Local long-term care facilities respond to COVID-19

MAGGIE DARNELL/THE CULLMAN TRIBUNE

Two COVID-19 deaths have been reported at The Sanctuary at the Woodlands in Cullman.

W.C. Mann, Maggie Darnell

CULLMAN, Ala. – Medical professionals continue to face the effects of COVID-19, especially in Alabama and parts of the Southeast, and the Cullman area's medical facilities have not been immune. The Tribune reached out to ask how local nursing home and assisted living facilities are being impacted and how professionals are responding.

Note: The Tribune could not verify claims made by any facility or organizational spokespersons, but posed questions and presented the responses as given.

Cullman Health & Rehab Center, The Folsom Center, Woodland Village, Woodland Haus Assisted Living and The Sanctuary at the Woodlands (subsidiaries of USA Healthcare)

USA Healthcare CEO Frank Brown told The Tribune, "We have one case now that's isolated at our alternative site; that's (The) Sanctuary. We take all discharges and readmissions from the hospitals and send them over there for 14 days in case they have the virus; we test them once they get there.

"We require two tests from the hospital and we put them over there for 14 days before we move them back into units that we have at the nursing home where they spend another 10 days."

According to Brown, "There's been two deaths in Cullman (facilities) since March; they were both at The Sanctuary."

What precautions are in place to minimize the risk of COVID-19 in your facilities?

"Basically, we screen all of our employees every day on every shift.

"They have to answer a questionnaire that has about 20 questions on it. We check their temperature and we ask them if they've had symptoms, and there's seven or eight symptoms we hone in on.

"If they've had any of those, we send them back home before we can test them which is usually within the same day, and then we have about two days before we can get it back. That's the employees.

"We don't allow any vendors into the building and haven't since the 15th of March and we've been screening our employees a little before the 15th.

"When we get new patients, we put them into isolation and observation. We test them as well; he testing in some cases that » PAGE 8

Hanceville Police Department welcomes Chaplain Rick Davis

CHRISTY PERRY/THE CULLMAN TRIBUNE

HANCEVILLE, Ala. – The Hanceville Police Department at Thursday's Hanceville City Council meeting welcomed a new team member. Chief Bob Long introduced Rick Davis, his department's new chaplain. Davis offered the invocation prior to the business portion of the meeting.

Long said of Davis, "He came to us and he wanted to get involved with the PD and serve as our chaplain. He comes from a police background and family from up in the Tennessee area. He came down here and has done some pastor work. He decided the way things are going with the defund the police (movement) and attacking the police and everything, he thought maybe some of our guys could use some spiritual background. He is going to become involved with Hanceville Police as our new chaplain."

Added the chief, "You will probably see him out, and he'll be out in uniform. He will probably be at some of our ball games and driving around with some of our officers. If you see him out introduce yourself and he will do the same. I think it will be good for our guys. From time to time, we do have some stressful things going on here. You all know as well as I do that police departments all across this nation are under attack right now. I think it will be beneficial for them to have someone to talk to. We are glad to welcome him to be a part of the Hanceville PD."

Davis said he is thrilled to serve as chaplain in Hanceville.

"I am not trying to be a pastor. I want to be a chaplain," he said. "I want to be somebody that will listen. Somebody that is more than anything, a friend. I am excited to be amongst you."

Funny Things from Yesterday: Our last 2 kitties

robertntidwellsr@gmail.com

The cat story two weeks ago ended with a sad happening. This week's story is a sadness for me, but a happiness for some other people.

Since we were out of cats, Vikki, Rudene's beautician, asked her if we would like to have a new kitten. Her daughter, Natasha, had a cat with a new litter and would like to give some away. Rudene was not too excited, but I was all for it. I even asked if she had two that she would like to give away. Luckily, she said yes. She said it would be a few days before they could leave their mother.

