City votes to approve medical cannabis dispensing sites

Amy Leonard

CULLMAN, Ala. — The Cullman City Council on Monday night voted in favor of authorizing medical cannabis dispensing sites in the city limits. The Cullman County Commission passed a similar ordinance in July. Statewide, up to 37 dispensing sites will be approved by the Alabama Medical Cannabis Commission (AMCC), and local leadership is hoping Cullman will have one of them.

Cullman Mayor Woody Jacobs explained, “The Legislature passed the Act 2021-45, the (Darren) Wesley ‘Ato’ Hall Compassion Act (sponsored by (Republican) Sen. (Tim) Melson of Florence) a little over a year ago. This legalized the lawful usage of medical cannabis throughout the entire state, and it established the Alabama Medical Cannabis Commission. The law requires (sic) a municipality like us, or unincorporated area like Cullman County, to pass an ordinance to either authorize the location of a dispensing site within its jurisdictional boundaries or pass one to the contrary in order to preclude a dispensing site from locating within its jurisdictional boundaries. This can help people in need who qualify and generate revenue for Cullman.

“The AMCC is the governing body of the State which will process and decide which 37 locations of the state will be allowed to open » PAGE 7

CULLMAN, Ala. — TheraPlay Pediatric Sensory Gym of Cullman on Saturday hosted Connect Cullman County, which brought therapeutic service providers together for informational sessions with caregivers of children with mental or physical disabilities. The event was held at The Little House at Art Park.

TheraPlay Owner Janelle Britt said she created the event so families could learn about local therapeutic services. There were numerous families in attendance who were previously unaware of many of the services and were afforded the opportunity to ask questions of each provider.

The providers included Flourish of Cullman, Tiny Day Creative Play, Dynea Boyd of Legacy Salon, Hope Horses, Imagine ABA and the Cullman County Sheriff’s Office (CCSO).

Flourish of Cullman assists individuals with disabilities in becoming more independent by offering job coaching, life coaching and social integration opportunities with a circle of support.

Tiny Day Creative Play provides sensory bins and creative play items for early childhood learning. The sensory bins, with small pieces such as rice, crinkle paper or pebbles, are designed to promote fine motor skills, engage the senses and encourage imaginative play.

Dynea Boyd of Legacy Salon offers special needs haircuts at Legacy Salon every six weeks on Sundays. Boyd said, “There’s no blow dryers, no radio, no other people. It’s just me and the person and their parents or whoever wants to come.” Appointments » PAGE 3

Ryan Fortenberry, "Project Lifesaver is a tracking system that we can use for people - either children with Down Syndrome or autism, or dementia or Alzheimer's for older people."

The system is designed to locate people who are missing who have wandered away on foot. The program is sponsored by the Pilot Club of Cullman and is free to the residents of Cullman County.

The CCSO maintains the devices and will come out to change the batteries every 60 days and test the trackers. The trackers can be worn like a watch or around one's ankle.

amy@cullmantribune.com

SIMCOE, Ala. — A Cullman woman was killed in a late Saturday evening crash, according to Cullman County Coroner Jeremy Kilpatrick.

Kilpatrick identified the victim as 25-year-old Savannah Hamilton.

According to Alabama State Troopers, the crash occurred at approximately 10:47 p.m. Saturday, Aug. 20.

Troopers said Hamilton was fatally injured when the 2015 Hyundai Sonata she was driving struck a 2014 Nissan Sentra driven by James R. Rosenogle, 51, of Cullman.

After the initial collision, the Hyundai collided head on with a 2020 Ford Edge driven by Kenneth M. Kreps Jr., 50, also of Cullman.

Hamilton was pronounced deceased at the scene.

Kreps and a passenger in the Ford, Robin M. Kreps, 50, also of Cullman, were transported to Cullman Regional for treatment. Rosenogle was not injured.

The crash occurred on Alabama Highway 69 near the 251 mile marker, approximately 5 miles east of Cullman, in Cullman County.

Nothing further is available as Troopers with the Alabama Law Enforcement Agency's Highway Patrol Division continue to investigate.

