CULLMAN, Ala. – This week, local COUNTRY Financial agent Lee Powell presented a check for $1,500 to the Cullman Police Department. The donated funds are part of the company's Operation Helping Heroes program.

According to the company, as the COVID-19 pandemic continues to spread across the U.S. and add pressure to the nation's hospitals, health care workers and first responders, COUNTRY Financial, through its Operation Helping Heroes program, said it would donate $3 million to first responders, medical workers and military service members in the communities in which it does business.

"Health care workers and first responders are on the frontlines of the COVID-19 pandemic, risking their lives every day to take care of those in our communities.

"We believe it's our responsibility to take care of them," said Tim Harris, executive vice president for COUNTRY Financial.

In a media release, COUNTRY Financial announced earlier this year that it would donate $1 million through its Operation Helping Heroes program to first responders and military service members.

However, in response to the COVID-19 pandemic, the company tripled its investment in the program.

The $3 million donation was allocated to the company's more than 2,000 representatives and agents who are providing funds » PAGE 3 to support their local first responders.

"Each community we serve relies on first responders and medical professionals to assist in what may be their most uncertain life event, and we want to help make sure they have the resources and training needed to improve outcomes," Harris said.

Operation Helping Heroes was created in 2015 to support nonprofit organizations that support active duty service members, veterans and their families.

In 2019, COUNTRY Financial expanded the program and donated $700,000 to approximately 500 first responder and military organizations.

Some of the funds were used to purchase lifesaving automated external defibrillators (AEDs), bulletproof vests, and training equipment and programs.

Grant (from Front)

W.C. Mann

MONTGOMERY, Ala. – Gov. Kay Ivey earlier this month announced the $100,000,000 Revive Alabama grant program to support small businesses (businesses with 19 or fewer employees) that have been impacted by COVID-19, offering grants of up to $15,000 per business to reimburse those businesses for expenses they have incurred due to operational interruptions caused by the pandemic and related business closures. As the application period draws to a close, Sen. Garlan Gudger, R-Cullman, who serves on the Senate Small Business Commission, is getting the word out to business owners to sign up ahead of the deadline this Saturday night, July 25.

Gudger told The Tribune he wants to make sure "all small businesses know that the Small Business Commission and myself have got something from the (federal) government for $100 million to put out for small businesses.

"You can apply right now, this week, from now through Saturday at midnight.

"You can apply for up to $15,000 for expenses for COVID. Small businesses are struggling, and they need to know this to apply for it, but it's first come-first served.

"I want to make sure that everybody in my district gets a shot at it."

In a press release, Ivey said, "In many ways, our small businesses were hit the hardest from the coronavirus pandemic.

"Ensuring these owners have every opportunity to recoup expenses incurred due the disruption of business is essential to getting our economy roaring once again."

According to the release, Alabama received approximately $1.9 billion of CARES Act funding to respond to and mitigate the coronavirus pandemic.

Alabama Act 2020-199 designated up to $300 million of the Coronavirus Relief Fund for individuals, businesses, nonprofit and faith-based organizations directly impacted by the coronavirus pandemic.

Qualifying businesses may receive up to $15,000 to reimburse these expenses if they have not received federal assistance for the corresponding item they are claiming with the State of Alabama.

There is no set cap on the number of businesses that may be awarded a Revive Alabama Small Business Grant.

Grants will be awarded to qualifying applicants on a first-come-first-served basis until the funds are exhausted.

Find the grant application on the Alabama Department of Revenue's Revive Alabama website at https://revenue.alabama.gov/revive-alabama/.

The application period for the Revive Alabama Small Business Grant Program ends at midnight July 25, 2020.

According to the press release, "All applicants must first establish a secure My Alabama Taxes (MAT) account to protect their personal and business information on submitted applications.

"Small businesses are encouraged to start this process as soon as possible in advance of the application period opening.

"Each applying business must have its own MAT account to apply for a Revive Alabama Small Business Grant.

"Tax preparers may not apply for grants on behalf of their clients but may be able to assist potential applicants with information needed to establish their own MAT accounts."

