Cullman Regional Airport receives FAA grant to reconfigure taxiway connector

CULLMAN, Ala. – The Federal Aviation Administration (FAA) awarded a grant to the Cullman Regional Airport/ Folsom Field to relocate a taxiway connector from the airport apron (aircraft parking area). The $774,251 grant is part of the FAA's 2020 slate of Airport Improvement Program-funded projects across the country and one of 15 in Alabama.

The FAA issued this statement:

U.S. Secretary of Transportation Elaine L. Chao announced today that the Trump Administration will award nearly $800 million in airport safety and infrastructure grants through the Federal Aviation Administration (FAA) to 46 states, Guam, the Northern Mariana Islands, Puerto Rico, and the Marshall Islands.

"This nearly $800 million Federal investment in airport infrastructure will strengthen safety, improve travel, generate jobs and provide many economic benefits for local communities," said U.S. Transportation Secretary Elaine L. Chao.

A complete listing of grants (PDF) and an interactive map of airports receiving funding is available on the FAA website.

The total includes $689 million from the Airport Improvement Program (AIP) and $104.4 million in Coronavirus Aid, Relief, and Economic Security (CARES) Act grants to equal a 100 percent Federal share.

"These 383 grants will allow airport sponsors to either begin or complete construction projects that will maintain the safety and efficiency of our national airport system," said FAA Administrator Stephen M. Dickson.

These grants will be used for a variety of critical infrastructure and safety projects. Some of the projects include purchasing aircraft rescue and firefighting equipment, constructing runways and taxiways, repairing runways and taxiways, installing aircraft lighting and signage, conducting airport master plan studies, and installing airport perimeter fencing.

Recent changes in FAA regulations do not allow aircraft to taxi directly from airport aprons to the runway, so the current connector must be moved.

According to Cullman Regional Airport General Manager Ben Harrison, the relocation is part of an ongoing local airport plan.

Said Harrison, "It will give us a new connector between taxiway B and the runway.

"So, based on the new regulations, it's something that we have to do.

"But this is also following with our plan. We developed a five-year plan starting in 2014, and we've finished the first phase of that five-year plan in 2019, so this is starting phase two.

"This is, basically, years five through 10, and we also will have a phase three that goes years 11 through 15. We're just following our plan."

Construction is scheduled to begin in August.

CULLMAN, Ala. – Hanceville High School Principal Jimmy Collins and his ex-wife were arrested Monday following an alleged domestic disturbance.

Collins, 46, and Penny Leanne Collins, 46, both of Hanceville, were each charged with third-degree domestic violence- harassment.

According to a statement from the Cullman County Sheriff's Office (CCSO), deputies responded to a disturbance call early Monday morning.

"When deputies arrived, an altercation had taken place between Mr. Collins and (his) ex-wife," said the statement. "Deputies determined that both suspects had been in an altercation."

Both were transported to the Cullman County Detention Center and have since made bond.

Cullman County Schools Superintendent Dr. Shane Barnette said, "Mr. Collins has been placed on administrative leave pending an investigation, and Mrs. Collins has not been placed on leave since she is not on contract right now and not reporting to work." » PAGE 8

Concerns (from Front)

christy@cullmantribune.com

WEST POINT, Ala. – As tornado sirens blared unexpectedly Saturday evening throughout Cullman County, residents immediately sought shelter from the menacing storms. The Tribune received several complaints from residents seeking refuge in West Point who found the storm shelter at West Point Town Hall locked.

West Point Mayor Gerald Schafer said he was on vacation when he first received word that Cullman was under a tornado warning.

He explained, "The park director, he was on vacation, and that's something we just didn't think about."

Schafer said he called the Mayor Pro Tem Timmy Smith, who went out and unlocked the shelter.

Schafer continued, "The storm shelter down at the fire station, which is West Point's storm shelter, it was open and it is less than a half mile from the storm shelter at the town hall."

He said with personnel at the fire station at all times, the storm shelter located there remains open at all times. "The way I understand it, there were not many people there and the capacity on it is 96 people. There were just a few vehicles down there but plenty of room in that one," Schafer said.

When severe weather is expected, Schafer and other town officials would typically have both shelters unlocked.

"This was an unusual situation where the ones that were responsible and usually does it were on vacation," said the mayor. "I hadn't thought about it but I will address this at the next council meeting. I'll make sure if I go out of town again that one of them just goes and opens it up."

In the past, both shelters remained unlocked, but due to vandalism, the Town made the decision to keep the shelter at its town hall locked.

Cold Springs' Elizabeth Hill signs with Montevallo

Nick Griffin
nick@cullmantribune.com

BREMEN, Ala. – After completing a stellar career on the basketball court this spring and crossing the stage at graduation in May, Lady Eagles standout Elizabeth Hill checked one more milestone off the list Tuesday night when she officially signed her national letter of intent to play for the Falcons of Montevallo. Hill racked up over 2,000 points in her career at Cold Springs, earned All-State First Team honors twice, helped lead the Lady Eagles to a state title and a state runner-up finish and was named the 2A Player of the Year for both her junior and senior seasons. She will join Cullman's AK Eastman and West Point's Miriam Oldacre on the Falcons roster this fall.

