Stash House Properties to open phase one of new bar and grill before June 1

Christy Perry
christy@cullmantribune.com

GOOD HOPE, Ala. – Stash House Properties LLC is one step closer to opening their bar and grille at the former Cotton Gin. Owners Preston Prewett and Pat "Kat Daddy" Watson were present at the Good Hope City Council meeting Monday night as the council approved the licenses allowing Stash House to sell beer, wine and liquor.

Prewett explained to the council that the Stash House will open in phases. He said, "it will be a distillery, brewery, restaurant and music venue. We will be opening in phases because of our equipment. It's taking some time for it to get here." Phase one will be the opening of the restaurant and bar. The brewery and distillery side will come later as it can be manufactured, which has been slowed due to the pandemic."

Watson, who owns Kat Daddy's barbecue and Roosters Corner, will be focusing on the grille side of Stash House. He said, "I'm really excited to come to Good Hope with my partner, Preston. I'm really excited to bring a much needed » PAGE 6

Mythology comes alive at East Elementary School's 'Gallery Walk'

CULLMAN CITY SCHOOLS

East Elementary School students tour the "Gallery Walk" to learn more about The Odyssey and mythology.

Cullman City Schools

CULLMAN, Ala. – A recent art project reached across history — and grade levels — at East Elementary School, as sixth graders brought their study of The Odyssey to life with a "Gallery Walk" which fourth graders were able to explore.

Sixth grade teacher Laura Tokar gave her students a project in which they used text, images, video and illustrations to bring scenes from the epic poem The Odyssey to life.

The sixth grade students have been reading Gillian Cross' adaptation of Homer's epic tale The Odyssey, about a hero who overcomes many trials and hardships, such as a shipwreck and an encounter with a Cyclops, on his journey home.

That reading project coincided with a fourth grade study of mythology, and the idea for the "Gallery Walk" on the shared topic was born.

Tokar teamed up with fourth grade teacher Lindsey Howard, who had her students tour the illustrations and works created by the sixth graders and took note of their inferences of the pieces.

Some students also used iPads to record their explanations of the illustrations to include with the artwork as a way to incorporate technology and mixed media. The illustrations were safely spaced to encourage social distancing.

"We collaborated to have students practice application of speaking and listening goals within a small group while making inferences and applying connections from what they had studied to the text," Tokar explained. "The students loved it! My sixth grade students have even asked if they can take a walk to see the work completed by peers in other homeroom classes. My daughter is a fourth grade student. After participating in the gallery walk, she told me she can't wait to read The Odyssey when she is a sixth grader."

The "Gallery Walk" was such a success, the teachers plan to make it an annual event as a new way to bring the stories they're studying to life for students at both grade levels.

COVID-19 funeral assistance

As a result of the Coronavirus Response and Relief Supplemental Appropriations Act and the American Rescue Plan Act, the Federal Emergency Management Agency (FEMA) will provide financial assistance for funeral costs specifically related to COVID-19. Funeral expenses will be reimbursed up to a maximum amount of $9,000 per decedent for funeral expenses incurred after January 20, 2020. Applicants must submit all required documentation before FEMA will award funeral assistance (death certificate indicating death was caused COVID-19, proof of funeral expenses and insurance or other funeral benefits). Beginning April 12, 2021, individuals can call FEMA at 1-844-684-6333 once they have all information and documentation ready to send. For more information, visit www.fema.gov/disasters/coronavirus/economic/funeral-assistance.

Hale County National Guard COVID-19 vaccination clinic rescheduled for April 15

The Hale County National Guard COVID-19 vaccination clinic that was cancelled in March due to inclement weather conditions has been rescheduled for April 15. The site will be located at the Boys and Girls Club (Old National Guard Armory), 515 Greene Street, Greensboro, AL 36744. The vaccination site will be open from 9:00 a.m. – 5:00 p.m. (CT). The Johnson & Johnson vaccine will be given at this location, which will not require a second dose at a later date.

