Five names added to Cullman WW1 memorial after Tribune reporter discovers forgotten warriors

CULLMAN, Ala. – Following World War I, Cullman County's citizens followed the widely-practiced and time-honored tradition of inscribing the names of their fallen warriors in stone, on a memorial now located in Veterans Park at Sportsman Lake in Cullman. However, recent research has shown that they missed a few.

When reading up on the stories of Cullman's soldiers in "The Great War," Tribune reporter Christy Perry discovered five Cullman County soldiers who lost their lives in service to their country, but were overlooked when the memorial went up. Using archival and online resources unavailable decades ago, she found their homes, communities and stories.

Perry said, "Remembering the brave men and women who have fought and died for our country is something I am very passionate about. I wanted to put faces and stories to the names on the memorials at Cullman's Veterans Park and share them in the Cullman Tribune. I began researching the names of those on the World War I memorial and soon discovered names of men from Cullman County who died during the war, yet their names were not inscribed.

COVID-19 vaccine is recommended for everyone 12 years and older Children 12 years and older are now eligible to get vaccinated against COVID-19. Since May 10, 4,543 patients ages 12-15 in Alabama have received vaccinations with the Pfizer-BioNTech COVID-19 Vaccine. Pfizer is currently the only vaccine available to children and adolescents up to age 18. According to the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention, studies show that COVID-19 vaccines are safe and effective in preventing children from getting COVID-19. Like adults, children may have some side effects after COVID-19 vaccination. While these side effects may affect their ability to do daily activities, they should only last a few days. COVID-19 vaccines have been used under the most intensive safety monitoring in U.S. history, including studies in children 12 years and older. Children cannot get COVID-19 from any COVID-19 vaccine. Although fewer children have been sick with COVID-19 compared to adults, children can be infected with the virus that causes COVID-19, can get sick from COVID-19, and can spread the virus that causes COVID-19 to others. Getting your child vaccinated helps to protect your child and your family.

Music (from Front)

ashlyn@cullmantribune.com

CULLMAN, Ala. – While live music may have been a staple for many before the pandemic hit, it has certainly dwindled to a crawl over the past year, but as many places are reopening throughout Cullman, the lights of many our old favorite venues are beginning to flicker on once more. With the big and booming Rock the South booked into August, let us look on a smaller, more comfortable scale for those who might not be too antsy to jump into a huge crowd just yet.

Are you looking for live music and dinner? Maybe just a fun evening with your family? Do you enjoy karaoke? No matter what your taste in music, there is no doubt that music makes us all feel better. With the present being as difficult as it is for some, we could all use a little cheering up. Dreher's, which is right here in downtown Cullman, has live music as often as possible--but at least once a week--and is only a short walk from Moe's BBQ, another excellent locale for live music.

Even more than this, they offer karaoke on Thursday nights, as does Valley Tavern, located at Cullman Bowling Center, on Tuesdays. There is such a great selection of places and venues throughout our ever-growing town!

Music's ability to take us away to another place truly can change any atmosphere you are in, any emotion you may be feeling, a memory you feel like slipping into again. It is pure magic and seems to provide us with permission to let go and live in this moment for as long as the song may last.

It surrounds us, embraces us and invigorates us. With the upcoming arrival of a long-awaited, much missed favorite, Second Fridays, let us enjoy this sense of community. It is what brings us together with the power to make us feel alive. So let us stop and listen to the music, if but only for a while.

VINEMONT HIGH SCHOOL

CLASS OF 2021

Graduation is Sunday, May 23, at 2 p.m. at Wallace State Community College Coliseum

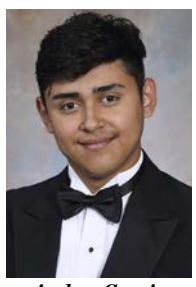

"Congratulations to the Vinemont High School Class of 2021. As you have learned in the past two years, nothing is as certain as change. Your educational experience has been one of the most unique of any American generation in decades. You have been required to adapt mandates and changes in our common school experience in ways that were counterintuitive at best, but you have done so with a steady determination to make the most out of your educational experience. While the future is certainly unpredictable, we believe that your success is a virtual certainty. You have been better prepared for life in many ways than those who have come before you. You have available more information than any other individual that has ever lived. There are more industries and career opportunities than have ever existed. The most significant difference we have seen in you is your spirit. You have in you that great American spirit that leads you to say, "If not me, who?" We have seen it since you were a freshman. You have that leader's spirit that can only be harnessed by the few that believe in themselves, their God, and their Country. We at Vinemont High School are proud of your accomplishments and the way that you have represented our school. We expect you to continue to represent our school and community with honor and grace. Your future truly is whatever you make of it. We expect great things from the class of 2021."

