Cullman County Soil and Water Conservation District names Outstanding Business of the Year

CULLMAN, Ala. – Local artisan and merchant Leldon Maxcy recently brought home the 2020 Outstanding Business of the Year award from the Cullman County Soil and Water Conservation District (CCSWCD). Maxcy, who this year opened his own storefront shop in Cullman's Warehouse District, has lent his woodworking expertise to the CCSWCD on numerous occasions.

CCSWCD's Kathy Holmes said, "He has done a lot of awards for the conservation awards and other different awards."

The awards Maxcy has created are crafted from natural materials from local sources.

"He used, for some awards, wood from Vinemont that was like 100 years old," said Holmes. "They really like his groundedness, his hominess and his natural use of things.

"He did some awards in the shape of Alabama and the shape of Cullman. He made some Christmas ornaments that were in the shape of Cullman. Everything is made from wood. For the state's bicentennial, he actually embedded some 1819 coins in some state and Cullman County plaques that he had made."

Due to COVID-19, the CCSWCD award ceremony didn't take place this year, so the award was presented to Maxcy unexpectedly at his shop.

"When they walked in, I wondered, 'What is this?' I was like, 'Oh my gosh! I can't believe that.' I was completely shocked," he said. "I've been working with the Soil and Water Conservation District for the past two years and I do a lot of their awards and special projects for their people.

"I've just developed a great relationship with them. I use a lot of local woods for my things. It's nice working on local projects like that. Especially because they work with the local farmers and others like that. I don't know if you call it giving back, but it's still nice to be able to help."

Cullman Co. man found guilty of attempted murder of sheriff's deputy

CULLMAN COUNTY SHERIFF'S OFFICE

Rodney Deland Looney

W.C. Mann
craig@cullmantribune.com

CULLMAN, Ala. – Early Wednesday afternoon, Rodney Deland Looney, 48, of Cullman County was found guilty of the 2016 attempted murder of Cullman County Sheriff's Office (CCSO) Lt. Rex Sorrow. Looney's mental state was an issue in the trial and could figure into sentencing, though an earlier plea of not guilty by reason of mental disease or defect was withdrawn by the defense.

Looney has a history of arrests for public intoxication and DUI, and was intoxicated at the time of the shooting, according to an eyewitness.

The grand jury's 2017 indictment alleged that Looney "did, with the intent to commit the crime of Murder (Title 13A-6-2(a)(1) of the Code of Alabama) attempt to intentionally cause the death of another person, to-wit: REX SORROW, by SHOOTING AT HIM WITH FIREARM/RIFLE."

According to Magistrate Joan White's report submitted shortly after the incident in 2016, Sorrow responded to a call on County Road 1223 in reference to Rodney Deland Looney shooting his rifle in the front yard of his house.

The defendant's mother Janice Looney called the dispatcher, saying that the defendant was suicidal and intoxicated.

Upon the deputy's arrival in the driveway, Looney's mother urged the dispatcher to tell Sorrow to "back up; he is heading towards the deputy to shoot at him."

The report describes a scene in which Looney was walking toward Sorrow's patrol vehicle when he opened fire, discharging at least three shots from an AR-15 type rifle.

Neither the officer nor his vehicle was hit; Looney's mother, who witnessed the incident, stated that the rounds were fired into the ground, though no bullets were recovered.

Sorrow, taking cover behind his vehicle, repeatedly ordered Looney to stop, and when Looney began advancing faster and raised the rifle again, Sorrow fired two shots, striking the suspect both times. When the suspect went down, Sorrow called 911 and went to the suspect and administered aid until paramedics arrived.

Bodycam video from the scene recorded Looney's mother, who witnessed the incident, telling Sorrow that he had no choice but to shoot the defendant. She repeated that statement later to CCSO Capt. Edward Potter. She also said that she feared her son was attempting "suicide by cop."

As of Wednesday afternoon, a date for sentencing had not been set.

