United Way Stuff the Bus school supply drive underway

W.C. MANN/THE CULLMAN TRIBUNE

The United Way of Cullman County's "Stuff the Bus" bus will be located in the parking lot on the south side of the Cullman County Courthouse along U.S. Highway 31 through July 24.

CULLMAN, Ala. – United Way of Cullman County (UWCC) kicked off its fourth annual "Stuff the Bus" school supply drive Friday, encouraging shoppers headed out for the tax-free weekend to pick up school supplies and drop them off at the bus, located in the parking lot on the south side of the Cullman County Courthouse, or at other locations around town with specially marked yellow school bus boxes.

UWCC Resource Development Specialist Carol Berry explained, "This is an event that we have been doing for the last three years.

"We've partnered with Cullman County Schools and Cullman City Schools, and we collect school supplies and other things that children might need throughout the school year, and give that to the central offices."

UWCC, through the project, provides the school supplies, while teachers and counselors- who see the needs from day to day- will determine how to distribute them.

UWCC Executive Director Becky Goff said, "Three years ago, school counselors reached out to us, asking for assistance to provide school supplies and other resources to kids who came to school unprepared.

"United Way responded by creating Stuff the Bus. By partnering with the schools, they can better identify students who need our help with school supplies.

These supplies help all kids K through 12 as determined by their counselors or teachers, and will be distributed throughout the year."

Stuff the Bus is an all-volunteer project.

Among those individuals and organizations who have already signed up to staff the bus at the courthouse are:

- Sheriff Matt Gentry and deputies from the Cullman County Sheriff's Office
- Cullman County Commission Chairman-Elect Jeff "Clem" Clemons
- Cullman Area Technology Academy Principal Billy Troutman
- Good Hope and Vinemont cheerleaders
- Restoring Women Outreach
- Pilot Club of Cullman
- Town of Vinemont
- Eckenrod Ford
- Walmart

If a volunteer is not at the bus, a box will be available for donations.

Other drop-off locations for supplies include: Church of the Nazarene, Man Cave Market at Vinemont, Comfort Care Hospice, Louisiana Pacific, Lavish Boutique, Payroll Services, Eckenrod Ford, Chick-fil-A and Jack's.

Take advantage of Alabama's 15th Annual Back-to-School Sales Tax Holiday, happening now through Sunday, July 19 at 11:59 p.m., during which time the State will forego its 4% sales or use tax on items commonly purchased for students. All eligible municipalities in Cullman County have also waived their sales tax for the holiday. Contact UWCC at 256-739-2948 to volunteer, sponsor the event or donate supplies. Checks can be mailed to United Way of Cullman county, P.O. Box 116, Cullman, Alabama 35056.

UWCC's 2020 Stuff the Bus campaign is sponsored by River Valley Ingredients, Publix, Peoples Bank, The UPS Store and Merchants Bank.

CCBOE discusses plans for returning to class

Heather Mann
heath@cullmantribune.com

CULLMAN, Ala. – The Cullman County Board of Education (CCBOE) at its monthly work session and meeting Thursday night discussed plans for the return to school, including a possible stipend for teachers to conduct virtual classes outside school hours, protocols for school buses and cafeterias and what may happen if the number of COVID-19 cases continue to increase.

Superintendent Dr. Shane Barnette said there are currently about 360 students, a little less than 4% of the student population, enrolled for virtual instruction, though more may sign up before the deadline July 21. The board considered a proposal to pay stipends to current teachers to conduct virtual classes after the regular school day ends so the system will not have to hire additional teachers. This would allow funds from the Coronavirus Aid, Relief, and Economic Security Act (CARES Act) to be used for that purpose if they were needed. However, if the virtual enrollment numbers become high enough, teachers may be asked to conduct virtual classes for those students during the regular school day.

Taco Granero still planned for Fairview

Maggie Darnell
maggie@cullmantribune.com

FAIRVIEW, Ala. – Fairview residents Mike and Amy Patton originally unveiled their plans for a new restaurant, Taco Granero, back in September 2019.

The Tribune spoke with Mike Patton to find out what's happening.

"We absolutely still plan on opening!" he said. "We're still actively working on it. The short version is this: we're still looking to open the restaurant."

The Pattons originally planned to build the restaurant at the corner of Welcome Road and Wesley Avenue, with construction set for Oct. 1, 2019.

Mike Patton explained, "The health department required that we look at a different location than we initially planned and so we are working with an engineer as we as we speak to move forward with Taco Granero.