Elizabeth was joined by family, friends, coaches and teammates to celebrate her signing at Cold Springs High School Tuesday night and Lady Eagles Head Coach Tammy West got things started by reflecting on Hill's career and the impact it had within the community.

"I know that myself, her teammates and nobody in the community will forget her and what she accomplished here at Cold Springs. She brought a lot joy to a lot of people on a lot of different nights, young and old that came to our games and watched her play," West said. "We're really looking forward to following her over the next four years at Montevallo and we just wish her all the best."

Elizabeth says her main focus this offseason has been staying in shape and preparing for college and she's looking forward to getting on campus and getting back on the court.

"I'm just excited to start a new chapter and get down there and try to make an impact on the team no matter what way that is," Hill said. "I'm just excited to meet everyone, start school and start playing basketball again."

Hill will be leaving with a lot of find memories of her time with the Lady Eagles and the support she received from the community is one of the things she'll miss the most.

"At Cold Springs the support has always been amazing. I don't think you'll get there anywhere else you go," Hill said. "It's a small-town community and everyone is very loving and caring and I'll really miss that."

West has coached a lot of great players in her tenure at Cold Springs and Hill is certainly in the conversation with any of them. West will miss the standout forward on the court next season but she's looking forward to seeing her grow on the court at Montevallo.

"It has been a joy to coach her and to watch her over these last four years," West said. "She just has so much potential; I can't wait to see how she plays at the next level."

West Point's Cleghorn commits to UAH

Nick Griffin
nick@cullmantribune.com

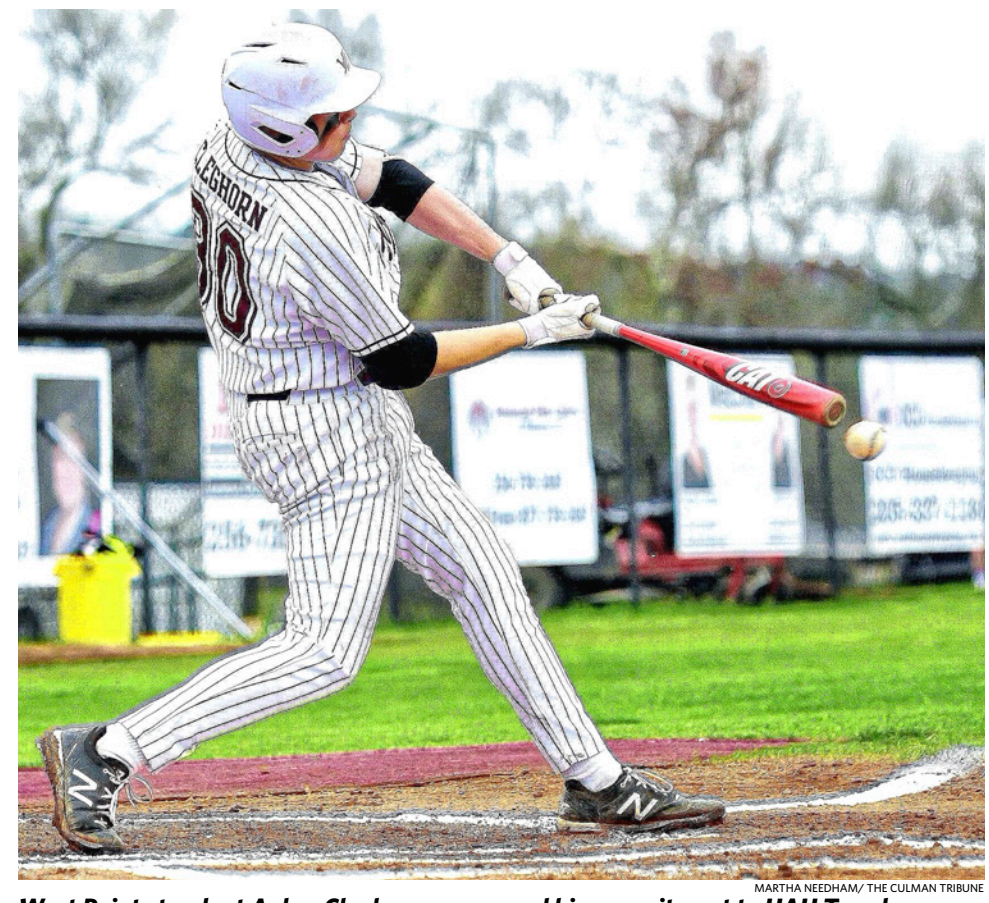

WEST POINT, Ala. – He still has one more season to play with the Warriors but now West Point standout Aubry Cleghorn knows where he'll be playing his college ball too. The senior right-hander announced his commitment to play for the UAH Chargers and Head Coach Hunter Royer.