One afternoon, Natasha brought two new little kittens to our house. I was excited to add two new members to our family. The kitties were white and gray speckled like most people had when I was a youngster. My grandmother always had one or two who stayed around the barn. They kept the mouse population down and enjoyed a spray of fresh milk on their face any time they could get one.

We had a screened-in porch and that would be their new home. I already had containers for food and water. I closed the cat door to keep them in until they got used to us. I also had a cat bed for them, as well as some toys that kitties like to play with. Now we were all set.

They grew up fast, and I opened the cat door and they had full range of our 11 acres.

They did a lot of exploring and it was not long before they knew the area very well.

The cats looked almost identical but had very different personalities. One liked to stay close to the house and follow me around.

He didn't like to go very far from the house unless I was with him. I think he was a little bit afraid of his shadow. The other one liked to be in the wide-open areas and rambling. He seemed not to be afraid of anything. He would chase a squirrel up a tree 30 or 40 feet high. I don't think he ever caught one, but he gave them the scare of their life.

When I would see him this high in a tree, I would say to him, "Old boy, you will have to get down by yourself, because I have no way to reach you."

Then we moved to town. We have a small lot and very little rambling room. We have a dog or two in the neighborhood and they bark pretty good. The scared cat would get around my pants leg and stay close. The other cat would be looking to see if could find the dog.

After a few days, my rambling cat left. Every night I put him in my prayer for a safe return. Every morning when I got up, I hoped he would be back.

One Sunday morning I looked on the back porch and there he stood. I was very happy to have him back. He still had his climbing ambition and one morning I saw him on the roof of the house next door. I don't know how he got up there and don't know how he got down, but he made it.

We had a lot of work to be done on the garage and a room attached to it. The two cats stayed under our feet so much we could not work. Auburn football was coming up and we had no one to keep them. When we lived in the country, we had a young girl that lived up the road from us and she looked after them. So, we decided to give them to someone that would take good care of them.

The man helping me work said that he knew someone in Holly Pond with a cattle farm and he needed some cats to keep mice and rats out of his feed. So, one afternoon we carried the cats to them. I said a sad goodbye to them and then we drove off.

I have asked about the cats two or three times since and they have adjusted to everything and are good pets and guard the feed. It saddens me not to have the cats, but the new owners are very pleased to have them.

BILLY BOB'S STORIES AND STUFF

A big man with an unusual but good name

Bill King
Tribune
Contributor

Many individuals set out in life to make a name for themselves. Many do indeed accomplish that feat. Some make a good name for themselves, while others, unfortunately, make a bad name. Wise Solomon said, "A good name is to be chosen rather than great riches, loving favor rather than silver or gold." (Proverbs 22:1)

A dear friend of mine set out with no name at all. Many expectant parents name their children long before their sweet bundles of joy come kicking and screaming into this world. My friend had a birth certificate with no given name on it. His family name was Wood, but his birth certificate simply reads "Wood boy."

He was not given a full name until he was around a month old. The main reason was because they did not expect him to live. That "Wood baby" not only lived, but he grew to be six feet and three inches tall, and he lived for almost eighty-six years. Yes, he was eventually given a name.

Finally, after several weeks, his mother's sister said, "You've got to name that boy." His mother couldn't think of a name, so people in the community kept making suggestions. They decided to put all those possible names in a hat and draw one out. His older sister drew out the first name and that was the name he was given. That could have really been disastrous. He could have ended up with a name like the one in Johnny Cash's song, "A Boy Named Sue." Instead, he ended up with Chyron...Chyron Joe Wood. Maybe they should have called him Joe. Instead, he went by Chyron.

That may have been best because using the middle name, instead of the first, often causes problems. Chyron said his first name caused problems throughout his life. Not so much for himself, but for others as they have tried to figure out how to pronounce his name. Most people, me included, had trouble spelling his name. Chyron was a gentle giant. Fortunately, probably due to his size, not many laughed at his strange name.