"We are still planning to bring Taco Granero to Fairview. We are uncertain as to when we will open.

"Opening a restaurant in the county is much more complicated than in the city, as it pertains to dealing with the health department."

He elaborated, "What happened was we had selected a lot in Fairview, and basically after the health department wanted a survey and wanted engineer designs created, we spent thousands of dollars on that stuff, we got it to the health department and they went, 'No, you can't use that spot of land, it's too small.'

"And so, there went a whole bunch of money and a whole bunch of time- several months of planning.

"In the meantime, we've been looking for another place to locate and then we have a different engineer working on plans for plumbing and whatnot because the problem with putting a business in the county is, it's much more complicated because you don't have a sewer, you have septic.

"When you have septic, the health department said, 'Look, if you were in Cullman, you could've been up and running a long time ago,' because you're doing this in the county, you have to have special engineered plumbing, more hoops to jump through.

"They didn't like the spot we picked to set up the restaurant so all the engineering, all the surveying and everything I had done went right out the window, so we had to completely step back and select a new spot and engineer and go through the whole process. It takes a lot of time and a lot of money."

Patton said he's unsure when the process will move forward.

"We're still planning to bring Taco Granero to Fairview, and as far as when, I don't really know. Because when you're depending on other people to get things done and you have no control of how quickly they'll work, you're just kind of at their mercy," he said. "When we do open, our goal is to be close enough to the school and the park where people that want to walk there can, and we want it to be affordable and convenient.

CONTRIBUTED
Concept art of Taco Granero

"There are a couple of places that we've picked out in Fairview that are convenient and not too far from where we wanted to be, initially.

"We haven't decided 100% yet which one, but we got a couple of choices there and we're really just waiting on other people to submit the work we've asked them to do. Once that's in and the health department approves it, then we'll start building."

Patton said he is definitely committed to opening restaurant in Fairview.

"My wife and I moved to Fairview last May, and one of the first days we drove through here, I said, 'There's no real drive-through per say,'" he said.

"Anywhere you go, you have to wait on their food, there's not going to be a drive-thru order situation and you still have to leave a tip.

"And there's nothing wrong with any of that! When we moved here a year ago, our kitchen was down in our home because we were remodeling our house.

"We didn't have a kitchen for six weeks, so I ate at all three of these places Fairview has quite often, and I enjoy all three of them!

"The one thing I did notice is that, let's say if you just wanted to jump in your vehicle and drive through somewhere that's inexpensive and quick, there wasn't a place like that.

"The idea for Taco Granero came from me driving down the road and I told my wife, 'This place needs quick, affordable food.'

"And that's the whole premise and model of Taco Granero is convenient, affordable food."

Funny Things from Yesterday: Mountain climbing practice

Robert N. Tidwell, Sr.
robertntidwellsr@gmail.com

Our daughter Robin, who is the grandmother of Crosby and Alder, has been keeping them a good bit this summer since she is out of school. She lives on Lake George and their house is secluded by trees from the houses on both sides of them. There is a deck on the back of their house that faces the lake.

While Robin had the boys out on the deck playing, Crosby said that he had to tee-tee and went to the edge of the deck to do his business.

Alder still does not talk much, but after seeing Crosby do his business, Alder said that he had to tee, as he called it.

So, he walked to the edge of the deck and pulled the front of his diaper down.

He stood there and strained for what seemed like 10 minutes but he did not tee. But he wanted to do what his big brother did.

Robin wanted her grandchildren to call her Mamie. Why, I'll never know. That afternoon when Tyler came to pick up the boys, Crosby said, "Well, Mamie, I'll have to go."

Tyler and Robin talked on a little more. Then Crosby said again, "Well, Mamie, I'll have to go."

After the third good-bye, I think they left. Crosby is only 3 but talks like an adult.

On his mother's off day she was at home with the boys.

As you know, from previous articles, Alder is a fast runner and a very good climber.

His mother went to the bathroom and left Alder by himself.

He looked around to see what was available for him to do.

His first thing to do was to find a way to get on the kitchen counter. He picked the dishwasher to climb through or over.

How he managed to make it to the counter is still a mystery.

When his mother came out of the bathroom after being there no more than three minutes, she spied him on the kitchen counter trying to get on top of the refrigerator.

When Dana told Rudene and me that, she said I would worry myself to death trying to protect Alder from harm.

And I probably would. I would like to protect all six of our great-grandchildren from any kind of harm.

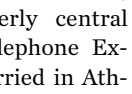

They are given to us to love, care for and watch them grow up and mature.