Cleghorn was on his way to another stellar season before the coronavirus pandemic brought the school year to a hault, racking up 43 strikeouts and posting a 2.00 ERA on the mound while batting over .500 at the plate. Aubry was selected to be part of AL.com's Terrific 20 5A Team in June and earned 5A second team All-State honors after his sophomore season.

West Point Head Coach Drew Bryson is excited to have Cleghorn back on the mound and at the plate for one more season but he's just as excited to see Aubry take advantage of this opportunity and continue developing at the next level.

"Aubry is a special player and as a program we are proud and excited for him as well as his family on his commitment to UAH. I think its going to be a great fit for him as a player. He's going to a quality program that will help continue to develop him as a player, but also as a young man, and in return, UAH is getting a pretty special guy that can come in and help them win a lot of games," Bryson said. "It's a testament to his work ethic, competitive nature, and drive to push himself to be the best he can be. He's the kind of guy that gives you a chance to beat anybody when you hand him the ball. We are looking forward to having him back with us for another year to accomplish the goals we've set for the 2021 season before he moves on to his collegiate career.

Cleghorn will participate in this year's Alabama Baseball Coaches Association All-Star Event at Troy University later this month.

'A bond that will never be broken'

Jeff Shearer
AU Athletics

AUBURN, Ala. – Like he had done countless times before, Les Williams grabbed the tarp and began to cover the infield on a rainy spring morning at Plainsman Park. This time, however, was anything but routine.

"I got dizzy and couldn't catch my breath," said Williams, an Auburn Athletics turf specialist. "I couldn't grab that tarp for nothing. I tried and it just wasn't meant to be that day. Thank God these guys were here."

Standing 6 feet from Williams, athletic turf manager Zach Willard paused the tarp pull when he noticed his friend was feeling ill, to allow Les time to walk away.

"He took about one step and I saw him get a little woozy so I ran over to him," Willard said. "Next thing I know, he just fell out I caught him in my arms before he hit the ground, thankfully."

The situation quickly became dire.

"He was turning blue. He wasn't breathing," Willard said. "He was just kind of lifeless in my arms."

"Zach yelled, 'He's not breathing,'" said Eric Kleypas, Auburn Athletics director for turf & landscape services. "At that point I called 911, and before I can even say anything, Zach's running to get a doctor, which saved his life."

"I knew I needed somebody smarter than me to get out here and help," said Willard who started sprinting across Hitchcock Field on his way to the adjacent Auburn Sports Medicine Clinic. "I knew somebody in that building could help us. If I had to run to Opelika, I was going to keep running until I found somebody who knew what to do."

Entering the Plainsman Park Strength and Rehabilitation Center, Willard found senior assistant athletic trainer Anthony Sandersen.

"Praise God that I passed Anthony's office and he answered the call," Willard said. "He willingly stepped into a situation that was literally life or death. It was amazing."

Instinctively, Sandersen grabbed the automated external defibrillator he keeps by the back door of the training room and ran to the field.

"There was no pulse," said Sandersen, who shocked Les with the defibrillator and began CPR. "Chest compressions and breathing and the whole thing. Training and instinct kind of took over."

While Kleypas communicated with a dispatcher, Willard guided an ambulance through the outfield gate. The tarp the crew had pulled onto the field minutes earlier now needed to be removed to allow a helicopter to land in the outfield.

"It was amazing how many people chipped in and helped out," Kleypas said. "From baseball coaches coming out and helping us pull the tarp out of the way so that the helicopter could land safely. Everyone just chipped in and instincts kicked in. Looking back that's special to know how many people contributed to Les' safety."

Williams remembers being alert while being pushed on a stretcher to the helicopter for the flight to Piedmont Columbus Regional in Georgia.

"When they were loading me on the helicopter, Eric said, 'You hang in there, Les,'" Williams said.

Williams learned later that he had suffered a V-tach arrhythmia, "and those are most of the time deadly," he said. "With no warning."

At the hospital, a nurse marveled at how well Williams was doing.

"'We can't believe you're sitting up here talking to us,'" she told him. "Normally we've got you on a breathing machine. It's just a miracle.'"

The next day a cardiologist diagnosed Williams with aortic stenosis, a valve disease that reduces blood flow.

Les hoped a minimally invasive procedure called a TAVR would be able to replace the valve but after a CT scan, a surgeon in Atlanta informed Williams that open heart surgery would be required.

"'Open heart will save you and you can have a productive life,'" the doctor told him. On March 2, Les Williams lay motionless on the infield, his heart stopped. On April 27, eight weeks later, he returned to work.

"Overwhelming gratitude that he's here with us," said Willard, who broke Williams' fall then raced for help.

"He's a bright spot on our team. He's never had a bad day and he brings a smile on everybody's face every day."

Had it not rained that Monday morning, Williams likely would have been alone, taking care of the grounds at Auburn University's president's residence.

"We're glad if it was going to happen that it happened with people present," said Kleypas, who made the decision to reassign Les that morning when he saw rain on the radar.