Johnson & Johnson one-dose vaccine available at National Guard second-dose clinics

Second dose Alabama National Guard clinics will begin on April 13, rotating through the counties that have already been visited for Pfizer primary doses. The second dose clinics will also have 200 doses of the Johnson & Johnson vaccine available for anyone who has not received any vaccine. Johnson & Johnson is a single-dose vaccine, so no second dose clinics will be required for those who receive it.

National Guard COVID-19 vaccination clinic update

The Alabama National Guard continues rotating through 24 rural counties to provide primary COVID-19 vaccinations. A total of 9,387 vaccinations have been given in under-served and rural counties throughout the state during the vaccine clinics that started on March 23. Clinic information ordered by date of first dose can be found at www.alabamapublichealth.gov/covid19vaccine/ng-clinics.html. The website also includes flyers to promote each clinic and vaccination forms that can be reviewed and completed prior to receiving a vaccination. Persons are asked to check the link frequently as locations are subject to change due to inclement weather or unforeseen logistical issues.

COVID-19 vaccine age requirements – only Pfizer vaccine currently authorized for ages 16-18

As vaccine eligibility expanded on April 5 to include all Alabamians 16 and older, it is important to note that Pfizer has the only COVID-19 vaccine currently approved for persons age 16-17. Currently, our county health departments are giving the Moderna vaccine. Other providers, such as hospitals and some pharmacies, are administering the Pfizer and Johnson & Johnson vaccine. The Johnson & Johnson and Moderna vaccines are currently not authorized for those under 18 years of age. If you are 16 or 17 years of age, please be sure to check which vaccine the provider is offering before scheduling your appointment. Vaccine can be searched by brand at www.vaccinefinder.org. ADPH is working to include county health departments on the Vaccine Finder website, and encourages all vaccine providers in the state to add the information for their facilities.

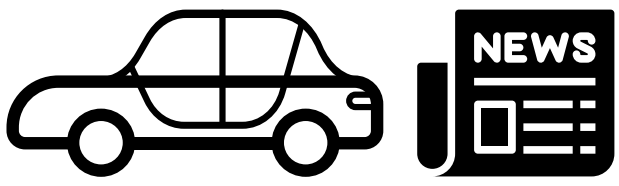

Alabama continues to prioritize vulnerable populations

When Alabama allocates vaccine doses, a prime consideration is reaching those who are most vulnerable if exposed to the virus. The Alabama Department of Public Health (ADPH) targets our most vulnerable citizens for COVID-19 vaccinations. ADPH uses the CDC Social Vulnerability Index to help ensure those people living in the more disadvantaged counties are covered, yet some barriers remain. These include lack of transportation, inability to complete forms and difficulty in locating vaccination sites. ADPH is working with community groups to assist those who wish to be vaccinated but are having problems with access.

Hanceville's Campbell signs with Huntingdon

Cassidy Campbell is joined by her family as she signs a basketball scholarship to Huntingdon at Hanceville High School Monday.

HANCEVILLE, Ala. – Hanceville High School's Lane Horton Gymnasium was packed with family, friends, teammates, classmates, coaches and more Monday to celebrate the achievements of another standout athlete. This time it was Cassidy Campbell taking the next step in her academic and athletic career as she signed a basketball scholarship to play for the Huntingdon Hawks and Head Coach Paige Huff.

Campbell racked up over 1,000 points and 1,000 rebounds in her Lady Bulldogs career, but Hanceville Head Coach Tim Bellmon didn't hesitate when asked what stands out the most about Cassidy on the court.

"I've said several times that she's probably been one of the best leaders I've coached in the 27 or 28 years I've been doing this. Also, her ability to adapt I think is what's going to make her a much better college basketball player," Bellmon said.

"Her ability to pick things up and understand them and learn them. We had a lot of young girls playing around here this year, so she had to take on a bigger role and she flourished in that role. That's the reason we're here today and why she has an opportunity to play at the next level."

Bellmon believes he's seen Campbell establish a new standard in the Lady Bulldogs' program going forward after the leadership, effort and production she displayed in her playing career.