In the meantime, I think Alder is practicing for future mountain climbing.

BILLY BOB'S STORIES AND STUFF

How I learned to play guitar and sing

Bill King
Tribune
Contributor

I had the joy of doing a concert last weekend. It was an outdoor concert with room for distancing. How I have missed that during these strange days of separation. I have been a music lover as long as I can remember and a musician for most of my life. I have no formal training in music other than a few singing school classes and a couple of music classes in college and seminary. I attended singing schools a couple of times as a child and learned to sing shaped notes or sacred harp.

Unfortunately, I did not stick with it and now I don't know fa from la! I never took any instrument lessons other than a few secondhand lessons from a childhood friend. He took lessons and then passed on to me what he had learned. I told someone once that I had never had a music lesson in my life. He grinned and said, "I can tell."

I bought a Mel Bay guitar-chord book and began learning chords. I had a portable record player. I had so much fun listening to records on that thing. It had four speeds: 18, 33, 45, and 78. Singles were played on 45 and albums on 33. For humorous entertainment, I sometimes listened to both on 78.

This was especially funny when listening to the rock singers who occasionally let out a little scream. I used to put on my favorite record, pick up my guitar and try to play along with the record.

I tried every chord I could play until I found some that sounded like what I was hearing on the record. I had no idea that songs were played in different keys or that certain chords were found in particular keys.

I just knew when the sound matched. Then I tried to figure out the lyrics. I would listen to a phrase, lift the arm, and write it down. I repeated that process until I had all the lyrics, or at least what I thought they were saying. Sometimes this proved to be far harder than figuring out the guitar chords and I didn't always get hem exactly right.

The Beatles were singing, "I want to hold your hand," not "I want to hold your ham!" Others have said they thought The Fifth Dimension was singing "This is the dawning of the age of asparagus!"

Some thought Starship was singing "We built this city on sausage rolls," rather than "We built this city on rock and roll."

The Monkees sang, "Then I saw her face, now I'm a believer," and not, "now I'm gonna leave her."

Of course, a simple solution to this problem was buying sheet music but that posed several problems. Finding sheet music was one problem and finding the songs I wanted on sheet music was another.

Much of it was written for piano and had no guitar chords. The biggest problem may have been that sheet music cost money and I had a limited budget. Okay, I had no budget because I spent it on records.

These days things are so much easier. We have the internet. You can even take lessons online...some for free! Most any song you can think of has been put online with the chords and lyrics...the correct ones.

This reminds me of Scriptures I hear people quote, or misquote, sometimes. Some of those quotes make no sense. Sometimes that is because they leave out vital words or add words. Some quote Bible verses that aren't even actually found in the Bible. The best route is to go straight to the source...the Bible. By the way, you can find the Bible online too.

Park (from Front)

Christy Perry
christy@cullmantribune.com

Recently, The Tribune set out to explore all of the many beautiful parks within Cullman County. We'll visit one each week.

CULLMAN, Ala. – Tucked away in the southeast corner of the city of Cullman Carroll Acres, and inside is Carroll Acres Park. It's one of the smaller parks The Tribune has explored so far, but it's big on fun. Located off Briarwood Lane and Timberlane Drive, the recently renovated playground features a giant rope climbing structure and Tribune "Park Puppy" Xena's personal favorite, the 120-foot zipline.

The park offers lots for families and neighborhood kids to do. There is a covered pavilion and picnic table for a small family outing or birthday party, but this park is not the place for a large gathering. It does offer some much-needed shade while the kids are enjoying the park's amenities.

The most noticeable feature of Carroll Acres Park is the giant red rope climbing structure. Although the sign indicates that the playground is designed for 5-12-year-olds, the tall climb proved to be an irresistible challenge for the 18-year-old kid there with his dog. Next to the sprawling climbing feature is a set of four swings for those who prefer to stay closer to the ground.

Perhaps the most unique feature of Carroll Acres Park is the zipline. This is the activity that everybody was excited to jump on.

A person can stand or sit while zipping down the length of the playground. The smooth glide is stopped by a large spring that sends the rider back the other way. Don't worry, it rides low enough to the ground that if you were to fall off, only your ego is in danger of being bruised.

While the playground does have a ramp, there isn't a handicap-accessible swing or equipment designed for those with different abilities.

In the corner of the park is a small baseball field-probably not ideal for a team practice because of the short outfield but still great for a neighborhood pick-up game. The park also has a small grassy area near the pavilion and plenty of shade trees. For the kids in the neighborhood, this park is a perfect place to hang out and have fun.

