CULLMAN COUNTY FAIR WILL GO ON

The Cullman County Fair is scheduled for Oct. 8-17 at the Cullman County Fairgrounds.

CULLMAN, Ala. – One of Cullman County's most anticipated annual events will take place (as of now) despite the threat of COVID-19. The Cullman County Fair is scheduled for Oct. 8-17. The Cullman County Fair Parade is tentatively scheduled for Oct. 3, pending approval of the permit from the Cullman City Council.

Cullman County Fair Association President and Cullman Lion Charlie Childers discussed the changes visitors can expect at this year's fair and what will remain the same.

One of the biggest changes is the cancellation of Senior Day at the fair.

Childers explained, "We just felt like and (sic) Comfort (Care), that sponsors it, just felt that it was just the best thing to do. We will try to have it again next year."

The fair will follow the specific health guidelines from the State of Alabama and City of Cullman at the time of the event and will request guests also adhere to those guidelines.

"Our group, Kissel Entertainment, is operating right now and having fairs in Alabama," said Childers. "They will have some boards up talking about social distancing. It's going to be each individual's decision whether or not they can come or need to come. Otherwise, come next year if you don't feel like you should venture out and come to the fair this year."

He continued, "There's people who know they don't need to get out. If they aren't going to Wal-Mart and they aren't going places, they probably don't need to go to the fair. If you are going to Wal-Mart and all the other places like you normally do and you feel comfortable with that, then we want to have that opportunity for those people to get out and enjoy those activities. We will be asking people for help with social distancing when they are standing » PAGE 7

Garden City council votes to bring free Wi-Fi to town park

maggie@cullmantribune.com

GARDEN CITY, Ala. – The park in front of Garden City Town Hall will soon have free Wi-Fi. Mayor Tim Eskew at Monday evening's Garden City Town Council meeting presented a plan to bring internet to the park, which the council approved. The reported cost of the project is $2,679.98 including a $199.99 installation fee. The council voted to pay for the plan monthly, at $114.99 monthly. Eskew noted the costs will be covered by funding from the Coronavirus Aid, Relief, and Economic Security Act (CARES Act).

"What we're doing, we're trying to formulate a plan, in case the schools have to go to remote learning," said Eskew. "We're trying to do something to help. So, what we're trying to do is extend our Wi-Fi over to the park where we can give internet service to try and help out for the children that don't have the ability to get it, and our idea was to do that.

"We're going to do it in such a way where the guy I'm working through, we're going to have the internet work until 10:30 at night. That way it's safe from any problems with people that really don't need it. We're trying to do everything we can to help the community and use federal funds."

In other business Eskew also notified the council that the Town received an Alabama Department of Economic and Community Affairs (ADECA) grant for $350,000 for water line installation and repair.

He specified, "It's to put in a water line across the river bridge and to take care of the lower end of town, renewing all the old pipes in the area. It'll be around Short Street over to County Road 509 and all the way down into the river and it'll even go into Blount County. We've had a developer who's talked to us; he's wanting water on the Blount County side so we're trying to work with him to get water over there."

Councilman Doug Pender reported the Garden City Volunteer Fire Department (VFD) needs an exhaust fan. He said the department lost some medical equipment due to heat. He said the exhaust fan will allow the department better temperature control within the station. No action was taken. Pender also reported the VFD now has four certified EMTs.

The Garden City VFD will have a Swamp John's benefit dinner Aug. 29, 2020 from 4-7 p.m. at the Garden City Volunteer Fire Department located at 169 Fifth St. SW, Hanceville, AL 35077. It will cost $12 a plate.

The council also voted to purchase a $100 ad in the Hanceville Quarterback Club's football program.

The Garden City Town Council meets the third Monday of each month. The next regularly scheduled meeting will be Sept. 21, 2020 at 6 p.m. at Garden City Town Hall.

Berlin swears in Hardman as new councilman

W.C. Mann
craig@cullmantribune.com

BERLIN, Ala. – The Berlin Town Council on Monday evening swore in Keith Hardman to replace Councilman Bud Reed, who recently resigned for health reasons. Hardman had already qualified to run for the seat in the Aug. 25 Municipal Election and was unopposed, so the council approved when Mayor Patrick Bates recommended that Hardman be sworn in early, to finish Reed's term before starting his own.

Hardman, who has lived in Berlin since 1975 and served as a volunteer firefighter, said that his goal on the council is simply "helping out the community."

New Berlin Councilman Keith Hardman takes his oath of office from Town Clerk Keirstyn Montgomery Monday evening.

In other council business:

• Bates opened the floor for suggestions on projects that could be funded by Coronavirus Aid, Relief, and Economic Security Act (CARES Act) reimbursements, saying that the council will discuss the matter again at a later meeting. He offered the suggestion of creating a Wi-Fi hotspot for community children needing internet access.