"I think that she has set a standard for the younger girls. Our mindset changed from the middle of the season to the end of the season to now," Bellmon said.

"Now we understand what we have to do to be successful and she's been a big part of that."

Cassidy felt very comfortable with the players and coaches when she got the chance to visit Huntingdon and was drawn to the welcoming atmosphere of the program.

"When I went there, they were just very welcoming. Their players were very welcoming, their coaches were welcoming, and it really felt like home away from home. It didn't feel different from being here around people I already knew," Campbell said. "Coach (Tim) Bellmon is the one that actually helped me get in contact with them and they seemed like they really wanted me, and it just really made me feel like that's where I wanted to go.

"They stood out from some of the other places I visited because they seemed really committed and serious about wanting me and caring about me on a personal level so that was one of the big reasons."

Campbell's playing style on the court has been defined by her intensity and leadership for the past several years and Cassidy says that's the only way she knows how to do it.

"Honestly, I don't know any other way to play, that's just how I am. It's not always something that I'm intentionally aware of I guess but it's really important to me because someone has to be that person. Not just for your own success but for your team's success," Campbell said. "It's nice to know that your teammates are looking up to you and they'll do what you do so if you do the right things, they'll do the right things."

Cassidy has lived her entire life in Hanceville and loves the people she's grown up with in her community but she's excited for the chance to build new relationships in a new place.

"I don't know anything other than Hanceville so I'm definitely going to miss it. I've been here my whole life and the relationships I have with people here are ones that I've built over the last 18 years that I've been here. I'm really going to miss Coach Bellmon and Coach Josh because if I didn't have them then I wouldn't have gotten to the next level," Campbell said.

"I'm definitely going to miss the girls and miss coach and I'm just going to miss this school in general and just having that comfortable feeling of being here.

"But that's another reason I'm looking forward to being there because I think I can have that with them too so I'm looking forward to making new relationships with them."

Fairview's Manasco signs with Wallace State

FAIRVIEW, Ala. – Friday was another special day at Fairview High School as another Aggies standout signed a scholarship to continue their athletic career at the next level. Daisy Manasco officially signed to play for the Wallace State Lady Lions and is leaving behind a lot of friends, memories and some school records. Manasco racked up 1,871 kills in her four years at Fairview, setting a new school record and helped lead the Lady Aggies to the state tournament three years in a row.

Fairview Head Coach Tracy Means has seen Daisy's impact on the court for the last four years and knows that Wallace is adding another big piece to its already successful program.

"She's been a huge part of it, she's been a key player since the ninth grade. You have players as ninth graders that come in and play a little bit, but she's been a huge impact every year and a big part of our success these past four years," Means said.

"Getting a scholarship is huge but I have one other thing I wanted to give her. During the season I'm not really as worried about stats, y'all know I'm more about the Ws and Ls, but I finally got the stats together and I went back and added up her kills. Daisy Manasco has 1,871 career kills and that's a school record."

Manasco has gotten used to winning in her time with the Lady Aggies so she's excited to join a program that has won its conference title 11 of the last 12 seasons.

"I'm very excited and very honored to get that chance to go play there considering they've won so many conference titles," Manasco said. "I hope that when I get there we can continue to carry on the tradition. I'm excited, I think its going to be a lot of fun."

Daisy is going to miss her days playing at Fairview and the friends she made along the way but she's also looking forward to hitting the court at Wallace and getting her career underway with the Lady Lions.

"I will miss my teammates and all the practices and all the memories we made together but I'm also very excited to make new memories with new teammates."

Cullman's Crider signs with Lurleen B. Wallace

Nick Griffin

CULLMAN, Ala. – Friends, family, teammates and coaches all gathered in Cullman High School's Tillman Hall Friday afternoon to celebrate another Bearcat standout taking the next step of their athletic and academic career. Callie Crider is the latest Bearcat to sign an athletic scholarship and hers will be taking her to Lurleen B. Wallace Community College in Andalusia to play for head coach Janie Wiggins and the Saints' volleyball team.

Crider put up some impressive numbers in her prep career to catch the eye of college scouts and earn this opportunity.