I have never met, or even heard of, another person named Chyron. I do believe his unusual name was fitting because he was an unusual man...in a good sense. Chyron has said his name is a good name. I must agree. While he didn't choose his name, he did choose to have a good name. I met Chyron in 2007, on a mission trip to Bay St. Louis, Mississippi. Since then, he has been one of my best friends. I cannot tell you how many other mission trips we have been on together. Thirty three years ago, Chyron founded a mission team called Master Builders. That team has built churches and houses all over the southeastern United States. This year's trip was scheduled for next week, in Maryland, but was cancelled due to the coronavirus. In all those years, he only missed one trip.

Chyron has a good name as a good Christian man. He has been a faithful member of Pepperell Baptist Church since 1977, where he served as a deacon, R. A. leader, and in many other capacities. He was a good husband to Lynda for fifty-nine years, a good father to two girls, and a good grandfather to five plus three greats. He was multi-skilled as a good gardener, carpenter, woodcarver, storyteller, writer, harmonica player, fisherman, and hunter. Last Sunday morning we lost a good man who had a good name...in every sense of the word. Chyron Joe Wood, I'm sure they found your name written in the book. Rest in peace, my friend, and enjoy your new home. We will certainly miss you down here. May we all choose to have a good name.

POET'S CORNER

Little Firefly

By: Jennifer Riggs
Huntsville, Alabama

Lying in the darkness
fighting to find sleep

All is quiet in the house
but the buzzing of your wings

Attempting to keep my eyes shut tight desperate for some zzz's

You're whirring, flittering comes too close
I'm tempted to take a peek

All at once your flashing light is here and then it's there bouncing, twirling with delight all through the darkened air

"Hello there, little firefly, what brings you in my room?

Shouldn't you be out tonight,
dancing neath the moon?"

Your silent reply led me to wonder, where do fireflies roam?

Other such things I do ponder in futile efforts to doze

Still aware of those erratic wall taps
a silly thought crossed my mind

Maybe this bug has stumbled in drunk after sipping on the moonshine.

Former Crimson Tide basketball player Donta Hall signed with the Brooklyn Nets as a substitute player Friday.

BROOKLYN, N.Y. – Former Alabama men's basketball player Donta Hall signed a deal with the Brooklyn Nets as a substitute player for the remainder of the 2019-20 NBA season, the team officially announced on Friday.

Hall was a standout performer during his first season as a professional with the Grand Rapids Drive of the NBA G-League. Suiting up in 38 games (37 starts) in 2019-20, the Luverne, Ala., native averaged 15.4 points, 10.5 rebounds and 1.3 blocks in 28.6 minutes per game, earning him All-NBA G League Second Team and All-Rookie Team honors.

Hall signed two consecutive 10-day contracts as a rookie with the Detroit Pistons this season, appearing in four games and averaging 1.5 points and 3.8 rebounds in 12.0 minutes per contest.

During his four-year career at the Capstone, Hall played in 135 career games and made 85 starts. He was a two-time SEC All-Defensive Team honoree (2018, 2019) and became just the fifth player in Crimson Tide history to record more than 1,000 points (1,014), 800 rebounds (850) and 200 blocks (228) in a career.

Hall will join the Nets in Orlando, Fla., as the team prepares for the NBA's return to play on July 30. Brooklyn re-enters the season in seventh place with a 30-34 record and is one-half game ahead of eighth-place Orlando (30-35). Ninth-place Washington is 24-40.

For all the latest information on the team, follow AlabamaMBB on Twitter, Instagram and Facebook. General athletic news can be found @UA_Athletics on Twitter and Instagram and Alabama Athletics on Facebook.

Hanceville council mulls CARES Act funds; fire department gets new equipment

christy@cullmantribune.com

HANCEVILLE, Ala. – The Hanceville City Council had a lengthy discussion Thursday evening about the money the City can receive from the Coronavirus Relief Fund (through the CARES Act).

Mayor Kenneth Nail said, after communication with the mayor of Arab, he is worried about spending the money on equipment and supplies that may not be approved by the Alabama Department of Finance.