'Be a leader on and off the court': Vinemont's Faith Rusk excited for senior year

Sammy Confer
sammy@cullmantribune.com

VINEMONT, Ala. — Fall sports have returned in Cullman County and across the state and that means it's the start of a busy year for Vinemont senior Faith Rusk. Rusk plays basketball, volleyball and softball for the Lady Eagles and she's looking forward to her final seasons with all three of her teams. Up first for Rusk is volleyball and she's excited to see what this year's experienced Lady Eagles squad can do.

"This year, personally and as a team, we have said that team bonding and communication is our main focus," Rusk said. "The team is coming back much older and with much more experience. Last year, we were pretty young and only had one senior. This year is much different as we have three seniors and multiple juniors that make up our team. Our experience on the court in general and playing together as a team will definitely help us as we make our way towards regionals."

Rusk has played for head coach Lance Lay for her whole volleyball career and has soaked up so much from him so far.

"Coach Lance Lay is way more than a coach to all of us. He cares about us as a person and not just a player. This season, he has explained to us seniors how important it is for us to be leaders on and off the court, because whether we know it or not, our team looks up to us," Rusk said.

"He also stressed to the team that team chemistry is very important because we need more than skill to make it far in our season. We all have skill and potentially individually, but we can't win games by ourselves. We need all five of our teammates backing us up in a game and our other teammates cheering us on from the side. That has helped me become a better player and teammate and I thank coach Lay for that and the many other things he's taught me these past seasons."

Rusk feels blessed to play on a special team and has worked to become a strong leader to the younger girls as well.

"This team is special to watch because there's so much potential and there's so much love for the game. Our team really leaves everything on the court every single game and I just think that's so much fun to watch as a leader and as a player," Rusk said. "It's an honor to be a leader on this team because there are so many girls that look up to me and the other seniors on the team. It's just so fun getting to be around them and learning from them and hoping they can learn something from me. I have taught them that there is a time and a place to have fun during volleyball, but when game time comes, everyone needs to be focused. I try to always lighten the mood and have fun with all of my teammates because it just makes volleyball even more fun."

Rusk's teammates have been checking on her during her recovery after her shoulder surgery and will try their best to win some games for her until she comes back.

"I'm glad that I at least get to watch my team from the side. I am sure that my team will be motivated to win for me because they have been super supportive and consistent with checking up on me throughout my recovery," Rusk said. "Our team goals are to communicate better as a team and hopefully make it all the way to regionals and win as much as we can there. We want a winning season to show that Vinemont is a competitive program and that people need to watch out for us."

Last season in basketball was a big step in the right direction for the Lady Eagles. Vinemont put double digits in the win column and Rusk loved to see how much they grew as a team.

"Last season was so much fun and we grew so much as a team and this year, we are much more experienced, and we have a great team bond that is going to take us even further in the postseason. We are so close, and we had so much fun playing last year.

"It was honestly just amazing to watch the younger girls on the team play so well against the much older opposing teams and I just feel honored to be able to watch and play with them as they grow because they are going to be great players when they become upperclassmen. They are definitely a group to watch out for in the upcoming years," Rusk said.

Rusk learned a lot from last season and has tried to continue learning as much as she can from coaches James Brown and Emme Willoughby.

"We really learned that you can't judge a book by its cover because there were so many teams that were bigger and older than us that we beat. There were also teams that beat us during the regular season that we came back and beat during area, like Danville. We all learned from that experience, and we all have so much confidence going into each and every game now because anything can happen once that clock starts. Coach Brown and coach Willoughby are some of the best coaches that I've ever had in basketball. They really know the game and they know how to teach it really well. I feel like I've learned more than I've ever learned before from them and the rest of the team agrees. They make the season fun and they're always cutting up with us, but they're also very serious and they make us stay on task. Honestly, I don't think that Vinemont could find better coaches for basketball, and I think that they can take the Vinemont basketball program very far."

Rusk has taught the younger girls so much as a leader, but the younger players have actually taught her a lot of things as well.