"Because if he would have been out on his own working, we would have had a different outcome.

"Thanks also to our sports medicine staff and administrators. Not only did we receive calls asking how Les was doing, but we also received enormous support checking on the emotional and mental well-being of our turf crew after the traumatic experience."

"With it being a great outcome, we can all laugh and joke and smile about it now," said Sandersen, whose quick thinking and medical training helped restore Williams' heartbeat.

Auburn head baseball coach Butch Thompson saw the incident unfold.

"He said, 'What I witnessed out here was one of the most powerful things I've ever seen in my life,'" recalled Williams. "'If they weren't working on you, they were on their knees praying. That was really special for me to observe how much they care about you.'"

At Les Williams' Fourth of July cookout, the hot dogs will taste a little better, the Coke a little sweeter. For someone accustomed to making things grow, from now on, Les will take time to stop and smell the roses, not just tend to them.

"It's special and it makes me appreciate things a lot more," he said. "I don't take anything for granted anymore. I'm way more thankful than I was before.

"Every day just walking out here in this breeze, it's a big deal to me. To be able to get back to work, and do something useful. I'm just blessed to be here.

"They were my brothers before. I don't know how you go about paying back several men for saving your life. They are my heroes and my brothers. If it weren't for them and the help of the Good Lord, I wouldn't be sitting here. There's a bond that will never be broken."

"I truly love this community," said Bartlett. "It has been an honor to serve the City of Good Hope and its citizens for the past 12 years.

"If given the opportunity, I look forward to playing a part in moving Good Hope forward in housing, parks and economic development.

"Together, we can have it all. Thank you and I would greatly appreciate your vote on Aug. 25."

Team (from Front)

Heather Mann
heather@cullmantribune.com

CULLMAN, Ala. – Cullman County Sheriff Matt Gentry on Wednesday introduced the creation of a new team tasked with maintaining the peace in Cullman County: the Community Response Team (CRT). The CRT includes Lt. Matthew Bales (the team's leader), Sgt. Terry Smith, Deputy Jesse Cummings, Deputy Cheryl Hawkins and Deputy Nick Watkins.

Gentry said the CRT is tasked with enforcing drug laws and aiding patrol deputies in reducing thefts, burglaries and other crimes.

"While narcotics will be the primary focus of the CRT, their mission will be to tackle the listed crimes above as wells as any specific criminal element in a particular community as well.

"Any law enforcement officer will tell you that arresting and solving drug-related crimes will also solve thefts, burglaries, etc. as they often run together.

"CRT began March 14 just when COVID-19 began, and the team still has been able to arrest 101 suspects in Cullman County. They have been able to seize approximately 1 pound of meth, 2 pounds of marijuana, 4 grams of heroin and 4 ounces of prescription opioids," said a statement from the CCSO.

Gentry said the idea for creating the team was born from the increase in call volume during the summer.

"In the summertime, we had been utilizing our school resource deputies from those areas where we had high complaints and high call volumes, and it started the thought process into what we wanted to create," he explained.

"One of the things that we believe in at the sheriff's office is that the office doesn't belong to me, doesn't belong to the deputies - it belongs to all of our community.

"So what better way to do something than by being community-oriented?"

He continued, "Today in Cullman County, your deputies are catching approximately 67,000 calls a year.

"With the current staff we have and not being able to add on, that's a lot of calls.

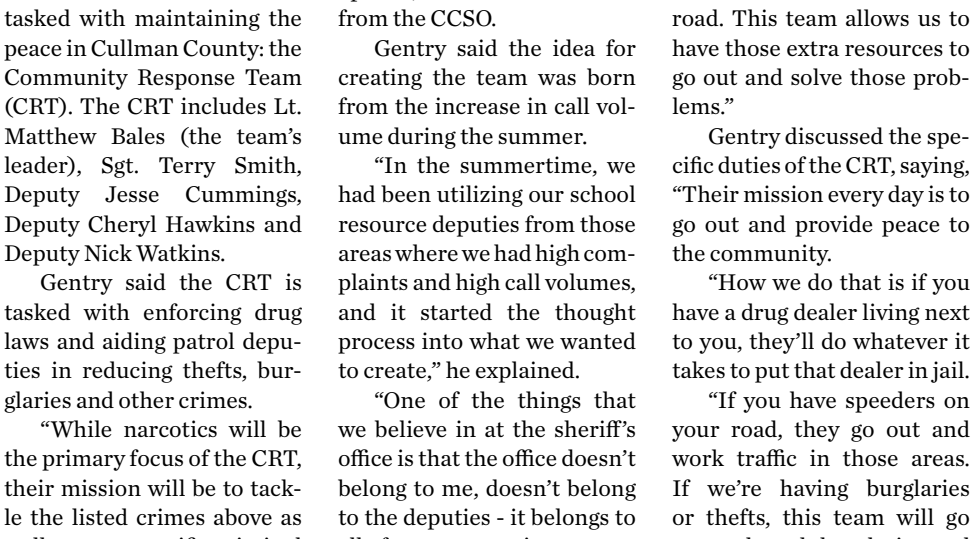

"So with the CRT, when the community calls and says, 'Hey we've got these problems,' it's their mission to go out and keep the peace and solve problems, and in doing that it helps those deputies that are out there on the road. This team allows us to have those extra resources to go out and solve those problems."