"A small town can get in trouble real quick buying all this stuff not in the budget," he said.

Nail proposed the City apply to be reimbursed for the fire department and police department payroll for the time during the state shutdown.

If approved, the reimbursed money could then be spent in whatever way the council sees fit.

"Based on what the mayor told me over there," he said, "this would be so much simpler."

Nail asked the department heads to compile a list of things each needs. Overwhelmingly, the departments asked for technology upgrades and protective equipment.

The police department asked for updated computers for police vehicles, cartridges for respirators and an iPad for inmates to have access to Facetime to help with virtual court appearances.

The fire department asked for updated laptops, a new repeater, a lift chair for lift assist calls and new masks.

Hanceville Public Works Director Rusty Fields also asked for a new laptop and a digital repeater.

He said, "I requested a new digital repeater. The lightning struck mine and melted it down. I can't communicate right now with any of my radios. My laptop is a 2011 model and is outdated."

Replacement of outdated or obsolete equipment was the main request of the departments.

Nail described this time as a "golden opportunity" to bring technology and communication systems up to date.

The council agreed to apply for the reimbursement of the fire and police department payroll, and if that application is approved, it will revisit the requests from within the City's departments and make final decisions on how the money will be spent.

The council approved Police Chief Bob Long's request to surplus two existing vehicles, a 2019 Tahoe and a 2018 Silverado, and purchase two new replacement vehicles, as long as the cost of each new vehicle is less than $35,000.

The next Hanceville City Council meeting will be July 23 at 4 p.m.

Dodge City receives $54K in CARES Act funds

Maggie Darnell
maggie@cullmantribune.com

DODGE CITY, Ala. – The Dodge City Town Council Thursday night voted to execute an agreement with the State to use allocated funds from the Coronavirus Aid, Relief, and Economic Security Act (CARES Act).

Dodge City received $54,409.48 for COVID-19-related expenses. Before receiving the funds, the Town spent an estimated $3,800.

The council voted to use the funds for:

• John Deere Gator with a 25-gallon tank dedicated to sanitizing public areas for $19,253

• Pay for the employee who takes the temperatures of people entering town hall and monitors the number of people in the building- $8 an hour. The council voted to hire an independent contractor to spray/sanitize public areas; he works six days a week for $25 a day.

• Personal protective equipment (PPE), cleaning and sanitation products and sterilizing buildings

• Any other items needed for containment and protection against COVID-19

Mayor Tawana Canada said public areas include benches in front of the town hall and senior center and playground equipment and benches at Perry Ray Park.

The council voted to keep the employee who takes temperatures at town hall through December.

The council voted to appoint Town Clerk Vicki Ogletree election manager since Canada is running for re-election in the Aug. 25, 2020 Municipal Election.

A special meeting has been set for Aug. 4 at 5 p.m. to decide on additional election workers.

Two items on the agenda were tabled: renewal of the AirEvac Lifeteam contract for $3,995 a month (due for renewal in August) and renewal of the contract for the township deputy with the Cullman County Sheriff's Office.

The Dodge City Town Council meets the second Thursday of each month. The next regularly scheduled meeting is Aug. 13, 2020 at 6 p.m.

Q&A (from Front)

christy@cullmantribune.com

CULLMAN, Ala. – Back on Super Tuesday, Cullman County voters gave Jeff "Clem" Clemons 49.67% of the vote for chairman of the Cullman County Commission, almost double that of runner-up incumbent Chairman Kenneth Walker's 27.65%. Clemons needed only 50.1% to avoid a runoff, which was originally scheduled for March 31, 2020. Delayed due to the COVID-19 pandemic, the Republican Primary Runoff Election will take place Tuesday, July 14.

Ahead of next week's contest, The Tribune reached out to both men for a final Q&A.