Party (from Front)

Christy Perry
christy@cullmantribune.com

HANCEVILLE, Ala. – This Saturday, Oct. 24, Hanceville's downtown merchants are hosting a block party, and everyone is invited. The event, which will start at 10 a.m. and end at 5 p.m., will have kids' games and activities, live music and goodies. All the shops will be open.

Trinkets and Traditions Owner Valerie Hitt is one of the event's organizers.

"When we found out they canceled Mud Creek (Arts and Crafts Festival)- that was usually a big day for the downtown merchants- so we decided to get together and try to plan something on our own," she said. "We are hoping it will be a great turnout."

There will be a car show from 10 a.m.-1 p.m. on the grassy area at the corner of Bangor Avenue and Blountsville Street. A few vintage cars and a vintage tractor will also be decorated for photo opportunities.

From noon-2 p.m., there will be a fall egg hunt for the kids at Just Repurposed, as well as games and activities throughout the day including a sidewalk chalk area, face painting and pumpkin painting.

Besides serving coffee and hot chocolate, Arise Coffee Co. will be broadcasting Alabama football for those who are worried about missing the game.

Outside the coffee shop, live bands will perform throughout the day.

- 10-11 a.m.- Damascus
- 11:30 a.m.-1 p.m.- Josh Wade
- 1:15-2 p.m.- DEE Washburn & The Hard-Earned Money Band
- 2:30-5 p.m.- Stone Floor Theory

Each merchant will be serving some fall favorites. Hanceville Drug Company will open later for those wanting ice cream or a cherry ice.

Walk in the Dream will be serving chili, Trinkets and Traditions will have lemonade and caramel apples. QDS Boutique will feature a bake sale, and next door at Cafe Tula Taqueria, there will have tamales.

There will be multiple vendors set up as well.

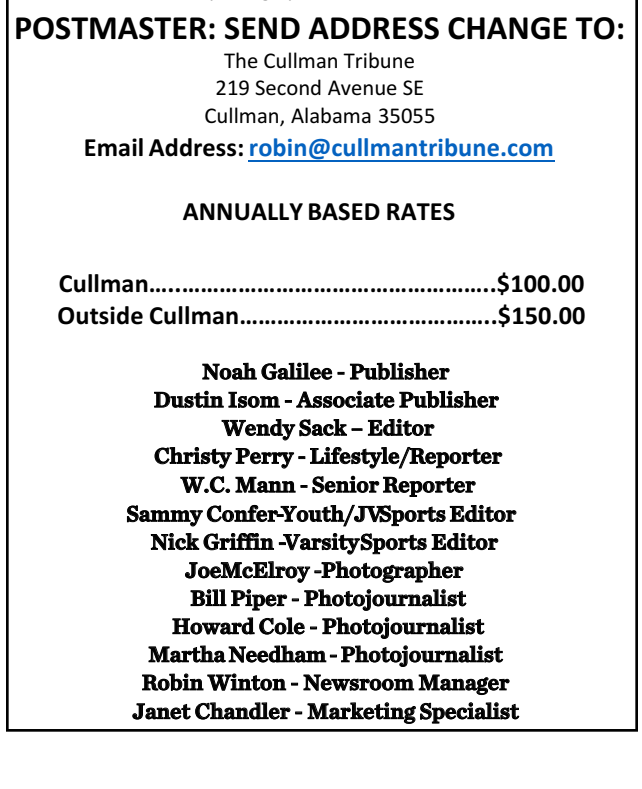

The Mud Creek Marching Festival will be taking place Saturday at Hanceville High School, and the downtown merchants are hoping that many out-of-town guests will visit the block party for some food and fun. To accommodate those attending the marching festival, the downtown merchants will provide transportation from the stadium to downtown, hayride-style.

Said Hitt, "It's not really too far for people to walk, but we will be happy to transport people back and forth on the trailer. If it's a nice day, people can walk down, but we hate for them to lose their parking spot."

AGRICULTURE

Focus on harvest safety this fall

Victoria Dee
Contributor

AUBURN UNIVERSITY, Ala. – Farmers in the Southeast are in the thick of harvest season, making safety more important than ever. Round-the-clock work and pressing time commitments are characteristic of harvest. The stress of these can wear down a person's mental alertness of safety measures. One must think of safety at all times during harvest season.