Callie posted 1,721 kills, 322 blocks, 257 aces and 156 digs in high school and plans to add to those numbers once she hits the court for the Saints.

Cullman Head Coach Meagan Cagle is not only excited to see Callie take advantage of a great opportunity but is excited for what her signing means for the Bearcats program as well.

"This is the first girl that I've had sign, but she is also the first girl from Cullman to ever sign a scholarship for volleyball. So, this is a really big deal," Cagle said.

"I've got three seniors and all three of them are signing and then for next year I already have a few girls that are getting looked at so we're getting ready and rolling and I'm super excited."

Callie became an impact player for the 'Cats almost as soon as she arrived, and Cagle was proud to see her step into an important role for some big moments.

"She came in and really helped, we had a girl get hurt in the middle and she really came in and really stepped up for us," Cagle said.

"She had some big games in the area tournament and at regionals, so we've definitely been proud to have her."

Callie is looking forward to competing at the next level and knows that she'll miss her teammates and coaches at Cullman but she's ready to see what her career with the Saints has in store.

"I really like the coach and then I went and toured their college and really liked it there too. I've met some of the girls on the team and I really liked them so I'm looking forward to it," Crider said.

"I'm going to miss the people here and my coaches but I'm also ready to play in college just to get that new experience."

Cullman mayor proclaims Public Safety Telecommunicators Week

Leanna West
City of Cullman

CULLMAN, Ala. – Cullman Mayor Woody Jacobs has proclaimed the week of April 11-17, 2021, National Public Safety Telecommunicators Week in the City of Cullman. Each year, the second full week in April is dedicated to those men and women who serve as our first and most critical contact with emergency services.

"Our public safety telecommunicators work hard to ensure that police, fire and emergency medical personnel are able to quickly and safely respond to calls for help," said Mayor Jacobs. "Our emergency responders rely on them in order to do their jobs quickly and safety, and our citizens rely on them to send the help they need in times of distress."

Across the United States, the first access point for those seeking all classes of emergency services is 911. The Cullman County E-9-1-1 Emergency Service System was adopted over 30 years ago, with the first 911 call being taken in June 1991. The public safety telecommunicators who receive these 911 calls are the first and single point of contact for persons seeking immediate relief during an emergency situation. They are highly trained and very skilled in multi-tasking. They must operate multiple radio systems while obtaining pertinent information from callers and relaying that information to police, fire and medical responders.

The men and women who work as public safety telecommunicators understand that seconds save lives and that time lost in the dispatching process cannot be made up by emergency responders.

However, public safety telecommunicators now face many new challenges. For example, today over 90% of 911 calls are from cellular devices rather than landline phones. Unlike landline calls, calls placed from cell phones do not automatically give public safety telecommunicators the actual address a call is being placed from, which is the most important information needed in order to send help. Locally, Cullman's steady increases in population and tourism have resulted in a much higher call volume and a greater demand for resources than in the past.

"In order to handle increased call volume, a fourth dispatching console was recently added and new radio equipment was purchased with the assistance of a grant approved by the Cullman County 911 Board," said Cullman Fire Rescue's Jeff Shelton, who supervises the City of Cullman's emergency dispatch office. "The new equipment also has enhanced capabilities to provide effective backup locations for other dispatch centers."

Mayor Jacobs thanked the Cullman County E-9-1-1 Board for pursuing the grant that made the purchase of this new equipment possible. Mayor also thanked Jeff Shelton and Cullman Fire Rescue for making sure that the City of Cullman's public safety telecommunicators have the equipment and support necessary to continue to provide excellent emergency dispatching services.

"I appreciate all of the people who perform this vital service in our community," said Mayor Jacobs. "It's not an easy job. It is often stressful and very complex. But our public safety telecommunicators are invaluable to us all, and that's why I'm proud to issue this proclamation to honor them for the great job they so."

restaurant."

The plan is to offer a blue-plate style lunch, as well as a diverse dinner menu. "We'll try to do some things on Saturday and Sunday for brunch."

