Urban Cookhouse, Joe Hudson Collision Center, new Taco Bell location coming to Cullman

CULLMAN, Ala. – Cullman will soon have a couple of new businesses and a new location for an old favorite. Urban Cookhouse, Joe Hudson Collision Center and a new Taco Bell location all hope to be open by the end of 2020.

Urban Cookhouse is giving a modern facelift to an existing building along U.S. Highway 31, just north of Captain D's, in what was once Cullman's first fast food restaurant in the 1960s, an original Jack's Hamburgers.

Cullman County native Riley Stewart is the franchise partner for the Cullman location of Urban Cookhouse and is excited to bring its "farm-to-fire-to-table" concept to Cullman.

"It's fast casual dining. We serve anything from shrimp and grits to steak and rice plates, to soups, salads and sandwiches; we've got a bunch of good desserts," said Stewart. "We focus on local crops from local farmers. We try to pull from everything here."

In Alabama, Urban Cookhouse has locations at Bridge Street Town Centre in Huntsville and in Birmingham, Montgomery and Tuscaloosa. Opening of the Cullman location was planned for May, but was set back due to the COVID-19 pandemic. The new plan is to be open in September.

Stewart said of his decision to open a location in Cullman: "I bought the territory to put one in Florence, but I decided I wanted to build one here first and see how it goes. Plus, it's my hometown and I always wanted to do something here."

He added, "The food is great, and honestly, that's the only reason I've done it- plus, I grew up in, and my family was all farmers from, Holly Pond. It supports local, and I like to eat healthy; we cook everything on the Green Egg, other than the flattop for the chicken, but it's just a neat environment. It's

Ultimate Fair rescheduled for July 28-Aug. 1 in Good Hope; Miracle Ride raises more than $11K

christy@cullmantribune.com

GOOD HOPE, Ala. – The Ultimate Fair, originally scheduled to be in Good Hope in April, will now bring its midway to the city July 28- Aug. 1, 2020. Owner Maria Pearson spoke to the Good Hope City Council Monday night about procedures the group will implement to reduce the risk of spreading COVID-19. Guests will have their temperatures taken prior to entering the fair and multiple sanitizing stations will be located throughout the midway.

The fair will take place on the vacant land near Hathcock Road and County Road 437 and will feature at least 25 rides, according to Pearson, as well as games, food and other attractions.

Members of The Saints Motorcycle Club were at Monday night's council meeting and were thrilled to report that their recent Miracle Ride raised more than $11,000 for the Miracle League.

Brandi Evans, who spoke on behalf of The Saints, said, "This money goes just to pay registration fees for these kids and these adults.

"This is not the only benefit we do, but it is our biggest. We also do a Christmas charity and a breast cancer charity."

The Saints Motorcycle Club is located in Good Hope, and Evans added, "We'd really like to help Good Hope with different things and whatever you have going on."

Councilman Maxie Jones reported that construction of the new Doss Road Bridge is expected to begin in August. The bridge will be a County project; the old one-lane bridge with a two-lane bridge.

Cullman City Council approves tax abatement extension for REHAU, repaving plan for Cullman High School

craig@cullmantribune.com

W.C. MANN/THE CULLMAN TRIBUNE

CULLMAN, Ala. – The Cullman City Council on Monday evening voted to extend a 10-year tax abatement granted to automotive component manufacturer REHAU last year. The abatement will cover ad valorem and construction transaction taxes, except any taxes earmarked for education.

When the abatement was first approved last July, the company was planning an expansion that would involve a $12,485,375 capital investment and create 70 new jobs. REHAU has amended that amount to $24,849,000, and Council President Jenny Folsom reported the increased facility expansion is expected to add 42 additional jobs.

Cullman High School paving

The council amended the City's 2019/20 general fund budget from $37,389,367 to $37,529,376, adding $140,000 that will be used to repave the back parking lot at Cullman High School.

That area is the largest parking lot at the school, and accesses the band room, theater department, auditorium and athletic fields, and provides overflow parking for the City tennis courts between Cullman High School and Cullman City Primary School; the lot sees substantial public use in addition to school parking.

The originally proposed resolution called for a budget increase of more than $1 million, but was lowered prior to the meeting.

Cullman High Principal Kim Hall and members of the city school board were present for the vote.

Cherokee Avenue/24th Street project

The council authorized Mayor Woody Jacobs to work with the Alabama Department of Transportation (ALDOT) to modify the radius of the right turn lane from Cherokee Avenue onto 24th Street Southwest, to make the turn easier for large trucks and trailers headed into the city industrial park on 24th Street.

This project is in conjunction with another project planned to place a traffic signal at the intersection.