"It has been great being a leader to these younger girls. When I was their age, I really didn't have any older players to look up to and I really want that for them," she said. "I wish I could say that I've taught them a lot, but honestly, they have taught me a lot and I would love to thank them for that because they've made me a better basketball player. I've taught them to be a leader on and off the court and that they should always be there for each other even when we're losing or when they are on the sidelines. I have learned that it doesn't matter what people say about you or how small or how old you are, you can do whatever you want to do as long as you put the work in. All of the younger girls have shown me that because people have said that they can't do it and that they don't need to be on varsity, but they proved their point and now, everyone loves to come and watch them play and win games."

The team has been working on a lot during the summer and Rusk talked about the goals she has in mind for this upcoming year.

"We have been working on how to run plays better and learning how to adjust to other defenses as well as learning how to compete with people larger than us. Some of our goals are to make it past area and farther in regionals than we did this past year, and we all think that we can do it," she said.

Vinemont had a very young softball team last season and went through some growing pains, but they also gained a lot of experience that will be returning in 2023.

"Last year, we learned that anything can be thrown at us and at any point, we can lose a player or gain a player and we just have to learn to adjust to that. We also need a stronger team bond. We all need to learn how to bond as a team better and hopefully, this year will be a lot better," she said. "There is not much experience coming back this season. We lost a lot of valuable players last season, but this year, even with a younger team, we can rise above the challenges and win a bunch of games. We don't have a lot of experience playing together, but we have a lot of softball experience combined because a lot of the new girls play travel ball and have played softball all the way up until now, so we're hoping that factors into a winning season."

Rusk feels lucky to have played for some great coaches during her softball career at Vinemont.

"Coaches Whisenant, Davis, and Christansen are some of the most caring coaches I have ever had. They really do care about each and every one of us. They have taught me so much about my own strengths and how to use them," she said. "It is great to be a leader to the younger softball players and I love being on the team with them because they are always so much fun to be around. I taught them to put their health first. I hope that they have learned from my injury and that they will always put their health first."

Rusk can't wait to get back on the softball field with her team and has set some goals for herself and the team for 2023.

"Coming back from an injury is going to make this season even more special for me. I've been playing softball every season since I was five years old, and I have been pitching since I was seven. I couldn't imagine my senior year without either one of those things. I'm so excited for the season and I can't wait to be back on the field 100% healthy," she said. "My individual goals for this season are getting my pitching back to where it was before the injury, focusing on raising my speed as well as keeping my consistency, and maybe trying to fine-tune my rise ball. The team goals for this season are to make it past area. We have some hard competition coming up, but we hung in close with them last season and we're coming back for revenge this time. We want to put Vinemont back on other teams' radars and show them that we can compete with them."

Homeschoolers (from Front)

sara@cullmantribune.com

CULLMAN, Ala. — Local mom Jennifer Garcia, along with a group of other homeschool parents, in 2018 started the Cullman Homeschool Activities & Resource Group (CHARGe). The group was created to serve homeschool families in and around Cullman and offers activities, field trips and social learning opportunities. Garcia said she gains three to five new members every week. It is part of a larger resource for families: the Cullman Homeschool Connection.

Of her decision to homeschool her own children, now 24, 19, 14 and 11, Garcia said, "I did not believe school, as society has structured it, was meant to create well-rounded, truly educated people. Children should be taught how to think, to question, to seek out and devour knowledge – both secular and scriptural."

Now a homeschool veteran, having been doing it for almost 20 years, Garcia said she was not always so confident in her choice.

"In the beginning, I second guessed. It was terrifying to realize that by homeschooling I was solely responsible for educating my child, and if I failed, he would pay the price; however, I knew that 'God hath not given us the spirit of fear; but of power, and of love, and of a sound mind.' With God at my right hand, I would not be moved," she shared.

"The true test came when we discovered our son had convergence insufficiency, an eye condition that delayed his ability to read on his own until he was about 11. Today, that child is a physicist with concentrations in both theoretical as well as astrophysics about to graduate with his master's (degree)."

Garcia believes that by allowing children to foster their own interests and not forcing them into extracurricular activities they do not want to do, it allows them to develop faster in the areas they prefer.