According to Watson, Stash House hopes to open its doors sometime before June 1 with Phase Two being several months away.

The new convenience store planned on County Road 222 has been bid and construction will begin soon.

Mayor Jerry Bartlett said that the goal is to have the store open in time to serve the Rock the South crowds. "It's very very nice inside and out. It's going to be a very nice convenience store," Bartlett said.

Gibb's Garden Center will celebrate with a ribbon cutting on Friday April 23 at 10 a.m. followed with their grand opening on Saturday. Bartlett said, "I've been out there a couple of times and that place is absolutely covered up. Their people are just very nice and friendly. It's going to be a tremendous asset."

The council also approved a resolution that would give current Tier Two employees the same benefits as Tier One employees at an increased cost of approximately $5,000 annually to the City of Good Hope.

The Sizzlin' Seniors will meet Tuesday April 13 at Good Hope City Hall's basement. Lunch is provided as well as great activities and games.

The Good Hope City Council meets the second and fourth Monday night of every month. The public is invited to attend.

Law (from Front)

W.C. Mann
craig@cullmantribune.com

CULLMAN, Ala. – Recently-passed Alabama House Bill 308 (HB308), the Alabama Uniform Concealed Carry Permit Act, makes changes to the way pistol permits are issued in the state of Alabama, including the creation of a lifetime permit and the allocation of a portion of permit fees to the Alabama Law Enforcement Agency (ALEA).

The new law will:

• Require ALEA to create a statewide "prohibited person" database that can be accessed by local government, law enforcement and court officials to determine a person's eligibility for the issuance or renewal of a Concealed Carry Permit

• Set a uniform statewide annual permit fee of $25

• Make available a one-time lifetime permit for $300, or $150 if the applicant is over 60

• Require a background check on all lifetime permit holders every five years

• Allow local sheriffs to accept payment for permits electronically

• Provide for free permits, including lifetime permits, to service members, honorably discharged veterans and retired law enforcement officers who meet qualifications for a permit

• Allocate 80% of permit fees to local sheriffs to operate the permit program and "other law enforcement purposes"

• Allocate 20% of permit fees to ALEA to maintain the prohibited person database and "other law enforcement purposes"

Among the Cullman area legislative delegation, Sen. Garlan Gudger and Rep. Randall Shedd voted against the bill, while Rep. Corey Harbison and Rep. Scott Stadhagen abstained from voting.

Sheriff Matt Gentry opposes certain parts of the new law, and has called for a state constitutional amendment that would exempt Cullman County.

Gentry issued this statement Monday:
"From the time I was elected sheriff until now I always tried to be up front with the citizens about law enforcement issues concerning Cullman County and particularly, any that would affect their tax dollars. That is why I worked with Rep. Corey Harbison in 2018 to let the people vote and they changed, for the better, the way we manage inmate meal money.

That is why when I saw the Alabama Legislature pass SB 308, also called Alabama Uniform Concealed Carry Permit Act, I asked our local delegation to draft a local constitution amendment that Cullman County Citizens could vote on.

SB 308 has several things in this legislation that I do not think are good for the citizens of Cullman County. It will require a statewide database for 'prohibited persons.' I believe this database could be used by the state or others to have access to personal information of lawful gun owners.

It will also require citizens to pay $300 for a lifetime permit even if they can't afford one. It raises the age to get a permit from 18-years-old to 19-years-old, and also send a portion of our citizens' tax dollars to Montgomery.

This is why I asked Rep. Corey Harbison, a former deputy sheriff, to introduce (a) local Constitution Amendment in the House (HB607) to be voted on by the citizens of Cullman County.

"In addition to HB 607, Senator Garlan Gudger will be dropping a mirrored senate bill to HB607, which would allow citizens to give a donation for a permit if they wished too; otherwise, the permit would be free to the citizen. Cullman County will also NOT send its citizens personal information to the statewide database.

"An 18-years-old would also still be able to request a permit and, in the event Constitutional Carry were passed, this local bill would (be) nullified.