MOVING ON! UAB advances to NCAA Nationals with remarkable comeback

Ted Feeley
UAB Athletics

NOBLESVILLE, Ind. – It was an unbelievable sight on Wednesday at The Sagamore Club as the UAB men's golf team engineered a miraculous comeback to finish fifth at the NCAA Noblesville Regional and earned a berth into NCAA Nationals.

UAB entered the final round in eighth place and 11 strokes outside of fifth place, which is the cutoff to make Nationals. The Blazers turned in the lowest round of the entire tournament by shooting 275 (-13) and finished at -5 overall, four strokes ahead of North Florida for the final bid into Nationals.

"I couldn't be more proud of how our guys dug deep today," said head coach Mike Wilson. "They never gave up on themselves and held their composure down the stretch when it mattered most. Our guys left it all on the course and they earned their way into NCAA Nationals."

Despite a rough first wo rounds for Nick Robillard and Ethan Hagood, it was those two who played hero on Wednesday as each shot a five under 67 (-5) to lead the comeback.

Hagood was on fire all day as he carded seven birdies and an eagle in his round. Robillard was right behind him with six birdies and an eagle.

UAB came out of the gates on fire by recording 15 birdies on the front nine.

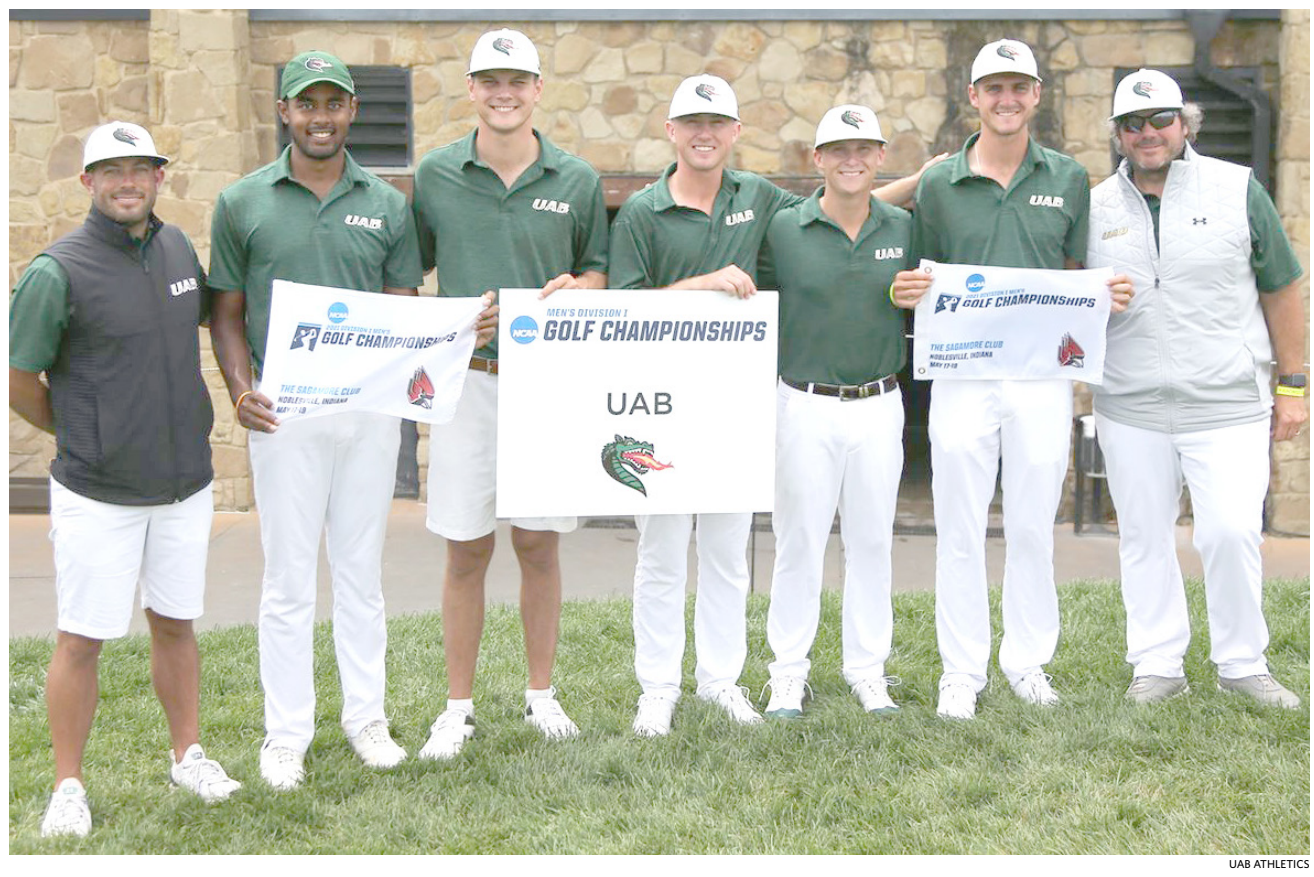

As the comeback continued, the Blazers found themselves tied with North Florida at -6 with two holes to play.

Solid play down the stretch from UAB, along with UNF carding a few bogeys on the final hole gave UAB the fifth-place finish.

UAB (-5) joins Texas (-20), Tennessee (-15), North Carolina (-15) and Louisville (-10) who advanced to Nationals from the Noblesville Regional.

Drew Mathers (75-70-69 = 214, -2) led the Blazers with a 16th place finish. Khavish Varadan was UAB's second finisher at even par (74-70-72 = 216) and tied for 23rd overall.

