TRUTH IN NATURE ARCHERY PROGRAM STARTS SEPT. 12

Truth in Nature is an outdoor ministry to fatherless boys

TRUTH IN NATURE

The Cullman Chapter of the nonprofit organization Truth in Nature will begin its archery program this Saturday, Sept. 12.

Christy Perry

CULLMAN, Ala. – The Cullman Chapter of the nonprofit organization Truth in Nature is getting ready to begin its archery program. This Saturday, Sept. 12, mentors will come out to help boys learn the fundamentals of archery. Truth in Nature is a free program for fatherless boys or those from single-parent homes in grades 6-12.

Truth in Nature's mission is "to reach, inspire, support and engage young men from fatherless and single parent homes in understanding their purpose as Christian men and helping break the fatherless cycle in society today."

This Saturday, Cullman Program Director Brian Burchett explained, "They just have to come to our website and sign up and once they do that, we will provide the information about having them there this Saturday."

The day will include learning archery and a fun 3D target competition.

"We will teach the ones who have never shot a bow how to shoot a bow and how to aim, said Burchett. "We have four mentors signed up to help them."

Truth in Nature is located approximately 14 miles west of Cullman on U.S. Highway 278 so it arranges for an easy pick-up and drop-off point near Cullman for convenience.

Burchett said of the boys who have attended the last couple of events, "They are having a blast.

"What we are all about is, our number one goal is to try to lead these boys to the Lord, but we use as our platform is just the outdoor ministry.

"We can teach these boys things they may be missing out on by not having dad at home.

"Whether it be fishing, hunting, archery shooting, hiking and camping- just trying to build bonds with these boys that they might be missing at home and giving them someone to look up to, someone they could turn to if they didn't want to talk with mom about something."

To sign up or learn more about the program, visit www.truthinnature.org or www.facebook.com/TruthInNatureor email brian.burchett@truthinnature.org.

Colony creates local historical society, expands access to accounts for roads

W.C. MANN/THE CULLMAN TRIBUNE

The Colony Town Council is seen Tuesday night, Sept. 8, 2020.

COLONY, Ala. – The Colony Town Council on Tuesday evening voted to extend to the Finance Committee chairman (currently Councilman Melvin Hammond, retiring, and incoming successor Eric Carwell) and Roads and Utilities Committee Chairwoman Ethel Alexander the authority to write checks from and make deposits to the Town's three bank accounts, including an account required by law to be limited to funds and expenditures for roads. Councilman and Mayor-Elect Curtis Johnson objected, saying that the matter should wait until after the new council is seated in November. His was the only vote against the motion.

The council then approved the creation of the Colony Historical Society to be headed up by Alexander, who said the group will seek to preserve community, school and cemetery history, along with African-American family histories and stories from the Colony area, as well as around Cullman, Walker and Blount counties.

Additionally, the group will seek to restore Colony's Mason Hall, the oldest standing structure in the community, and will use a designated space at the Educational Complex as a repository for genealogical records and a small community museum. Alexander said that the group will seek status as a 501(c)(3) nonprofit. The motion passed with Johnson again as the only "no" vote.

The council's last official act of the evening was to pass a unanimous motion to repair potholes and other damage on Wooley Road.

During the work session and during his meeting remarks, Mayor Donnis Leeth congratulated Johnson on his victory in last month's Municipal Election, and said that he looks forward to traveling more and spending more time with his family once he leaves office in November. He added that he will remain a member of the state Black Mayors' Association and serve as its vice president in the coming year, and that he has been asked to serve on a yet unnamed Cullman-area board.

Leeth said, "I'm going to miss doing this job, but God's got something else for me to do."

During the public comment portion of the meeting, Margaret Dimbo and Gwendolyn Purifoy, election officers who engaged in a heated exchange with Leeth at the last council meeting before the election, returned and thanked the outgoing mayor for his four years of service to the town. Leeth thanked them, but added, "You don't mean it."

Advised by Hammond and Councilman Samuel Ashford that "This is not the time," Leeth adjourned the meeting.

From the work session

Council discussion during the work session included:

• Alexander said the town still needs to add more families to its census report, and said she would be glad to help.

• Alexander and Leeth both praised COVID training held in the town earlier Tuesday, with Leeth advising that it is better to get information on COVID-19 from experts than from the media.

• Leeth thanked volunteers from Desperation Church and around the Colony community who came out last Saturday to help with continuing repairs and improvements at the town gym, and noted that another work day will take place the first Saturday in October.