"If you let a child go in the direction that they're interested (in), as long as it's a productive direction, and you just try to guide them – they're just little people – by the time they get to be a teenager they are going to have a much better idea of what they want to do," she said.

Garcia said she requires her kids to accomplish a certain amount of work in each subject daily, so they cannot spend all of their time on their specific interests, but they are able to learn at the rate they choose in each subject.

She explained, "There are so many people that are leaving public schools, and I am not anti-teacher; we've got some great public school teachers, but it is not designed to be individualized education. It's designed to herd as many kids through as possible and educate to their lowest common denominator through 'no child left behind.'"

When Garcia moved back to Cullman from Madison in 2015, she said, she realized there were not many resources for homeschoolers.

"Home School Connection was started in 2017 to be a voice for homeschoolers in the Cullman area," she said. "Cullman Homeschool Co-op was created in 2016 and CHARGe in 2018. Each are different levels of the same organization and have different purposes."

CHARGe was created to bring the community together and help people find their niche, she said. It is a resource and support group for those who would rather free range their activities instead of committing to a co-op – a cooperative school where parents meet regularly to trade skills.

Garcia said she has no issues keeping her kids socialized. Through Cullman Homeschool Co-op, many kids are educated in a group with other homeschoolers two to three times a week. There are also several extracurricular activities planned for the CHARGe group.

"We always have something planned: graduation, field day, game club, prom, field trips, teen social activities like a murder mystery party or a winter dance, an arts festival.

"We have homeschool skate every month. As homeschoolers, we have to create our own activities and opportunities for our kiddos – no one is going to do it for us. A couple of years ago we did a learning lab at the water plant where the kids built their own water filtration system and tested it against the municipal system. It was a great experience," she said.

Cullman Homeschool Skate was held last Friday at Sportsworld Skate Center in Vinemont as a back-to-school bash for the kids.

