Veterans have their day in court with their mentors by their side

Amy Leonard

CULLMAN, Ala. — Presiding over the courtroom on the second floor of Cullman County Courthouse, Judge Rusty Turner carefully reviewed each case, assessing the progress of each offender who stood before him.

The defendants reviewed by the district court last week were not the run of the mill criminals. They were the veterans of the United States Armed Forces, formerly tasked with the defense and security of our nation.

One of Cullman's diversionary court programs, the Cullman County Veterans Court offers men and women who have been charged with a criminal offense (no class A felony nor bodily harm to the victim offenses) the opportunity to enter the structured program which requires at least a one-year » PAGE 8

MONTGOMERY, Ala. — The North-South Baseball All-Star Teams have been selected for the 2022 AHSAA North-South All-Star Sports Week, announced Brandon Dean, Director of the Alabama High School Athletic Directors & Coaches Association.

The teams comprised of 2023 rising seniors were chosen by a special coaches committee from nominations received from AHSAA member school coaches and one local standout earned a spot on the North All-Star roster. Cullman's Tucker Cagle landed on the North All-Star team after another great season with Bearcats and he'll have an opportunity to show off his talents in Montgomery later this summer.

"This is an outstanding group of baseball standouts and coaches from our member schools," said Dean.

"We are proud to announce these teams and look forward to watching them in the All-Star competition set for the All-Star Sports Week this summer."

The AHSADCA, which operates under the auspices of the Alabama High School Athletic Association, also hosts annually North-South all-star games in softball, volleyball, boys' and girls' soccer, boys' and girls' basketball, cross-country, tennis and golf during the All-Star Week.

The annual North-South All-Star football game is now played in Mobile each December following the conclusion of the football season.

The AHSAA Summer Conference, annually attended by more than 4,000 coaches and administrators, will still be July 18-22 this summer.

The South All-Stars won game 1 in the 2021 North-South Series 7-6, but the second game ended in a 3-3 tie.

The North leads the series 23-15-2 heading into the 2022 competition. The series was first played in 1997.

Former Wallace State pitcher Chad Smith promoted to Colorado Rockies, becoming 7th WSCC player to make majors under coach Randy Putman

Russell Moore
WSCC

HANCEVILLE, Ala. — Former Wallace State baseball pitcher Chad Smith was promoted to the Colorado Rockies over the weekend and made his Major League Baseball (MLB) debut on Sunday against the Washington Nationals, pitching a scoreless inning.

Smith, a McAdory High graduate, pitched for Wallace State during the 2014-2015 seasons.

Smith is the seventh Wallace State player to advance to the majors under coach Randy Putman and the first since Zelous Wheeler in 2014. Craig Kimbrel, the Dodgers closer and eight-time All-Star, and Derek Holland of the Blue Jays organization are among the others to play at Wallace State.

"Few people gave Chad a chance to pitch in college until we took a flier on him. He had a quick arm, and I knew he could develop into a good pitcher. For him to make it from that Friday morning, years ago, to pitching in the major leagues, it's a great accomplishment," said Wallace State baseball coach Randy Putman. "Wallace State is very proud of him."

Smith compiled a 4.05 ERA in 17 appearances, including six starts, as a freshman for Wallace State in 2014.

Smith battled a strained oblique during his sophomore season in Hanceville, limiting him to only 10 appearances. Smith went 3-2 with one save and a 3.60 ERA, returning late that season to propel the Lions to an ACCC Tournament runner-up finish.

At the conclusion of his Wallace State career, Smith was drafted by the Cleveland Indians in the 23rd round of the Major League Baseball First-Year Player Draft. Smith bypassed the Indians and transferred to Ole Miss, where he spent one season pitching for the Rebels.

After his junior season, Smith was drafted by the Miami Marlins in the 11th round (323rd pick overall) and decided to turn pro.

Smith spent parts of five professional seasons with the Marlins organization before the Rockies franchise traded for him in August 2020.

Prior to the promotion, Smith, who advanced to Triple-A Albuquerque in 2021, had registered a 1.89 ERA and nine saves in 17 games this season with the Isotopes.

In 169 career games in the minors, Smith has a 14-11 record with 37 saves and a 3.97 ERA.

"Chad's command and his ability to get batters out have taken a big leap over the past couple of years. He's a tough cookie and loves to compete. He'll have a chance to be an important piece of the Rockies bullpen," Putman said.

Smith will turn 27 years old on June 8.

Smith's grandfather Norm Zauchin played in the major leagues in the 1950s for both the Red Sox and Washington Senators.

Good Hope sees record turnout for 6th annual Raider Skills Camp

Sammy Confer
sammy@cullmantribune.com

GOOD HOPE, Ala. — Summer is camp season and the Good Hope Raiders got things underway with the sixth annual Raider Skills Camp Tuesday morning. The varsity boys head coach, Drew Adams, the varsity girls head coach, Justin Aby, the JV boys head coach, Griffin Morris, along with several varsity players and assistant coach Scott Adams were on-hand to work with this year's participants. It will be a two-day camp hosted from 8:30 a.m. – 12 p.m. Tuesday and Wednesday. Kids that are going into the third grade through the eighth grade took part in day one and there was a great turnout as over 60 kids showed up at the camp.