Carroll Acres Park is open from sunrise to sundown and is pet-friendly. As always, be mindful of the nearby residents and pick up after your pet. Also keep in mind, there are no restrooms at the park.

Carroll Acres Park is beautifully maintained by Cullman Parks, Recreation & Sports Tourism.

POET'S CORNER

The Dropping Of Stones

By: April McCay
Based on John 8

Stone in hand
Gripped to toss
Quick to point out her sin,

Fingers point
Heads shake
Ready for the casting of stones to begin.

Questioning the One
Tell us teacher,
"Now what do You say?!"

He bent down
Writing in dirt
He glanced at her and looked our way.

We questioned him
Louder Making our anger known,

Jesus stood up
Addressed the crowd
"The one without sin, cast the first stone."

Stones in hand
Once gripped to toss,
The statement He made
Had us with a sense of loss.

Conviction pierces
Where anger was,
What have we done?

Dust arises
As stones drop
Her accusers leave
one by one.

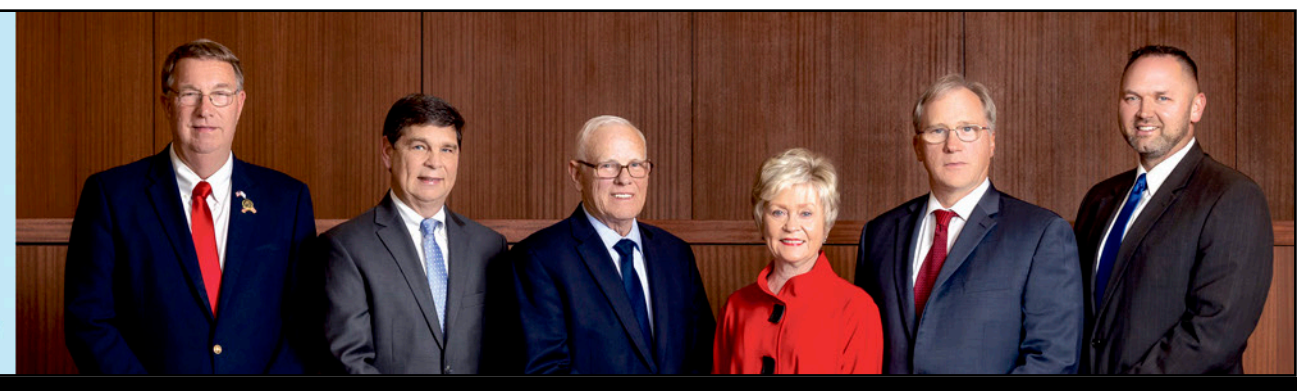

Jesus called her.
Daughter, where are your accusers?
I don't see them
anymore.

Boat flips on Smith Lake, fate of operator unknown

Wendy Sack
wendy@cullmantribune.com

CRANE HILL, Ala. – Authorities say the operator of a boat found capsized on Smith Lake near Trident Marina Thursday afternoon is still unaccounted for. The incident occurred at approximately 1:45 p.m. Authorities do not know if the man, identified as Dustin New, 26, of Fultondale, made it to shore.

Emergency responders from the Alabama Law Enforcement Agency (ALEA) Marine Patrol Division, along with members of the Cullman County Sheriff's Office (CCSO) Dive Team and Crane Hill, Logan and Trimble Volunteer Fire Departments were at the scene Thursday, searching the water in a grid for about five hours.

Maurice Reynolds with the Logan Volunteer Fire Department described the capsized vessel as a "work-type pontoon boat," and said, "It wasn't that far off the bank where the boat flipped, probably 30 yards, 40 yards at the most."

Cullman County Sheriff Matt Gentry and Crane Hill Volunteer Fire Department Chief Brandon Williams said ALEA is in charge of the investigation.

Senior Trooper Derek Campbell said ALEA Marine Patrol resumed the search at 10 a.m. Friday, sharing, "ALEA's Marine Patrol, along with ALEA's Aviation Unit, have partnered with Logan, Crane Hill and Trimble Volunteer Fire Departments, and Cullman County Sheriff's Office Dive Team.

"Nothing further is available as the search continues."

JOE MCCAIN

A rescue boat is seen on Smith Lake Thursday afternoon. Emergency responders continue to search for a missing boat operator.