• Bates also said that he will look into getting a 50/50 matching fund grant from the Appalachian Regional Commission to construct an awning for the new farmers' market, noting that some area farmers had declined to come to the market due to lack of a shaded covering.

• The council voted to purchase a large used storage container for the town hall parking lot for $2,485 from Decatur Container, to store materials purchased under the CARES Act, which often must be purchased in bulk.

• The council approved a motion to subscribe to an online edition of QuickBooks for $35 per month.

• Bates recommended and the council approved technology improvements for town hall to be funded under the CARES Act, including routers, security video recorders and mounting equipment, in the amount of $2,003.

• The council slated County Road 1600 for chip seal repaving as the Town's declared road project for fiscal year 2021 under the Rebuild Alabama Act.

• The council discussed options for a permanent sign for the farmers' market.

• Bates spoke briefly about the upcoming budget, noting that this year's revenues have already exceeded estimates with a month still to go, but also warning the council that revenue from the county-wide tax fund shared with other municipalities could drop based on 2020 Census results. As previously reported, Bates plans to estimate revenues low and expenses high in order to maintain a good margin of error.

The Berlin Town Council meets at 7 p.m. the third Monday of each month at the Berlin Community Center. The public is invited to attend, subject to building occupancy restrictions.

NOTICE: Video Inspection of Cullman City Sewer System

• Aug. 3, 2020, the City of Cullman's contractor, Video Industrial Services, began cleaning and providing video inspection of the sanitary sewer collection system in the southeast area of Cullman. This work should not disrupt sewer service; however, it will involve access to utility easements crossing private property. The contractor's representatives will attempt to notify property owners prior to easement access.

• During cleaning operations, excess air pressure or vacuum will dissipate through service connection plumbing. If plumbing vents are inadequate, customers may notice splashing of water from fixtures. In the event of vacuum pressure, water in fixture traps may be drawn out, resulting in unpleasant odors. To guard against these issues, ensure toilet lids are closed. Run water into each drain to refill fixture traps if odors are noticed.

• See a map of the project area at https://bit.ly/39AWBkP.

Fall 2020 classes begin at Wallace State with in-person, hybrid and online options

Gail Crutchfield
WSCC

HANCEVILLE, Ala. – The usual first-day nerves were there for some returning and new Wallace State Community College students, but for the most part, most were excited to be on campus and starting classes. While most academic classes will be taught online, technical and health science classes that require hands-on learning for skills welcomed students in hybrid classes to campus Monday.

Emily Knighten of Falkville said she was excited but nervous to be starting her classes in the Medical Assisting program and was glad to be on campus. "I'm glad to be able to be here," she said. Knighten completed a short-term certificate for Medical Lab Assistant the previous semester and chose to come back to start the Medical Assistant program at the urging of coworkers at the urgent care facility where she works.

Fellow Medical Assistant student Yeniveth Benitez of Hanceville entered the program after seeing the success her sister Yadira had with it. "She had a good job and she only went to school a year and a half and I wanted follow in her footsteps because she's like a mom figure to me," Benitez said. A true freshman who recently graduated from Hanceville High School, she said she was excited to be starting college classes.

Second-year Dental Hygiene student, Madisyn Bedingfield of Madison, prepped for the day by disinfecting all the surfaces of her assigned station.

"I'm really excited," she said. "I can't wait to finish and get my license and finally get to be practicing."

Bedingfield said she appreciated everything faculty and staff did at the end of the spring semester when COVID-19 impacted their classes.

"I think the faculty did a wonderful job," she said. "Honestly, they had us back as soon as we could and were sending us emails and keeping us updated. Even though we had to be online, the teachers were great and really understanding in helping us as much as they could. Then we had to take our tests online. That was a challenge, but we all worked through it together."

Stephen Gholson of Springville was taking his first classes on the Hanceville campus, having previously taken classes at the Oneonta campus. Transferring from Jacksonville State University where he was a business major, Gholson is taking prerequisite courses at Wallace State to transfer to UAB to get a master's in Nursing.

Wallace State student Stephen Gholson waits in line at Lion Central during the first day of fall classes at Wallace State Community College.

"So far it's been a fairly easy process to get started," he said. "I was able to apply and register in a total of like five days."

Collision Repair student Mario Ralius of Blountsville was returning for his third semester at Wallace State. "I really enjoy the Collision Repair program," he said. "It's a lot of fun. I have learned a lot and especially a lot about welding on vehicles."

Natural Science Department Chair Beth Williams was pleased with her first class of the day. Most of her Anatomy and Physiology students logged on to take part in their class and were active in asking questions through the online format, she said.