William Walker III (71-73-74 = 218, +2) tied for 31st overall. Hagood's round of 67 moved him up 22 spots and into a tie for 38th (76-77-67 = 220, +4), while Robillard's 67 moved him up 20 places as he finished tied for 42nd (79-75-67 = 221, +5).

UAB ATHLETICS

UAB came from behind at the Sagamore Club Wednesday to earn a berth at this year's NCAA Nationals.

The Blazers are one of 30 teams to advance to NCAA Nationals which is hosted by Arizona State in Tempe from May 28-June 2.

Carlton Martial named No. 3 returning linebacker in the country

Adam Prendergast
Troy Athletics

TROY, Ala. – Troy junior linebacker, and former walk-on, Carlton Martial was named the nation's No. 3 returning linebacker for the 2021 season by industry leader Pro Football Focus. Martial led the country in tackles last season and his combined tackle total for the 2019 and 2020 seasons is also tops nationally.

A native of Mobile, Ala., Martial, who checks in at 5-foot-9, recorded 113 tackles in 2020 and has 239 tackles since the start of the 2019 season. He finished 2020 with 10.0 tackles for loss and was one of just nine players nationally to rank in the top 50 in both tackles and tackles for loss. Martial broke up a trio of passes and intercepted Coastal's Grayson McCall (one of just two on the year) to set up a late go-ahead score for the Trojans in the season finale.

In 2019, he was named to the PFF All-America Second Team and became just the 12th player and first underclassman in the last 20 years at the FBS level to finish a season with at least 100 tackles, 15 tackles for loss and three interceptions.

He closed the year with 126 tackles, the most by a Troy player since 2000, and 18.5 tackles for loss, the fifth most in a season in Troy history, and three picks.

Martial was the only player in the country to rank in the top eight nationally in tackles (10.5) and tackles for loss per game (1.54).