Hanceville principal reinstated following arrest

Cullman Tribune Staff
Contributor

HANCEVILLE, Ala. – Hanceville Principal Jimmy Collins is officially back on the job after briefly being put on administrative leave, according to Cullman County Schools Superintendent Dr. Shane Barnette. The leave stemmed from an incident in late June, in which Collins, 46, and his ex-wife Penny Leanne Collins, 46, both of Hanceville, were each arrested and charged with third-degree domestic violence- harassment.

Thursday night, Barnette said, "As of today he has been taken off administrative leave. The attorneys are working on dropping the charges on both of them and they have determined that no children were involved, so Collins has been taken off administrative leave and will return to work."

Jimmy Collins' attorney, Champ Crocker, issued the following statement after the arrests: "Mr. Collins was peaceably visiting with his mother at her residence on Monday night when his ex-wife showed up unannounced and uninvited.

"After the Sheriff's Department was called to the scene, both Mr. Collins and his ex-wife were taken into custody.

"Mr. Collins appreciates the professionalism of the officers who responded and he looks forward to clearing his name."

Addressing the allegations (see www.cullmantribune.com/2020/07/16/update-hanceville-principal-reinstated-following-arrest), Crocker said, "Mr. Collins is a rule-follower just like he expects his students to be. He respects the process and looks forward to his day in court."

He also said, "Any lawyer who tells his client he can't lose is lying, but I will say this: Principal Collins committed no crime. We are glad he is headed back to where he belongs – serving students and families as principal of Hanceville High School."

CULLMAN, Ala. – As schools prepare for the new year to start, The Tribune looked into how they are implementing COVID-19 prevention guidelines. We spoke to Kim Hall, principal of Cullman High School, and Dr. Shane Barnette, superintendent of Cullman County Schools.

Cullman High School

The school is currently working to replace drinking fountains with touchless bottle-filling stations and installing hand sanitizer dispensers in areas around the campus. Additionally, some areas (the main office, for example) will have doors that are marked as entrance-only and exit-only to control the flow of traffic. Hall said that similar traffic control was being considered for class changes, with possible solutions including designating specific sides of the hall for one direction only or staggering times for classes to let out to avoid having many students in the hall at once. All custodians in Cullman City Schools have also attended a training session on proper disinfecting and sanitizing procedures.

"Right now, we're working with our district leaders to prepare for the upcoming school year," Hall stated. "There are so many different aspects to running a school that we must take into consideration, so we're working with our maintenance and technology crews, we're working with our human resources department and our school administration to make sure all the pieces of the puzzle mesh well together to provide for the safety, wellbeing and education of our students."

Cullman County Schools

In a statement about the procedures the county schools will be following, Barnette said, "We are still working on specifics but we have ordered hand and surface sanitizer, bulk cleaning supplies, product to be used in our Clorox 360 machines and devices to be used to sanitize our buses. We will be placing plexiglass panels in each of our secretary offices as well. Every student and staff member will be given at least three reusable masks, and the staff will also be given face shields in the case that they would rather wear those instead."

Representatives from both school systems have said that the plans being put in place are constantly changing and evolving as new information is discovered and new guidelines are issued by the Alabama Department of Health, so parents and students are encouraged to frequently check their school system's website for updates and announcements. These plans are still likely to continue to change during the school year.

Hunting season dates announced for 2020-2021

New deer zones, early dove season and the return of Sandhill Crane hunting

Alabama Dept. of Conservation and Natural Resources

MICHAEL PADGETT

The 2020-2021 hunting season will bring big changes for white-tailed deer hunters in a few parts of Alabama with the creation of two new deer zones. The newly created zones D and E will allow hunters to gun hunt before and during the peak of the rut (deer breeding season) in those locations.

Zone D includes areas in Cullman, Franklin, Lawrence and Winston counties. Zone E includes areas in Barbour, Calhoun, Cleburne and Russell counties. Archery season for zones D and E will open on October 1, 2020. Gun deer season for antlered bucks will open in both zones on November 7, 2020. Antlered bucks can be taken in zones D and E through January 27, 2021. The unantlered deer harvest dates differ between zones D and E, and both zones close to unantlered deer harvest earlier in January.

Archery deer season opens in zones A, B and C on October 15, 2020. For complete deer season dates and zone information, visit www.outdooralabama.com/seasons-and-bag-limits/deer-season.

In Alabama, the peak of the rut varies throughout the state. This is due, in part, to deer restocking efforts that occurred decades ago. Deer population data collected over the last 25 years by Alabama Division of Wildlife and Freshwater Fisheries (WFF) biologists is leading to a better understanding of the state's deer population. That data is also providing improved hunting opportunities, including the fine-tuning of the state's deer hunting zones to allow hunters to hunt the peak of the rut statewide.