Registration is continuing for the Fall 2020 semester for Regular and Mini Term I, as well as for Flex Start Courses and Mini Term II. Registration for Flex Start I courses will be from Aug. 24-28 and from Aug. 31-Sept. 4 for Flex Start II courses. Students who register for the Flex Start courses complete those online through the end of the regular term on Dec. 16. Mini Term II courses will be held from Oct. 14 to Dec. 16. The campus remains open for students who need to come to meet instructors, or use student services such as Lion Central, library, tutoring lab, etc. Masks and self-screening are required by all who come to campus. Support is also available virtually via www.wallacestate.edu/virtual-student-services.

Dodge City (from Front)

Maggie Darnell

DODGE CITY, Ala. – As the Aug. 25, 2020 Municipal Election approaches, The Tribune is holding Q&A sessions between candidates.

In Dodge City, incumbent Councilwoman Inez McDonald will face challenger Mark Brannon for place 4.

Why did you choose to run in the 2020 election?

McDonald: "To help the town. I've seen it grow, and I love the people, the town, and I want to see it grow even more than it has the last few years."

Brannon: "I love Dodge City. Council seats shouldn't be lifetime careers nor should any other elected position. I hope to add a new face to our aging council."

What would you like to do for Dodge City if reelected/elected?

McDonald: "Everything I can, everything the people or majority really want, that's what I want to do."

Brannon: "If elected, I would love to help secure a red light at the intersection of County Road 216 and (Alabama) State Highway 69."

Are there any specific projects you'd like to work on if reelected/elected?

McDonald: "Nothing special; we as a council all work together (on projects)."

Brannon: "The business community needs to grow so that our town can grow."

Why do you think the people of Dodge City should vote for you?

McDonald: "We've done a good job so far; anyone can look and see what we've done. We want the town to grow. There a lot of prospects here."

Brannon: "In 1980 I became friends with a family who lived in Dodge City. I was from West Point and barely knew anyone. I have always felt that Dodge City adopted me in 1980, so by electing me to the town council, they are finally signing the paperwork."

Baileyton (from Front)

christy@cullmantribune.com

BAILEYTON, Ala. – As the Aug. 25, 2020 Municipal Election approaches, The Tribune is holding Q&A sessions between candidates.

In Baileyton, voters will be choosing new council members. In place 1, Wendell Peterson is seeking re-election and will face challenger Randy Gaines.

Why did you choose to run in the 2020 race?

Peterson: "This would be my second term if elected. We were able to see progress the past four years, and I would like to see what we could accomplish the next four years. I have truly enjoyed working with the citizens of Baileyton and trying to listen and react to their comments and concerns."

Gaines: "I have lived in the town of Baileyton for 23 years. Our town has come a long way in the past few years. The town has a wonderful senior center and an amazing Christmas program for our kids every year. It would be an honor to become a councilman for the town of Baileyton in order to continue to make Baileyton a better and stronger community."

What would you like to do for Baileyton in the next four years if re-elected/elected?

Peterson: "I would like to see the park opened for the citizens of Baileyton to enjoy. I would like to see more venues added to the park for all ages and see the park grow."

Gaines: "I would continue to support our fire department, Parkside School, the senior center and keep the Christmas program going."

Are there any specific projects you would like to work on if re-elected/elected?

Peterson: "I would like to build a new concession stand that would accommodate the growth of the park. I would like to see more industry come to our Industrial Park."

Gaines: "I would like to look into resurfacing the tennis court and get new playground equipment for the kids. I would also like to see a new community center."

Why do you think the people of Baileyton should vote for you?

Peterson: "I have lived in Baileyton for 43 years. I coached T-ball , girls' softball, worked with other coaches over the years and enjoyed being a part of Baileyton.

"I worked as a store manager for Big 10 Tires and service manager for Firestone of Cullman. With that experience I think it helps me to be able to address the issues and problems we face in Baileyton.