Other council business

The council passed resolutions:

- to award a bid for vending services to the lowest responsible bidder, Cullman Coca Cola
- to award a bid for concrete finishing to the lowest responsible bidder, Ortiz Concrete
- to enter into an agreement with ALDOT for Hwy. 69 and 24th Street project right-of-way
- to award federal grant engineering and design services to St. John and Associates
- to award CDBG grant application and administration services to Community Consultants, Inc.
- to authorize an ALDOT Transportation Alternatives Program grant application for handicapped accessible sidewalks along Second Avenue Northeast from Clark Street to Oak Drive Northeast

The council also appointed Amy Hasenbein Leonard to serve on the city's Tree Commission.

Jacobs presented a council resolution of appreciation to outgoing Zoning Board of Adjustments and Appeals Chairman Ed Henke, reading:

WHEREAS, Charles E. (Ed) Henke has served the City of Cullman as a member of the Zoning Board of Adjustments and Appeals in various capacities since 1986, most recently serving as Chairman of the Board, and,

WHEREAS, Mr. Henke has always served with dedication, distinction, and outstanding leadership, and he has handled the duties and responsibilities of his position in an exceptional manner throughout his thirty-four years of service; and,

WHEREAS, Mr. Henke has announced his resignation as a member of this board, and it is both fitting and proper that he receive special public recognition for his many years of service to the City of Cullman as a member of the Zoning Board of Adjustments and Appeals.

NOW, THEREFORE, we, the Mayor and Council of the City of Cullman, do hereby present this RESOLUTION OF APPRECIATION to CHARLES E. (ED) HENKE and publicly go on record commending him for his distinguished service and outstanding leadership throughout his time serving on the Zoning Board of Adjustments and Appeals., and wishing him the very best in all of his future endeavors.

The council also got a visit from the mayor's daughter, Hannah Jacobs, and members and guests wished her a happy 29th birthday ahead of her celebration this Saturday.

The Cullman City Council meets next at 7 p.m. Monday, July 6, 2020 in the city hall auditorium. The public is invited to attend, but seating is limited by COVID-19 restrictions.

Brad Smith declares candidacy for Cullman City Council, place 1

Wendy Sack
wendy@cullmantribune.com

CULLMAN, Ala. – Brad Smith on Tuesday morning announced his candidacy for Cullman City Council, place 1. Smith will face incumbent Andy Page in the Tuesday, Aug. 25, 2020 Municipal Election.

CONTRIBUTED

Brad Smith

Below is Smith's unedited announcement:

Brad Smith announces his candidacy for Place 1 on the Cullman City Council. Place 1 is responsible for public safety, including the police and fire departments. Brad is a lifetime resident of Cullman. He and his wife Cheryl (Buckelew) have two children, Stitcher (12) and Lane (8). Brad plans to incorporate his love for Cullman and his business acumen to bring a fresh voice to the city council.

Brad graduated from Cullman High School in 1997 and studied at the University of Alabama. In 2005, Brad began his marketing career in the concrete industry and has held various sales and management positions.

Brad is currently a Senior Account Manager for Ready Mix USA, covering the North Alabama area. Serving in this role has given Brad a vast knowledge of industry and construction in both Cullman and the surrounding areas.

During these uncertain times in our country, it is imperative that our police and fire departments receive the full support of the city council and the citizens of Cullman. "I want every police officer, firefighter, and first responder in the City of Cullman to know that they have the backing of the city in any event, at all times as they serve and protect our community."

One of the most important issues that needs to be addressed is the capacity of our schools.

We have some of the best administrators and top teachers in the state, and our students' test scores as well as their long-term success rates are a direct reflection. In order to continue this tradition of excellence, we must strategically and collectively work with the school board to provide our students with the learning environment they deserve without costing our taxpayers more money.

As a city, Cullman must stay on the forefront of economic development. The opportunity for people to locate to this outstanding community, we call home, where they can have a great career and enjoy all our city offers is one of Cullman's greatest attributes.

We must continue that trend moving forward, paving the way for small business growth and regeneration in order to bring those who desire to reside and seek employment here. Cullman was built on small business, and we must continue to support them during these times.

"Running is a major commitment, and I have given a great deal of consideration as to how I can best serve my community. I pledge to unite with the city and my co-elected leaders as we work collectively to move our community forward while fostering growth and preserving our traditional values.

"My core belief is that the success of this city going forward relies on all of us communicating and working together—the council, the mayor, all city departments, and the citizens—to accomplish our cumulative goals.

"Together, we can define priorities and collaborate with others to attain goals all while taking the focus off politics and instead concentrating on effective government as we invest in our infrastructure, schools and businesses. I humbly ask for your vote on August 25 as I embark on this journey."