Danger points

"The first step is identifying where the danger points are," said William Birdsong, an Alabama Extension agronomic crops regional agent. "Consider these points as any moving parts, though some are more dangerous than others."

Birdsong considers power take off (PTO) shafts to be one of the most dangerous of these points. PTO systems operate many different pieces of harvest equipment, emphasizing the importance of safety awareness when around these. The best way to keep safe when using equipment with a PTO shaft is to keep protective guards in place over them.

Machinery safety

Machinery is one of the more daunting aspects of harvest safety and by far one of the most important. By knowing how to stay safe around machinery, the likelihood of accidents during harvest goes down greatly.

Birdsong said turning off machinery while working on it is crucial.

"This prevents the equipment from accidentally getting engaged by someone else or by the machine itself engaging for faulty mechanical reasons," he said.

When working on an implement raised by the lift arms of a tractor, it is important to note that it is being raised by means of hydraulics. Birdsong emphasized to always be mindful of the possibility that hydraulic pumps and cylinders could fail. Therefore, when getting underneath an implement, avoid getting in a tight spot, where it is possible to get trapped underneath the implement.

Another machinery safety tip to remember is not to start the tractor from the ground but from the seat of the tractor itself. This can prevent accidents from occurring in which farmers find themselves in front of a running tractor.

Grain bin safety

One of the most important aspects of grain bin safety is the rule that no one should be allowed in a grain bin or on top of grain without a safety harness and someone spotting with a rope.

"Grain can appear stable and people can think they can walk on it, but too many people have died from failure to adhere such safety rules," Birdsong said.

When working in grain bins, avoid getting near augers that are in operation moving grain. Protective guards should be in place on grain augers to prevent injury. Turn off all augers before trying to clear on or around them.

"One must think safety at all times," Birdsong said.

More information

Pressure from deadlines and progress goals are often characterizing this time of year. Because of this, the worst thing that a farmer can do is get in a hurry. For more information on harvest safety, visit www.aces.edu or contact your county Extension office.

ALABAMA COOPERATIVE EXTENSION SYSTEM

Brooklyn (from Front)

WEST POINT, Ala. – Magnet Paints, located at 310 County Road 1246 in West Point, is a family-owned company that has been manufacturing commercial grade paints and shellac for more than 100 years. Chief Operating Officer Ashlee Stancil-Phillips gave The Tribune a behind the scenes peek at the West Point facility.

Magnet Paint & Shellac Co., Inc. was founded in 1915 in Brooklyn, New York by current President Mike Rosenthal's great-grandfather.

Stancil-Phillips explained, "Then, his grandpa ran it as a hardware store and paint store. That was actually his mom's dad. His mom passed away from cancer, so his dad actually took over the business when he (Rosenthal) was a youngster.

"He didn't know what he wanted to do. He went to school and was taking pottery classes and stuff."

Rosenthal decided that he needed to get serious and began learning the family business of making paint.

Stancil-Phillips continued, "His dad retired and left it to him. We were in New York and we have only been here for about six years now."

The move to West Point, Alabama came as the expense of running a business in New York became greater and greater.

"Our offices were in Amityville and our factory was out in Brooklyn so we would have to go back and forth between making stuff and getting it to us out in Amityville and rent was crazy, said Stancil-Phillips.

"It was so crazy that we paid so much for it and rented the back half out to somebody else just to cover the cost up there."

They realized it was a smart decision to shut everything down and move to Alabama.

The culture shock was felt by Stancil-Phillips when her mom married Rosenthal after they met at a trade show in Birmingham. She moved to New York from Good Hope at the age of 15.

She said, "I homeschooled my last two years because I was intimidated by the school system up there. They took me to show me the high school and I was like, 'NO!'"

Stancil-Phillips describes Rosenthal as the "mad scientist."