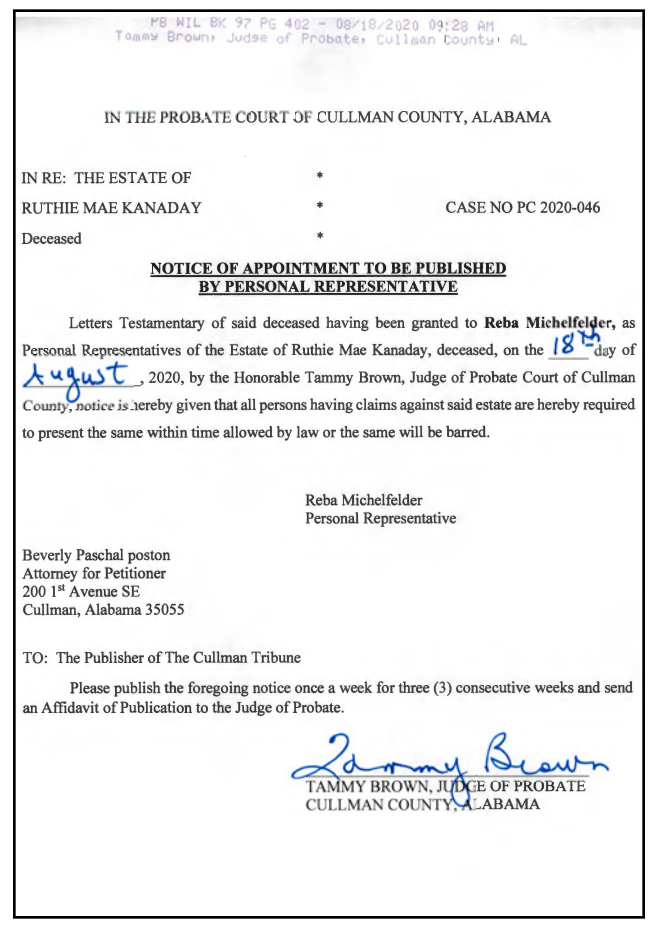

"Over the years working with people has helped me to be able to listen and be observant to their issues and needs. This is what I would be able to do for the citizens of Baileyton. My goal is to listen to the people and address their concerns to improve our town."

Gaines: "I'm ready to go to work and help keep the town of Baileyton growing."

Good Hope Raiders

McEachern Photography

Football season is upon us and the Good Hope Raiders are gearing up for another postseason run. The Raiders are a combined 19-5 in the last two seasons and fans are excited to see what this year's team has in store. Head Coach Alan Scott has an experienced group of Raiders returning from last year's playoff team and he, along with the players, are ready to move from the practice field and play under the lights again.

"I think I feel about like every other coach in the state right now, our kids are tired of looking at each other," Scott joked. "They've done a good job; we've had had really good attendance throughout the summer and fall camp and they've learned a lot. We have a lot of experience coming back so we're probably farther along than we were last year at this time, so I'm pleased with that, but we just want to play at this point."

The Raiders, like everyone else, having been dealing with a summer and fall full of distractions stemming from the coronavirus pandemic. Scott admits that all the uncertainty is a strange to deal with but on the practice field, his team has been able to roll with the punches no problem.

"I think it's gone really well. They let us get back together at the start of June and the kids have handled it well. The coaching staff has done a great job of supervising so that hasn't really been a big issue. I think its more so just kind of the background noise and the what-ifs that keep coming at you each and every day. You'll think one day that we've got it figured out and then overnight the Big Ten decides they're not going to play football. And I understand," Scott said. "I don't know what the future holds, all I know is that our team is doing what they've got to do to get ready and we're going to try and control what we can. I'm thankful we live in a state where we have and athletic director in Coach (Steve) Savarese that has allowed us to start on time and I believe that's the right answer."

Good Hope has a lot of varsity experience returning to the line of scrimmage and in the backfield, this fall but there are some big shoes to fill at the skill positions on offense and in the defensive secondary. Drew and Cole Maddox largely filled those roles last fall and Scott is looking for some new faces to step into those roles.

"We lost an offensive and a defensive lineman, which is not bad because a lot of times you may lose three or four, so we've got a lot coming back there," Scott said. "We lost our wide receivers and cornerbacks with the Maddox cousins and they did a great job for us last year so we've just been trying to find guys to step up into those roles has been a key for us this fall. I think our guys have handled it well so I'm looking forward to seeing what they can do."

The Raiders are sliding into a new region this fall and that comes with some new challenges. Good Hope will face foes they haven't seen in a long time or ever before and Scott and his team are excited to meet the upcoming season head on.

"We're going to try to keep things simple and do what we can control. Obviously, we've got a new region this year so that makes things a little interesting. There are some teams we've never played before in school history and some that its been a while. I don't think we've played Addison since I played," Scott said. "We're playing West Morgan and we've only beaten them once in school history when I was a senior so it's a whole new challenge in front of us. I'm thankful that we have a lot of guys on this team that have been here the last two years and kind of know what it takes so we've just got to stay focused and try to do all the little things that have helped us win in the last couple years and those things don't change. Protect the football, control the football and play hard."

The Good Hope Raiders will kick off the 2020 season on the road against West Morgan Thursday night.

West Point Warriors

Rivercat Photography

The Warriors finished just short of a playoff berth a season ago and now, with an experienced roster returning to the field in 2020, West Point is hungry to stack the win column and get back to the postseason. Teams across the state and country are dealing with the distractions caused by the spread of COVID-19 but Warriors Head Coach Don Farley has been proud to see his players adapt to the situation and get the most out of practice time.

"We've had great practices. These kids are resilient, and they can adapt, and practice has gone really well.

"We've just been trying to get stuff installed and trying to make sure we get them in shape and get the acclimated to the heat. Those are always challenges each year but our guys have really responded well and they've continued to work hard and do what we ask them to do."