Abuse (from Front)

wendy@cullmantribune.com

GOOD HOPE, Ala. – A Good Hope resident, in the country illegally, was arrested June 19 by Cullman County Sheriff's Office (CCSO) investigators, charged with two counts of sexual abuse of a child under the age of 12. Jesus Cortes Sandoval, 63, is a Mexican national.

According to a media release from the CCSO, "Investigators conducted a short investigation, with the assistance of Cullman County Department of Human Resources (DHR), Cullman Advocacy Center (CAC), and the Cullman County District Attorney's Office, after victims came forward.

"CCSO investigators determined the suspect had committed sexual acts to a minor child under 12 years old."

Sandoval could face additional charges related to the investigation.

Because of the graphic nature of the crime and the crime involving a child, the CCSO will not release further details.

Sandoval is being held in the Cullman County Detention Center on a U.S. Immigration and Customs Enforcement (ICE) detainer without no bond.

MLB owners, commissioner prepare to impose 60-game season

Nick Griffin
nick@cullmantribune.com

After months of postponement due to the coronavirus pandemic and weeks of heated negotiations with the Players Union, Major League Baseball announced Monday night that commissioner Rob Manfred plans to impose a reportedly 60-game regular season and an expanded postseason.

Major League Baseball issued the following statement Monday night:

"Today, the Major League Baseball Players Association informed us that they have rejected the agreement framework developed by Commissioner Manfred and Tony Clark. Needless to say, we are disappointed by this development.

"The framework provided an opportunity for MLB and its players to work together to confront the difficulties and challenges presented by the pandemic. It gave our fans the chance to see an exciting new Postseason format. And, it offered players significant benefits including:

1. The universal DH for two years

2. A guaranteed $25 million in playoff pools in 2020

3. $33 million in forgiven salary advances that would increase the take home pay of 61% of Major League players

4. Overall earnings for players of 104 percent of prorated salary

5. Over the last two days, MLB agreed to remove expanded Postseason in 2021 in order to address player concerns

"In view of this rejection, the MLB Clubs have unanimously voted to proceed with the 2020 season under the terms of the March 26th Agreement. The provisions listed above will not be operative.

"In order to produce a schedule with a specific number of games, we are asking that the Players Association provide to us by 5:00 p.m. (ET) tomorrow with two pieces of information.

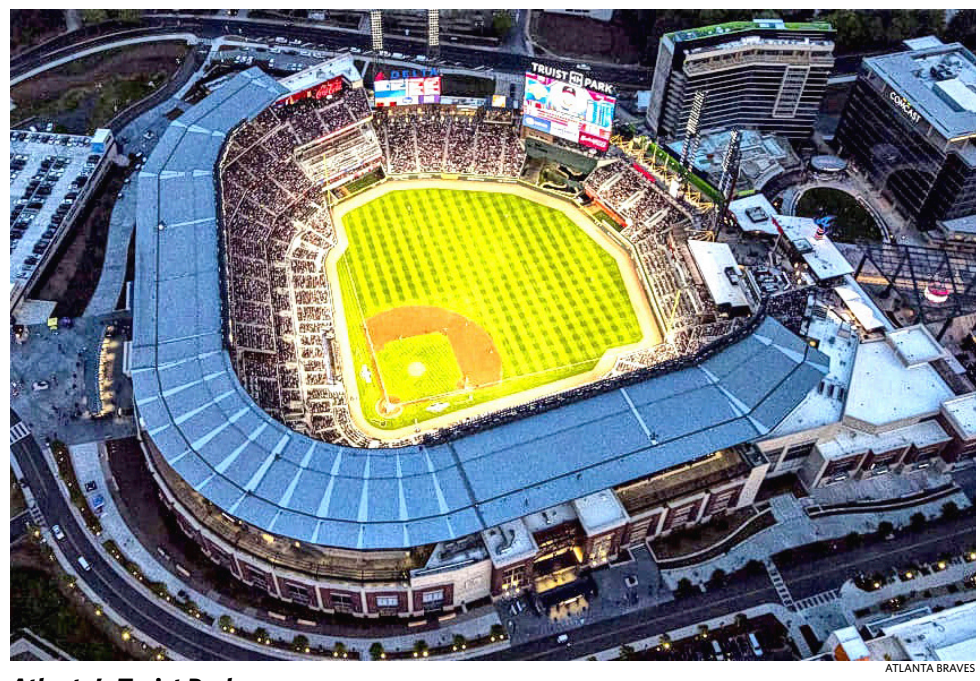

"The first is whether players will be able to report to camp within seven days (by July 1st).