"The creation of these new deer zones highlights the hard work of our wildlife managers and the importance of harvest data provided by Alabama's hunters," said Chris Blankenship, Commissioner of the Alabama Department of Conservation and Natural Resources (ADCNR). "The Department strives to offer the best hunting opportunities available, and I'm happy to announce the new deer zones."

Hunters are reminded to record their deer harvest before moving the animal using a paper harvest record or through Game Check in the Outdoor AL smartphone app. If using the paper harvest record in the field, hunters must still report their harvest within 48 hours through Game Check using the Outdoor AL app or online at outdooralabama.com.

DOVE SEASON COMES EARLY THIS YEAR

Dove season for the North Zone will open on Labor Day weekend this year, a week earlier than in previous years. Both the north and south zones feature split seasons.

This year's North Zone dove season will open on September 5 and run through October 25 for the first segment. Hunters on opening day can hunt from noon until sunset. After opening day, hunting is allowed from one-half hour before sunrise until sunset. The second segment runs November 21-29, and the final segment is set for December 12 through January 10, 2021.

The South Zone season opens on September 12 and runs through November 1. The final two segments mirror the North Zone dates. The daily bag limit is 15 birds of either mourning doves or white-winged doves or a combination of the two.

Registration for the state's youth dove hunts will open in August 2020. For complete dove season dates and zone information, visit www.outdooralabama.com/seasons-and-bag-limits/mourning-and-white-winged-dove-season.

SANDHILL CRANE SEASON RETURNS

Sandhill crane hunting returns for the 2020-2021 season. Last year saw the first sandhill crane season in Alabama in more than 100 years.

The season is by limited quota permit only – prospective hunters must apply online. Registration is currently closed but will open this fall with an associated registration fee. The permits will be chosen by a computer-controlled random draw in October 2020. A total of 400 permits will be issued.

The season dates are split into two segments with the first running from December 4 to January 3, 2021. The second segment will be January 11-31, 2021. The daily, season and possession limit is three birds per permit. Hunters can harvest all three birds in one day if they choose.

For complete sandhill crane season dates and zone information, visit www.outdooralabama.com/seasons-and-bag-limits/sandhill-crane-season.

TURKEY SEASON OVERVIEW

For most of the state, the 2020-2021 turkey season will run March 20 through May 2, 2021. Zone 4 (Clarke, Clay, Covington, Monroe, Randolph and Talladega counties) has both a fall and spring season. The fall season in Zone 4 runs November 21-29, and December 12 through January 1, 2021.

Spring turkey season will be delayed for research purposes on the following Wildlife Management Areas: Barbour, J.D. Martin-Skyline, Hollins, Oakmulgee, Lowndes, Choccolocco and Perdido River. The delayed season will run March 27 to May 2, 2021.

Hunters are reminded to record their turkey harvest before moving the animal using a paper harvest record or through Game Check in the Outdoor AL smartphone app. If using the paper harvest record in the field, hunters must still report their harvest within 48 hours through Game Check using the Outdoor AL app or online at outdooralabama.com.

Special youth hunts will take place on the Saturday and Sunday the week prior to all opening days of the spring season. For complete turkey season dates and zone information, visit www.outdooralabama.com/seasons-and-bag-limits/turkey-season.

ADDITIONAL SEASON INFORMATION

All other hunting seasons including waterfowl, feral pig, bobwhite quail, squirrel, rabbit, trapping information and more can be found on the seasons and bag limits page of outdooralabama.com or in the 2020-2021 Alabama Hunting & Fishing Digest (now available).

Alabama's recreational hunting and fishing licenses expire annually on August 31. The presale for 2020-2021 licenses will open on August 24, 2020. Licenses can be purchased from various vendors throughout the state or online at outdooralabama.com.

ADCNR is once again offering hard card licenses for the 2020-2021 season. For an additional $5 fee, purchasers can select from six new designs including white-tailed deer, wild turkey, wood duck, crappie, redfish and a "We the People..." design featuring the Second Amendment.

HUNTER RESOURCES

WFF's Adult Mentored Hunting (AMH) program was designed for those new to hunting or interested in learning how to hunt. The program provides new hunters with a one-on-one hunt under the guidance of a veteran mentor. To apply for an AMH hunt, you must be at least 19 years old, have a valid driver's license and be new to hunting or have limited hunting experience.