Health and safety protocols have presented a unique set of challenges for local teams preparing for the upcoming season, but Farley feels good about the way his staff and players have handled the unorthodox preseason.

"You know we've just been trying to follow all of the safety precautions and doing everything we need to do," Farley said.

"It is unusual and it kind of gets you out of your routine a little bit but like we've told our kids we keep hearing the term "new normal" and our guys are doing a good job of handling it.

"Our coaches have done an excellent job of making sure everything is done as well as we can do it within the guidelines."

West Point has several starters returning to the field this season on both sides of the ball and the coaches has asked those guys to take on even more of a leadership role in guiding the team through the necessary steps to get the season underway.

"We've asked them to continue being the leaders that they've been throughout the summer in all the stuff we're having to implement and they're doing a great job of helping us kind of control all those things and make sure things are getting." Farley said.

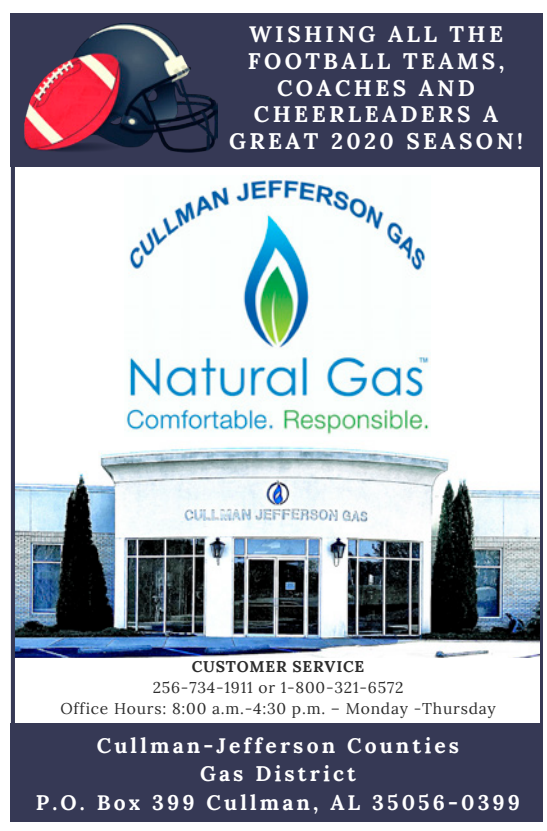

"We've got 17 seniors, so we've told them that we're going to be dependent on them this year to help with that kind of stuff."

West Point was on the outside looking into the postseason field last year but this season, with 17 seniors leading them, Farley and the Warriors are planning to take things one week at a time and finish games on their way to a potential playoff appearance.

"You know every team's goal is to make the playoffs and our guys have been in the locker room that last two years and have seen what it's like to have it come down to the last game or two to win and get in," Farley said.

"We've been talking with them about finishing games and trying to just take things one week at a time without really talking about the playoffs. We just want to focus on one game at a time because with the uncertainty of this year, we can't control everything that's going on. So, we just want to make sure we're controlling our focus and our effort on a daily basis."

The West Point Warriors will kick off the 2020 season at Priceville for a jamboree game Friday night.

7 p.m. on WTTO
The 100

A hopeful new day seems to be dawning in Sanctum in the new episode "The Stranger," but a challenge looms for Clarke, Octavia, Raven and Echo (Eliza Taylor, Marie Avgeropoulos, Lindsey Morgan, Tasya Teles), who find themselves struggling when it comes to dealing with a new new foe. Richard Harmon, Shannon Kook, JR Bourne, Shelby Flannery and Chuku Modu also star.

8 p.m. on WTTO
Coroner

In "Scattered," the first in a new two-part episode, Jenny (Serinda Swan) is summoned to investigate when a dismembered body is found in Crother's Woods. Soon, she finds herself digging more deeply than ever before, both professionally and personally, as she struggles with the twin challenges of establishing the victim's identity as well as the reason for this death. On the home front, her son Ross (Ehren Kassam) takes a break from school over lingering grief over his father's death. Roger Cross and Éric Bruneau also star.

8 p.m. on MTV
True Life: Quarantine Stories

Anyone going through an extended quarantine alone may feel at a disadvantage, as the sense of loneliness and isolation can become overwhelming. As the new "Love Under Lockdown" reveals, however, it's no day at the beach for couples, either, since nonstop togetherness puts unwelcome pressure on nearly any relationship. Whether a couple is still in the first blush of new love or part of a long-established union, making major life decisions can become more treacherous without adequate "me time" for both parties.

