Rock The South sees 20+ arrests over the weekend

Lauren Estes
lauren@cullmantribune.com

CULLMAN, Ala. — Over 40,000 people ventured to Cullman this past weekend for the South's annual music festival.

The Cullman Police Department recently released arrest numbers from the weekend's outdoor music event.

According to CPD Communications Director Adam Clark, there were 18 adult arrests: 13 males and five females.

"Of course, we had several with multiple charges," Clark said. "The charges include one DUI, 10 public intoxications, one minor in possession, three disorderly conducts, two resisting arrest, one possession of controlled substance, one possession of drug paraphernalia and two were arrested on warrants."

Due to those arrested on multiple charges, there are more charges listed than people arrested.

No juvenile information will be released.

Cullman City Schools to investigate physical altercation between students caught on video

CULLMAN, Ala. — Two videos surfaced on Snapchat Friday of a Cullman Middle School student assaulting another. The first video showed one student shoving another student. The second video showed the same student punching the other student on the grounds of Cullman Middle School.

According to Cullman City Schools Superintendent Kyle Kallhoff, the first video took place between classes late in the school day, with the second taking place just after 3 p.m. as school was dismissing. Teachers and the School Resource Officers were in the area where the second video occurred and subsequently brought the aggressor and victim to the office.

"Yes, the SRO was within 15 yards of the incident and teachers were on duty in the area as well. Due to the quick response from our teachers, administrators and SRO, the school was able to address this situation quickly," said Superintendent Kallhoff. "Students were being monitored and will continue to be monitored. There are no changes. Teachers are on duty at dismissal and will continue to be. » PAGE 12

COVID-19 BY THE NUMBERS

Monday, Aug. 16, COVID-19 update from the Alabama Department of Public Health's COVID-19 Dashboard Hub (https://bit.ly/3iVJwXK)

ADPH COVID-19 dashboard changes

Along with decreases in COVID-19 cases, hospitalizations and deaths, ADPH will be updating its dashboard less frequently. Effective June 7, the Data and Surveillance Dashboard will update Monday, Wednesday and Friday; the Vaccine Distribution Dashboard will update Tuesday and Thursday and no weekend updates will be made. Additional information may be provided in the future as ADPH gathers more data on the pandemic.

*The dashboard has been redesigned to help people better understand the current transmission levels in their communities and the impact of COVID-19 in Alabama. The moving 7-day sum is updated daily instead of weekly--instead of a 3, 7 and 14-day average, the dashboard will provide a 7-day moving sum for cases. The 2020 and 2021 breakdowns of cases and deaths will be provided - not just a total sum over both years.

Case details* (Updated Mon, Wed, Fri)
- Change in Cases: - 13.1% (No update available)
- Positivity in Tests: 23.8% (No update available)
- Confirmed cases in Alabama (2020): 388,695
- Confirmed cases in Alabama (2021): 248,668 (+9,437 since Friday)
- Total confirmed deaths in Alabama (2020): 7,177
- Total confirmed deaths in Alabama (2021): 4,622 (+34 since Friday)
- Change in cases in Cullman Co.: 3.4% (No update available)
- Positivity in tests in Cullman Co.: 16.7% (No update available)
- Total confirmed cases in Cullman Co. (2020): 7,591
- Total confirmed cases in Cullman Co. (2021): 3,688 (+ 162 since Friday)
- Deaths in Cullman Co. (2020): 129
- Deaths in Cullman Co. (2021): 83 (+1 since Monday)
- Total tested in Cullman Co. in the last 7 days: 1,792 (No update available)
- Total tested positive in Cullman Co. in the last 7 days: 299 (No update available)
- Total tested in Alabama in the last 7 days: 77,493 (No update available)
- Total positive tests in Alabama in the last 7 days: 18,448 (No update available)
- Currently hospitalized in Alabama: 2,631

Vaccine details (updated Tues, Thurs) (No Updates Available)
- Doses Delivered to Alabama: 5,333,275
- Doses delivered to Alabama providers: 3,312,805
- Doses administered: 3,635,601
- Number of people receiving one or more doses: 2,121,551
- Number of people who have completed vaccine series: 1,635,311
- Doses delivered to federal programs: 2,020,470

Alabamians in Phases 1a, 1b and 1c (including those 12 and older) are now eligible to receive a vaccine.