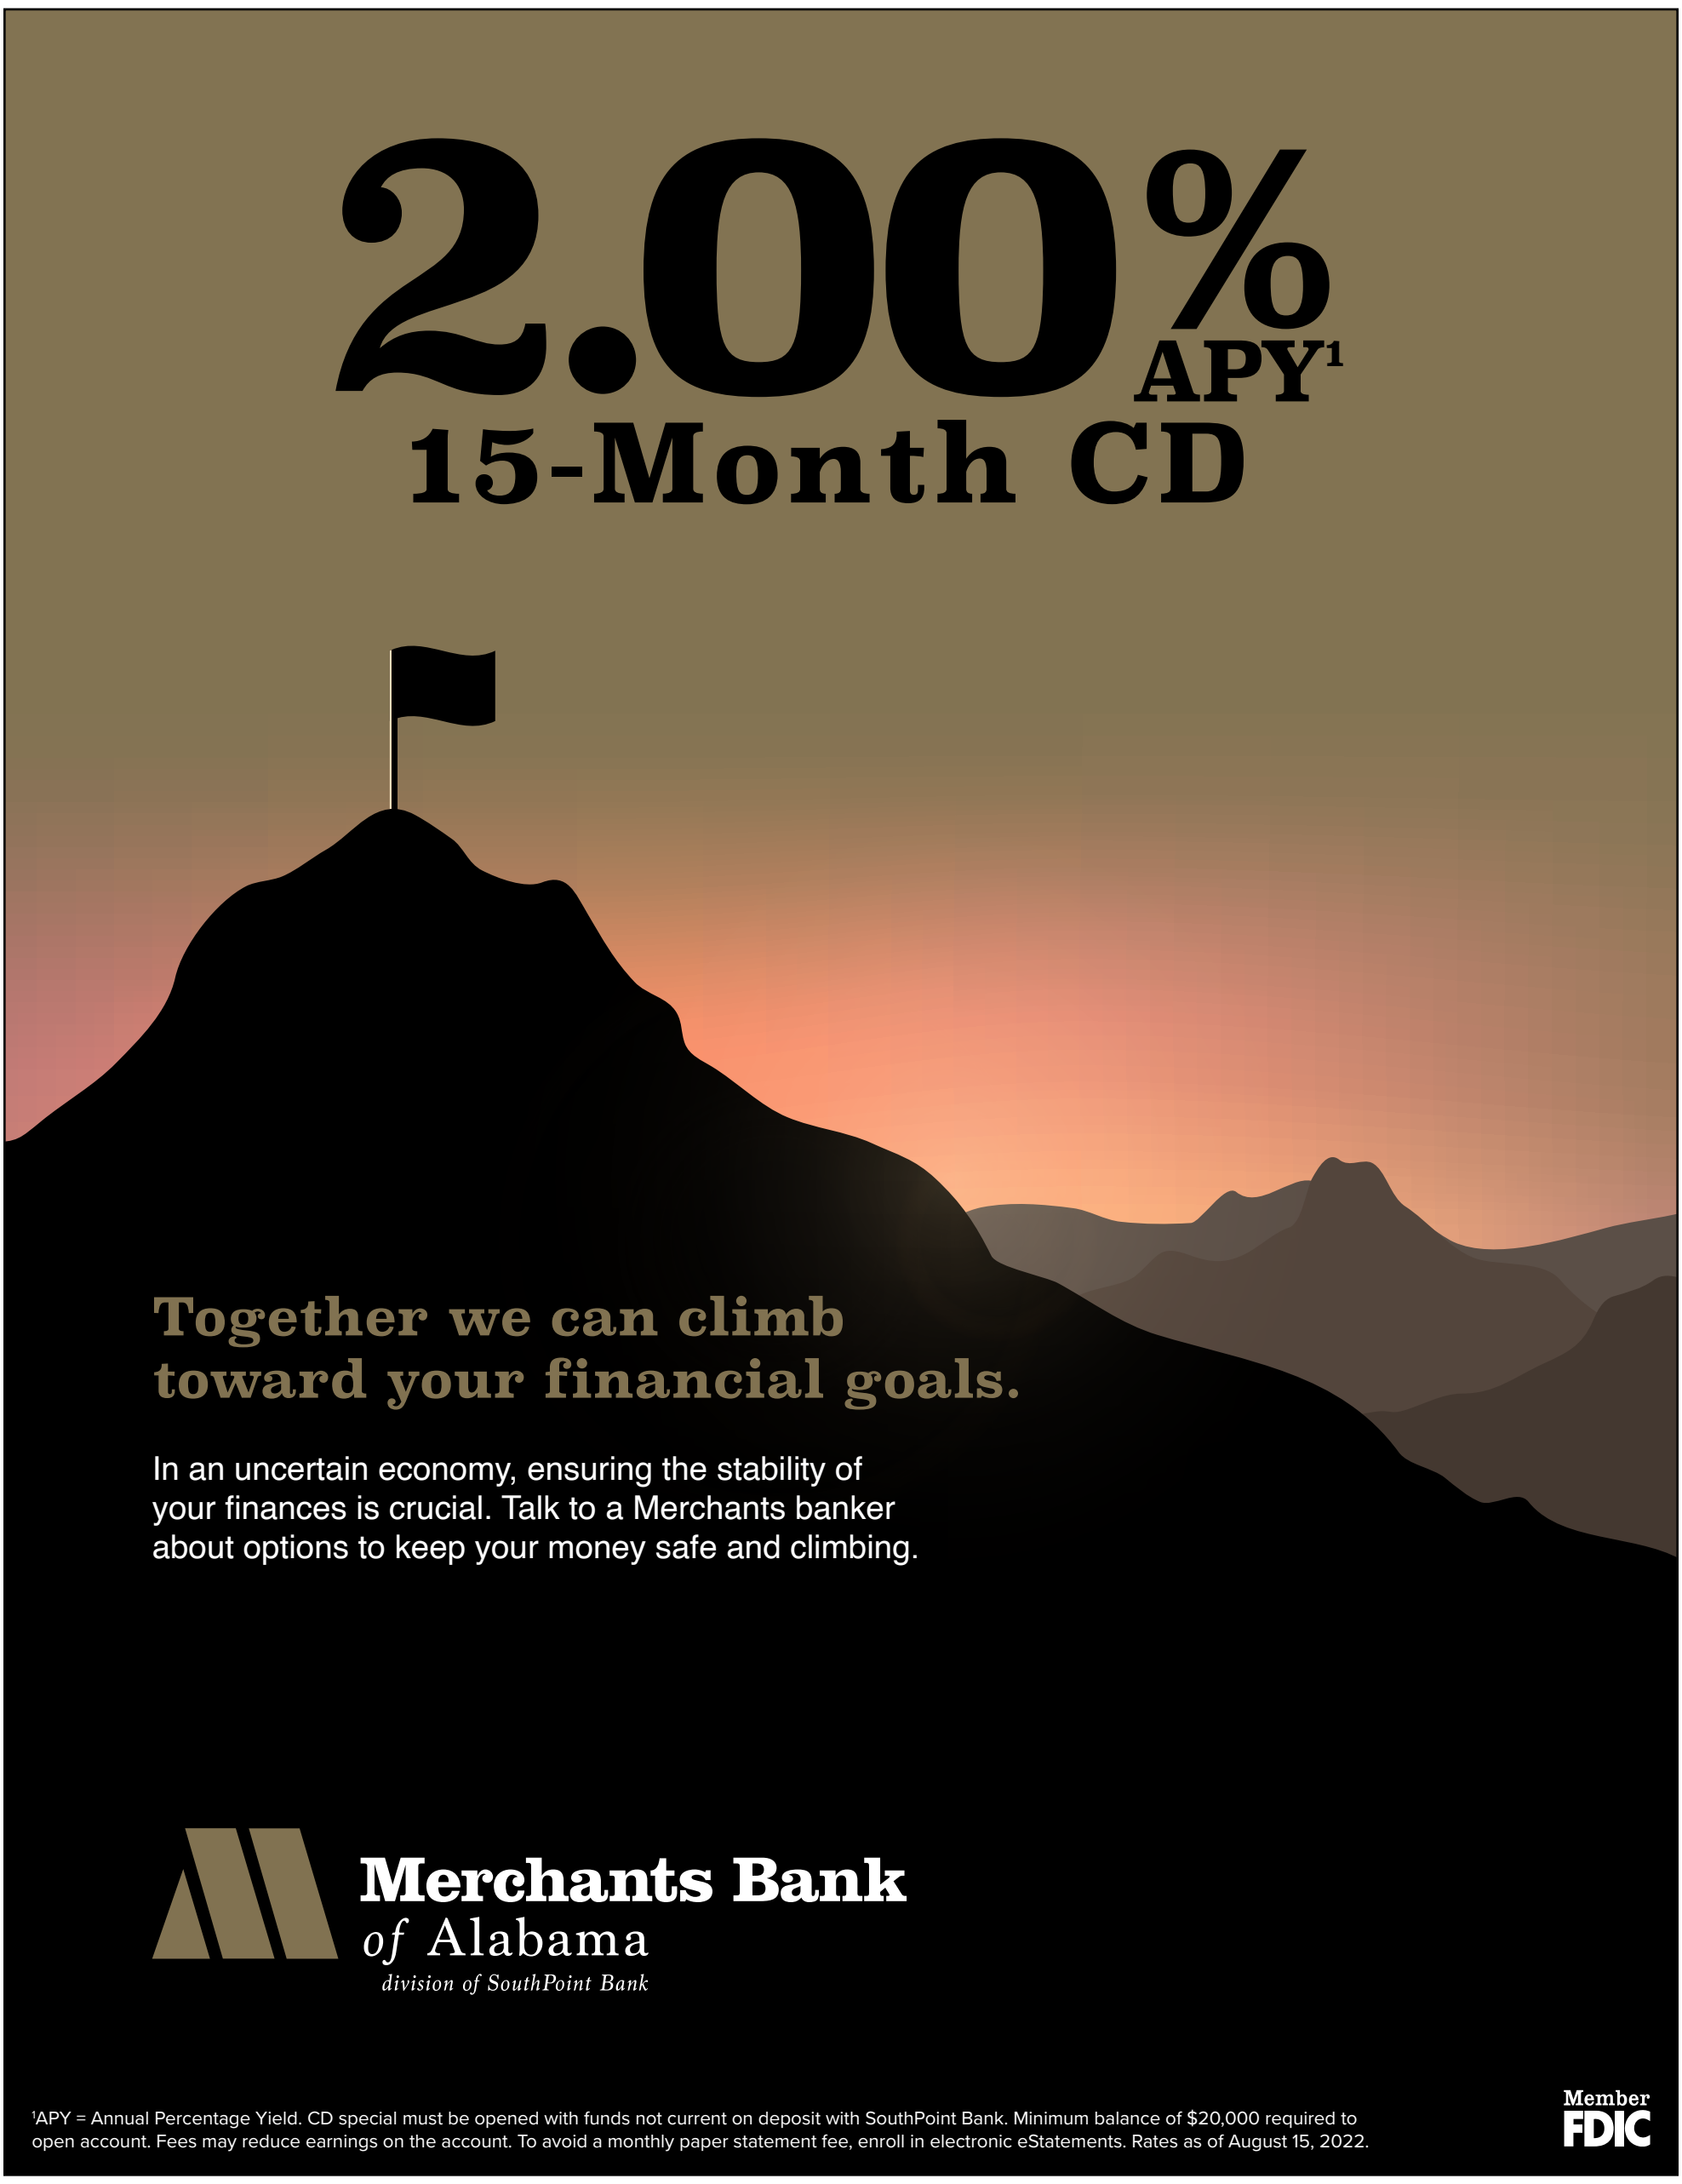

CHARGe has a baseball team coached by homeschool dads John Preiss, Ron Hill and Cory Drummond.

"We are planning long term to do soccer, football as well. We have enough kids to form the team, have a sponsor for uniforms, a home field, had our first practice and already have agreements for opponents."

The Cullman Homeschool Drama Club was formed to give kids a chance to perform small productions and practice their acting skills in preparation for community auditions. There are two locations for participation: Cullman (Cullman Homeschool Connection) and Hanceville (Center Hill Baptist Church).

CULLMAN, Ala. — Volunteer Donna Ruttkay of the Cullman County Animal Shelter shares this week's Cullman Tribune Pet of the Week: Rubble.

Rubble is a fabulous mix of shepherd, Aussie and heeler (or healer!) who is approximately 2.5-3 years old. While being an unassuming fellow, he loves to play with his toys and be by someone's side.