• Town Clerk Patricia Ponder told the council all windows at the Educational Complex have been caulked, and three outside walls have been pressure washed; the front wall is to be done Wednesday.

• Ponder also gave an update on the storm shelter, saying that the facility has been pressure washed inside and out, spiders have been removed and a new contract with Cook's Pest Control should help keep spiders from returning. The shelter's generator is now working, but plumbing problems continue and the dehumidifier is not draining properly.

• The town hall air conditioning is not functioning properly, and Ponder is working with Bama Air to resolve the problem.

• Alexander, as she did at the last meeting before the election, asked the incoming mayor and council members for a statement on plans for the next four years. Johnson gave the only response, declining to answer but saying, "When the time comes, I'll put it out there."

Alexander told the council and audience that her goals include seeing community members work closer together and the creation of special programs to help community children and seniors.

After she spoke, Johnson stated that things that appeared in a paid ad shortly before the election were meant "from the bottom of my heart," though he did not list what those were.

He added that he would not promise the town a particular business (as Leeth had done), but that he will look at any business opportunity that comes along.

The Colony Town Council meets the second and fourth Tuesdays of each month, with a work session at 5 p.m. and regular meeting at 6 p.m. The public is invited to attend.

South Vinemont council passes 2020-2021 budget

SOUTH VINEMONT, Ala. – The South Vinemont Town Council on Tuesday night passed the Town's 2020-2021 budget, with expected expenditures of $549,095.40. Councilwomen Sonya Mabry Adams and Bonnie Goodwin were absent, while incoming council members Chris Thompson and Sonya Copeland were in attendance.

Mayor Radginal Dodson said of the new budget, "It's close. It doesn't change much from last year's."

The council also approved the replacement of a drainage pipe at the sports complex. Recent rains combined with silt runoff have caused drainage problems for the complex, as well as the Shaddix Company property that is currently under construction.

"The silt washed in off the road and covered that pipe up," explained Dodson. "It stopped the 3-foot pipe up and it's 300 foot long."

The mayor said Shaddix will do whatever is necessary to keep debris from washing down to the sports complex, and the Town will replace the pipe for approximately $15,000.

The resurfacing of Tillery Road is expected to begin in October. Traffic delays are expected as motorists will be directed around the workers and equipment. The council-approved resurfacing is estimated to cost $25,000-$30,000.

The pick-up and drop-off lane at Vinemont Schools will soon be widened to three lanes.

The council is hopeful that the widening, funded by the Cullman County Board of Education, will help ease traffic congestion around the school and from cars being backed up on Tillery Road in the mornings and afternoons. Nothing will change on High School Road.

The South Vinemont Trail will soon have a new nine-hole disc golf course for people to enjoy.

The council approved $2,000 for the purchase of the baskets needed to complete the course.

Public Works Director Mike Graves reported that work is scheduled to begin on the new pavilion at the walking trail next week.

Spectators at the sports complex will see new additions for next year's ball season. The council approved the purchase of eight sunshades for the bleachers at each field.

The council will purchase and install the shades as money is available. The cost is $2,000 each.

In other business, the council approved a $200 donation to the American Legion Auxiliary and three payments of $6,641.47 each for a total of $19,925 to the Alabama Municipal Insurance Corporation.

2-part CCSO Firearms Safety Class Sept. 22, 26

wendy@cullmantribune.com

CULLMAN, Ala. – The Cullman County Sheriff's Office (CCSO) will host a two-part Citizens' Firearms Safety Class this month. The classroom portion of the event will take place Tuesday, Sept. 22 at 6 p.m. at Temple Baptist Church, with the live-fire portion the following Saturday, Sept. 26 at 8 a.m. at the CCSO range. The class will focus on safe weapon handling, proper shooting technique, cleaning a weapon and getting familiar with a weapon. A PowerPoint presentation will be shown as well. Citizens who attend the classroom portion of the event will be given the opportunity that night to sign up for the live-fire portion.

"We have had many people call and come by the office the last couple weeks and ask about having a class. We at the Cullman County Sheriff's Office are advocates of our citizens having the knowledge and training they need to protect themselves," said Sheriff Matt Gentry. "I would add that we want them to also know how to handle the weapon safely, and with this free training they are able to gain valuable knowledge in both these areas."