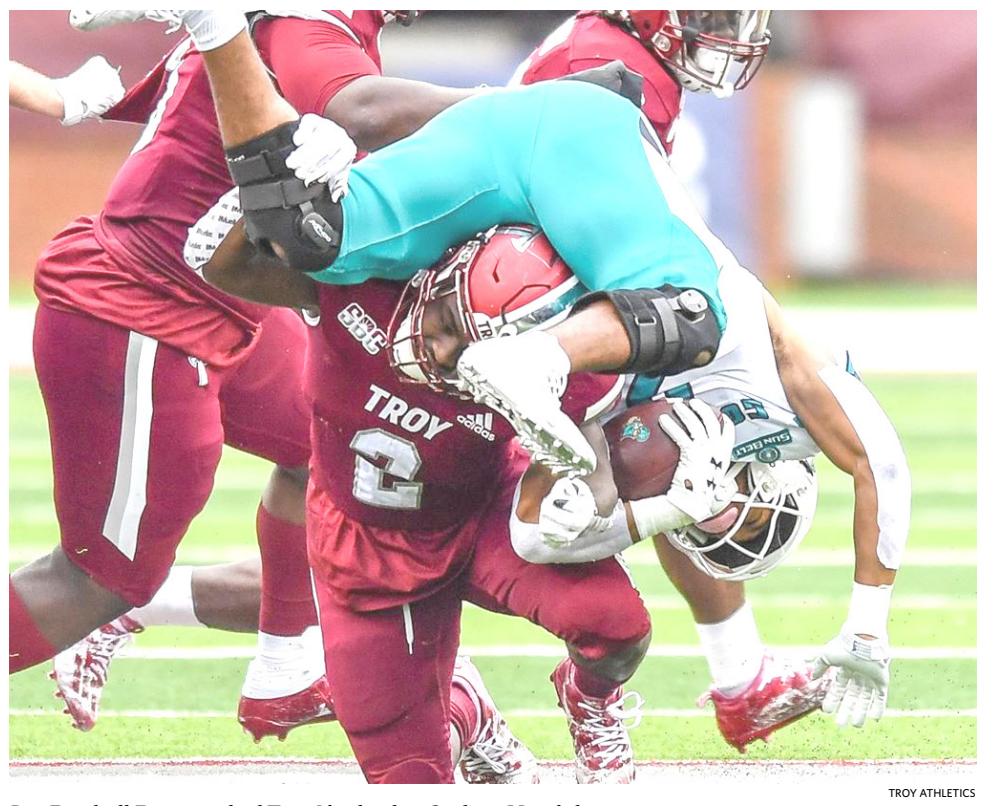

Martial has twice been named to the All-Sun Belt First Team and was a semi-finalist for the Burlsworth Trophy in 2020, which is presented to the nation's top player who began his career as a walk-on.

PFF on Carlton

Martial walked on for the Troy Trojans in 2017, made his first start in 2018 and has since been in the conversation for the best off-ball linebacker in the Group of Five. He's on the smaller end, standing at 5-foot-9 and 216 pounds, but that hasn't held him back.

Martial posted PFF grades of 90.9, 91.3 and 82.4 in his three years on the field. He has accumulated 159 defensive stops in that span, the most among all FBS off-ball linebackers.

While the lowest-graded season of his career came in 2020, that 82.4 mark was still good enough to rank 12th in the FBS. And over his last six games, he was college football's highest-graded off-ball linebacker.

TROY ATHLETICS

Pro Football Focus ranked Troy Linebacker Carlton Martial as the no. 3 returning linebacker for the 2021 season.

Auburn fights for SEC Tournament berth at Missouri

George Nunnelley
AU Athletics

AUBURN, Ala. – Auburn enters the final weekend of the regular season and its series at Missouri looking to clinch a spot in the Southeastern Conference Baseball Tournament.

First pitches between the two teams at Taylor Stadium in Columbia, Missouri, are scheduled for Thursday and Friday at 6:30 p.m. CT and Saturday at 2 p.m.

"It's good to know what we have to do," senior lefty Jack Owen said.

"We have to win a series, so we're going to try to do just that. We know what we have to do, now all we have to do it execute."

All three contests will be broadcast on the Auburn Sports Network and are available for streaming on SEC Network+.

Probably starters

• Thursday – Sr. LHP Jack Owen (1-4, 5.26) vs. Jr. RHP Jacob Kush (2-2, 4.68 ERA)

• Friday – Jr. RHP Richard Fitts (0-3, 7.29) vs. R-So. RHP Seth Halvorsen (4-2, 6.47 ERA)

• Saturday – TBA vs. TBA

Quick hitters

• Auburn is coming off back-to-back wins and has won four of the last six games.

• The Tigers will clinch the No. 12 seed in the SEC Tournament with a series sweep or a series win as long as Texas A&M doesn't sweep LSU at home.

• Auburn has homered in seven of the last eight games, totaling 19 homers during the span.

• The Tigers rank second in the SEC and fifth in the country with 81 home runs.