View the Alabama COVID-19 Vaccination Allocation Plan at: www.alabamapublichealth.gov/covid19vaccine/assets/adph-covid19-vaccination-allocation-plan.pdf

Variants of SARS-CoV-2

Variants of SARS-CoV-2 continue to circulate in Alabama and pose a significant threat of increased disease. Variants of concern reported, as of July 9, are Alpha (820 cases), Beta (2 cases), Gamma (31 cases) and Delta (56 cases). These variants are more transmissible, specifically the Alpha and the Delta, and some variants have less response to treatments such as monoclonal antibodies.

Percent positivity escalates

Alabama's current statewide percent positivity for COVID-19 has increased to its highest level since February 2021, at 7.7%. This is equal to the percent positivity recorded April 3, when vaccines had not been readily available.

Percent increase in COVID-19 cases

The number of COVID-19 cases reported in Alabama has risen 39% from June 26 - July 9. The best way to prevent getting the highly infectious and easily transmissible Delta variant or any other strain of COVID-19 is to get vaccinated as quickly as possible. The vaccines we have are highly effective and their benefits far outweigh any risks. Only a very small percentage of deaths due to COVID-19 are among the fully vaccinated population.

COVID-19 hospitalizations increase

As of July 14, 341 persons were reported hospitalized as a result of COVID-19 disease. On July 3, 179 persons were hospitalized due to COVID-19. Increases in numbers of COVID-19 cases and hospitalizations due to COVID-19 are the result of low vaccine rates and unvaccinated persons not following preventive measures for themselves such as wearing masks, good hand hygiene and social distancing. So long as Alabama has such low rates of vaccination, cases will continue to rise, posing risk of illness and death from COVID-19, as well as threatening the ability of our health care system to treat all Alabamians.

Make vaccination a priority

This July 14, 4,124 doses of COVID-19 vaccine were administered in the state. At the height of vaccine administration on April 8, 45,128 vaccine doses were given. Young people and others who are taking a wait-and-see stance on vaccination should be aware that they need to protect themselves, their families, friends and communities by getting vaccinated as soon as they can. Safe, effective and free vaccine shields vulnerable people and saves lives.

CULLMAN, Ala. – The Cullman County Animal Shelter has love to spare these days, so Donna Ruttkay shares a bonus Cullman Tribune Pet of the Week:

Waffles is a 1.5-2-year-old terrier mix. He is a medium-energy demure fellow who exhibits an extraordinary patience and quiet attitude while in his kennel. He is quite a happy boy who loves being with his people and not to mention, is well-trained on his leash.

Waffles will make someone a great therapy, companion or hiking dog!

Animal shelter staff and volunteers work with their dogs to make sure they are accustomed to being around people, walking on a leash and practicing good behavior. Several of the shelter's canine friends have even been "hired" to work as therapy and special needs service dogs.

Please consider adopting to give a rescued pet a chance at a happy and healthy life.

Contact the Cullman County Animal Shelter at 256-734-5448 or visit them at 935 Convent Road NE. Reach them by email at cullmancountyanimalshelter@gmail.com.

Good news!
Ruttkay reported that recent POTW's Asher and Ruffles have been adopted! Thanks to the whole community for making forever homes a regular destination for our furry friends.

Good Hope Raiders

LifeTouch Photography

It's that time of year again and that means it's time for the Good Hope Raiders to hit the field. It's been a fun few years to be a Good Hope fan. The Raiders have posted a record of 27-9 over the last three seasons and they plan to do more of the same in 2021. Raiders Head Coach Alan Scott is entering his seventh season on the sidelines at Good Hope and he's happy to report that this year's summer workout was both productive and a welcome return to the normal preseason process.

"I thought we had a good summer. The vast majority of our guys made 80% or more of their workouts and we want them to have a summer, you know. I hope they go on vacation with their families and go to church camp and be a kid but other than that if they're in town we expect them to be here and participate. So, the vast majority did that and that attitude was really good," Scott said. "We had a few competitions. We hosted one and we went to Russellville, Fyffe and Danville to compete and I thought we got a lot of good things out of those. Yesterday we had two practices to start the fall off and we're just trying to get things focused for the fall and trying to answer some questions and fill some gaps that we have to fill this year so overall it's been a good start."

After a heavily limited summer program in 2020, Scott and his team were able to go through a much more normal summer program this time around and get a better idea of where his team stands going into the fall.

"It was great. Everybody kind of had to stay at their own school last year so we couldn't go and compete with anyone else, and you can get a lot out of that but it's also good to see other people and use that as a measuring stick. It gives you a chance to see if you are where you feel like you are and maybe you are and maybe you're not," Scott said. "So, it was good to see some of the coaches that I enjoy seeing every year. After doing this as long as I have, you have a lot of friends that coach at different places, so it was good to go see them. It's been a good summer."