More information about the AMH program can be found at www.outdooralabama.com/mentored-hunting-program.

Alabama is rich in natural diversity with more than 1.3 million acres of public hunting land and some of the most liberal seasons and bag limits in the nation. Public land hunting opportunities in the state include Wildlife Management Areas, Special Opportunity Areas, Physically Disabled Hunting Areas, Forever Wild land, U.S. Forest Service land, U.S. Army Corps of Engineers land, Tennessee Valley Authority land and several National Wildlife Refuges.

While hunting is one of the safest outdoor recreational activities, each year unnecessary hunting accidents happen and some are fatal. ADCNR reminds hunters to practice hunter safety including routine treestand maintenance and safety checks, always using a full-body safety harness when hunting from a treestand, wearing hunter orange and practicing firearm safety. For additional hunter safety tips, visit the hunter education section of outdooralabama.com.

The Alabama Department of Conservation and Natural Resources promotes wise stewardship, management and enjoyment of Alabama's natural resources through four divisions: Marine Resources, State Lands, State Parks, and Wildlife and Freshwater Fisheries.

Alabama Football's Smith and Waddle named to Biletnikoff Award Watch List

UA Athletics
rolltide.com

TUSCALOOSA, Ala. – Alabama football's Devonta Smith and Jaylen Waddle have been named to the 2020 Biletnikoff Award Watch List announced today by the Tallahassee (Fla.) Quarterback Club.

Smith and Waddle are among 55 candidates from around the country named to the preseason list for the award recognizing the nation's top pass-catcher.

Alabama has had two Biletnikoff winners in program history. Amari Cooper is the Crimson Tide's first winner, earning the distinction in 2014. Cooper was followed by Jerry Jeudy, who brought home the award in 2018.

DeVONTA SMITH
Wide Receiver, Senior

- Returns for his senior season, providing the Crimson Tide offense with one of the top big-play threats in all of college football
- Played in 41 career games with 21 starts to his name
- Accumulated 2,109 yards and 23 touchdowns on 118 catches in three seasons
- Averaging 17.9 yards per catch for his career to rank second all-time at Alabama
- Led the Tide in receiving yards as a junior with 1,256, a total that ranked third in the SEC and tied for eighth in the country
- Added 14 receiving scores to rank third in the conference and tied for fifth nationally in 2019

JAYLEN WADDLE
Wide Receiver/Return Specialist, Junior

- Dangerous wideout and returner who is a threat to score every time he has the ball in his hands
- Started six games and played in 28 total during his two seasons at the Capstone
- Accumulated 1,408 yards and 13 touchdowns on 78 catches at wideout for his career
- Added 720 yards and two scores for an average of 20.0 yards per return in the punt game
- Earned first team All-America honors and was named the SEC Special Teams Player of the Year as a sophomore
- Led the nation and shattered the former Alabama single-season mark for punt return average at 24.4 yards per return with 20 for 487 yards and a score a year ago
- Also assumed kickoff returner duties late last season, racking up 175 yards and a touchdown on just five returns
- Totaled 1,227 all-purpose yards as a sophomore, contributing 560 yards receiving and five yards rushing to go with his kick and punt return totals

The Biletnikoff Award has been presented annually since 1994 by the Tallahassee Quarterback Club to recognize the top pass-catcher in college football.

The award is named in honor of former Florida State and Oakland Raiders receiver Fred Biletnikoff.

The 2020 winner will be announced at the ESPN Home Depot College Football Awards Show in December.

Auburn's Seth Williams named to Biletnikoff Award Watch List

Jeff Shearer
AU Athletics

AUBURN, Ala. – Auburn junior receiver Seth Williams has been named to the preseason watch list for the 2020 Biletnikoff Award, which annually recognizes the college football season's outstanding FBS receiver.

As a sophomore in 2019, Williams led Auburn with 59 catches for 830 yards and eight touchdowns.

He ranks 17th in program history with 1,364 career receiving yards and 19th with 85 career receptions.

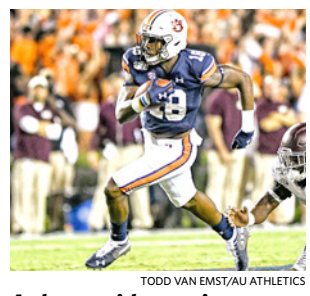

The semifinalists, finalists, and award recipient are selected by the Biletnikoff Award National Selection Committee, a group of prominent college football journalists, commentators, announcers, Biletnikoff Award winners, and other former receivers.