• The 81 home runs are the fifth most in a season in program history and the most since 2010.

• Tyler Miller reclaimed the SEC RBI lead with his 17th multi-RBI game Tuesday. His 58 RBI are fourth in the country and the second most by an Auburn player since 2010.

• Auburn's bullpen is 3-1 with a 2.82 ERA and 28 strikeouts in 22.1 IP in the last four games.

• This weekend marks Auburn first road trip since winning two of three at Georgia (4/29-5/1).

SHANNA LOCKWOOD/AU ATHLETICS

Auburn will be playing for an SEC Tournament berth at Missouri this weekend

• Auburn is 4-8 in conference road games this season but is 3-3 in the last six road contests.

• This weekend is Auburn's third trip to Columbia, Missouri, including its first since 2016.

Scouting the Tigers

• Missouri enters the weekend with a 14-34 overall record and is a game behind both Auburn and Texas A&M with a 7-20 mark in league play.

• The Tigers are coming off a series win at No. 3 Mississippi State.

• Missouri is hitting .241 as a team and is led by Andrew Keefer's .307 clip. Keefer left last weekend's series in Starkville with an injury.

• The Tigers' pitching staff ranks last in the SEC in ERA (7.28) and strikeouts (387)

couldn't sleep that night from wondering how to fix this innocent oversight.

"The next morning, knowing he was veteran, I called Commissioner Garry Marchman and told him what I had found.

"The Cullman County Commission had recently created a three-member Veterans Park Board and I was asked to call Ken Brown, chairperson of that board. I called and sent him all the information I had on Mr. Brazil. Brown was extremely helpful and began working on having the name added to the monument.

"The only problem with that is the front of the monument has no more room, so the name would be added to the other side.

"I thought it was sad for Brazil to be the only name on the back side of the monument, but it sure beat not being on there at all.

"That night, as my fiancé and I began to research more into those lost during the first World War, we soon discovered more names. Before the night was over, we found 10 more men who would potentially need to be added to the memorial.

"That was not a message Brown was prepared to get but, again, he knew the monument needed to be correct."

The couple sifted through draft cards, Gold Star cards (based on awards given to families of fallen soldiers), old newspaper articles and genealogy websites to find as much information as possible.

Said Perry, "It was easy to understand how these men were inadvertently overlooked. Records from over 100 years ago can be difficult to gather and many of these men listed their rural locations rather than listing Cullman County on paperwork."

After their findings were presented to the Veterans Park Board, it was determined that five names would be added:

- Fritz Galin of Welti
- John Boyd of Arkadelphia
- Clyde G. Brazil of Bremen
- Merritt E. Carlisle of Loretto
- William C. Reighley of Cullman

The names have been added to the monument, and the men will be honored at this year's Memorial Day Ceremony, Saturday, May 29, at Cullman's Veterans Park. This year's ceremony will be hosted by the American Legion Post 4, and Perry has been asked to speak about the five soldiers.

Perry noted, "This is a special year in that the bodies of those returning from Europe arrived in 1921, although the war ended on November 11, 1918."

Volunteers (from Front)

CULLMAN, Ala. – Cullman Area Technology Academy health science students recently had the opportunity to assist at COVID-19 vaccination clinics. The Cullman County Health Department reached out to CATA in early January, asking if students would be willing to come. CATA and the health department have a great working relationship, most recently with the drive-thru flu vaccination clinics.

After planning for one of the largest vaccine drives in history, this historic event showed us that seasoned healthcare workers, educators, and other professionals were no different than those just entering the workforce, no one had experience with a pandemic.

The one thing that was desperately needed of everyone was to be flexible and work as a team while showing grace to those who were "in the trenches" to ensure that our community could return to a sense of normalcy.

This was accomplished with:

- 43 volunteers
- All Cullman County Schools represented
- 956 community service hours from January 18 - April 14

Without the support of Dr. Shane Barnette, Cullman County superintendent, Mr. Billy Troutman, CATA director and the guardians of the CATA Health Science students, this volunteer opportunity would not have been possible.

Student volunteers were asked to assist patients with completing paperwork, checking temperatures, sanitizing clipboards, helping patients navigate through the vaccine process, translating when needed, registering patients, observing patients post-vaccination and maintaining supply levels for items needed daily. During the first week of the Covid vaccine clinics, there were 5-7 second and third-year health science students present daily.