The tri-colored boy has low to medium energy and loves playing in the kiddie pool. If you live at the lake or near a pond, Rubble is the pet for you. He is well suited for walks on a leash, hiking and life as a companion or therapy dog.

Rubble's adoption fee includes his DHLPP vaccine, Bordetella vaccines, rabies vaccine, wormer, general exam at the vet and microchip.

Contact the Cullman County Animal Shelter at 256-734-5448 or cullmancountyanimalshelter@gmail.com or visit the shelter at 935 Convent Road NE.

We are delighted to report that former Pets of the Week, Edith and Trouble, have been matched with loving homes.

Rates (from Front)

Amy Leonard

CULLMAN, Ala. — The Cullman County Commission recently voted in favor of a sanitation rate increase to go into effect Oct. 1.

Residential service rates will increase $3 a month from $12.01 to $15.01. Exempted from the 75 cents a week increase will be seniors, age 65 and older, whose rates will remain the same, at $7.82 a month. Senior rates are available by calling the sanitation department at 256-287-1142. The cost for additional cans will remain the same at $7 per month.

This is the first increase in sanitation rates for the county in 10 years and was cited as necessary due to the department losing money every year, according to Cullman County Sanitation Department Director Larry Rollo.

"What we need to do is we just need to get on the CPI schedule, the consumer price index, which would give us an increase every year and then we don't have to go every 10 years and go up as much at one time," he said.

The CPI is a statistical measurement monitoring the cost of living by tracking the average change in price consumers pay for a sample of goods and services.