"The second is whether the Players Association will agree on the Operating Manual which contains the health and safety protocols necessary to give us the best opportunity to conduct and complete our regular season and Postseason."

The decision came after the MLBPA voted to reject Major League Baseball's proposal for a 2020 season Monday evening. That proposal called for, among other things, a 60-game regular season, an expanded postseason and no additional salary guarantees if the season were to be canceled due to the coronavirus.

The MLBPA said in a statement earlier Monday afternoon,

"The MLBPA Executive Board met multiple times in recent days to assess the status of our efforts to resume the 2020 season."

ATLANTA BRAVES

Atlanta's Truist Park.

"Earlier this evening, the full Board reaffirmed the players' eagerness to return to work as soon and as safely as possible. To that end we anticipate finalizing a comprehensive set of health and safety protocols with Major League Baseball in the coming days, and we await word from the league on the resumption of spring training camps and a proposed 2020 schedule."

While we had hoped to reach a revised back to work agreement with the league, the Players remain fully committed to proceeding under our current agreement and getting back on the field for the fans, for the game, and for each other."

UAB agrees to home-and-home series with South Alabama; Troy

UAB Athletics

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. – The UAB football team has added additional games with the University of South Alabama and Troy University to its future non-conference schedule.

UAB and South Alabama will play a home-and-home in 2030-31, while the Blazers and the Trojans have signed two more games for 2032-33. Earlier this summer, UAB and Troy announced that they are also playing games in 2028-29.

UAB vs. South Alabama
- Game 1: Sept. 14, 2030 – at South Alabama
- Game 2: Sept. 6, 2031 – at UAB

UAB vs. Troy
- Game 1: Sept. 18, 2032 – at Troy
- Game 2: Sept. 10, 2033 – at UAB

The Blazers are finishing up a home-and-home series with South Alabama this season when UAB travels to Mobile, Ala. on Sept. 26.

UAB won the first-ever game between the two schools last year in Birmingham, 35-3.

UAB and Troy have not played each other since 2014, but will have four games coming up in 2028, 2029, 2032 and 2033. Troy leads the overall series 7-5.

South Alabama and Troy add to the list of Sun Belt schools UAB will play in its future non-conference schedule, along with Georgia Southern (2022-23), Louisiana (2023, 2026) and Georgia State (2027-30).

UAB enters 2020 looking to win its third straight Conference USA West Division title and its second overall C-USA championship in the last three years.

The Blazers return 18 starters from last year's team that won the second most games in school history (9).

Season tickets for 2020 are on sale starting as low as $75 with the Family Four Pack.

Blazer Boosters members and current season ticket holders will have top priority for Protective Stadium entering 2021.

4 Alabama student-athletes earn at-large Academic All-America honors

Roots Woodruff
UA Athletics

TUSCALOOSA, Ala. – For the second year in a row, a total of four Crimson Tide student-athletes earned a place on the CoSIDA Academic All-America At-Large Teams. Swimmers Daniel Kober and Zane Waddell earned spots on the men's team, while tennis player Alba Cortina Pou and swimmer Allie Surrency were voted to the women's squad.

Alabama is one of five schools with more than three student-athletes on this year's at-large teams and the only Southeastern Conference school with more than two.

Kober and Surrency earned first team recognition while Waddell and Cortina Pou made the second team.

Unlike the other Academic All-America teams which represent a single sport, the at-large program spans several men's and women's sports.

The women's at-large team includes beach volleyball, bowling, rowing, field hockey, fencing, golf, gymnastics, ice hockey, lacrosse, rifle, skiing, swimming and diving, tennis and water polo, while the men include fencing, golf, gymnastics, ice hockey, lacrosse, rifle, skiing, swimming and diving, tennis, water polo, volleyball and wrestling.

Waddell, a World, World University Games, NCAA and SEC Champion, graduated in May with a degree in management information systems and finance.

He is the 2020 Southeastern Conference Swimming and Diving Scholar-Athlete of the Year and was a finalist for the H. Boyd McWhorter SEC Male Scholar-Athlete of the Year.

Kober closed out his career with a 4.0 GPA in Chemical Engineering.

An All-American, Surrency graduated with a degree in Mechanical Engineering carrying a 4.0 GPA, while Cortina Pou graduated with a 4.0 GPA in Finance and Marketing.

Inside the Numbers
- Since nominations for the at-large team went from a maximum of three men and three women to four of each in 2014, Alabama has led the nation with 36, a dozen better than the next-highest total.

- The Alabama men's swimming and diving program has been particularly prolific in terms of Academic All-Americans over the past six years, with eight swimmers earning 16 honors. That total is nearly double what any other school has over that span for all sports combined. Overall, 19 members of the men's and women's swimming and diving squads have earned a spot on the at-large team 29 times.