As Sheriff of Cullman County, it's my number one priority to keep the citizens safe. I firmly believe by passing this local Constitution Amendment that is what we would be doing."

House Bill 607
The synopsis statement attached to HB607 reads:

"This bill would propose an amendment to the Constitution of Alabama of 1901 relating to Cullman County, to provide that the sheriff may not charge any fee to a resident of the county for issuance, renewal or replacement of any pistol permit.

"The amendment would allow an applicant for a pistol permit, at time of application, to make a donation to the sheriff's office. The donations would be deposited into a discretionary fund for use by the sheriff for law enforcement purposes.

"The amendment would also provide that the Sheriff of Cullman County shall not be required to send any person any information relating to pistol permits or persons prohibited from possession of a firearm, with exceptions."

The exceptions mentioned at the end of the synopsis include reports "required by federal law or court order."

This is a developing story.

CULLMAN, Ala. – The Cullman City Council Monday evening paved the way for new development and expansion on the city's southwest side with a collection of resolutions and ordinances to support infrastructure improvements and new facilities.

The council approved the issuance of $29,085,000 in bonds to provide funding for the new civic center complex and a major addition to the "Wild Water" water park at the Cullman Wellness and Aquatic Center (CWAC). It authorized the Mayor to contract with Weber Group and Aquatic Development Group for the water park addition, along with a separate resolution authorizing the Mayor to contract with Proslide Technology, Inc. for a multi-tiered waterslide complex tower with a canopy and children's slide complex area to incorporate with the addition.

With Mayor Woody Jacobs noting that new and improved facilities would bring increased traffic to that part of town, the council approved a resolution to enter into a funding and construction agreement with ALDOT for resurfacing and traffic striping of West Main Avenue Southwest all the way from Highway 278 to Highway 69 (Cherokee Avenue).

City financial audit approved; no issues found
The council received and approved a clean 2020 financial audit from Warren Averett CPAs and advisors, noting no negative findings.

Sewer and water codes purchases approved
The council passed resolutions to adopt standards for the construction of sanitary sewer systems and water distribution systems which, according to Luke Satterfield, will create uniform standards for all construction in the city.

In unrelated resolutions, the council award a bid for sewer pipe to Consolidated Pipe & Supply Co., in the amount of $47,424, and approved a change order to Pipeworks Plus, Inc. in the amount of $16,150 for previously uncontracted costs to improve sanitary sewer cleanouts at Nesmith Park.

Special events
The council approved special events requests:

• from Tommie Sanders of Wellstone-Cullman for a De-stress Fest at Depot Park from 11 a.m. until 2 p.m. Saturday, May 15, 2021.

• from Andrew Spratlin of the United States Army for a block party and food truck rally with Army aviation simulators, the Army Band and a DJ in the vacant parking lot behind Buffalo Wild Wings from noon until 7 p.m. June 4 and 5, 2021. City Attorney Roy Williams noted that the permit will cover noise and that Spratlin must get separate permission for use of the site since it is private property.

• from Christy Turner of Cullman City Parks of Recreation to hold the annual Strawberry Festival in the Downtown Special Events District May 1, 2021.

• from Wesley Moore of the City of Cullman to hold the 2021 AHSAA State Track Meet at Cullman High School beginning April 30 2021, and ending on May 1, 2021.

Fair Housing proclamation
The council approved a proclamation by Mayor Jacobs marking the 53rd anniversary of the 1968 Fair Housing Act:

WHEREAS April 11, 2021 marks the 53nd Anniversary of the passage of the United States Fair Housing Law, Title VIII of the Civil Rights Act of 1968, which enunciated a National Policy of fair housing without regard to race, color, religion, sex and national origin; and

WHEREAS the effective implementation of the National Policy depends on affirmative action at all levels of Government;

NOW, THEREFORE, the City of Cullman does hereby proclaim the month of April 2021 as Fair Housing Month in recognition of the importance of fair housing to our way of life, and I urge our citizens to obey the letter and the spirit of the Fair Housing Law as an expression of the individual rights guaranteed by the United States Constitution.