Good Hope will have some familiar faces returning this fall, most notably All-State Quarterback Tanner Malin. He'll be joined by several other returning playmakers and Scott is looking forward to having great leaders at key positions this season.

"Ethan (Anderson), Tanner (Malin), Jager (Burns), Morgan Cook on the line, Clayton Herring was an All-State lineman for us on defense last year and in the secondary Paydon Bagwell has had about two years as a starter, so we've got several guys back that have played a key role over the last couple seasons," Scott said. "It's good to have leadership and they've done a great job for us this summer."

Positions in the offensive backfield and in the defensive secondary will have some experienced names stepping in but Scott and his staff will be looking for new names to step up on the line of scrimmage and fill those roles as well.

"We're definitely filling some spots on the offensive and defensive lines and at linebacker. We're trying to fill some holes there and really shore up the secondary and just work on anything you can think of to improve," Scott said. "It's just a matter of finding the right combination of guys that understand what we're trying to do and can execute it."

After averaging nearly 10 wins per season over the last three years, hopes and expectations are high for another great year at Good Hope. This year's group of seniors has a lot of big game experience under their belts and Scott knows that will experience will be valuable later in the season, but his primary concern is just seeing his guys become the best versions of themselves through the sport of football.

"What we want is for our guys to be their very best, whatever that looks like. We don't want to compare ourselves to any other team, we don't want to put on any added pressure to try and attain a certain outcome, we just want to do our best but at the same time I believe that's easier when you have established a little bit of a tradition over the last few years," Scott said. "So, with that being said I do think it is a good thing that our guys have gotten to experience those big games at home and on the road so hopefully if we get in those situations again, we'll be able to come through."

Scientists (from Front)

Cullman City Schools

CULLMAN, Ala. — What's a good lesson to take to heart when learning about science? There are no bad questions!

A pair of East Elementary School fourth grade teachers brought that point to life as Cullman City Schools kicked off the 2021-2022 school year over the past week, showing up on the first day dressed as Albert Einstein himself to the delight of students. Fourth grade teachers April Dean and Jada Mitchell sported white lab coats, tall, white-haired wigs and flowing white mustaches to welcome students in with a bit of scientific flair.

"We're learning that we're all scientists because we ask questions and investigate to find the answers," Dean explained. "That's just what Albert Einstein did. He was actually expelled for asking too many questions. Our students came in giggling and excited when they saw us dressed up in costumes."

Dean noted Mitchell came up with the idea, which proved a great way to get students interested in what they'll be learning this year.

"April and I love any way to enhance student engagement and get them excited about our class," Mitchell said.

After kicking things off with the Einstein costumes, the teachers are planning to next transform their classrooms into hospitals as part of a study of the human body.

Rock The South 2021- Grey skies and happy times

Christy Perry
christy@cullmantribune.com

There is a nearly constant negativity in the Cullman community surrounding the mere existence of Rock the South. This year was no different and the naysayers are having a field day after this year's festival. Yes, it rained. It rained a lot. What they don't seem to understand is that it only added to the festival experience and more importantly, the FUN!

Music festivals aren't meant to mirror a traditional indoor concert. To follow that line of thinking is to miss the point of the festival all together. I love a good concert in an arena or concert hall, but what a person is seeking from a festival is entirely different. A music festival is two to three days of people braving the elements, making tons of new friends, exploring all the different areas within the venue while waiting for their favorite artists to take the stage.

It doesn't matter if you attend Rock the South, Coachella, Bonnaroo, Lollapalooza or whatever presents itself--weather is an element the festival goer knows could change everything without warning. When you choose to attend a festival in an old cow pasture in August, heat and the potential of afternoon storms is simply part of the package. Most people planned for that possibility and were not deterred at all.

Perhaps the naysayers feel they have claimed some type of victory after seeing the photos from this past weekend of torrential downpours and giant mud holes. They would be wrong to do so because while they might have been miserable had they been there, those who were actually there embraced the elements.

This year, The Cullman Tribune gave tickets to veterans and provided a tent where they could come and sit, cool down and enjoy the music.

By the end of the two days, we were all lifelong friends. We swapped stories of past Rock the South experiences including the storms that delayed Lynyrd Skynyrd at Heritage Park and the crazy dust bowl of 2019.