"I was my father's son who was in the paint business and I didn't want to work for someone else. I'm creative so I learned all this on my own," he smiled, and said with his thick Brooklyn accent, "I never took a chemistry class in my life.

"I took pottery. I'm good at math. I can do numbers in my head pretty well and it came naturally. I like creating stuff and learning how to formulate."

Moving from New York might have been a huge culture shock for some people, but Rosenthal met his wife 10-15 years prior to moving.

Some of the Southern colloquialisms baffle him, he said, and he keeps a freezer full of New York pizza pies that he has sent down, but otherwise, he enjoys the more relaxed pace of West Point and Cullman County.

Rosenthal also has his father-in-law Frankie Jones helping out at work. Both Jones and Stancil-Phillips are members of the West Point Town Council.

Magnet Paints ships all over the United States. It does industrial and automotive paint as well as DIY bedliners.

"The bedliners, that's one of our main selling products. We have over 68 colors and the only ones on the market that are do-it-yourself and have that many colors," said Stancil-Phillips.

"I like to say that in the do-it-yourself market, we are the best one that is out there because we have so many options. We also try to work with our customers on their needs. He is always working to fit his customer's needs."

Magnet Paints has a wide variety of products from rust paint to acrylic polyurethane enamel to its Monstaliner high-performance roll-on bed liner. For more information, visit www.magnetpaints.com, www.facebook.com/Magnet-Paints-Cullman-Alabama-715063585175380 or www.monstaliner.com.

Several region finales on tap for week 9

Nick Griffin
nick@cullmantribune.com

CULLMAN, Ala. – The regular season is winding down and local teams are almost done hammering out the playoff picture for this year. Several teams are already locked into a postseason position and working to improve their standing within the region this week with their final regional matchups. Holly Pond's rivalry matchup with Vinemont and Good Hope's regional showdown with Oneonta have been moved to Thursday.

(6-2) Cullman v. (6-2) Muscle Shoals

The 'Cats were dealt their first region loss of the season on the road at Athens last week but they can still secure a home game in the opening round of the playoffs with a win over Muscle Shoals Friday night. The Trojans blew out Buckhorn 42-0 last week to improve to 5-1 within region 8. Cullman is currently tied for second place in the region with Muscle Shoals so there will be home field advantage on the line when the two meet at Oliver Woodard Stadium this week.

The Bearcats are the only local team that won't wrap up region play this week. Their matchup with Columbia was postponed until next week so there will be another region game to prepare for after Friday but the showdown with the Trojans will be the biggest of the season so far for the 'Cats.

(4-4) Arab at (3-5) Springville

The Knights took a tough loss at Oxford two weeks ago in their most recent contest, but they've had an off week to refocus and prepare for this week's trip to Springville. With a win over the Tigers, Arab can punch its ticket to the postseason.

Springville has dropped three straight games, including a 63-6 loss at Oxford last week so they'll be anxious to put that one behind them and close the season with a win over the Knights. Arab's running game has been clicking in the second half of the season and if they can continue moving the ball on the ground, they can roll into the postseason with some momentum.

(3-5) West Point at (8-0) Guntersville

The West Point Warriors have managed to shift the momentum of their season and have played their way into a postseason berth after winning three straight region games against Crossville, Sardis and Douglas.