Gudger said, "I am proud to help make small business owners aware of this money from the State Legislature, Gov. Ivey and Lt. Gov. (Will Ainsworth), as we want to support our entrepreneurs and small businesses!"

Heather Mann

CULLMAN, Ala. – When it's hot outside, it's important to remember not to leave anyone- person or pet- in a vehicle unattended. For tips about how to avoid a tragedy, The Tribune contacted Cullman County Sheriff Matt Gentry and Cullman Police Chief Kenny Culpepper.

"With everyone getting busy with work, playing on their phones, etc. they often forget about their animals in the car, which results in law enforcement receiving calls," Gentry said. "I encourage everyone to leave their animals at home instead of leaving them in their car with the high heat index when running errands. Obviously, please do NOT leave your young children in a car alone."

The number of calls the CCSO received concerning a person or animal left in a hot car in the past year was not available.

Culpepper commented, "It's that time of year when it gets really hot really fast, so you've got to be careful. Maybe you say you'll just be in the store for a minute, but then you see something else you want or you end up browsing for a bit and suddenly your kid or your pet has been left alone in a hot car for half an hour."

He went on to suggest ways for forgetful people to remind themselves that there's a vulnerable person or pet in the back seat, including putting notes on the steering wheel or clipping reminders to the car key.

"I'm a bus driver, and we have a way of reminding us to do our walk down the aisle and check for any kids left behind," he recounted. "There's an emergency lever at the back of the bus, and once we turn the bus off there's a timer where we have to go back there, raise it, and lower it to deactivate the alarm. That way we have to go through the bus and look around. If we leave and forget to do the walk-through, the horn starts blaring and the lights start flashing."

Although that protocol just applies to bus drivers, Culpepper said people should work to come up with their own system to prevent anyone from being forgotten.

When asked about incidents involving hot cars the CPD responded to in the past year, Culpepper stated that most calls involved pets. As for calls about people, many were from parents or caregivers who had accidentally locked their keys in the car and couldn't get a child out, though he said the CPD received other calls from concerned people who found children sitting unattended. He stated that the protocol for these calls usually involves calling either Cullman County Animal Control or the Cullman County Department of Human Resources to the site to help the victim once they are released. He said there were no fatalities in the past year due to animals or people being left in vehicles. He also stated that because there were no fatalities, the CPD rarely made any arrests; instead, the situation was usually turned over to DHR to decide how to proceed.

A study compiled by The Zebra Insurance (www.thezebra.com/research/hot-car-death-statistics/), found Alabama is the number six state for the highest number of pediatric vehicular heatstroke deaths based on more than 800 reports from 1998-2018, at 27.73 deaths per capita. A survey conducted in January 2020 showed that 25.4% of people from Southern states believed that leaving a window slightly open would completely mitigate the effects of heatstroke, though an experiment by the American Academy of Pediatrics showed that it has little effect on cooling a car's interior. The experiment also showed that two-thirds of the most rapid heating occurred during the first 20 minutes of being unattended, and a car's interior could reach more than 105F in an hour even if outside temperatures averaged 61F.

The National Safety Council reported that in 2019, 52 children suffered heatstroke from being left in a hot car and died (nearly matching the record high of 53 from 2018). As of July 14, the number of vehicle-related child heatstroke deaths in 2020 is nine. Additionally, 78 pets died of vehicular heatstroke between 2018-19, and breeds with short, broad skulls (like pugs and bulldogs) are more susceptible to the heat and are the breeds more likely to die if trapped in a hot car. While Alabama has Good Samaritan laws allowing bystanders to use any means necessary (including breaking windows) to free children and adults, it does not have one that applies to pets. TUSCALOOSA, Ala. – Alabama football's Deonte Brown, Landon Dickerson, Alex Leatherwood and LaBryan Ray have been named to the 2020 Outland Trophy Watch List announced today by the Football Writers Association of America (FWAA).

The four linemen are among 85 candidates from around the country named to the preseason list. Five Crimson Tide players have won the award previously, including Chris Samuels (1999), Andre Smith (2008), Barrett Jones (2011), Cam Robinson (2016) and, most recently, Quinnen Williams in 2018.