Gentry discussed the specific duties of the CRT, saying, "Their mission every day is to go out and provide peace to the community.

"How we do that is if you have a drug dealer living next to you, they'll do whatever it takes to put that dealer in jail.

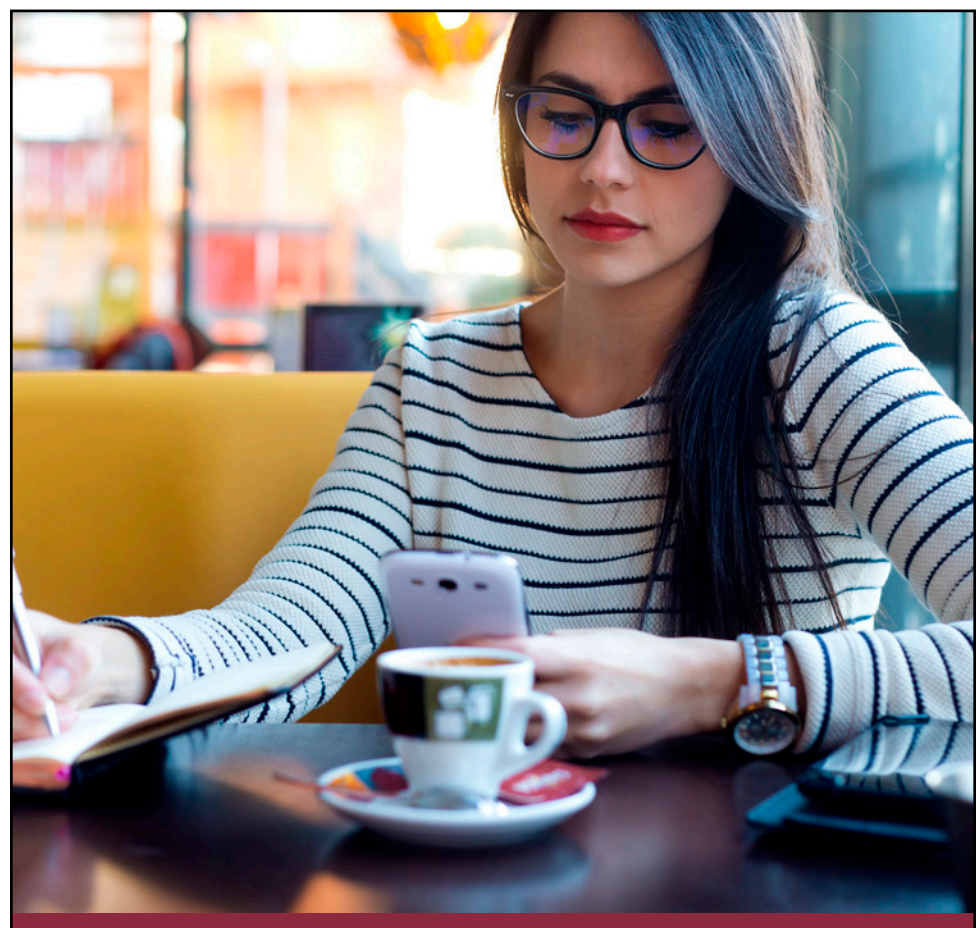

"If you have speeders on your road, they go out and work traffic in those areas. If we're having burglaries or thefts, this team will go out and work burglaries and thefts to help Patrol and Investigation.

"They'll also handle warrants; we've had some people call and say, 'Hey there's a person living here with felony warrants who needs to go to prison,' and they've been able to find that person and put them in jail. That brings peace to that community."

7 p.m. on WVTM
Council of Dads

In the Season 1 finale, "Fight or Flight," Anthony (Clive Standen) finds Robin and Theo (Sarah Wayne Callies, Emjay Anthony) in serious danger when he gets to the storm-stricken Perry residence, and Oliver (J. August Richards) quickly lends medical assistance when Sage (Jazz Raycole) goes into early labor. Later, the kids struggle to process the stunning news about Luly (Michele Weaver) as the future of the Crab Shack is left hanging in the balance. Hilarie Burton and David Walton guest star.

7 p.m. on TCM
Movie: The Black Stallion

This breathtaking 1979 adaptation of Walter Farley's classic novel takes the famous yarn of a boy who is paired with a handsome stallion following a shipwreck and translates it into some of the most glowingly beautiful images ever committed to film. Kelly Reno, Teri Garr and an Oscar-nominated Mickey Rooney star. The beloved family classic airs tonight as part of TCM's "Horsing Around" theme night.