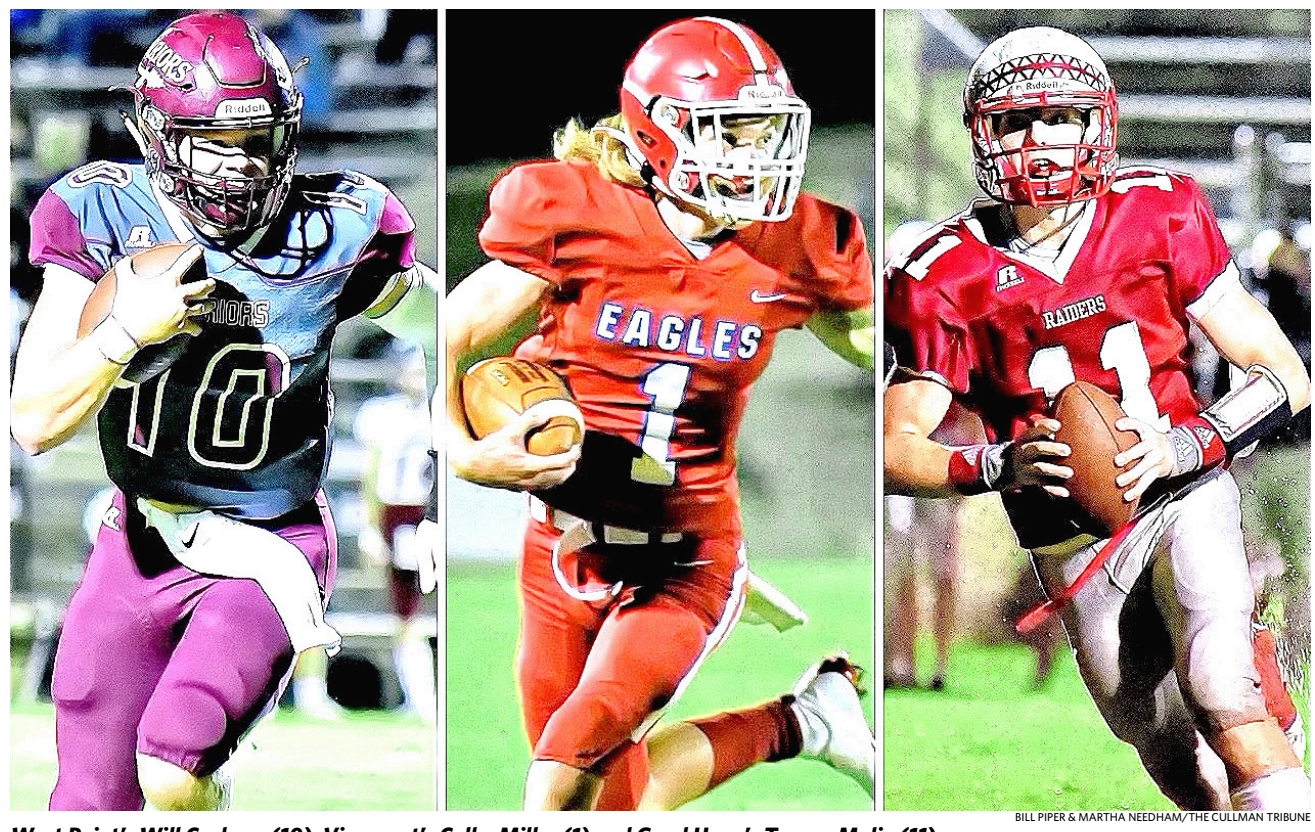

However, they'll have their hands full this week when they travel to Guntersville to take on the top team in the region. The Wildcats are undefeated, have outscored their opponents 347-52 this season and are winning by an average of 42 points each week.

The Warriors have earned their place in the playoffs regardless of this week's outcome but a win over Guntersville would generate a lot of momentum for West Point going forward.

(8-1) Good Hope v. (6-3) Oneonta

Last week was an opportunity for the Raiders to rest up and prepare for this week's game after Dora was forced to forfeit but now, they'll have Oneonta coming to town Thursday night.

The last time Good Hope was on the field, it was at Fultondale collecting a 31-17 win over the Wildcats. The Redskins' last opponent was also Fultondale and they downed the Wildcats 49-21. Good Hope and Oneonta are tied for second place in region 6 so there will be home field advantage up for grabs when the two teams meet Thursday night.

BILL PIPER & MARTHA NEEDHAM/THE CULLMAN TRIBUNE

West Point's Will Cochran (10), Vinemont's Colby Miller (1) and Good Hope's Tanner Malin (11).

(1-7) Hanceville v. (5-3) Section

Hanceville is returning home this week after falling to Ashville on the road last Friday and they have a non-region matchup against Section awaiting them. The Lions have won back to back games over Whitesburg Christian and Pisgah coming into Friday night's contest.