Receivers are frequently added to the watch list as their season performances dictate.

The correlation between Biletnikoff Award winners and stardom in the National Football League is nearly uniformly consistent.

Past Biletnikoff Award winners include Calvin Johnson, Randy Moss, Michael Crabtree and Larry Fitzgerald.

The 2020 Biletnikoff Award winner will be presented the Biletnikoff Award trophy by Tallahassee Quarterback Club Foundation Chairman George Avant, Jr., keynoter and college hall of famer Chad Hennings, and college and pro football hall of famer Fred Biletnikoff before 550 patrons at the Biletnikoff Award Banquet at the University Center Club at Doak Campbell Stadium in Tallahassee on Saturday, March 6, 2021.

of COVID-19 cases increases to the point where traditional learning is not recommended, the next option is to switch traditional students to a hybrid model.

In this system, half of the students would attend in-person classes Monday and Tuesday and finish the week remotely, and the other half would start the week remotely and finish in school Thursday and Friday. Wednesday would be used as a day for schools to do a deep clean between the groups and for teachers to send out their digital materials. If the number of cases increases to the point where not even hybrid learning is recommended, the schools would move to virtual learning.

Many teachers and families, as well as some of the board members, have expressed concern about virtual learning due to the lack of reliable internet access that affects many Cullman County residents.

Barnette said that although the Cullman Electric Cooperative has announced Sprout Fiber Internet for the county, access to the first community will take two or three months to complete, and the entire project may not be finished until August 2021. Because schools could transition to virtual learning sooner than that, and many mobile hotspots vary in effectiveness based on brand and location, Barnette talked about a project called Operation Roundup.

"Working in conjunction with the Co-Op, we are gonna be installing devices on every main high school campus - we're gonna be picking a parking lot that's well-lit and that has cameras covering the area, and we're gonna be installing a device outside that they can drive up to once or twice a week and download their work and additional content. They could get internet access from those hotspots," he described.

Each main hotspot will accommodate up to 50 users at a time. School buses have also been approved to carry hotspots; this means that students may also drive up to elementary and middle schools or local churches where buses are parked to gain Wi-Fi access.

Another point regarding school buses is the sanitation and distancing protocols. Barnette said funding from the CARES Act has allowed the system to purchase handheld devices that spray a fog of disinfectant around an area, and the current plan is to have one or two bus drivers at each school spray every bus after students are brought to campus so the chemical has time to dry and sanitize before students ride home. As of right now, students are encouraged, but not required, to wear masks on the buses, but students from one family will be required to sit close together and make some space between each family unit. Some, but not all, buses will also operate at reduced capacity. Barnette advised that if parents are highly concerned about their children's health, they should consider driving to the school instead of putting the child on the bus.

Another point of concern is school cafeterias, which are often packed full from 10 a.m.-1:30 p.m. In the board's current plan, all school meals will be grab-and-go prepackaged meals instead of students serving themselves. Additionally, cafeterias will operate at 50% capacity - the students who cannot sit in the cafeteria will be allowed to take their meals and eat in their classrooms or school common areas. Given the large number of schools in the county system, these plans have largely been left to individual schools and their principals to decide the best course of action.

Barnette commented on the entire situation by saying, "Never in my wildest dreams did I think we'd be having this conversation. But I'll tell you, I need to brag on my team. They've come together and we've thought up a lot of small, intricate details trying to handle everything we can think of, but as soon as we get something typed up another challenge comes up. A lot of people in the community and our educators have questions, but there's a lot of things we just don't have the answers to right now."

The board voted approved the following items:

- Summer 2020 contract extensions for Amanda Swann from Good Hope Elementary and Jacklyn Keller from the Child Development Center
- 2020-2021 list of Non-Faculty Coaches (NFCs)
- Request from Good Hope High School to pay summer workout helpers
- Request from West Point Middle School to pay NFC Steven Sutter for coaching archery during the 2019-2020 year
- Request from West Point High School to pay three workers for summer field maintenance and mowing
- Extension of the Child Nutrition Program's summer feeding program through August 1
- Permission for the transportation director to hire Phyllis Jo Harris, bus driver at Fairview and Parkside School, for temporary office clerical work in the Transportation Department until school starts
- Proposal to pay stipends to teachers for virtual instruction outside regular contract hours (only on an as-needed basis)

The next regular work session will take place Aug. 13 in the central office board room at 5:30 p.m., with the meeting immediately following.