Coach Drew Adams was thrilled to get back on the court to work with a record number of campers.

"We were really excited about our turnout," Adams said. "I think the biggest camps that we've had in the past have been around 40 to 50 campers.

"We were in the 60's today, so by far, the biggest camp that we've had.

"I'm just really excited about the kids that showed up and decided to come to camp.

"Obviously, you want numbers, but we just love the fact that there's this many kids around Good Hope that want to come to basketball camp.

"Generally, we've had camps that were a little lower numbers-wise, but they were great camps. For us to see 60+ kids that want to show up in the summer and play basketball, we're really excited to see that."

Day one was more of a fundamental day at the camp and Wednesday will be a really big day for the young players.

"Tuesday's our fundamental day where we just teach them basic ball-handling, shooting, passing, stuff like that," Adams said.

"When we get to Wednesday, we'll do more competition stuff. We'll let them do more three-on-three, play Gotcha! and play Dribble Tag. Those are their favorite games. That will lead up into competition day."

The drills that the kids are learning right now will definitely help them out in the long run.

"We're giving them the basic stuff. It doesn't matter if you're a 3rd grader or if you're one of our varsity guys, you got to be able to do the simple things," Adams said.

SAMMY CONFER/THE CULLMAN TRIBUNE

More than 60 players came out to Good Hope High School Tuesday morning to participate in this year's Raider Skills Camp.

"You've got to be able to shoot the basketball, handle the basketball and pass it. And the more they can learn to do things at a younger age, the easier it'll get when they're older."

Learning what to do and what not to do is really important, but for Adams, the key for the players at the camp is having fun as well.

"First and foremost, we want them to have fun. We want them to leave each day thinking that they've had a really good time," Adams said.

"I think they're beneficial. A lot of these kids play youth league, so we just hope that it helps them become a slightly better player by the time they get to November."

'Something special': Tigers set to host UCLA, Florida State, Southeastern Louisiana in Auburn Regional

George Nunnelley
AU Athletics

AUBURN, Ala. – One day after earning an NCAA Tournament regional host site for the first time since 2010, Auburn learned Monday that the Tigers will welcome UCLA, Florida State and Southeastern Louisiana to the Plains this weekend.

"I think about every person, every ballplayer who's put on an Auburn uniform, I think about our fans stepping up to the plate," Auburn coach Butch Thompson said. "These are opportunities to reward our players, alumni, fan base and everybody who cares about our program. These are moments and opportunities you want to take full advantage of. It's what you get out of bed for every single day."

The regional appearance is the Tigers 23rd all-time, including the fourth under Thompson. Auburn is 48-33 in regional play, including 8-2 under the seventh-year head coach.

Auburn earned the No. 14 national seed. The Auburn Regional is paired with the Corvallis (Oregon) Regional, which No. 3 national seed Oregon State will host. The regional winners will advance to next week's super regional.

"We've been a very consistent baseball team," Thompson said. "Our team, for those 10 consecutive SEC weeks where you play the best amateur baseball in the world, we did not get swept, we've never lost more than two games (consecutively), and we went 11-0 in the midweek against teams in our state and didn't duck it and went on the road. It's awesome to see that rewarded."

The top-seed in the regional, Auburn (37-19) will take on No. 4 seed Southeastern Louisiana (30-29) Friday at 6 p.m. on ESPN+. Also included in the field are No. 2 UCLA (38-22) and No. 3 Florida State (33-23), which will play Friday at 11 a.m. on ESPN2.

"It's a great feeling," senior pitcher Carson Skipper said. "There's nothing like playing here in front of these fans. The comfort of being home is a feeling unmatched."

"It's something you dream of when you're a little kid, coming to college baseball, going to play in Omaha," said senior shortstop Brody Moore. "This year to have it start right here in Auburn is something special."

Below is some information on the three teams traveling to Plainsman Park for the Auburn Regional.

No. 2 Seed UCLA
- Record: 38-22, 19-11 PAC-12
- RPI: No. 48
- All-time series: Never met

No. 3 Seed Florida State
- Record: 33-23, 15-15 ACC
- RPI: No. 29
- All-time series: Auburn trails, 44-75

No. 4 Seed Southeastern Louisana
- Record: 30-29, 14-10 Southland Conference (tournament champions)
- RPI: No. 105
- All-time series: Auburn leads, 2-0

All tournament ticket books are $75 and can be purchased at aubtix.com. If inventory allows, single game tickets will be $15 per ticket.