- Cortina Pou is the ninth member of the women's tennis program to earn Academic All-America honors, coming away with its 12th honor overall.

UA ATHLETICS

University of Alabama campus

- In all, Alabama student-athletes have earned a place on the Academic All-America At-Large team 82 times since making their first appearance in 1986.

- With four making the at-large team, a total of nine Alabama student-athletes have earned Academic All-America honors during the 2019-20 academic year, with Cortina Pou, Kober, Surrency and Waddell joining Krystal Goodman (softball), Bailey Hemphill (softball), Nealy Martin (soccer), Alex Plavin (soccer) and Kaylee Tow (softball).

- The Crimson Tide also has three student-athletes on the track and field/cross country Academic All-America ballot, which will be announced later this month.

STATE

Alabama AG Steve Marshall and Louisiana AG Jeff Landry Lead 11-state AG letter to Congress in support of law enforcement

Mike Lewis
Contributor

MONTGOMERY, Ala. – Alabama Attorney General Steve Marshall and Louisiana Attorney General Jeff Landry led an 11-state Attorney General letter to Congressional leadership in support of America's law enforcement personnel and calling on Congress to join them in tempering anti-police rhetoric that is jeopardizing the safety of law enforcement. Joining AG Marshall and other attorneys general in the letter were the Western States Sheriffs Association and the Southwestern Border Sheriffs Association.

"As the chief law enforcement officers of our states, along with law enforcement partners, we write to express our unwavering support for law enforcement across the country and to ask for your assistance in tempering the anti-police rhetoric that is jeopardizing the safety of our officers.

"We especially rely on you, as leaders of the most important legislative body in the world, to discourage disinformation and to help us restore the country's faith in the overwhelming majority of law-enforcement officers who perform their jobs honorably and bring stability to our cities and states.

"The tragic and preventable death of George Floyd at the hands of four Minneapolis police officers shined a national spotlight on bad actors within the law-enforcement profession. At the same time, data simply does not support claims that law enforcement is systemically racist or structurally biased. Despite the lack of available evidence to support the anti-police narrative, it proliferates and has spawned radical reactions such as the current calls to "defund the police," as well as increases in violence against police—ranging from assaults to murders."

"Recent history confirms that when myths about the police are not strongly repudiated by our nation's leaders, law-enforcement officers lose their lives. In 2016, following a national campaign against law enforcement—like what we are experiencing today—the number of officers shot and killed in the line of duty increased by 56% in that year alone.

"Twenty-one of those deaths were ambush-style shootings of law enforcement officers. Who can forget the five officers murdered in attacks in Dallas, Texas, and the three officers murdered in Baton Rouge, Louisiana, in only a ten-day period? In recent weeks of national unrest, 750 officers have already been injured defending their communities from the violence that has swept our country. Two members of the law enforcement community have already lost their lives."

"In closing, it is possible to support law enforcement and also speak out against the actions of those individuals who dishonor the badge. These two concepts are not mutually exclusive and is why there has been virtually no support from law enforcement of the horrific decisions made by the officers involved in Mr. Floyd's death. Individuals, including members of Congress, are dangerously fanning the flames of emotion by tacitly or explicitly supporting the "Defund the Police" (or worse) movement.

"These comments are inciting chaos through the myth that Americans will be better off without the "thin blue line"—law enforcement—that stands between society and anarchy. Ultimately, it is the prerogative of cities and states to choose the best course of action for their citizens. As for us, we stand with law enforcement and for a safer future for all Americans."

CULLMAN, Ala. – This year's C.A.S.T. for Kids Smith Lake Park event is set for Saturday, Sept. 19, 2020 from 8 a.m.-noon. Space is limited, so participants are encouraged to sign up soon. The event is free for participants.

The Tribune spoke with Coordinator Taylor Cain to learn more.

"C.A.S.T. for Kids is a national organization that gives children with special needs, ages 5 to 18, a chance to spend the day fishing. Some of the children have never been fishing, most have never been on a boat," she said.

"Each child is assigned their own boat captain for the day. They will receive everything needed for a day of fishing, a tackle box, fishing pole, bait, hat and a shirt.

"Once all the kids come in, they will receive lunch and then we have an awards ceremony where each child gets a plaque."

Of the requirements to participate, Cain said, "The only requirements are for the child to have some form of special needs, and be between 5-18. All participants must have a guardian with them at all times during the day."

She continued, "This is the second event at Smith Lake Park. We have been so very blessed by our community to make this event a success. We make this happen strictly on donations. Each event costs $3,500 and with that we are able to take 40 children fishing. We are so thankful for all the donations, volunteers and boat captains that make this event possible."