The Bulldogs have fallen out of playoff contention this season but with two more games left on the schedule, they still have an opportunity to finish the year strong and build some momentum going into next season.

(2-7) Holly Pond v. (5-3) Vinemont

The Broncos and Eagles are set to clash in Holly Pond this week and renew their county rivalry. Holly Pond is returning home after suffering a loss at Susan Moore last week while Vinemont is coming off a playoff-clinching, overtime win against Oakman. The Eagles will be playing in the postseason in a couple weeks, but they would love to collect a pair of wins over county rivals to wrap up the regular season. The Broncos defeated Vinemont 36-29 last season so with some momentum behind them, the Eagles will be looking for revenge when they hit the field Thursday night.

(4-4) Cold Springs v. (3-5) Lamar County

Despite falling to Winston County on the road last week, the Cold Springs Eagles still have the chance to play for a postseason berth this week when they face Lamar County. A victory over the Bulldogs Friday night would secure the fourth spot in region 5 and another trip to the playoffs for Cold Springs.

Lamar County has dropped back to back games to Addison and Sulligent coming into this week's matchup, so they'll be aiming to spoil the Eagles' postseason hopes when they meet Friday night.

(5-4) Addison at (2-6) Sulligent

The Bulldogs can secure a home game for the opening round of the playoffs with a win over Sulligent this week after defeating Winston County earlier this season. Addison fell to Hamilton in a non-region contest on the road last week, but they can wrap up the regular season strong with another region win over the Blue Devils Friday night. The Bulldogs have been beaten up all season but after this week's matchup, they'll have a week off to rest up and prepare for the postseason.

(1-7) Meek at (7-1) Berry

Meek will be back on the road Friday night after falling to Pickens County at home last week and this week's matchup may be the toughest yet for the Tigers. After falling to Northside in the season opener, Berry has won its last seven games to climb to the top of the region 6 standings. The postseason may be out of reach for Meek but a win over the Wildcats would be a massive victory for the Tigers late in the season after falling to Berry by just six points a season ago.

Addison, Meek punch tickets to State Tournament at North Regional HUNTSVILLE, Ala. – Three local squads were on the floor at the Von Braun Center in Huntsville Wednesday and two of them punched their tickets to the state tournament in Birmingham next week. Both the Lady Bulldogs of Addison and the Meek Lady Tigers will advance after sweeping Lexington and Holy Spirit Catholic in the opening round respectively. Cullman faced Mountain Brook in its first match of the day and after making a remarkable comeback in the third set to force a fourth, the Lady Spartans pulled away to defeat the Lady Bearcats and knock them out of postseason contention. Meek went on to drop its second match of the day to Donoho while Addison swept past Spring Garden to play for a North Regional Tournament title.

Addison 3 – Lexington 0 (25-11, 25-15, 25-12)

The Lady Bulldogs squared off against Lexington in their first match of the day and got off to a fast start with a sweep of the Lady Golden Bears. Addison built a 6-2 lead early in the first set that grew to 10-5. The Lady Bulldogs stretched their lead to 15-6 midway through the set before pulling ahead 22-9 and eventually earning a 25-11 win in the first set.

Lexington gave Addison more trouble early in the second set. The score was tied at 3 and stayed tied for most of the early part of the set before the Lady Golden Bears managed to take an 8-7 lead. However, the Lady Bulldogs rallied and dominated the rest of the way. They moved in front 14-11 before extending the lead to 18-11 to put the pressure on Lexington. The run continued for Addison and the Lady Bulldogs raced past Lexington take the second set 25-15 and take a 2-0 advantage in the match.

Addison generated another fast start in the third set, jumping out to an 8-2 lead. The Lady Bulldogs were on top 12-3 midway through the third set and made it 16-4 to continue pulling away from the Lady Golden Bears. Addison went on top 19-5 to put the set out of reach for Lexington and the Lady Bulldogs held on to win it 25-12 and earn their spot in the 2A State Volleyball Tournament in Birmingham next week.