- Accumulated nine total tackles, including 1.5 for loss (-12 yards) and a sack (-11 yards), as a junior before his season was cut short due to injury

The Outland Trophy has been presented annually since 1946 by the Football Writers Association of America to recognize the top interior lineman in college football. The award is named in honor of All-America offensive lineman John Outland of Penn. The 2020 winner will be announced at the ESPN Home Depot College Football Awards Show in December.

Big Kat Bryant, K.J. Britt make Nagurski Trophy Watch List

Jeff Shearer
AU Athletics

AUBURN, Ala. – Auburn seniors K.J. Britt and Big Kat Bryant have been named to the 2020 Bronko Nagurski Trophy preseason watch list for college football's defensive player of the year.

Britt, a linebacker who earned First Team All-SEC honors in 2019, made 69 tackles including 10 tackles for loss as a junior.

Bryant, a defensive end, tallied nine quarterback hurries, 16 tackles and two tackles for loss as a junior in 2019. His 83-yard fumble recovery was a key play in Auburn's season-opening win vs. Oregon.

The Football Writers Association of America, in conjunction with the Charlotte Touchdown Club, released the watch list, selecting 98 defensive standouts from 66 schools in all 10 Division I FBS conferences plus independents on a roster that includes five returning players from last season's FWAA All-America team and one from 2018.

Auburn is one of 18 schools with teammates on the list. Players may be added or removed from the watch list during the course of the season.

As in previous years, the FWAA will announce a National Defensive Player of the Week each Tuesday this season.

If not already on the watch list, each week's honored player will be added at that time. The FWAA and the Charlotte Touchdown Club will announce five finalists for the 2020 Bronko Nagurski Trophy.

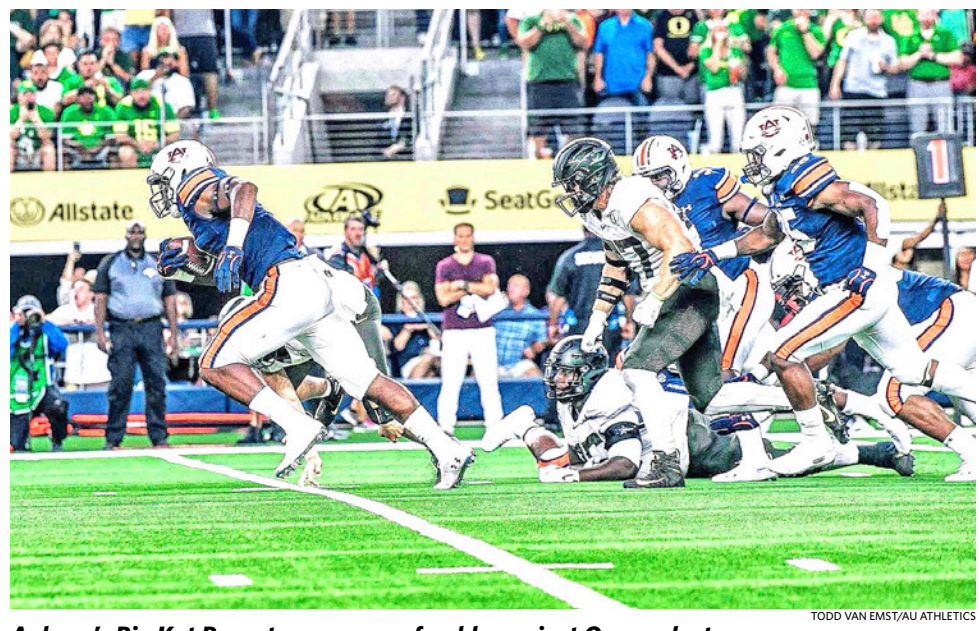

The winner of the 2020 Bronko Nagurski Trophy presented by LendingTree as the National Defensive Player of the Year will be chosen from those five finalists.

The FWAA All-America Committee, after voting input from the association's full membership, selects a 26-man All-America Team and eventually the Nagurski Trophy finalists.

Committee members, by individual ballot, select the winner they regard as the best defensive player in college football.