C.A.S.T. for Kids released the following statement concerning its COVID-19 event policy and procedures:

The CAST for Kids Foundation will be holding all 2020 events in compliance with CDC, National, State and local guidelines for Covid-19. We will be following these guidelines for the safety, health and well-being of our participants, families, volunteers and staff. If we can hold an event according to state guidelines, as states phase in their re-opening, we will. However, our events may look different than they have in the past. Lunch and awards may be broken into separate groups to enhance social distancing.

At a minimum, we will be implementing 6' social distancing guidelines and the use of protective measures like masks and hand sanitizers. We are confident we have figured out how to provide a safe, relaxing, fun environment for everyone to enjoy at CAST for Kids events in 2020!

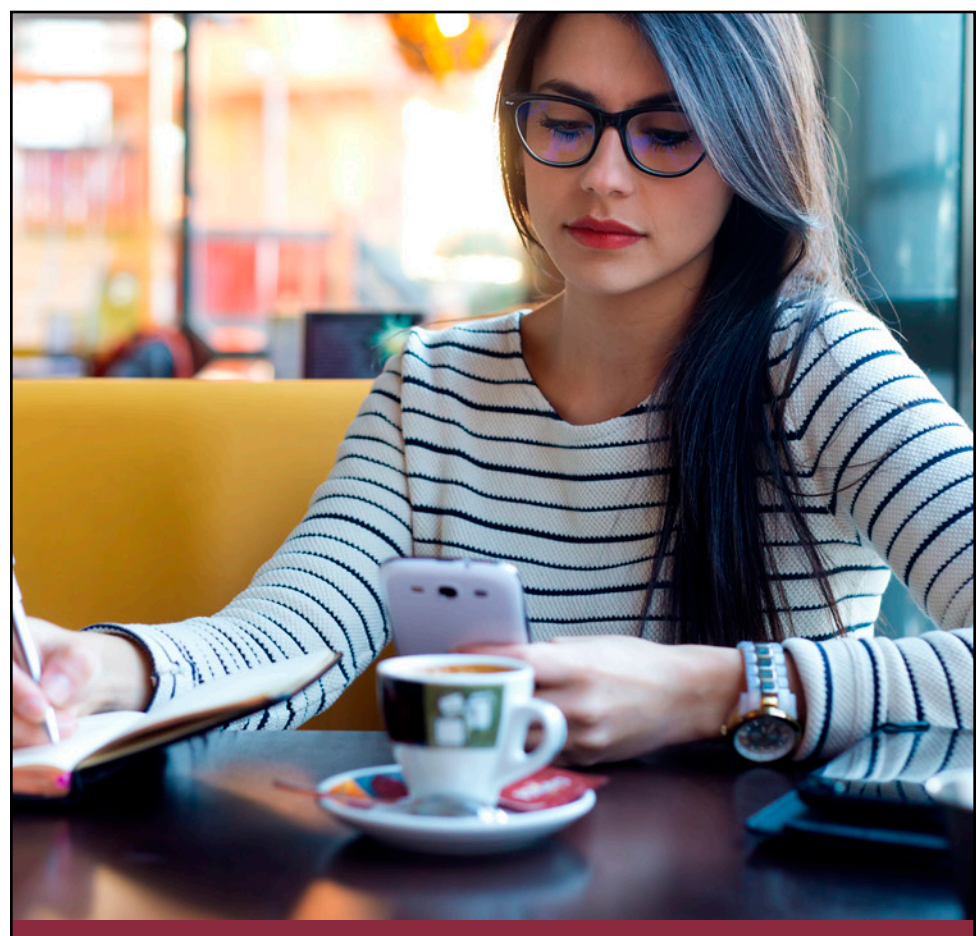

However, it will be impossible to guarantee the safety of all CAST participants and volunteers. Please consider each of your individual risks associated with the COVID-19 pandemic when making your decision to attend any CAST event.

Hot Mess House

Organization expert and coach Cassandra Aarssen provides tips for individuals and families who are feeling overwhelmed by household clutter and chaos in this new self-shot series, which premieres tonight with two back-to-back episodes. Each half hour opens with Aarssen taking a virtual tour of a client's home, which typically is out of control via overflowing playrooms, stuffed kitchens and impassable, jam-packed basements. In addition to offering practical help, Aarssen also occasionally delivers emotional payoffs, as with a teary woman who uncovers an engagement ring she thought was lost forever.