Mountain Brook 3 – Cullman 1 (23-25, 13-25, 29-27, 18-25)

The Lady Bearcats met Mountain Brook in their opening round matchup of the North Super Regional and after a very tight first set, the Lady Spartans began to create some separation from Cullman. Both teams spent most of the first set tied. The score was knotted at 4, 7, 10 and 12 before the Lady Bearcats were able to take a 14-12 lead. Mountain Brook would tie things back up at 14 and 16 and the score was locked at 19 late in the set. Both teams were matching point for point to make it a 21-21 set, but the Lady Spartans were able to score four of the next six points to pull away and win a very close opening set 25-23.

Mountain Brook gave Cullman a little more trouble in the second set. The Lady Trojans jumped out to a 7-0 lead to put the Lady Bearcats in a hole early and found themselves on top 13-7 midway through the set. Cullman didn't lay down and managed to cut the lead to 18-13 at one point but the early lead was too much to overcome and Mountain Brook held on to take the next set 25-13.

The third set looked a lot more like the first. Both teams went back and forth early and couldn't much more than a 2 or 3-point lead until the Lady Bearcats used a small run to pull ahead 13-9 midway through the set. However, Mountain Brook was able to come back to tie things up at 13 and eventually moved in front 18-15. The scoring run continued for the Lady Trojans as they pulled ahead 22-18 but Cullman wasn't done yet. The Lady Bearcats rallied and came from behind to tie the set at 25 and force some extra time in the third set. The set remained tied at 26 and then at 27 as neither team could pull away until a serve out of bounds gave Cullman a 1-point lead and a hit after bounds from Mountain Brook followed to give the Lady Bearcats a 29-27 come from behind win to force a fourth set.

Cullman's momentum from late in the third set carried over into the fourth. The Lady Bearcats jumped out to an early 4-1 lead that they eventually stretched out to 11-3. Mountain Brook was able to respond and trim the lead to 12-9 midway through the set and unfortunately for the Cullman fans in the stands, it was time for the Lady Spartans to mount a comeback.

They rallied to tie the score at 17 before pulling ahead to take a 21-18 lead late in the set. The momentum continued to build for Mountain Brook until it secured a 25-18 win in the third set to knock off the Lady Bearcats and advance to next week's state tournament.

Donoho 3 – Meek 0 (16-25, 13-25, 12-25)

The Lady Tigers advanced to face Donoho in their second match of the North Regional after sweeping Holy Spirit Catholic in the opening round. The Lady Falcons provided a little more resistance for Meek. Donoho built an 8-4 lead in the first set that grew to 12-7 as the match went on. The Lady Tigers managed to cut the deficit to 16-12 at one point but a 5-2 scoring run gave the Lady Falcons a 21-14 lead and Donoho pulled away to take the first set 25-16.

Meek and Donoho were knotted at 5 early in the second set but it wasn't long before the Lady Falcons began to create separation. Donoho moved in front 9-7 and continued adding to its lead, pulling ahead 15-8 midway through the match. The lead stretched to 20-12 as the set went on and the Lady Falcons were able to take the second set 25-13 and a 2-0 lead in the match.

Match number three between the Lady Tigers and Lady Falcons was tied at 5 early once again but similar to what happened in the second set, Donoho settled in and began building a lead. The Lady Falcons pulled ahead 13-7 midway through the set and maintained a 15-10 lead as the match went on. Donoho continued to add to its lead, making it 18-10 late in the set before going going to complete the sweep with a 25-12 win.

Meek advanced to play in the North Regional's third place match but it was not completed before press time. Check out cullmantribune.com for an update on the Lady Tigers after their match is concluded.

Addison 3 – Spring Garden 0 (25-22, 25-17, 25-17)

The Lady Bulldogs continued rolling in their second set of the day. They led just 7-5 over Spring Garden early but were able to move in front 16-12 midway through the opening set. Addison held a 20-16 lead late in the set and withstood a late run from the Lady Panthers to win the set 25-22 and take a 1-0 lead.