The Cullman City Council meets at 7 p.m. on the second and fourth Mondays of each month in the City Hall auditorium. The public is invited to attend.

FAIRVIEW, Ala. – Sunday evening, Alabama State Troopers and Cullman County Sheriff's Office worked together to stop a fleeing driver in the Fairview area.

"On Sunday, April 11, Alabama State Troopers initiated a vehicle pursuit on a motorcycle, traveling in the Fairview area. Cullman County Sheriff's Office deputies assisted in the pursuit which ended in the Fairview community," said Sheriff Gentry following the chase. "There is one person in custody at this time."

According to the department, Cullman County deputies made the arrest following the pursuit.

Stephen Loyd Harbison, 40, of Cullman, was charged with:

• Possession of Dangerous Drugs - Methamphetamine
• Possession of Marijuana - 2nd degree
• Possession of Drug Paraphernalia
• Attempting to Elude

CULLMAN, Ala. – The Cullman County Animal Shelter's Donna Ruttkay shares the Cullman Tribune Pet of the Week:

Dandy is a 1.5-year-old Lab/Terrier mix. He's a lively-but-not-hyper, medium-energy pet whom Ruttkay calls a "gentleman on his leash."

He craves human company and all kinds of activities with his people. He's a fan of doggie toys and balls, and enjoys the refreshing water of the kiddie pool on warm afternoons.

Ruttkay said, "Dandy is a bright and mighty friend!"

Dandy has the makings of a good companion, hiking or reading dog.

Dandy's adoption fee is $100 which includes DHLPP vaccine, Bordetella vaccines, rabies vaccine, wormer, general exam at the vet, neutering, microchip, free 30-day health insurance policy issued by 24PetWatch (with valid email only) and a free bag of food from Cullman Pet Depot (you must pay sales tax).

Animal shelter staff and volunteers work with their dogs to make sure they are accustomed to being around people, walking on a leash and practicing good behavior.

Several of the shelter's canine friends have even been "hired" to work as therapy and special needs service dogs.

Please consider adopting to give a rescued pet a chance at a happy and healthy life.

Wallace State Jazz Band presenting Big Band Dance April 16

Gail Crutchfield
Wallace State

HANCEVILLE, Ala. – The Wallace State Jazz Band is proud to announce the return of its Big Band Dance Friday, April 16 at the Burrow Center for the Fine and Performing Arts. "Unfortunately, we had to cancel last year's event due to the pandemic," said Ricky Burks, director of the Wallace State Jazz Band and chair of the Fine and Performing Arts program at Wallace State. "We are excited to be able to host the dance again and welcome anyone who wants to dance or just sit and listen to the music." Along with the traditional dance tunes of the Big Band Era, waltzes, rumbas and the like, guests will also get to hear a tune composed by current Wallace State student Chandler Ogles. A dual enrollment student from Corner High School, Ogles was inspired to write "9 O' Clock Rush (Waiting on a Train) by fellow band member Chad Tenney of Eva. Tenney is sometimes late to practice, it's said, because he has to wait on a train to clear the tracks on his way school.

Another feature of this year's Jazz Band is the all-female saxophone section. "We haven't had an all-female saxophone section since 1996," Burks said. The concert will be held at 7 p.m. in the atrium of the Burrow Center for the Fine and Performing Arts. Suggested admission to the event is a $10 donation. The Jazz Band is one of several ensembles in the Fine and Performing Arts program. Instrumental ensembles also include the Concert Band, Pep Band, Saxophone Quartet and Brass Ensemble.

Vocal ensembles include the Concert Choir, Wallace State Singers and Vocal Jazz Ensemble.Other offerings include Wallace State Dance's Allegro Dance Theatre and Wallace State Theatre. Scholarships are available to students in the Fine and Performing Arts program. The Wallace State Singers will be hosting auditions May 1 at 9 a.m. at the Burrow Center. For more information about the Fine and Performing Arts program, contact Burks at 256-352-8287 or ricky.burks@wallacestate.edu, or visit www.wallacestate.edu/fpa.