As the storms came in, the rain poured down and the mud grew thicker, I felt the need to apologize for what I perceived to be their less than perfect experience. One of the veterans quickly said to me, "I have had to sleep in that kind of mud when I was in the Army. This ain't nothin'." Not once did our guests complain.

A crowd of people gathered under the tent seeking refuge from the rain and lightning, including the event staff.

The laughter and camaraderie during the worst of the storm is something that will always stick with me.

Out in the field, young people began sliding in the mud and nearby, an impromptu mud wrestling tournament began; just people having fun with what Mother Nature commandeered. Those under the tents cheered and clapped as the boys splashed down in the mud.

A rainbow appeared on Saturday evening as the rain began to slow. Folks began filing back in through the gates; now, even more people than before the rain. We were all muddy, we were all wet and we were all having a great time – TOGETHER!

One of the veterans disappeared from the tent after the rain and I worried that he had given up and gone home. I tried not to let it bother me as everyone else was there and enjoying themselves.

As Miranda Lambert finished her show and we began saying our goodbyes and planning for a reunion at next year's show, I heard a booming voice say, "Oh my God! Wasn't she great? I can't believe it. Miranda Lambert!!" He wasn't missing. He was out having the time of his life. He wasn't concerned about his ruined shoes or the mud covering his legs. He hurried back to express his gratitude of being able to experience his first Rock the South.

You see, Rock the South isn't about Miranda Lambert, Nelly or Luke Combs. It's about the shared human experience and the unexpected is what makes it even more memorable. It's a festival born from the worst storm in Cullman's history, after all, and a few afternoon thunderstorms "ain't squat" compared to April 2011. This festival will always be about this little southern town's ability to rise from the rubble and carry on and that's exactly what we did this weekend.

HARTSELLE, Ala. — Each August, Chapter 2212, the Finis J. Self Chapter of the Military Order of the Purple Heart, sponsors a memorial service at Sparkman Park in Hartselle to honor the fallen warriors of Cullman and Morgan counties. Those being honored were "members of the Armed Forces of the U.S. who are wounded by an instrument of war in the hands of the enemy and posthumously to the next of kin in the name of those who are killed in action or die of wounds received in action."

The 2021 Purple Heart Memorial Service featured guest speakers and local dignitaries who called the roll of the 147 Purple Heart recipients from World Wars I and II, the Korean War and the wars in Vietnam, Afghanistan and Iraq. As each serviceman's name was called, a bell solemnly tolled and attending family members were presented a Purple Heart flag memento.

The annual event began with American flags flying as motorcyclists entered the parade field, each proudly bearing the flag they fought for on their bikes.

The Memorial Park features a wall and brick walkway with inscribed names of Purple Heart recipients provided by their families and friends.

These memorial bricks are available for any military veteran. A newly placed statue of a kneeling soldier and the insignia flags flying around the monument honor all service personnel, past and present.

Cullman resident Clifford Gissell, Commander of Post 2212, conducted the ceremony, which ended with the playing of the military's moving "Taps."

Hanceville Bulldogs

Don Fewell Photography

Fall is upon us and that means it's time for the Hanceville Bulldogs to get back under the lights once again. This season, there'll be a new head coach on the sidelines for the Bulldogs. Ryan Brewer is entering his first season at Hanceville, taking over for Head Coach Cody McCain who spent three seasons with the Bulldogs. Brewer met with his team for the first time earlier this summer and they spent much of the offseason in the weight room and competing with other teams to prepare for the upcoming year.

"I met the kids for the first time on June 15 and the I think it was about two weeks before we ever touched a football because we had guys playing basketball and baseball and stuff and I wanted them to have that time," Brewer said. "So, my plan going in was just to develop relationships with those guys and let them get to know me, give me a chance to get to know them and work hard in the weight room. That's what we did for most of June and that went really well and toward the end of the month we got the football out and did some 7-on-7 camps over the last couple weeks and just worked on installing our offensive and defensive schemes so that's been good."

Brewer and his staff are looking for guys to step up and fill several positions this fall but they also feel optimistic about the players with experience they have returning.

"We've got Zac Campbell coming back who is a great athlete and hasn't played quarterback a lot, he's played a little bit, but he's just a great student. He just soaks up everything I tell him and he's working hard trying to learn the position and he's a gifted athlete and he's very coachable, so I feel really good about him there," Brewer said. "We've got a couple guys on the offensive line that have been there for a while, Kelson Moore and Marvin Gonzalez, and on the defensive side we've got Preston McClerren coming back who's been playing linebacker for a while, so we've got some experience in places where we really need it. We've definitely got some competition at the receiver positions, and we've got some guys battling for a couple positions on the offensive line. We're still working on finding the right guys for the right spots. We've got some spots solidified for sure, but I don't want to tip off too much to Vinemont," Brewer joked.