These specific students were chosen to go during this first week because they had some knowledge/experience with clinical/observation sites and the expectations without the need for an instructor to be present.

At the end of the first week, there was a greater understanding of the magnitude that volunteering at these clinics would have on the students.

Their excitement for serving their community and helping with a historic event further solidified their goals of working in healthcare.

Alondra Lopez is a second-year sophomore in the program who attends Hanceville High. "I feel like I have more insight on how the health field works and all of the ways that you should handle patients," said Lopez.

"We were always working and doing, so (that) has helped me learn that the more you work, the more you get accomplished." Both Lopez and classmate Ashley Herrera volunteered more than 40 hours during the first week of the clinic. Herrera lost a grandfather and aunt to COVID, so seeing the relief of so many newly vaccinated patients brought comfort to her. "All the patients that came through the clinic would tell me that they were so happy that they could get the vaccine and that they could finally leave their house," said Herrera. "Losing my grandfather and aunt to COVID was something that I never expected or never imagined, but I knew that they (are) sending me this opportunity so I could help out my community."

In the following weeks, health science instructors opened this opportunity to all interested health science students. Both Adriann Basch and Tracy Smith were with all first-year students on their first volunteer day to ensure that they felt comfortable and knew what was expected.

Once comfortable, students could then schedule volunteer days independently. This experience proved to be beneficial for everyone involved. Students learned the flow of the clinic and were able to assist with maintaining a flow that was helpful for both the patients and the medical staff.

One appreciative parent took the time to email the CATA instructors about her experience after bringing her son, who has Down Syndrome, to get a vaccine at one of the clinics.

"They were very professional from the time the sweet girl greeted us until we had to wait for them to observe us. I seriously thought they were college nursing students because of how mature, friendly and professional they acted."

The students were also recognized at the state level, with an appreciative letter from the Alabama Department of Public Health.

"The majority of the volunteer hours were completed by 9th and 10th-grade students, which meant family members had to be willing to drive them to and from the health department," said Tracy Smith, one of the CATA Health Science instructors. "This not only speaks highly of our students, but their families."

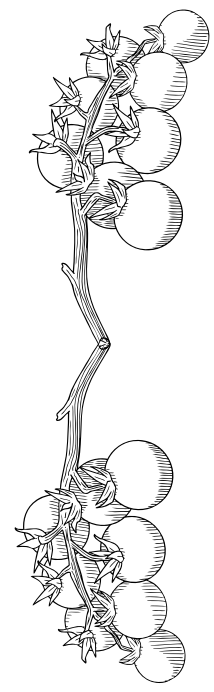

This opportunity came at a perfect time to fulfill the desire many had to help those in our community. The fact that Cullman County CATA Health Science students ages 14-18 were able to assist with a historic event that will shape their healthcare careers is undoubtedly one of the happier stories to come out of this pandemic. We look forward to many more opportunities to help our community agencies in the future.

If you or your agency would like to have CATA Health Science students assist with your events, feel free to call and speak with instructors at 256-734-7740.

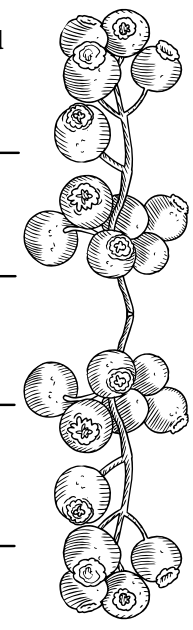

Cullman County Schools is proud of these students who volunteered to make a difference in the middle of a pandemic.

GOOD HOPE HIGH SCHOOL

CLASS OF 2021

Graduation is Saturday, May 22, at 2 p.m. at Wallace State Community College

"They have persevered. The 2021 Good Hope High School senior class has survived a pandemic and all that came along with that pandemic. They have worn masks, been quarantined, had remote, hybrid, and virtual school, and they have stories to tell for years to come. This class has overcome and has grown because of it. They are an outstanding group, and the 2021 senior class of Good Hope High School will be greatly missed."

COVID-19 (from Front)

christy@cullmantribune.com

With so many COVID-19 restrictions being lifted and more and more people being vaccinated, folks are finally able to return to their normal activities. The Tribune stopped by the Farmer's Market Thursday morning to chat with people about what they thought the hardest thing about the past year has been, and what they are relieved to be doing once again. Here is what they had to say.