NICK GRIFFIN/THE CULLMAN TRIBUNE

The Cullman Lady Bearcats fell to Mountain Brook 3-1 Wednesday at the North Regional.

The Lady Bulldogs made short work of Spring Garden in the next set, building an early 9-5 lead that they extended to 13-7 midway through the set. Addison pulled ahead 20-10 to make things tough on the Lady Panthers and the Lady Bulldogs went on to win it 25-17 to move ahead 2-0.

Addison and Spring were tied at 8 early in the third set but the Lady Bulldogs pulled ahead 12-9 to put the pressure back on the other side of the net. Spring Garden responded and continued to trade points with Addison until the Lady Panthers trailed just 18-16 late in the set. However, the Lady Bulldogs were able to maintain their focus and finish the set to collect a 25-17 win and their second sweep of the day.

Addison's North Regional Championship Match was not concluded before press time. Check cullmantribune.com for an update on the Lady Bulldogs when the North Regional Tournament has concluded.

West Point, Fairview and Vinemont will be in action at the North Regional Tournament Thursday.

ADPH: Keep health and safety foremost for Halloween festivities

Karen Landers, M.D.
Contributor

MONTGOMERY, Ala. – Protecting families, friends and communities from contracting and spreading the novel coronavirus COVID-19 is a major concern for Alabama families in 2020. Consistent with Centers for Disease Control and Prevention recommendations, the Alabama Department of Public Health (ADPH) encourages families to find safer, alternative activities to traditional door-to-door trick-or-treating this Halloween.

Persons who have COVID-19 or who have been exposed to someone with the virus should not participate in in-person Halloween activities.

Anyone exposed to COVID-19 within the past 14 days or who is showing symptoms should remain at home.

Of course, people at increased risk of severe illness form COVID-19 should also stay home.

Children can enjoy limited trick-or-treating provided parents assess the risks of each activity, take precautions and carefully supervise.

Adults need to emphasize the importance of consistent hand hygiene, proper mask wearing and social distancing where people can remain 6 feet apart or more. Avoiding large, crowded groups is important.

Weigh the risks and consider alternative ways to celebrate. The main indicator for limiting the risk of COVID-19 spread in the community is the number of days a county has a downward trend of new cases.

Your county's current risk level can be found on the ADPH COVID-19 Risk Indicator Dashboard. Halloween activities are grouped according to the following risk levels:

Higher risk
- Traditional door-to-door trick-or-treating with shared candy bowls
- Trunk-or-treating events
- Crowded indoor events such as haunted houses and costume contests

Moderate risk
- No-touch trick-or-treating (such as candy chutes)
- Goodie bags placed outside for pickup
- Outdoor, distanced costume parade
- Outdoor, distanced movie night

Lower risk
- Pumpkin carving at home with family
- Outdoor, distanced pumpkin carving with friends
- Decorating at home
- Outdoor scavenger hunt in neighborhood
- Virtual costume contest
- Movie night with family

Traditional injury prevention and health precautions for Halloween trick-or-treating hold true in 2020. As always, responsible adult supervision is key with trick-or-treating.

Safety measures to take beforehand, during and after trick-or-treating include the following:
- Be sure costumes, wigs and accessories are flame-resistant.
- Wear protective face coverings made up of two or more layers of breathable fabric instead of a costume mask. Face coverings can be decorated with themes, too.
- Add reflective tape to costumes.
- Do not wear decorative contact lenses; they can cause eye injuries.
- Be careful to prevent accidental cuts when carving pumpkins.
- Make sure walking areas and stairs are well-lit and free of obstacles.
- Never walk near lit candles or luminaries and avoid distraction from electronic devices.
- Keep candle-lit jack-o'-lanterns away from doorsteps, walkways, landings and curtains.
- Prepare grab-and-go goodie bags for no touch pickup outside.
- Consider providing non-food treats such as crayons and coloring books.
- Examine treats for choking hazards before allowing them to be consumed; limit the amount of sugary and sticky candies consumed.

Go to cdc.gov/coronavirus/2019-ncov/daily-life-coping/holidays.html for additional recommendations.