CATA (from Front)

CULLMAN, Ala. — Cullman Area Technology Academy Carpentry students Dylan Trowbridge, Yovani Ramirez and Nathan Coggins won the State Chapter Display competition at the SkillsUSA State championship in April and are now headed to the national championship in Atlanta from June 20-24.

The Chapter Display competition required students to build a three-dimensional display that articulates a national annual theme established by SkillsUSA.

The members of the chapter build the display and three students present information about the display during a presentation and interview with judges.

Ramirez, with a different team originally, began the project pre-COVID-19 and had to put it on hold for the duration of the pandemic.

The team came up with the idea for a display that could be turned interactively around like a carousel.

The new team of Ramirez, Trowbridge and Coggins returned to the project and finished the display for the state competition which showcases their technical school and was designed to be used at career fairs, open houses and career caravans.

It features a series of repurposed door panels that rotate around a central stem, with the panels outlining various programs at CATA, along with information about SkillsUSA.

Instructor Mike Burkett stated, "When another program, Collision Repair, gave us the door panels, it all came together and the theme of 'Open the door...to your future' was born.

"This project began pre-COVID-19, and not to be denied, they revived it and finished it and now, will represent Alabama SkillsUSA in Atlanta," continued Burkett.

The overall theme of the SkillsUSA competition for the 2021-2022 school year was "SkillsUSA: United as One."

The team exemplified the theme by showing tremendous resolve for not giving up on the creative project which allowed them to showcase the technical programs at CATA.

Trowbridge and Ramirez are recent graduates of Fairview High School and Coggins attends West Point High School.

Trowbridge and Ramirez both won $2,000 scholarships as a result of their championship win and are thinking about attending Wallace State part time in the Construction Management program.

Burkett quoted Bear Bryant, saying, "'I don't need 5-star players, I just need good athletes with lots of heart and we will be winners.' These are all good students with lots of heart and they are all winners as well."

The SkillsUSA 58th Annual National Leadership and Skills Conference hosts the nation's top career and technical education students.

More than 12,000 people including students, teachers and business partners will participate in the weeklong event.

Sale (from Front)

CULLMAN, Ala. — Sportsman Lake Park will be hosting their Summer Yard Sale on Saturday, June 18.

Gates will be opening at 7 a.m. with great deals available from vendors throughout the large park. The yard sale will close at 3 p.m. Admission to the park will be free.

Vendors interested in staking their claim in a spot for the yard sale will need to appear in person at the park on Tuesday, June 7 at 7 a.m., where vendors will pick their spot for the grassy areas and take the flag from that location to the concession stand to pay.

For those wishing to sell their wares in one of the coveted pavilions, early arrival is strongly suggested.

Those vendors will go directly to the concession stand (no flag needed) and pay for an available pavilion if any are open.

These spots are first come, fire serve and are expected to sell out quickly.

The price for a pavilion selling site will be $35 and the grass sites will be available for only $10. The kiosk, stage and gazebo will be rented for $15.

Reservation spots will not be available over the phone. Vendors must appear in person at Sportsman Lake to pay for their spots on June 7.

Judge Turner explains, "It's an opportunity to reach out to a segment of our population that deserves a little bit of grace just for the simple fact of their service.

"Veterans Court goes right along with our Drug Court and the soon to be Mental Health Court in that there's an underlying issue that caused this abhorrent behavior and often it's related to some service-related issues. Not always but sometimes."

The three-phase program requires the veteran to appear before the court at least once a month.

Additionally, he or she may be required to seek mental health services, substance abuse counseling and treatment, job training and other counseling deemed necessary by the court.

Army Aviation Veteran Clint Stidham graduated from the program, one of the court's many successes. Stidham served from 2011-2014 and found himself in crisis five years after leaving the military.

Stidham shared, "In 2019, I received some charges when I had fallen off and life's troubles had set in.

"I've been in Veteran's Court for the past couple of years.

"They've worked with me and helped me get reestablished with the community. I'm actually working with the VA in Johnson City, Tennessee now.

"God found me over the past three years. I've learned to get up and be a productive member of society again. I get up every morning at 6 a.m. and go to bed at 9 p.m. I take all of my healthy, mental health medication and do all of the things that we're supposed to do.

"As a result, life has become easier. My son has welcomed me back into his life and that is priceless."

Stidham and the other veterans who work their way through the program are not alone.

The court provides each participant with a mentor; a veteran who volunteers their time to guide their mentees along the path of rehabilitation.

Former VFW post commander Will Harris explains why the mentorship is important to him.

"For me, it's a one-on-one thing. It's an opportunity to work one-on-one with a vet. A lot of the things we do is in a group setting but this is a chance to work one-on-one to help another vet."

The mentors answer their phones whenever their vet calls, give them rides to appointments and even take them to church.

Most importantly, they can relate to their mentee, as only another former service member can.

Harris sums it up with, "When it gets down to it, I'm an old sergeant major and I may be retired 25 years, but I can't put it down. Once you're there, you're always there."