INCUMBENT
KENNETH WALKER

What made you decide to run again for chairman of the Cullman County Commission?
I had several of my supporters through the last two terms come ask me if I would be interested in running again.

They, undoubtedly, thought the county was in good financial shape. The moraIe among the employees is high and the departments have strong leadership.

What are your thoughts on the 5-person commission? What do you see as challenges as Cullman County transitions to that system?
I was never in favor of the 5-member commission. I always believed that if there was going to be a 5-member commission, the citizens of Cullman County should be the ones to vote on it.

I don't see the 5-member commission helping because the four commissioners will be part-time and there are certain times we have to make decisions, but if you have commissioners at work and they can't come in to meet, you would be hurting Cullman County.

What are you bringing to the table that is different than Jeff Clemons?
Seven years of experience of being the chairman of the Cullman County Commission. I've been balancing $60 million budgets for seven years.

Do you plan on or would you ever consider passing a tax without a vote by the people of Cullman County?
Absolutely not. I never have and I never will pass a tax unless the citizens of Cullman County have the opportunity to vote on it.

Water rates are an issue that your opponent has often discussed throughout his campaign. As chairman, what role/control does the commission have on the county's water rates?
We've kept the water rates as low as we can keep them. We buy wholesale water from the City of Cullman.

The way we get our water rates is whatever it costs the City of Cullman to pump and treat the water and get it out to other water systems, that cost is split on our usage.

We are the second largest rural water system in the state of Alabama and we've probably got more farmers using Cullman County water than any other water system in the state of Alabama.

So, we are going to keep our water rates as low as we can keep them to help the citizens and help the farmers of Cullman County.

Cullman County is second in the state in raw road mileage yet 17th in line for distribution of fuel tax revenues from the State. What would you do differently to address the issue of roads in Cullman County if re-elected? How many miles of road have been repaved while you have been in office?
As chairman, I am not a road commissioner. I am over the finances of Cullman County. In the last seven years, I've put more money in the road department that's ever been put into the road department. That includes your gas tax. We've tried to pave about $2 million worth of roads a year, but that's not a lot when it costs $100,000 a mile to pave, but that's all the revenue you get off gas taxes to maintain the roads.

What do you consider to be your greatest accomplishment?
When I first ran for office, Cullman County had about a 30-day reserve. I always said if I was ever elected, I would have at least a 90-day reserve. Today, with this pandemic we are in, we have a 120-day reserve. We won't be paying for the pandemic until all of this is over, so we are going to have to watch our reserves so we are ready for the worst that is still to come.

Beatles or the Rolling Stones? Why?
Rolling Stones! I was able to attend one of their concerts in Birmingham.

What is something interesting or funny that people might not know about you?
I was 7 years old driving to church one Sunday morning in my momma's Plymouth and I got pulled over by a state trooper.

CHALLENGER JEFF
"CLEM" CLEMONS

What made you decide to run for chairman of the Cullman County Commission?
I saw the need for change in our county government. As a deputy sheriff for 32 years, I worked every day to solve problems from burglaries, thefts, domestic situations to just common issues deputies handle every day.

I commit that if elected chairman I will work every day to be accessible to the citizens to solve issues within our county and always be available via community meetings, have my cell phone available as it is now (256-255-5011) or just able to talk at commission meetings.

What are your thoughts on the 5-person commission? What do you see as challenges as Cullman County transitions to that system?
As I have visited with citizens all across Cullman County many of them have told me they see positive and negatives to the 5-member commission.

Most of them have told me they would like more accessibility to their chairman and county commissioners, to see the commissioners be part-time so that more citizens are able to serve on the commission.

If elected I will work every day to be conservative with taxpayer moneybags, NOT grow spending and government.

What are you bringing to the table that is different than Chairman Walker?
I won't say anything negative about my opposition. I will just say that I will always be accessible to the public as I stated above.

I will be transparent with the citizens by being accessible, having our commission meetings available online and cut wasteful spending.