8:31 p.m. on HGTV
House Hunters

A new episode called "California Dreaming in Redlands" revolves around a young Illinois family that decides to take a leap of faith and make their dream come true by relocating to sunny Redlands, Calif. The wife is looking for a spacious two-story home with four bedrooms to accommodate their growing family, but they're used to cheaper house prices back home in the Midwest. She and her husband quickly realize they will have to compromise.

9 p.m. on FOOD
Guy's Grocery Games

Filmed under quarantine, the new episode "Behind the Games: Diners, Drive-ins and Dives Tournament 2" finds host Guy Fieri and his son Hunter taking a trip down "Guy's Grocery Games" memory lane as they re-watch the second "Diners, Drive-Ins and Dives" Tournament from their ranch in California. Their father-son viewing party includes reminiscing and playing armchair quarterback as 16 "DDD" chefs compete in a heated rivalry.

9:01 p.m. on DSC
Growing Belushi

This new reality series follows actor and singer Jim Belushi as he branches out into a new line of work: legal cannabis farmer. The show follows the former sitcom star ("According to Jim") as he and his ragtag team of farmers go through the tangled process of launching this new venture in southern Oregon, accompanied by his cousin Chris. Fans can look forward to appearances by "Blues Brothers" performing partner Dan Aykroyd, as well as Jim's former sister-in-law, Judy Belushi-Pisano, and other members of Jim's family.

9:03 p.m. on LIFE
Marrying Millions

Rick leaves the security of Miami and travels to Illinois to try persuading Erica's father to get on board with their relationship in the new episode "Daddy Issues." Elsewhere, Kattie approaches Kevin about loaning her some rent money, but he rebuffs her request, declining to be anyone's "bank." As Donovan grapples with his ambivalent feelings about marriage, he tries to keep a lid on Dani's increasingly vocal wish for him to put a ring on it.

Roger Cross stars in "Coroner" on The CW.

Heritage Park walking trails undergoing grounds maintenance

Maggie Darnell

CULLMAN, Ala. – Part of the popular walking trails at Cullman's Heritage Park are temporarily closed for grounds maintenance.