This year's watch list includes at least four players from all 10 FBS conferences plus three from the independents.

The ACC led the conference list with 17 with the SEC (15) just behind, making up almost one-third of the list. The Pac-12 (13), Big 12 (12) and Big Ten (10) also have double-digit representation, followed by Conference USA (7), the American Athletic (6), Sun Belt (6), Mid-American (5), Mountain West (4) and Independents (3). The list includes 31 linebackers, 28 backs, 23 ends and 16 tackles.

Moll and Smith earn spot on Bronko Nagurski Preseason Watch List

UAB Athletics

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. – The Football Writers Association of America (FWAA), in conjunction with the Charlotte Touchdown Club, have named senior linebacker Kristopher Moll and junior edge rusher Jordan Smith to the Bronko Nagurski Award Preseason Watch List, presented to the nation's most outstanding defensive player. This is the second national list Moll and Smith have been named to, as each landed on the Chuck Bednarik Award Watch List last week, given to the nation's top defensive player by the Maxwell Football Club.

Moll and Smith are two of 98 players on the Nagurski preseason watch list and two of just seven players from Conference USA.

UAB is the only school in C-USA and one of 18 teams nationally to have multiple players on the Nagurski Watch List.

These two were the catalysts for UAB finishing eighth nationally in total defense in 2019 and will once again lead a unit that returns nine starters this season.

Moll was a First Team All-Conference USA selection last year and was the only player in C-USA to rank top 10 in tackles, tackles for loss and sacks per game.

Despite missing the first game, Moll finished with 104 total tackles, 16.0 TFL, 9.0 sacks, four forced fumbles, six quarterback hurries, one interception, one fumble recovery and one pass breakup.

Smith erupted onto the scene last year, finishing with 53 tackles, 17.5 TFL, 10.0 sacks, four forced fumbles and eight quarterback hurries. He earned Second Team All-Conference USA honors while finishing third in the league in sacks per game (0.71) and fifth in TFL per game (1.25). His 10 sacks were the fifth most in a season at UAB.

The winner of the 2020 Bronko Nagurski Trophy presented by LendingTree as the National Defensive Player of the Year will be chosen from five finalists. The FWAA All-America Committee, after voting input from the association's full membership, selects a 26-man All-America Team and eventually the Nagurski Trophy finalists. Committee members, by individual ballot, select the winner they regard as the best defensive player in college football.

The Blazers return 18 starters to a team that won the second most games in program history last year (9). UAB looks to win its third straight C-USA West Division title in 2020 and its second overall championship in the last three years.

Since returning to action in 2017, UAB has tallied 28 total victories, the most of any team in Conference USA. The Blazers are also 18-0 at Legion Field and bring the nation's fourth longest active home winning streak into the 2020 season.

Season tickets for 2020 are on sale starting as low as $75 with the Family Four Pack. Blazer Boosters members and current season ticket holders will have top priority for Protective Stadium entering 2021.

UAB National Watch Lists:

- Kristopher Moll – Chuck Bednarik Award – Nation's Most Outstanding Defensive Player (MFC)
- Jordan Smith – Chuck Bednarik Award – Nation's Most Outstanding Defensive Player (MFC)

UAB Athletics transitioning to mobile ticketing beginning this fall

Ted Feeley
UAB Athletics

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. – Beginning with the upcoming 2020-21 year, the UAB Department of Athletics has announced a transition to mobile ticketing for events beginning this fall.

Mobile ticketing has existed for single game tickets and has been a preferred method of delivery with a majority of attendees. Due to recent events, UAB Athletics is expanding the use of mobile ticketing to include season tickets and will provide as a default option for each ticketed athletic event.

Fans will enter Blazer events by using their smartphone to scan digital tickets to gain entry to each event.

Along with a safer and contactless environment, mobile ticketing also reduces the risk of lost, stolen or counterfeit tickets, while providing the ability to easily manage, transfer or sell tickets.

"We've been looking at this for some time, but thought this was a good time to demonstrate that we are taking every necessary step to ensure the safety of our student-athletes, staff and fan base," said Director of Athletics Mark Ingram.