Movie: Crash

Well before real-life events in Minneapolis thrust American race relations back into national discourse last month, HBO already had scheduled this screening of the 2004 drama that won an Academy Award as best picture. Executive producer Paul Haggis also picked up a second trophy that night for co-writing the screenplay about diverse Los Angeles residents brought together by a single, racially charged incident. The strong cast includes Sandra Bullock, Brendan Fraser, Don Cheadle and an Oscar-nominated Matt Dillon.

Movie: Palm Springs Weekend

Airing as part of TCM's June "History of the Swimsuit" lineup of beach movies, this delightful 1963 romantic comedy follows an assortment of mostly college-age characters as they assemble in Palm Springs, Calif., for spring break. Troy Donahue stars as a handsome med student and basketball team captain who romances the daughter (Stefanie Powers) of the local police chief. Connie Stevens co-stars as a high school senior trying to pass as a co-ed and Robert Conrad breaks type as the spoiled playboy son of a millionaire.

Cassandra Aarrssen hosts "Hot Mess House" on HGTV.

According to Urban Cookhouse online, "We use the freshest ingredients available with an emphasis on supporting the local farmer.

"We not only buy local produce for use in our kitchen, but we also sponsor and manage an annual local farmer's market at each Urban Cookhouse location. Our meats are prepared on the Big Green Egg using local hickory wood and lump charcoal allowing our pork, steak, shrimp and turkey to be packed with flavor without the added fat."

Urban Cookhouse will also have beer and wine on its menu. There will be a large patio with outdoor lighting, cornhole and televisions for a fun casual night out.

A new Taco Bell is currently under construction in King Edward Plaza in south Cullman near Buffalo Wild Wings.

The Taco Bell at the intersection of Cherokee Avenue and Graham Street will move into the new building when construction is complete.

Jason Grimmett, vice president of administration and development for Drinkard Development, said in a statement, "On behalf of the entire Drinkard team, we are pleased to have executed a deal with Tacala, LLC., to construct a new prototype Taco Bell as a part of the continued redevelopment of the King Edward Plaza Shopping Center.

This would be replacing the current Taco Bell located on Cherokee Ave.

"The new Taco Bell is expected to be open and operating within the next four-five months."

On the north end of town near the Alabama Highway 157 and U.S. Highway 31 intersection, Joe Hudson Collision Center is also under construction. Joe Hudson Collision Center is based out of Montgomery and has been in business since 1989.

Traywick Dickson, vice president of real estate and acquisitions for Joe Hudson, said, "We are particularly excited about Cullman because we have had a strong presence in Huntsville, Decatur and south Tennessee and we've been noticing over the years just all the growth going on in Cullman. It's just a good fit for us."

Dickson added, "While we've got several shops, we pride ourselves on being a community-based body shop."

Early fall is the hoped-for completion date for the new Joe Hudson Collision Center. It will be located along Hwy. 157 next door to Peoples Bank, across from Marvin's.

Commission (from Front)

christy@cullmantribune.com

CULLMAN, Ala. – Local physician James Thomas, at the Cullman County Commission's regular meeting Tuesday, addressed the commissioners about the first day of the new policy requiring anyone entering the courthouse to have their temperature checked and to wear a mask.

"Just to give an update, it went very well," said Thomas. "The courthouse had a delay in start in reference to getting this going.

"People lined up on the sidewalk in the heat. Our staff went all the way around the corner and tested about 100 and something people and marked the line. When the doors did open, there was no problem with flow at all."

Thomas said he was pleased with the public's response and reported very few negative comments.

He did have some good news to pass along, saying, "The numbers of COVID in 20 of 21 states have gone up, and gone up quite rapidly, but the deaths are not following."

He encouraged everyone to remain vigilant in following social distancing guidelines and other recommendations from the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC).

Chairman Kenneth Walker thanked his fellow commissioners, courthouse staff and Thomas and his staff for their efforts in preparing for the new procedures at the courthouse.

"I would very much like to thank several people that were involved in Saturday and Sunday's decision," he said.

"I knew we had a team that could do it and I really appreciate it."

A public hearing was held regarding the County vacating a portion of County Road 2101.

The portion of the road vacated is beyond a gate with a private keypad entry. The home and land owners adjacent to that portion of the road had no objections.

The commission approved a resolution vacating that portion of the road.

A public hearing was also held Tuesday morning regarding the County applying for Community Development Block Grant (CDBG) funds for the renovation of the old Cullman County Rescue Squad building so it can be used by the Commission on Aging for senior services. There were no objections to the application.

The commission authorized Community Consultants to provide all administrative services for the CDBG and authorized St. John & Associates to provide engineering and architectural services.

If the grant is approved for the project, the Commission on Aging would gain much-needed space for the many services it provides.

Commissioner Garry Marchman said, "The Commission on Aging is just packed in that small building up there with the senior center and everything else.