To register, email Deputy Bradley Williams at bwilliams@cullmansheriff.org or call 256-734-0342. Registration is not required, but it is encouraged so the CCSO has an idea how big the classes will be.

Note: Do NOT bring a gun or ammo Tuesday, Sept. 22. This is a classroom portion-only class.

Local teams looking to hit their stride in week 3

Nick Griffin
nick@cullmantribune.com

HOWARD COLE, MARTHA NEEDHAM AND BILL PIPER/THE CULLMAN TRIBUNE

Holly Pond's Landon Perkins (3), Fairview's Parker Martin (9) and West Point's Kobe Bowers (11).

CULLMAN, Ala. – Most local squads were on the road for region openers last week and this Friday night, most of our local teams will be back on their home fields. Hanceville and Arab will both have to hit the road for regional matchups against Dora and Scottsboro respectively but everyone else will be hosting their week three opponents.

(3-0) Cullman v. (1-2) Buckhorn

The Bearcats have gotten off to a great start in 2020. After taking down Grissom in the season opener, Cullman has toppled two of its biggest rivals in Jasper and Hartselle to start things 3-0. The 'Cats defense made it through the first 11 quarters of the season without allowing a single point before Hartselle managed to get on the board in the fourth quarter last week and that unit will have to be ready for a new challenge Friday. Buckhorn is coming to town with a 1-2 record after falling to Madison County and Bob Jones on the road and bouncing back with a big win over Hazel Green last week. Cullman's game plan of running the ball, controlling the clock and playing defense has worked so far this season and you should expect more of the same when the 'Cats meet the Bucks Friday night.

(1-2) Arab at (0-2) Scottsboro

The Knights have endured a pair of tough losses after winning their season opener on the road over Albertville. Arab has been held to just nine and seven points in its last two losses against Guntersville and Fort Payne respectively and the Knights will have to find some offense to turn their momentum around going forward this fall. Scottsboro has started the season 0-2 after dropping games to Madison Academy and Oxford so they'll be hungry for a win when Arab arrives Friday night. It'll take strong performances in all phases for the Knights to keep the Wildcats in check and get back in the win column.

(0-2) West Point v. (2-1) Boaz

West Point is coming off a tight loss to the Lawrence County Red Devils last week and the Warriors are looking for their first win of the season with a talented Boaz squad coming to town this week. The Pirates have knocked off Hayden and Crossville so far this season and their only loss came at the hands of Madison County in overtime. Friday night's matchup will be the region opener for West Point and a win over Boaz would be a great way to flip the early momentum of the season and get region play started on the right foot.

(2-1) Fairview v. (3-0) Douglas

The Aggies suffered their first loss of the season at Guntersville last week and they'll be aiming to bounce back with a win this week when they host Douglas. The Eagles have been stellar defensively so far this season, allowing just 10 points per game. Until the trip to Guntersville last week, Fairview's offense had been rolling but expect the Aggies to respond and find their footing against Douglas Friday night. A win over Douglas would be an important region victory for Fairview and keep the record above .500 with the midseason stretch right around the corner.

(3-0) Good Hope v. (2-1) Haleyville

The Raiders have had their way with West Morgan, West Point and Ashville to start the season 3-0 and they'll aim to extend their win streak Friday night when Haleyville arrives at James W. Shabel Stadium. The Lions won their first two games of the season over Addison and St. John Paul II but picked up their first loss of the year 12-6 at Northside last week. Both Haleyville and Good Hope have been stout on the defensive end through the first three weeks of the season so expect a physical game between these two Friday night in which points will be at a premium.

(1-1) Hanceville at (2-0) Dora

Hanceville is coming off arguably its biggest win of the Cody McCain era last week after defeating Fultondale in Ray Talley Stadium 43-34, but the Bulldogs will have to refocus for a new challenge this week. Hanceville will be on the road this week for another big region showdown with the Bulldogs of Dora. Dora has started its season 2-0 after handling Cordova and Holt in the first two weeks and was off last week, giving them some more time to prepare for Hanceville's arrival. Dora has only allowed 13 points all season so the Hanceville offense will be put to the test on the road Friday night.

(1-2) Vinemont v. (1-2) Carbon Hill

The Eagles are licking their wounds this week after falling to J.B. Pennington on the road this week, but they'll have a chance to bounce back this week when Carbon Hill comes to town. The Bulldogs took their season opener at Curry 48-28 but have dropped back to back games against Cordova and Susan Moore since then. Vinemont has struggled to get points on the board since its season-opening victory over Hanceville but if the Eagles can put a solid performance together on both sides of the ball Friday night, they'll have a good chance to even up their record and get back in the win column.