"Mobile ticketing is a huge piece to the puzzle, and I know our fan base will embrace this new method to enhance the overall gameday experience as we look forward to a very successful year of UAB Athletics."

Once a patron has purchased a ticket to a UAB Athletics sporting event, they will receive a link to download their ticket straight to their Apple Wallet (iPhone) or Google Pay Wallet (Android). Once the ticket is stored on the mobile device, simply open on game day and your device will be scanned for contactless entry. For ease of use, it is strongly advised for fans to download and store their tickets prior to arriving on game day.

In the coming weeks, UAB Athletics will provide detailed instructions along with tutorials on the enhanced ticketing processes. In the event fans do not have a mobile device, please contact the UAB Athletics ticket office at 205-975-UAB1 or email tickets@uab.edu.

Season parking passes purchased through UAB Athletics will still be issued through Blazer Boosters and distributed by mail in advance of the season.

UAB Football season tickets for 2020 are on sale starting as low as $75 with the Family Four Pack. Blazer Boosters members and current season ticket holders will have top priority for Protective Stadium entering 2021.

2020-21 UAB men's basketball season tickets are on sale now. Current basketball season wticket holders can visit uabsports.com to renew their seats for the upcoming season. Fans interested in purchasing new season tickets can do so starting as low as $100 with the Blaze's Corner season ticket.

MONTGOMERY, Ala. – The Alabama High School Athletic Association Central Board of Control approved the AHSAA's Return to Play 'Best Practices' recommended guidelines Wednesday and reaffirmed plans to start fall sports on time. The action was taken Wednesday at its annual summer meeting in Montgomery.

Fall sports teams have the option to begin fall workouts on July 27 with the first week used by football for acclimation purposes only with helmets and shorts only.

The other fall sports – volleyball, cross country and swimming and diving – can use the first week for acclimation and tryouts.

Schools not choosing that option may start fall practice on August 3.

The first contest can be August 20.

AHSAA Executive Director Steve Savarese praised the Central Board for its leadership and commitment providing member schools the tools to return to play as safely as possible.

"The purpose of the Return to Play document is to offer AHSAA member schools best practices in order to commence the 2020-21 school year athletic seasons as scheduled and as safely as possible," said Savarese.

The AHSAA has planned a virtual press conference Thursday at 1 p.m. to discuss details of the Return to Play 'Best Practices' document.

WOTM TV is producing the press conference which can be viewed over the AHSAA TV Network (WOTM.tv) and NFHS Network: https://www.nfhsnetwork.com/events/ahsaa/evt658f416bdf.

The document will be available on line at www.ahsaa.com Thursday.

The Central Board also approved amending the AHSAA Constitution concerning the District Board Makeup, Central Board Makeup and Bi-Districts and the Central Board rotations to guarantee no person shall be discriminated against based on gender, race or religion.

The Merger Act guaranteed specific representation for AHSAA and AIAA members.

The new language provides representatives of the AHSAA and AIAA to each have equal opportunity at all positions of management.

"I want to thank this Central Board for having the courage to do the right thing," said Savarese. "Moving forward, this is a great day for our association."

The Board also waived member school dues for the 30th consecutive year – a savings of approximately $84,000 for the schools for the coming school year and a total savings of approximately $2.4 million since 1991-92 for the AHSAA's 416 high schools and 336 middle/junior high schools.

The Legislative Council also held its summer meeting Wednesday and approved the publications and Constitution amendments.

In other Board action Wednesday:

- Reviewed the Cash and Current AHSAA assets
- Approved the 2019-20 AHSAA and AHAADCA Financial Statements
- Approved the AHSAA and AHSADCA 2020-21 Budgets
- Approved AHSAA insurance coverages
- Tabled the Revenue Share Amount for the 2019-20 school year
- Approved all 2020-21 Publications and heard a report on the digital access publication plan from Assistant Director Kim Vickers
- Approved a request to postpone the Instant Replay Experiment to the 2021 season as a result of COVID 19
- Discussed COVID-19 Championship contingency plans
- Rescheduled the October Central Board meeting from October 14 to October 15
- Approved paid vacation for unused dates for AHSAA staff members