Keith Smith - Gold Ridge
"Having the COVID virus-that was the worst part of all of it. I spent one day in the hospital and took the infusion and came home. Continue to get better, but this was the worst crap I've ever had in my life. It was like having sinus, asthma, COVID, flu and I just felt terrible. Our whole family had it. One of the worst things about it was having it, plus not being able to see my grandkids because we were flat quarantined for two weeks."

"I'm over it and I am vaccinated, and I'm not worried about it very much. A lot of people didn't take this stuff for serious, but they should have. My advice to anybody about the vaccine--I would take it!"

Betty Voigt - Hanceville
"The worst was not being able to go anywhere and not being able to go to church. I love my church, but you know, you gotta do what you gotta do."

"Now I get to go to church, farmer's market and get out and about. I get to see my neighbors and my grandchildren. That's most of my activities."

Arnold Caylor - Cullman
"Not being able to do your normal routine. We pretty well stayed put during the worst of it.

"The only time would be when we would go to the grocery store and some places we had to go. Not having day-to-day interaction with people. That was probably the worst part."

"The best part now is seeing people get around and getting out and about. I still wear my mask if I go to Wal-Mart or somewhere like that. If I am out in the open, I don't. I am vaccinated now. Seeing more businesses open--it was tough on the small businesses and restaurants and the people who work at restaurants. I think people are more aware of their local farmers and local businesses now."

Dinah "Gypsy" Wisinger - Hanceville
"The hardest was when my great-grandson got the virus. He was 11 months old and he was sick but he never had to go to the hospital.

"I had two great-grandchildren born last year and it bothered me like the dickens to not being able to go to the hospital when they were born. I sat in the car in the parking lot."

"The second hardest was having to stay home all the time in the beginning. The third hardest was having to wear a mask. I got vaccinated just to keep from wearing a mask.

"We were worried about everybody getting it and prayed every morning. I hated being in quarantine. I do all of this to keep busy and I didn't want to sit at home and get stiff.

"Going to a restaurant, taking the babies to the park and taking them to the market--pretty much, besides that--I did what I wanted to do. I wore my mask because I was supposed to.

Nancy Howze Scott - Cullman
"The hardest part of last year was not being able to substitute teach at Cullman Middle and Cullman High School! I missed the interaction with the students desperately!! The students inspire, motivate and energize me!! It was delightful to return to school mid-March!

"During the months at home, there was sooo much uncertainty...how long is this going to last?? Will I ever have a normal life again?? Now I do NOT take anything for granted; the joy of seeing the sparkle in my students' eyes and the smiles on their faces, eating inside a restaurant. HUGS!! I am a huge 'hugger' and felt terribly restricted!! Not being able to invite my family, grandchildren and friends inside my home."

"My greatest joy and the 'thing' that kept me occupied and happy was getting a new cocker spaniel puppy, Buttercup! I secretly wanted a puppy for several years!

"Suddenly, I had plenty of time to train a puppy and spend quality time with her. We walked every day, took long drives, had every meal together and became best friends!"

MONTGOMERY, Ala. – As summer approaches, the Alabama Department of Labor is reminding employers of the regulations associated with employing teen workers. As many businesses struggle to find a sufficient number of employees, some may turn to teen workers to help fill the gap.

Hiring teens can be beneficial for both the employer and the worker.

Part-time or summer jobs can provide teens with great opportunities for learning important life skills and acquiring hands-on experience, while at the same time allowing teens to earn spending money.

Businesses can fill short-time seasonal jobs with workers who are only available for a limited period and can provide training to workers.

"It's no secret that employers have struggled to fill jobs this year and as summer approaches, that struggle will likely grow.

"Now that school is almost out, teen workers may be part of the answer," said ADOL Secretary Fitzgerald Washington.

According to 12-month Current Population Survey data, labor force participation rates are rising for the 16-19 age group.

• April 2017 – March 2018 = 29.5%

• April 2018 – March 2019 = 31.7%

• April 2019 – March 2020 = 32.1%

• April 2020 – March 2021 = 36.9%

The number of child labor certificates issued has also increased over the past two years, with a total of 16,789 certificates issued in 2020, compared to 12,538 in 2019.

2021 is currently on track to match or exceed 2020s numbers, with 6,645 certificates issued through May 19, 2021.