Brewer has been working hard with his team to install a new offensive and defensive scheme for this season but what he's most concerned about is installing a good culture within the program.

"To me, culture is everything. The culture will drive our season and if we do a great job with culture, it'll drive these young men into their adulthood. That's why I'm in this business, to develop young men so that they can great husbands and fathers and members of society. That's why I do what I do and fortunately I get to do that through the avenue of football which is great," Brewer said. "We talk about competing a lot and we use an acronym, Commitment, Opportunity, Mastery, Perseverance, Effort, Trained discipline and Enthusiasm (COMPETE). Those are our core values and as a staff we are constantly hammering those on a daily basis trying to establish the culture that we want and so far, it's working."

Brewer knows that establishing a new culture will take but likes the effort he's seen from his team so far to work together and become the best team they can be.

"It's been a work in progress obviously, it's not something that everybody can learn how to do overnight. But our kids are getting it and the main thing is that they're buying into the culture that we're trying to create. I couldn't ask for much more than that because it doesn't matter what you run offensively or defensively if you don't captivate these kids' hearts and get them to do what you want them to do, none of that other stuff matters," Brewer said. "So, we've been working hard to establish the culture we're trying to create, and the kids are buying into it. They're working hard, they're attentive and they're learning so it's starting to come together. I absolutely love our kids; it's been a joy for me to be around them and I can't wait to see how they respond when they actually turn on the lights."

West Point Warriors

Rivercat Photography

The 2020 season for the West Point Warriors was defined by the mid-season turn that began with a big win at Crossville. After dropping their first five games of the season, the Warriors defeated the Lions on the road 35-27 to begin shifting the momentum and went on to collect wins in three of their next four games to finish the regular season 4-6 and earn a trip to the postseason. Now, West Point will look to build on the momentum it finished last season with, get off to a strong start in the regular season this fall and punch its ticket back to the state playoffs. Warriors Head Coach Don Farley is entering his ninth season at West Point and he and his staff have been working to find the right combination of players in the right positions throughout the preseason.

"We've had a great summer; our guys have worked really hard and they're just trying to get better every day," Farley said. "It's a new year and there's some new faces and some new places and we're just trying to find the right fits and find the guys that will be ready to step up and play on Friday nights. We're just trying to dial in the combinations of which guys can do what and get them in the right places."

The Warriors were just 2-4 at home in 2020 and with stadiums set to fill back up with raucous home crowds again this fall, Farley definitely wants to improve on that mark this season and is looking forward to having a full Friday night atmosphere back in place.

"I don't know how well we played at home last year, we had that four-game stretch where we lost all four games by a total of 15 points, and we were actually better on the road so we're hoping to kind of fold that into those home games," Farley said. "You couldn't tell me last year at Good Hope in that opening game that there was limited seating or anything, it really felt like the most normal thing we had done from March 13 up to that night. It'll be good to get back to having a full crowd and everyone there supporting us. We want that atmosphere back for sure."

Offensively, West Point will have some familiar faces returning to the field this fall, led by wide receiver Cade Simmons and running back Kelton Washington. Farley also likes the leadership they have returning on the offensive line so he and his staff are excited to see what this year's unit can do together after scoring nearly 30 points per game in 2020.

"We've got Cade Simmons returning as one of our receivers and we've got Josh Suarez and Justin Mosher returning on the offensive line. Those guys are kind of spearheading that group and our offensive line has had a really good offseason so we're excited about what we think they can do," Farley said. "Eli Folds has stepped in at quarterback and Hunter Hensley is a young guy who's really shown us a lot of good things in how he handles the position and of course Kelton (Washington), Brian (Cornelius), Garit Roberson and Suyeta DrowningBear will be people we're looking at to help us in the run game."

