's event is biodiversity," said Clara Zubrick, Weeks Bay education assistant.

"Alabama ranks fifth in the nation in biodiversity and first east of the Mississippi River.

"To protect and conserve our environment, we must first connect with what's out there.

"The best place to begin exploring nature is in your own backyard."

To participate in the event, download the free iNaturalist app from the Apple or Android app stores and search for the "Alabama Backyard BioBlitz" project.

After joining the project June 5, participants can observe and document the plants, animals and insects present near their homes.

You can also participate through the iNaturalist website at www.inaturalist.org/projects/alabama-backyard-bioblitz.

"We are excited to provide this opportunity to bring together citizen scientists throughout Alabama in an effort to increase awareness of our state's amazing biodiversity and celebrate its natural beauty," said Chris Blankenship, Commissioner of the Alabama Department of Conservation and Natural Resources (ADCNR).

According to Hudson, there are several things people do that inadvertently attract coyotes, such as leaving pet food out overnight, leaving out smelly trash cans and even having outdoor cats.

"Coyotes will eat outdoor cats," she said, "so having feral cats outside or outside cats will attract predators that would consume them, including coyotes.

"Basically, anything that would attract a stray dog will attract a coyote."

She said some easy steps people can take to reduce their chances of attracting coyotes include eliminating food sources, having motion sensor lights and hazing or yelling at coyotes that are seen.

There is no closed season for hunting coyotes in the state of Alabama and no bag limit.

"As far as killing them, if you are in an area where it's legal to shoot, you can kill as many as you like all year long during daylight hours only," said Hudson.

In the city of Cullman, it is illegal to shoot a firearm; however, Cullman Police Chief Kenny Culpepper said citizens can contact the Cullman Police Department for a temporary permit for "nuisance predator control."

"They have to come by and talk to me about the problem and go over safety," he said, "and in special cases we will issue a temporary permit."

Culpepper asks people to make sure surrounding neighbors are informed of the permit prior to shooting a firearm.

Hudson added, "If you have a huge problem with coyotes, and you think it's necessary to hunt them at night to control them on your property, the Alabama Wildlife and Freshwater Fisheries Division does issue permits to allow for nighttime hunting as well."

Trapping is also an effective method for coyote control, and the Alabama Wildlife and Freshwater Fisheries Division also offers workshops on trapping coyotes.

As mammals, coyotes are capable of carrying rabies, but unless they attack a person, there is no need to have a coyote tested.

Hudson said, "We have never had a case of a person being attacked by a coyote, but if that were to happen, of course that would be a concern."

Coyotes are common statewide and Hudson said that no particular trend or increase in numbers or trends has been reported in the state.

She said sightings may seem to be more common, but that could be attributed to technology.

"With the heavy use of social media and the internet, information spreads quicker than it used to," she said.

"Also, people put out attractants to lure coyotes close to their home; although the activities are inadvertent, it's still going to lead to more sightings."

This time of year, coyotes are more likely to be seen during the day due to having young.

Hudson explained, "They have juveniles right now. They breed in the spring.

"They can have anywhere from four to six and sometimes even eight pups. More likely four to six."

There are licensed wildlife control operators who are available for hire for wildlife control and removal for those seeking help with wildlife issues.

Cullman County Animal Control, like most animal controls, does not address wildlife concerns.

A list of licensed wildlife control operators can be found at www.outdooralabama.com/permitted-nuisance-wildlife-control-operators-cloned.