"While teen workers are a valuable part of our economy, we also have a responsibility to ensure that they are working safely, and that employers are following applicable laws.

"Sometimes there are misperceptions as to what sorts of jobs teens can legally do, and we'd like to make sure that employers are aware of Alabama's Child Labor laws," continued Washington.

Teens may work at age 14 in Alabama. Employers who want to hire teens aged 14-17 must obtain a Child Labor Certificate from ADOL.

The certificates can be found online at https://labor.alabama.gov/.

One certificate allows a business to employ as many teens as they need for an entire year.

The employer should have ready access to a government issued proof of age (driver's license, learner's permit, birth certificate, student ID, or any other city, county, state or federal document).

The employer should also document where the teen goes to school.

ADOL has an Employee Information Form that can be helpful in maintaining this information, also on the ADOL website.

Teens aged 14 or 15 are required to have been in regular attendance and making satisfactory grades in school.

They may obtain a statement of Eligibility to Work from their public school.

Private and homeschool students may print the form from https://labor.alabama.gov/.

Agricultural work is exempt from the Alabama Child Labor Law.

Teens of any age may engage in work outside of formal employment such as babysitting, lawn mowing, tutoring, computer programming and even lemonade stands.

ADOL does not cover work that a teen performs at their own home.

Additional rules for employing teens:

• 14 and 15-year-olds should not work in connection within any manufacturing or mechanical establishment, cannery, mill, workshop, warehouse or machine shop.

• 14 and 15-year-olds should not work in the building trades unless they are the immediate family of the contractor and their work involves nonhazardous duties.

• 14 and 15-year-olds should not work where alcohol is consumed on premises unless they are the children of the owner or operator.

• No one under 18 should work on or in connection with roofing operations.

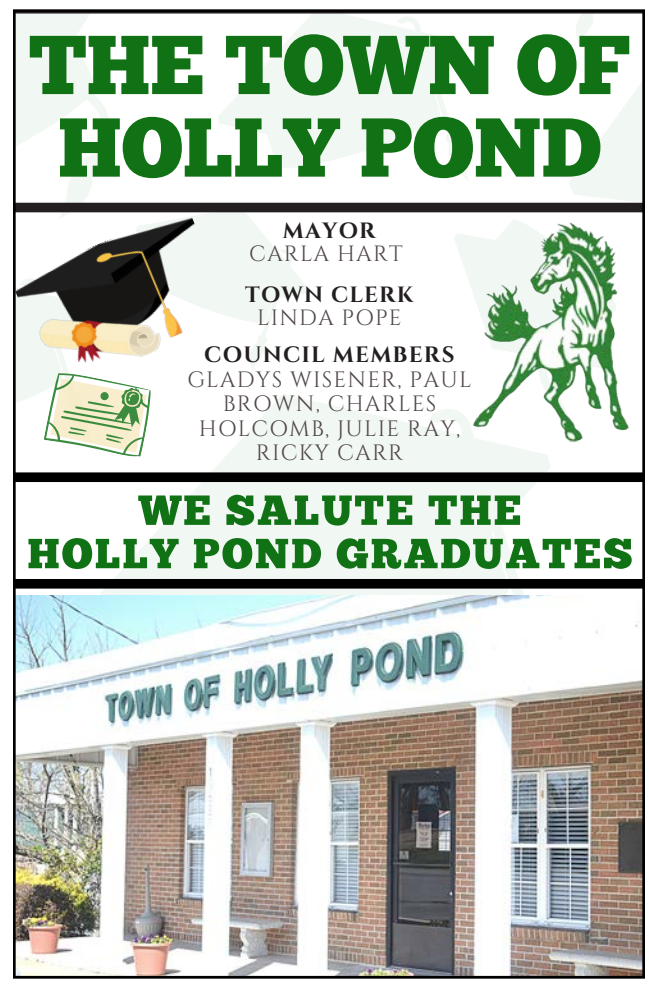

• No one under 18 should operate power driven woodworking, metal cutting or industrial bakery equipment. There are exceptions for this if the student is involved in a Career Tech program.

• No person under 18 should work in slaughtering, butchering or meat cutting.

A complete list of prohibited occupations can be found on the ADOL website.

Child Labor staff are available at no cost for training any individual, organization or employer.