8 p.m. on WVTM
Blindspot

The team scrambles to stay one step ahead of Madeline and Ivy (Mary Elizabeth Mastrantonio, Julee Cerda) as they get closer to the location of the hidden bunker in the new episode "Ghost Train." They soon realize, however, that somewhere there's a mole who is feeding Madeline information. As their adversary's plan starts taking shape, Jane, Weller (Jaimie Alexander, Sullivan Stapleton) and their colleagues may have to take some desperate measures.

8 p.m. on HIST
Mountain Men

Back in the Ruby Valley, Jake takes his life in his hands as he tracks a dangerous mother lion and her young in the new episode "Turf War." Elsewhere, Tom hand-carves a traditional dugout canoe that could fetch thousands of dollars, while Kidd and Harry go on the offensive against a pack of coyotes that relentlessly have been targeting their cattle.

9 p.m. on TRVL
Ghost Brothers

In a new special episode called "Haunted House Party," Dave Schrader, Dalen Spratt, Juwan Mass and Marcus Harvey look back together at some of their scariest, most insane and sometimes outrageous moments to date while working on this show. Additionally, they answer burning questions submitted by viewers to provide insider information and insights concerning what goes on behind the scenes.

9:03 p.m. on HIST
Alone

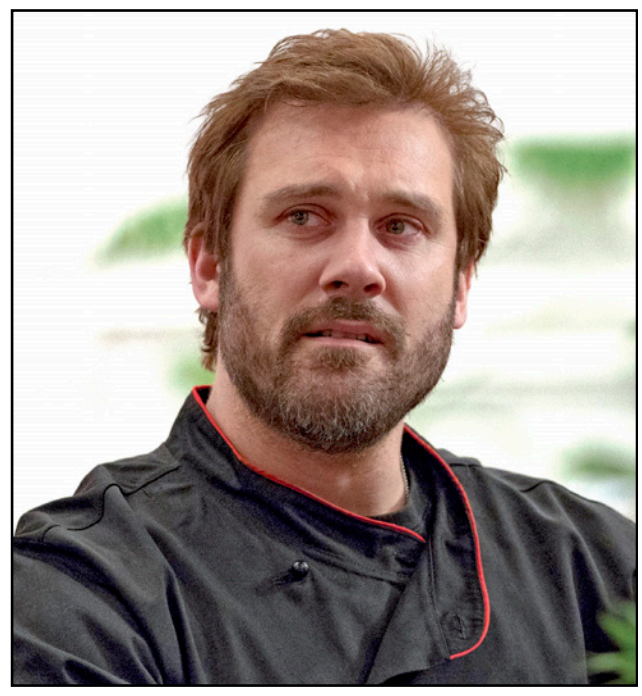

In a new episode called "The Fly," most of this season's participants begin to have success when it comes to procuring food, but still find themselves vulnerable to the Arctic's many dangers, some of which they had not anticipated or adequately prepared for.

9:30 p.m. on TBS
The Misery Index

Among the featured highlights of the new episode "I Used to Have Abs Once Too" are a genuinely terrifying Halloween display, some of the dumbest criminals of all time and a contestant who claims to have the body of a superhero. Jameela Jamil is the host; Brian "Q" Quinn, Joe Gatto, James "Murr" Murray and Sal Vulcano also are featured.

10 p.m. on HGTV
Design at Your Door

In the new episode "Perfect Retreats," Dave and Jenny Marrs, the stars of "Fixer to Fabulous," surprise a busy and somewhat frazzled mother in Wisconsin with a bedroom that should provide her with the ultimate retreat space when she needs some alone time. In another segment, David Bromstad ("My Lottery Dream Home" and several other shows) takes a Los Angeles clan's lackluster family room and gives it a much-needed injection of fun and funk.

Clive Standen stars in "Council of Dads" on NBC.

Obituary Announcements: July 2

Cora Nadine Allen Nunnelley, born to Horace Fletcher Allen and Daisy Luella Martin Allen Aug.26, 1921, mother to Carolyn Mullenix, Bob Nunnelley, David Nunnelley, Celia Nunnelley, and Joan Powell, passed away June 29, 2020. She is survived by four children, grandchildren, and great-grandchildren. Nadine was a mother, author, retired from Alabama (Auburn University) Cooperative Extension Service in Cullman, and taught knitting, crochet, and tatting to multiple generations. Her book "Tatting 101" keeps the tradition of tatting alive and has been sold throughout the U.S., UK, Europe, and Australia. In recent years she knitted hundreds of caps for St. Jude's cancer victims and pairs of booties for the Crisis Pregnancy Center. Her graveside service will be held at Welcome Baptist Church at 11 a.m. Friday, July 3, 2020.

Andrew Odine Nacilla was born Sept. 27, 1988 and passed away June 30, 2020 and is under the care of Moss Service Funeral Home.

Wilma Jean Whitehead was born Dec. 28, 1943 and passed away July 1, 2020 and is under the care of Moss Service Funeral Home.