"It's going to allow them a lot of flexibility to work on things like their Medicare programs and stuff like that."

Commission on Aging Director Dusty Baker added, "It's going to give us the space we need, especially trying to follow HIPAA and privacy policies."

In other business, the commission approved the following items:

• City of Cullman abatement for HomTex, Inc. in the amount of $5 million

• Resolution 2020-30 to reappropriate leftover ATRIP funds from the resurfacing of County Road 747 toward the upcoming resurfacing of County Road 1141

• Payment to Cullman Elks Veterans Committee for a Veterans Day Celebration Nov. 7 at the Cullman Airport in the amount of $8,000

• Payment to Hygenix for sanitizing Cullman County buildings in the amount of $10,348

• Purchase of one or more laptops and portable printers due to COVID-19

• Purchase of hydrostatic pump for reclaimer at the road department for $5,500

• Authorized Walker to sign the 5311 Supplemental Agreement No. 2 between CARTS and ALDOT, which would allow CARTS to use money from the CARES Act

• Authorized Walker to sign an agreement on behalf of the Cullman County Commission with Flournoy Engineering and Consulting LLC for HVAC system at the Cullman County Courthouse

• Correct the CARTS Bus Wash bid awarded to C.H. Harris Feb. 25, 2020 to include the bid bond amount

• Awarded bid extension for lawn care and maintenance to Pro Lawn Unlimited

• Awarded bid extension for jail supplies to North Alabama Chemical and Central Paper for chemicals only

The next commission meeting will be July 28 at 10 a.m. in the commission meeting room at the Cullman County Courthouse.

Curtis Johnson will challenge Donnis Leeth for mayor of Colony

W.C. Mann
craig@cullmantribune.com

COLONY, Ala. – Colony Town Councilman Curtis Johnson on Tuesday afternoon announced his candidacy for mayor of Colony, challenging incumbent Donnis Leeth for the office. Making his announcement sitting next to Leeth during the council's work session, after council members had been asked to talk about their platforms, Johnson offered no details.

"I'm not going to say much till after I qualify on July 7, then I'll talk more about it," he said.

Leeth was not as quiet.

When his turn to speak came, he noted that, when he returned to Colony in 2002 after 21 years of military service, he found the town much the same as when he left. He said he then realized, "If you want a change, step up."

Leeth recounted his accomplishments as mayor, including the town's storm shelter, food pantry and community garden, as well as the Dollar General located just across the interstate.

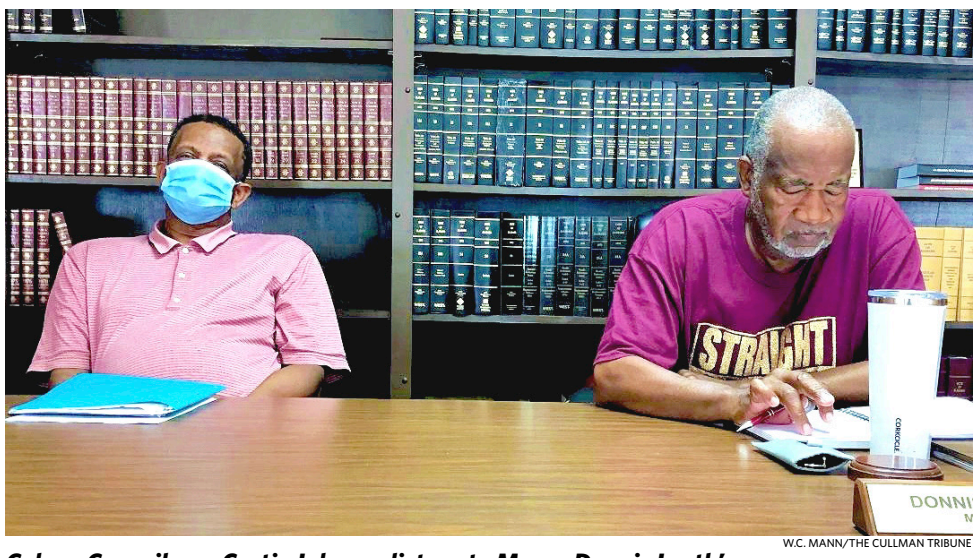

He also talked about the relationships he has built with other officials across the county and state, and how those cooperative relationships have helped him get things done.

Said Leeth, "I'm just a peon in politics, but I know a lot of big boys."

Leeth never looked at Johnson while he made his remarks, but some of his words were clearly directed to his challenger.

The mayor told him, "If you can beat me, you can have it" and "You want to be the big boy, you got to fill the shoe."

The Municipal Election will take place Tuesday, Aug. 25.