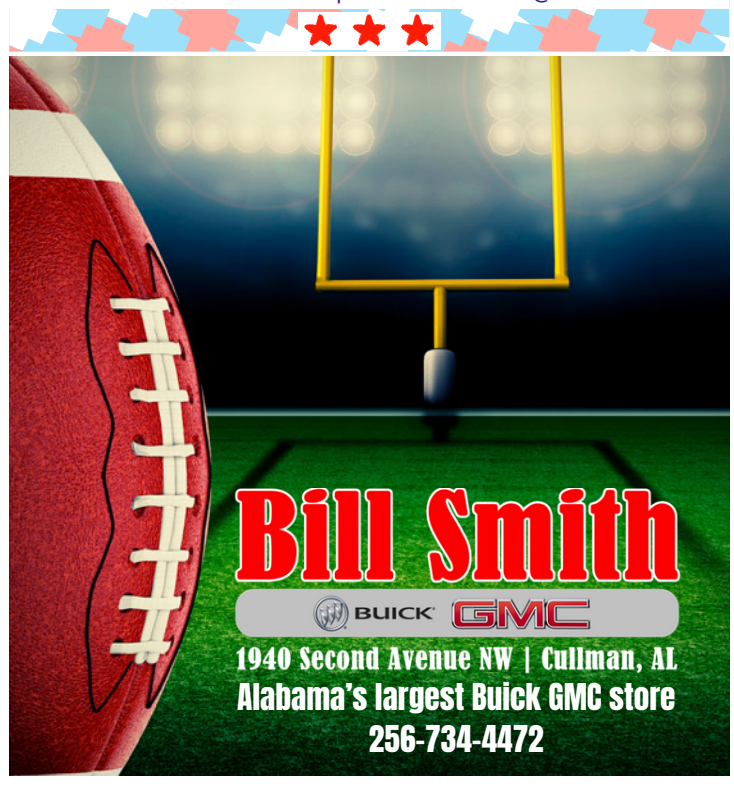

The Warriors have a little less returning on the defensive side of the ball so finding the right guys to fit in on that side has been a priority during the preseason.

"We're taking a hit defensively; I think we've got four returning starters," Farley said. "In the secondary we've got a couple of guys coming back, we've got a couple of linebackers coming back and on our defensive line. So, we're just kind of trying to balance out some of our experience there."

A trip to the state playoffs is the goal for every team this time of year and the Warriors are no different but the focus for Farley and his staff at this point has been on finding what they can do to improve before worrying about goals at the end of the season.

"Really, we've not talked about the postseason, we've just been focusing on what we need to do to take care of West Point," Farley said. "We keep telling them if we'll just worry about ourselves and keep getting better ourselves all that other stuff will kind of work itself out."

Video (from Front)

The incident that took place Friday was within 15 yards of an adult. When the adult saw it take place, they intervened."

When asked about Cullman City Schools' policy of violence and the urging of violence, Kallhoff shared, "The school system has a Student Code of Conduct which addresses offenses such as bullying, harassment, assault, misuse of electronic devices, profanity and cyberbullying. All of which were observed in the video from last week. The type of behavior from the video is not acceptable and will not be tolerated in the Cullman City School System. Students who violate school policies will be offered due process, then disciplined according to the Student Code of Conduct."

When asked, "Will the juvenile be banned from school?" and "Will the students urging on the violence be punished for their actions?," Kallhoff replied to both by stating, "I cannot comment on specific student discipline occurrences and outcomes; however, the student from the video and the student who videoed the event will be offered due process and disciplined according to our Student Code of Conduct. We will also offer anger management and other anger support services to the students involved."

To put rumors to rest, Kallhoff was asked about state involvement pertaining to this altercation, to which he responded, "I am not aware of any state involvement. This is not a state issue, it is an incident that took place at CMS and is being handled by CMS administration with the support of the superintendent's office."

On the topic of steps that can be taken to support students who face abuse from other students, he shared, "Students and parents can talk to teachers, counselors or administrators any time if they feel they are being abused or harassed. In reference to Friday's incident, we will have our SRO, social worker and counselor work with the victim from the video and offer support to him and his family."

Students will be discouraged from posting similar videos to social media in the future, with Kallhoff explaining, "Posting videos like this to social media is a form of cyberbullying and a violation of our Student Code of Conduct, which will lead to discipline measures. However, sharing videos like this with administration, without posting or sharing with others, can help administrators quickly stop the behavior and address the situation."

Students can often replicate behavior they have seen from older students and from adults, so bullying victims are often students from marginalized identities (religious, racial, disability, LGBTQ+). When asked how the school addresses reports of prejudiced behavior, and if there is a system for students or faculty to report instances of bias or prejudice, Kallhoff explained, "Students and parents can talk to teachers, counselors or administrators any time if they feel they are being abused or harassed. If this is taking place outside of school, then we will work with our community partners to refer the students or families where they can get support or services."