John Robert "Jack" Glenn died Monday, June 29, 2020 at age 87. He was born Oct. 26, 1932 in Cullman County, AL to Jesse Pendleton and Nellie Guthery Glenn. He weighed 12 pounds at birth on a cotton scale. He was well known for being colorful, outspoken, and genuine. He had no respect for George Wallace and never enjoyed hearing how wonderful Bear Bryant was. He believed that all left-lane drivers were Alabama fans. He firmly believed that there was a direct correlation between someone's level of intelligence and the distance between their pupils. He was a genealogy genius and never forgot a face. If your family had roots in Cullman County, he either knew them or knew of them, and there was a good chance that he could offer an opinion on their character. He was a wonderful cook and a notoriously terrible housekeeper. He was impatient and often short-tempered, but had the amazing gift of being able to share in a laugh at his own expense. He became characters in multiple short stories, including bailiff, Jack Glenn, and evil dictator, General Jack Glenn Icutchacokov. It was irrefutable to him that Robert Teichmiller is the greatest Rook player that ever lived and his son-in-law, Raymond Martin, could fix anything that ran on gasoline. He loved dancing almost as much as he loved the "widow women" who danced with him. He could eat creamed corn and okra daily, as long as they were prepared correctly. He had all the time in the world for those he loved and no time for those that he was "in no humor" for. He bravely moved forward following the death of his wife, Bobbie, in 1982, but the pain of that loss remained very evident for the rest of his days. He was a 1950 graduate of Cullman High School and remained active in keeping up with his classmates until his death. He attended St. Bernard College and was a proud 1957 graduate of Auburn University. He also served in the United States Air Force. He was predeceased by his parents; his wife Bobbie Copeland Glenn; son-in-law Raymond Martin; brother Bill Glenn; sister Fay Dooley; and brother-in-law Cletus Brown. He is survived by his daughter Debbie Martin; sons Brad (Linda) and Kelly (Mary) Glenn; grandchildren Chris Martin, Michele (Jonathan) Turner, Brian Peavey, and Mary (Paul) White; great-grandchildren Cameron Martin, Kye Turner, Ronin Peavey, Ryder Wilkins, Avery Wilkins and Maverick White; sisters Frances Brown and Ann Glenn; numerous nieces and nephews; and countless friends. Just a few days before his death, he insisted on going back to Goat Island Brewing one more time to see his friends. It was at that time that he left us with one last profound statement: "In this world you don't have anything if you don't have friends." It seems only appropriate that the name of the first capsule to orbit the earth was Friendship 7, occupied by a guy with a familiar name. Godspeed John Glenn. Cremation has taken place, and his remains will be placed next to his wife during a family graveside service Saturday, July 11, 2020. A full celebration of his life will take place at a later date.

Graveside services for Floyd Flanigan, 60, of Hanceville will be at 1:30 p.m. Friday, July 3, 2020 at Colony Cemetery in Colony, Alabama. Visitation will be held prior to the service from noon-1 p.m. Friday at Hanceville Funeral Home. Mr. Flanigan is survived by his son Tyler Jermain (April) Sellers; two grandchildren; sisters Sylvia (Albert) Turner, Yaminah (Reginald) Ward, Delphine (Eric) Powell, Vanessa (Rick) Flanigan, and Jennifer (Albert) Twitty; brothers Anthony (Lois) Flanigan and Joe Nathan Coleman; mother Mary Flanigan; and a host of nieces, nephews, cousins, and friends. Mr. Flanigan is preceded in death by his father Floyd E. Flanigan.

Get ready to (hunt) rock(s)!

CULLMAN, Ala. – Kiddos big and small around town should be on the lookout for some colorful painted rocks- 60 of them to be exact! The fun, family-friendly game, which began July 1, is courtesy of The Friends of the Public Libraries of Cullman County. Each hand-painted rock features a different expression of happiness with "#read" painted on the back with a number. Found rocks can be turned in to the library in exchange for a fun "brag tag." The rocks are hidden in easy-to-find places throughout Cullman- in parks, parking lots, shopping areas and downtown, all in safe and easy-to reach areas.

Friends Secretary Renée Welsh shared, "The Friends continue to search for safe-to-do activities during these challenging times. Recognizing that social distancing remains critical to protecting our loved ones - we benchmarked with other nonprofit groups and how they were encouraging outdoor opportunities as a way for families to spend time together. Painted rock hunts sounded like a fun idea!

"The premise is simple: gather a few supplies (flat, smooth rocks, acrylic paint, paint brushes), and decorate the rock. We chose a few colorful and playful ideas - frog, turtle, happy face, lady bug, hot dog and a watermelon slice. The bottom of the rock has a number and '#read.' We wanted to ensure that if other organizations or groups were painting rocks as an activity - the individual could distinguish our rocks from any other group."

She continued, "Anyone can participate! When a #read rock is found — please bring it to the library so it can be logged. We have a brag tag for each #read rock discovered.