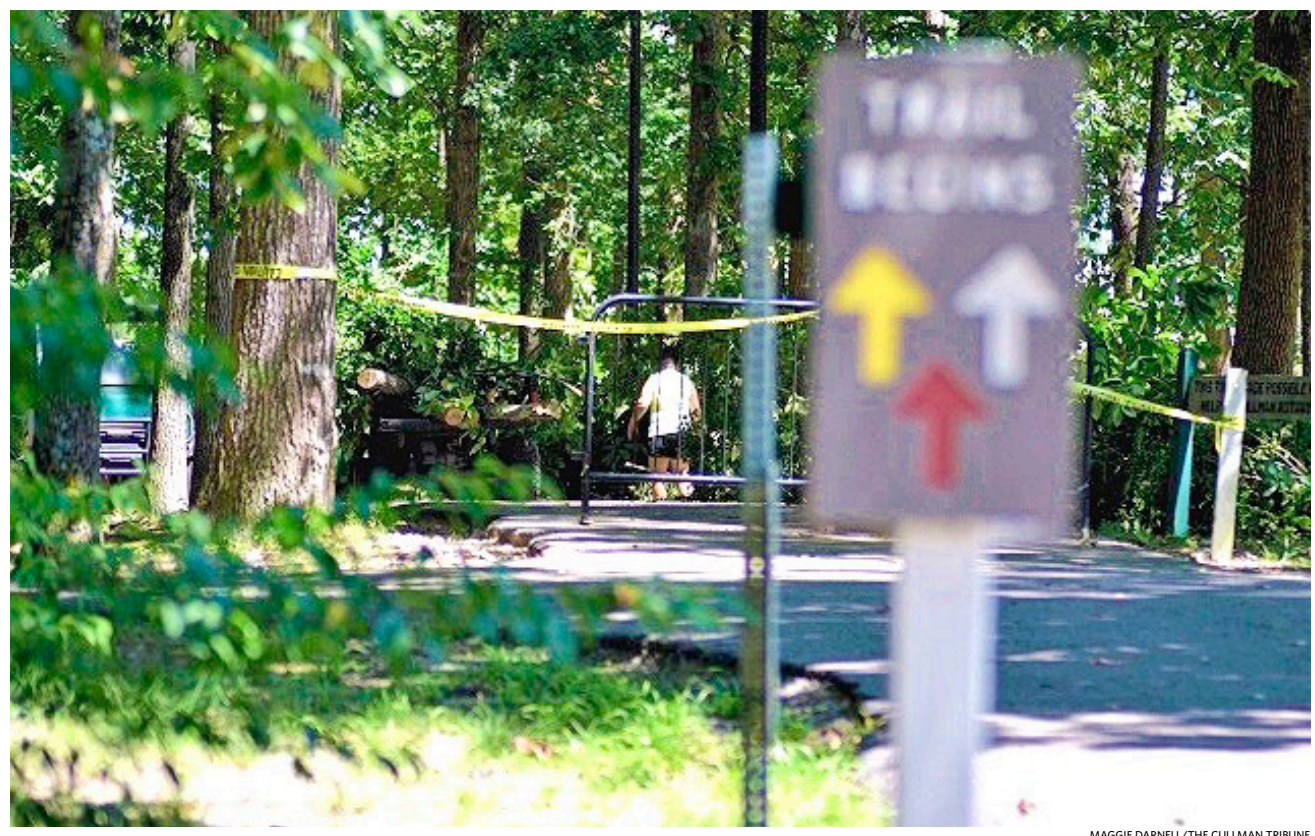

Cullman Parks, Recreation and Sports Tourism (CPRST) Recreational Development Director Christy Turner said, "Heritage Park staff is in the beginning phases of underbrush clearing along with dead and fallen tree removal.

"Heritage Park staff are beginning a plan to clean up and clear dead brush and limbs that have fallen around the walking trails. We want to spruce up the area to enhance our users' experience and enjoyment of the park."

Turner said CPRST will provide updates via social media and that any immediate area being worked on will be roped off and closed to the public with fencing as well as caution tape.

She said only affected trails will be closed.

"The initial estimated time is only for the next few weeks," she said. "However, this is only an estimated time and could change due to unforeseen circumstances."

Heritage Park staff is seen clearing underbrush beyond the roped off trail entrance. The park's staff is performing grounds maintenance to "spruce up the area" according to CPRST Recreational Development Director Christy Turner.

Campus (from Front)

Editor's note: Heather Mann is a reporter for The Cullman Tribune who recently returned to campus at Auburn University for her junior year.

Classes at Auburn University started Monday, but events have been taking place since Aug. 10 (the start of the university's Welcome Week). With more than 30,000 students (25,000 of whom are enrolled full-time), many changes have been made to keep students, faculty and staff, as well as the community as a whole, safe and healthy as students return to class.

Many students, if not most, have at least one class that's held entirely online, everyone at the university has to perform daily health screenings to get a pass to travel on campus, and even the academic calendar has been adjusted to keep students from returning to campus after Thanksgiving Break. Tiger Transit (the university bus system) requires all riders to wear masks on board and present the daily "passport" from the health screening when going to campus. Campus dining has heavily urged students to utilize GrubHub rather than ordering in person, and those who do order in person have designated areas to wait for their food. The Offices of Health Promotion and Wellness Services handed out free wellness kits containing a reusable mask, a thermometer and hand sanitizer. Many casual seating areas in buildings like the Student Center have either been blocked off or removed entirely.

On the extracurricular side of things, student organizations have strict regulations that they have to abide by for their events, meetings and even tables on the concourse. All attendees must be wearing masks and have some kind of health screening (whether that's presenting their own "passport" or having organization members check temperatures and symptoms), and attendance must be carefully recorded for contact tracing purposes. Those who choose to hold meetings in person and on campus must get creative, as many meeting rooms have extremely reduced capacity; for example, the largest room in the Student Center other than the ballroom regularly holds more than 75 people, but this semester's max capacity is only 27. Even tabling, an age-old tradition where student orgs set up tables on the main concourse and entice people with free gifts, no longer allows more than two or three representatives to be present, and none of them can walk up to people to hand stuff out; the biggest time for tabling, O-Week, has even been moved to an entirely virtual event.

Unfortunately, even with all these precautions there are still a lot of holes in the plan. Auburn can't control what students do when they're off campus, and several pictures on social media show people packed shoulder to shoulder in the bars downtown. Even on campus, the university can't police every single student; I spent just under an hour walking around campus Tuesday, and even though almost everyone in the buildings was masked, about one in every three or four people outside was not. Groups of unmasked students (some carrying masks but not wearing them, others with nothing at all) would walk right past signs reminding them that face coverings must be worn everywhere on campus, including outside, without a second glance. Fraternities and sororities held their official rushes virtually, but most had some kind of in-person event afterward that was marketed as "unofficial" and "completely optional" with heavy implication to the opposite.

Many people have been speculating on how long the university will stay open before being forced to move to entirely online classes. Some give it a month, others are more generous and say around midterms. Despite the way the situation looks now, perhaps the unruly students will wise up quickly so the rest of us can get the best education we can.

in line. Masks- we are asking you to wear masks. If it is mandated to wear masks, we are going to ask you to wear masks if that's still on in October."

Childers said Kissel will provide additional sanitizing stations while the workers will wipe down each ride after a rider exits. There will be buckets of wipes for guests to use for additional sanitizing when entering and exiting rides and attractions.

"Kissel has worked hard with the State of Alabama to be open and have their carnivals," he said. "Our carnival group will be in Huntsville at the Trash Panda's field starting Aug. 20."