(1-2) Holly Pond v. (2-0) J.B. Pennington

Holly Pond is returning home after a tough loss at Oakman last week, but the Broncos will have to regroup and get ready for another challenge Friday night. J.B. Pennington is coming to town and the Tigers have hit the ground running in 2020. They've knocked off Vinemont and Oak Grove by a combined score of 88-6 to start the season 2-0 but this week will be their first matchup away from home. Holly Pond fell to J.B. Pennington 34-8 a season ago and this year with a new-look offense, the Broncos will be anxious to repay the favor.

(1-2) Addison v. (1-1) Midfield

Addison took a tough loss in overtime after a long road trip to Aliceville last week. Some calls made late in the game were certainly questioned by the Bulldogs, but they'll have to shake off the loss and prepare to bounce back at home against Midfield Friday night. The Patriots have split a pair of close games with Wenonah and Lamar County to start the season 1-1 and they'll be aiming to get back in the win column against Addison this week. The Bulldogs have picked things up on the offensive end after a tough opening night in week zero and it'll take a great performance this week to finish in front of Midfield. This will be the first time Addison and the Patriots have ever met.

(0-3) Meek v. (0-2) South Lamar

The Meek Tigers are still looking for their first win of the 2020 season and they'll have another opportunity to capture when they host South Lamar Friday night. The Stallions topped Meek at home 62-0 last season but they're off to an 0-2 start this fall and the Tigers are hungry for another shot at South Lamar. Meek has struggled to contain opposing offenses early in the season, but the Tigers have been able to put some points on the board, averaging just under 30 points per game this fall. A win against the Stallions Friday night would be a great first win for Meek and create a big boost of momentum going into the midseason stretch.

HANCEVILLE, Ala. – West Point and Holly Pond traveled to Lane Horton Gymnasium for a tri-match with the Hanceville Lady Bulldogs and the Lady Warriors collected a pair of wins over both squads.

Holly Pond 2 – Hanceville 0 (25-12, 25-9)

Hanceville and Holly Pond squared off in the first match of the evening and the Lady Broncos swept the contest in a pair of sets. Holly Pond built an 8-4 lead early in the first set and stayed in front 11-7 as the match went on. A 7-1 run allowed the Lady Broncos to move in front 18-8 and they pulled away to take the first set 25-12.

Holly Pond jumped out to a 7-2 lead in the second set and pulled ahead 14-5 midway through the set. The run continued for the Lady Broncos who moved in front 18-5 and they held on to win the set 25-9 and sweep the match with Hanceville.

West Point 2 – Holly Pond 0 (25-9, 25-14)

The Lady Warriors jumped out to a 4-1 lead early over Holly Pond and continued to add to their lead as the progressed, pulling ahead 11-3. The Lady Broncos were able to cut into the lead and make it 15-8 but West responded with a 6-0 run to move ahead 21-8 and held on to take the first set 25-9.

The second set was knotted at 2 early but the Lady Warriors used a 5-0 run to go up 7-2. Holly Pond answered with a run of its own to cut the lead to 9-7 but West Point found its rhythm again and moved ahead 19-12 late in the set.

The Lady Warriors pulled ahead 25-14 to sweep the Lady Broncos.

West Point 2 – Hanceville 0 (25-4, 25-10)

West Point held a slim, 3-2 lead early in the first set against Hanceville but tore off an 8-1 run to take an 11-3 lead. The Lady Warriors pulled ahead 15-4 before ending the set on a 10-0 run to win it 25-4 and take a 1-0 lead in the match.

The Lady Bulldogs took a 4-1 lead to get the second set started but West Point was able to bounce back quickly and tie the set at 4. The Lady Warriors pulled ahead 8-4 before stretching their lead to 13-6 midway through the set. West Point wrapped up the second set with a 25-10 win to sweep the match over Hanceville.

NICK GRIFFIN/THE CULLMAN TRIBUNE

West Point will travel to West Mogran Thursday, Hanceville will head to Holly Pond next Thursday and the Lady Broncos will face Cold Springs on the road Thursday.