"The Friends are excited about our brag tag inventory. We were able to use a portion of the Dollar General grant we received in May to purchase the incentives. We also would love to get a photo so we can celebrate and post to social media!"

Brag tags are part of the Cullman County Public Library System's main branch summer learning program, where kids (or anyone) who participate in activities receive little tags they can hang as a keychain or off their backpacks.

"We have hidden them in plain sight throughout Cullman in parks, parking lots, high-traffic shopping areas, downtown," said Welsh. "All rocks are in a safe-to-reach, low-impact area. The hunt begins July 1 - and continues throughout the month - or until all the rocks are found."

On other events the Friends are hosting, she shared, "July 1 also begins our Leaf Art event. We have announced on social media that The Friends are sponsoring a Leaf Art event on July 6. Take a peek at the examples! Feel free to use these - or create your own! Artwork will be displayed in the Cullman Library windows for patrons to see as they pass by the library. Optimal size - 8 1/2" x 11" paper so we can display as many as possible. Any color paper - be creative! Artists will receive a brag tag for participating. The artwork will remain on display the during the month of July."

Violence (from Front)

Jimmy Collins' attorney, Champ Crocker, issued the following statement Wednesday evening:

"Mr. Collins was peaceably visiting with his mother at her residence on Monday night when his ex-wife showed up unannounced and uninvited. After the Sheriff's Department was called to the scene, both Mr. Collins and his ex-wife were taken into custody. Mr. Collins appreciates the professionalism of the officers who responded and he looks forward to clearing his name."

The Tribune is highlighting small businesses around Cullman County during the COVID-19 pandemic. Know of one we should feature? Email christy@cullmantribune.com.

GOOD HOPE, Ala. – Marco Perez had worked many years for corporate pizza chains when he finally decided he had the knowledge and positive attitude needed to run his own pizzeria. In 2016, he opened Adapris Pizza Buffet in Good Hope with his wife, Lorena Rodriguez. Despite recent challenges due to COVID-19, they made the necessary adjustments, and business is good.

"I started working in a pizza place in 1998. I was store manager for many places in Birmingham in Cullman and other places in Alabama," he said. "I started to open my own business in 2016."

The couple has three children including twin girls who will be starting second grade this year.

Perez explained, "The name of the store came from the kids. We have twins, and one is Adamary and the other is Priscila. We decided to put the names together and got Adapris."

Rodriguez also worked in the pizza business, and that's how she and Marco met.

"We worked at Cici's together," she said. "I learned how to cook and do pretty much all the stuff around there. He showed me and so we decided that we know what to do and we opened our own. You have to work a little harder, but it's good working for yourself."

Perez said the couple decided to open Adapris in Good Hope because, after years of commuting to work from his home in Good Hope, he wanted to work close to home. Now, he and his family live less than a mile from the family business. His goal is to be able to relax in the next few years.

He said, "I (have worked for) 22 years, every day, 12-14 hours each day. I'm thinking when I turn 50, (in) seven more years. Yesterday was my birthday, so seven more years I'm thinking."

Son Marco, Jr. is 14 years old, so the hope is perhaps he can take over the family pizza business so his mom and dad can take it easy.

COVID-19 presented some unique challenges to Adapri's buffet-style restaurant. Now, plexiglass separates the customers from the pizza and salads, and the staff is required to serve each customer.

"Only my employees can touch," Perez explained. "It's not too bad, and it's still good. COVID-19 did not kill my business. If COVID-19 did not kill our business, we're good. Many businesses are still closed."

Also helping Adapris during the pandemic were its carryout and delivery options. Adapris delivers within a 10-mile radius of the store, which includes Cullman, Good Hope, Hanceville and Vinemont.

For those looking to dine-in, make sure to bring the kids. There are several fun games for them to enjoy. Adapris also hosts birthday parties.

Perez said he and his family enjoy working and living in Good Hope.

"We have lived in Good Hope for 24 years. Our kids go to Good Hope Schools, and I think they are number one in this area.

"There are very good teachers there and my son and daughter really like it. They love the teachers and they are all very nice," he smiled.

"We like it here. I have had no problem with anybody here. People, they are really nice. Good people, so no complaints."

When running a family business, even the kids can end up spending time with mom and dad at the restaurant. Perez is quite proud of his son and daughter for their positive attitudes and helpful natures.

One day, he said, he hopes to take a real vacation but for now, he closes his restaurant early Sunday afternoons to make sure his family can have a little fun.

"We take the kids to Smith Lake or somewhere to go swim and just play with them," he said. "The kids, they love it!"

Perez's motto for success and life is simple: "Live positive."

He said, "Two people working positively, we hit the goal. Everybody has problems, but you have to make your way great. We are positive, always positive."

Adapris is located at 1587 County Road 437, Good Hope, AL 35055. It is open Monday-Thursday from 11 a.m.-8 p.m., Friday and Saturday from 11 a.m.-9 p.m. and Sunday from 11 a.m.-4 p.m. It will be closed Saturday for the 4th of July holiday.