Childers said additional precautions will be taken by Kissel, the Lions Club and other volunteers. They will take temperatures of workers and volunteers as they come in, but there is no plan to take guest's temperatures at the gate. Visitors are asked not to attend if they are sick.

"We are not forcing anybody to come. All of our volunteers have been given the choice and have not been required or pressured to be here," he said.

"That is something we are working through right now is having enough volunteers to have it because we know a lot of our volunteers are the more susceptible group and we are telling them, 'Look, if you don't feel comfortable, don't come.' We are continuing to look for more volunteers that are able to come help us."

There are several other changes the Fair Association has made to minimize the risks of COVID-19.

Childers said, "We aren't going to have any baked goods this year. We are limiting each individual exhibitor to three entries. We have a King and Queen of the Kitchen and they all bring 30-50 items sometimes.

"That's just too many people standing in line trying to get those registered in. We are limiting it to three items per person, however they want to enter them, in our exhibits and agriculture department."

Art and photography projects will also be limited to three entries per person.

Another change is the kids' pumpkin contest. In the past, kids brought their pumpkins on Student Day at the fair. This year, kids can turn them in, like any other exhibit, on the days leading up to the fair.

The pageants are still scheduled to take place, and while seating will not be a concern for the smaller pageants, adjustments will be made for the Fair Queen Pageant.

The Cullman Tribune will be live-streaming the pageants for those who prefer to watch them from home.

Said Childers, "Each Fair Queen will each get so-many seats and they will pass those out for seating (in) the theater."

Activities and events for the livestock barn and arena are scheduled as normal. Peinhardt Farms will bring animals for the guest petting zoo and will adhere to the health guidelines in place at the time of the fair.

In the off season, the Cullman Lions Club has made some improvements that will also make adhering to guidelines easier. The concession stand has been completely renovated. They will no longer serve fountain drinks, but will serve bottled drinks instead. They are also working toward accepting credit cards at the entrance gates and the addition of more entry points to help keep lines smaller.

The Lions Club still plans to have the Fair Parade. It has submitted approval for a parade permit to the Cullman City Council. If approved, the parade is scheduled for Oct. 3.

"Right now, we know the mandates can change on Sept. 1, and if the State of Alabama says we can't have it, we will follow those rules. We aren't going to violate the rules," Childers said.

"I went up and visited Kissel in Florence and they had a good crowd there and they actually said that they have seen their attendance better than it has been in the past at the same location the previous year," he said.

"I haven't seen anything-issues or concerns- coming from those. Probably, just expect some delays and a little longer lines getting on a ride because of the cleaning. It might not be as crowded as it normally is, but there are plenty of times that the fair is not crowded.

"If you want to come to the fair and do the all-days Friday and Saturday, during the day during the weekends and nights during the week, it's not as crowded and you can easily social distance," Childers explained

All-in-One Pass sales begin Sept. 15 at Peoples Bank locations. Opening ceremonies are scheduled for Thursday, Oct. 8 at 5 p.m. More information and the full fair schedule can be found at www.cullmanfair.org.

All proceeds from the fair go to the Cullman Lions Club.

PET OF THE WEEK

Cupid will make you fall in love!

W.C. Mann
craig@cullmantribune.com

CULLMAN COUNTY ANIMAL SHELTER

Cupid

CULLMAN, Ala. – The Cullman County Animal Shelter's Donna Ruttkay shares The Cullman Tribune Pet of the Week.

Cupid is a 4-year-old hound mix. She's a lively-but-not-hyper, medium-energy pet who's skilled on her leash and craves human companionship.

Ruttkay described her as "meek and unassuming," and said that she stands patiently to be bathed and responds well to encouragement. She likes to be told she's a good girl!

The staff thinks that Cupid may not have had much human friendship, but she has really blossomed with a little help. Of the photo she sent, Ruttkay said, "Don't you think she has the most precious and unique face?

"Took days until she was comfortable and then this wonderful expression appeared."

Cupid has the makings of a good therapy, companion or reading dog.

Cupid's adoption fee is $100 which includes: DHLPP vaccine, Bordetella vaccines, rabies vaccine, wormer, general exam at the vet, spaying, microchip, free 30-day health insurance policy issued by 24PetWatch (with valid email only) and a free bag of food from Cullman Pet Depot (you must pay sales tax).

Animal shelter staff and volunteers work with their dogs to make sure they are accustomed to being around people, walking on a leash and practicing good behavior.

Several of the shelter's canine friends have even been "hired" to work as therapy and special needs service dogs.

Please consider adopting, to give a rescued pet a chance at a happy and healthy life.

Contact the Cullman County Animal Shelter at 256-734-5448 or cullmancountyanimalshelter@gmail.com. Visit the shelter at 935 Convent Road NE.