Do you plan on or would you ever consider passing a tax without a vote by the people of Cullman County?
No. The people should have the right to vote on any tax.

Throughout your campaign, you have vowed to "cut wasteful spending." What areas specifically would you target?
If elected I will meet with all department heads within one week of taking office and review the current County budget at that time.

I have cited a Cullman Tribune article in the past that cited certain areas of wasteful spending that I would look into.

I believe a major issue is our road system. The commission needs to review and use any wasteful money on our roads so we can fix our crumbling road system.

https://www.cullmantribune.com/2016/09/08/is-the-cullman-county-commission-misspending-tax-payers-money/

Water rates are another issue that you have often discussed throughout your campaign. If elected chairman, what specifically would you do to lower the county's water rates?
I have never stated during the campaign that I would lower rates as this question states. I have told the citizens at many meetings and public events I have attended that if elected I will keep water rates as low as possible.

Our citizens on fixed incomes and poultry farmers are always the hardest impacted when there are double digit rates increases.

Cullman County is second in the state in raw road mileage yet 17th in line for distribution of fuel tax revenues from the State. What would you do differently to address the issue of roads in Cullman County?
As I have stated above, we need to review any wasteful spending so we have more money to spend on our roads. I would meet with our engineers and road employees to get their input as well.

As a former supervisor of deputies, I know how valuable it is to have the input of all employees.

What do you consider to be your greatest accomplishment?
My family! My wife and my son Justin, who is a criminal investigator at the Cullman County Sheriff's Office.

Beatles or the Rolling Stones? Why?
Honestly...Conway Twitty.

What is something interesting or funny that people might not know about you?
Being employed at the Cullman County Sheriff's Office for 32 years I have a ton of humorous stories. I have a few now on the campaign trail, but I will wait and tell those after Tuesday....haha.

Masks at voting precincts

In response to questions from concerned citizens, Cullman County Probate Judge Tammy Brown said, based on the U.S. Constitution, voters cannot be turned away from polling places, even if they do not wear masks.

Brown told The Tribune, "Everybody is confused and keeps asking. There's 50 precincts that will be accounted for on Election Day.

"So the big question to me has been, over and over, 'Can we refuse a voter the right to vote if they come into our precinct and they don't wear a mask?' No, you cannot."

The judge shared information she received from the Office of Alabama Secretary of State John Merrill:

Amendment XXIV to the United States Constitution states that citizens shall not be denied the right to vote for failing to pay a poll tax. In the modern age, requiring a citizen to wear a mask before the vote would amount to a poll tax.

ARTICLE VIII, Section 177 (a) of the Constitution of Alabama reinforces the innate right of citizens to vote.

"Every citizen of the United States who has attained the age of eighteen years and has resided in this state and in a county thereof for the time period provided by law, if registered as provided by law, shall have the right to vote in the county of his or her residence."

Requirements to vote in Alabama are:

1. Be a U.S. citizen
2. Reside in Alabama
3. Be at least eighteen years of age
4. Have not been convicted of a disqualifying felony (or have had their rights restored)
5. Have not been declared "mentally incompetent"

It is therefore clear that state law does not place limits on an individual's right to vote except as set out above. Requiring a voter to wear a mask cannot be added to the list of Constitutional requirements.

Based on the above, turning a voter away for refusing to wear a mask would not pass a constitutional challenge. A municipal or county ordinance/order likewise cannot override the Constitution.

While it can be "strongly recommended" that an individual wear a mask, it cannot be required.

Additionally, space can be set aside to handle voters whose refusal to comply with health precautions may put others in harm's way.

Said Brown, "If someone comes in that's evidently or obviously, maybe, coughing or something that you think, 'Oh, my,' well then, space can be set aside at that precinct to handle that voter who may refuse to comply with some kind of health precautions, that might put other people around them in harm's way. But they, too, can't be denied the right to vote."

What about the Cullman County Courthouse?