CULLMAN, Ala. – The Alabama Bicentennial Commission in April announced the Alabama Bicentennial Legacy Awards and Commendations, and the Cullman County Bicentennial Committee was pleased to announce the Wallace State Community College Fine and Performing Arts Department, the Town of Colony and the Cullman County Museum were honored with Commendations.

On Wednesday, bronze plaques were presented to the Town of Colony and the Cullman County Museum. (Wallace State will also receive a plaque.)

The honor recognizes outstanding projects by communities and organizations that were part of the commemoration of the statehood anniversary.

Wallace States Fine and Performing Arts' "Stars Fell on Alabama" Bicentennial Musical Salute toured Europe and featured songs with an Alabama influence, and the special murals the Town of Colony created celebrated their unique heritage as one of the few African-American founded communities in Alabama.

The museum was awarded for its Making Alabama Bicentennial Art Contest and Discovering Our Places Bicentennial Adventure- The Making Alabama Bicentennial Art Contest was in conjunction with the Making Alabama Bicentennial Exhibit hosted by the Evelyn Burrow Museum.

The Discovering Our Places Alabama Bicentennial Adventure was countywide, a project of the Cullman County Museum and Cullman County Bicentennial Committee with financial support provided by the Cullman County Historical Society.

Signs were placed at different historical sites from the Hanceville Drug Company to Good Hope School and the old church in Colony.

"Communities invested time and resources in an amazing range of projects," noted Alabama Bicentennial Commission Chairman Sen. Arthur Orr back in April.

"Our successful Bicentennial celebration owes a real debt to their efforts, especially for projects that will be important to the state, its communities and its citizens for a long time to come."

Awards were given in two categories: Commendations for outstanding Bicentennial programs and projects and Legacy Awards for projects of exceptional and lasting impact.

Forty-one commendations and 21 legacy awards were given, representing more than 40 municipalities in 35 counties.

Projects ranged from celebration events to city murals to preservation and restoration of sites and structures.

Many projects were locally-focused while some were regional or even statewide. Many are especially notable for their long-term relevance and impact.

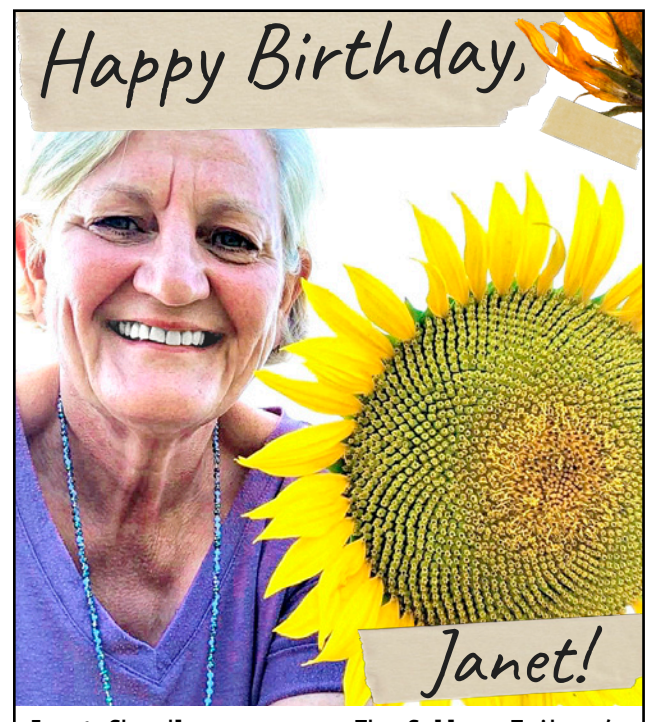

The awards represented every region of the state and ranged from small towns like Mooresville (population 50) and Lillian (population 117) to major metros, including Birmingham, Montgomery and Huntsville. Stand outs include Baldwin County, which pledged to erect more than 50 new historic markers, and Cullman County, which sustained extensive programming over the three-year celebration.

Alabama League of Municipality Communications Director Carrie Banks, who served as co-chair of the Bicentennial Local Activities Committee, noted that "collaboration and partnership were key. Many communities created bicentennial committees, which brought chambers of commerce, public libraries and tourism offices, among others, to the table."

Each winning project will receive a bronze plaque noting the name of the project and its award.

The plaques are a public reminder of the achievements of Alabama communities during the Bicentennial commemoration.

For more information about the Alabama Bicentennial Legacy Awards and the Bicentennial commemoration, visit www.ALABAMA200.org or call 334-242-4537.