While the state's official policy prohibits the exclusion of voters who do not wear masks, the Cullman County Courthouse requires masks for entry, raising the question of how unmasked voters will access the polling place located inside the courthouse.

Brown told The Tribune she reached out to the Cullman County Commission, but was unable to reach the commissioners.

The Tribune contacted Commissioner Kerry Watson, who said the issue will be addressed at a meeting scheduled for Monday morning.

Precautions for poll workers

Brown said, "The Probate Office Election Department employees, the chief clerk, as well as myself, have provided each precinct with PPE- personal protective equipment-kits to use on Election Day.

"And during our election school training that was held July 7 and 8 of this week, we strongly recommended that our election workers follow the CDC guidelines when in public places, and they behave in a manner that is respectful to both the election worker and the voter."

Brown concluded, "I feel like that we have worked and that we have worked diligently to try to get this word out and to try to make our workers aware of this.

"We hope that we don't have issues on Election Day, but we'll just wait and see!"

Voting precincts

Cullman County voters should be aware that the following precincts have moved and/or changed their names in the past year:

- Precinct 33 has been moved from the Baldwin Community Center and renamed the Baldwin Family Life Center. The new address is 95 County Road 1153, Cullman, AL 35057.

- Precinct 6-2 has been moved from Colony Town Hall to the Colony Education Complex. The new address is 151 Byars Road, Hanceville, AL 35077.

- Precinct 1-1 has been moved from the Cullman Civic Center to the Donald E. Green Senior Center. The new address is 1625 Cleveland Ave. SW, Cullman, AL 35055.

- Precinct 5 has been moved from Stouts Mountain Baptist Church in the old fellowship hall to Stouts Mountain Baptist Church in the new fellowship hall. The new address is 3773 County Road 522, Hanceville, AL 35077.

Remember!

Alabama voters had to declare a party before they cast their ballots in the March 3 Primary Election.

Those who voted Democratic are not eligible to vote in the Republican Primary Runoff Election Tuesday, July 14. That rule, the crossover voting rule, only applies to primary elections. In the November general election, both parties will be on your ballot.

Also remember, all Alabama voters are required to show photo identification before voting.

Types of IDs accepted are valid driver's license, valid nondriver ID, valid Alabama photo voter ID, valid state-issued ID, valid federal-issued ID, valid US passport, valid employee ID from federal government, State of Alabama, county, municipality, board or other entity of this state, valid student or employee ID from a public or private college or university in the State of Alabama (including postgraduate technical or professional schools), valid military ID or valid tribal ID.

Facilities (from Front)

we've got from some hospitals has not been accurate, but that doesn't mean everybody's haven't been accurate. I'm not pointing fingers. So, we test again with a nasal pharyngeal test, and we get two of those positive, and then they have to stay 14 days within The Sanctuary.

"Our staff is well-trained and well-equipped. We take care of them. They only work on one hall in one unit- they don't cross units- so we practice really good infection control; we don't cross-contaminate.

"We scrub the air in some of our units, we actually do it outside of our units, so we try to keep the virus outside. We just practice good infection control. Beyond that with hand washing, wearing masks- we've been in full masks since April. We've been very fortunate; we didn't even have a case until the middle of June."

Westminster Assisted Living

Administrator Wanda Raines said Westminster has had no cases of COVID-19.

As to procedures, Raines said, "We're doing screening for all employees and essential medical staff that come in, and we have no visitation in the building unless it's essential medical care. All sanitation- we're doing all that's done."

Hanceville Nursing and Rehab Center

Director Donna Guthrie said, "There have been some cases. We have stepped up all our processes. We have a hall that we put, that we cohort these people on.

"We're gowning and gloving, and temperature taking three times a shift. We have ramped up our nursing staff in the home. We're doing everything we know to do."

Citing privacy issues, Guthrie did not say how many residents have had the virus or are currently infected.

The director added, "But, thankfully, all our patients are asymptomatic; they're showing no symptoms. They may have a positive test, but they're showing no symptoms."

Morningside of Cullman

A representative of Morningside told The Tribune, "I can confirm that the community has had zero cases of COVID-19 to date."

The spokesperson offered no details on procedures, but referred The Tribune to the website of Morningside's parent company, Massachusetts-based Five Star Senior Living, for information on procedures.

There, a media statement read:

The safety, health and well-being of our residents, clients and team members remains our highest priority, and the Five Star COVID-19 task force continues monitoring developments and further enhancing our policies and procedures in this evolving global health crisis.

Consistent with recommendations of and directives by federal, state and local regulatory agencies, all of our communities and clinics have implemented and continually updated infection and disease prevention protocols along with a number of other precautionary measures specifically tailored to mitigate the spread of COVID-19.

We have strict guidelines in place prohibiting all non-essential visitors from entering Five Star communities. Prior to entering, team members and essential visitors are screened for signs of a fever or other indications of COVID-19.

Everyone is required to thoroughly wash or sanitize their hands and wear a facemask before entering a community. We continue to closely monitor all residents and team members for signs and symptoms and immediately follow recommended protocols to contact a physician and family, and isolate or send home someone exhibiting specific COVID-19 symptoms.

Additionally, we have temporarily closed all dining areas and postponed all non-medical resident outings and other social events.

We strongly encourage independent living residents to refrain from leaving the community. Any resident leaving and returning to the community will be screened and may be asked to self-isolate for 14 days.

At Five Star, we continue to closely follow the recommendations provided by the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC), as well as federal, state and local regulatory agencies, and will continue taking proactive measures to ensure the safety and health of residents, clients and team members in our communities and clinics.

Our team members are experienced, well prepared and specifically trained for infection prevention and control practices. We will continue to be vigilant and proactive in navigating this challenging situation.

In a later statement, Five Star added:

To further reduce the risk of exposure and prevent the spread of the virus, we have implemented a COVID-19 testing protocol for all healthcare and assisted living residents and team members.

This program is designed to quickly diagnose asymptomatic individuals, survey and assess patient recovery and inform future decisions regarding reopening.

In light of certain states taking action to reopen local businesses, it is important to reiterate that our communities continue to follow all directives and recommendations provided by the CDC and other federal, state and local authorities.

The three-phase White House reopening plan, the CDC and Centers for Medicare & Medicaid Services support the requirement for senior living communities to maintain current protocols until, at the earliest, phase three.

Accordingly, at this time, Five Star communities are maintaining restrictions on non-essential visitors as well as protocols related to pre-entrance screening, symptom monitoring, resident outings and community activities.

Similarly, we will continue to diligently enforce enhanced sanitation and infection prevention protocols, including hand washing, social distancing and the use of personal protective equipment.

We are aggressively evaluating policies and restrictions and will adjust them when appropriate with our first consideration being for the well-being, health and safety of our residents and team members.

A candid view of the pandemic

Hanceville Nursing and Rehab's Guthrie shared openly about the frustrations faced by her and her staff, and doubtless by others in medical care professions, and made a specific request.

Said Guthrie, "It's out in the community. People are not taking this seriously: you go to the grocery store and it'll be me and two other people besides the staff of the grocery store that have masks on.

"People are not wearing masks, they're not being mindful of this, they're not keeping their social distancing. That is so extremely important.

"We have to get through this together. It's imperative that every person take this seriously, that every person do their part.

"To not wear a mask today, I think, is selfish. It's selfish and it's not thinking about anything else but yourself.

"We're doing everything we know to do. We've done it for months. We were ahead of everyone; we closed our doors before everyone."

"We've been in business since 1965. We've done for years the best we know how to do. We're continuing to do that.

"This is unprecedented; this has put all of us in new positions and having to fight something that we've never known before. But we're throwing everything we have at it."

Guthrie said she hopes nursing home staffers will not be the targets of accusations but instead that they might receive one simple thing she requested: "Prayer."