After Rollo's statements to the commission, a motion was made and then seconded by Commissioner Garry Marchman, who said, "You're right, Rollo. We're operating at a deficit and that's the key to all of this.

"We're operating in the hole right now, and we've got to go up on rates just to level out."

a dispensing site. There are 67 counties, so not everyone is going to have a site. You may recall that the (Cullman) County Commission passed a resolution to this exact same effect last month. The checks and balances that the AMCC has in place are very stringent in every phase, from planting, to cultivating, to processing, to dispensing – all of which will occur only in Alabama. This ordinance will allow for the dispensing site portion, if the AMCC grants the City an ability to host one and a potential licensee then chooses. These are essentially pharmacy-like entities that will sell the 'doctor-prescribed' cannabis to the valid card/ID holder who is listed in the statewide patient registry system/database. Our zoning ordinance will also require amending since this is new category of non-residential use which we did not previously foresee.

"It is like President Trump pointed out a few years back – there is the harsh reality of the pain and suffering that many Americans go through who face daunting medical issues such as terminal diseases, PTSD, Parkinson's, etc. Through extensive research, medical cannabis has been shown to bring comfort and a better quality of life to those who are suffering both physically and/or mentally from these medical issues. This will also be a benefit to their caregivers and loved ones.

"There may be a 'Woodstock' misconception of this Act and medical cannabis in general, but it is exactly just that – medical, not recreational, and it is prohibited in raw plant form, prohibited in a form that can be smoked or vaped and prohibited in a food product form. This is just simply the first step required by the AMCC and the State. This is an opportunity."

Wagon Trail Hemp Farm, located in Cullman County, will be applying for a license to be one of Alabama's five integrated medial cannabis facilities.

The AMCC will begin accepting applications on Sept. 1. Joey Robertson of Wagon Trail plans for at least 30 employees at his facility in addition to using off-duty law enforcement to provide security on the farm.

Alabama Act 2021-450 reads: "Notwithstanding any other provision of this chapter to the contrary, the commission shall not permit a dispensary to operate a dispensing site in any municipality or unincorporated area of a county unless the municipality or county has authorized the operation of dispensing sites within its boundaries, as provided in subdivision. Any county commission, by resolution, may authorize the operation of dispensing sites in the unincorporated areas of the county, and the governing body of any municipality, by ordinance, may authorize the operation of dispensing sites within the corporate limits of the municipality. The county commission or municipal governing body shall notify the commission not more than seven calendar days after adopting the resolution or ordinance. This subsection does not prohibit a municipality from adopting zoning ordinances restricting the operation of dispensing sites within its corporate limits."

The sale of raw plant materials, materials that can be vaped or smoked and edible products will be prohibited.

The following items will be sold:

- Oral tablets, capsules and tinctures
- cubes (non-sugar coated) and lozenges
- Oil, gel, cream and topical preparations

- Liquid or oil for inhaler use

- Epilepsy or seizure-inducing conditions
- HIV/AIDS-related weight loss and nausea

MONTGOMERY, Ala. — An outstanding group of senior adults was honored Sunday, Aug. 21, 2022, with induction into the Alabama Senior Citizens Hall of Fame during a ceremony in Montgomery. In addition to the 10 permanent inductees into the Hall of Fame, other seniors were recognized for contributions and service to their communities.

The 2022 Senior Citizens Hall of Fame inductees are: Johnny Crear, Selma; Ann P. Gordon, Atmore; James Harris, Wedowee; Gwendolyn Howard, Gordon; Albert Kirkland, Dothan; Mal Dewayne McGhee, Atmore; Andrew Michael Onderdonk, Chatom; Colonel Shirley Rogers, Tuskegee; Dr. David Thrasher, Montgomery; and George Anthony Yarbrough, Prattville.

Special awards were presented to 19 senior citizens for outstanding service in other categories, including Lifetime Achievement, Community Service, Military, Religion, Government and Volunteerism.

Twenty-two couples who have been married 65 years or more, and 22 individuals who are 100 years old or older, were also recognized during the program.

"This is the one major event in Alabama each year where individuals are formally honored and recognized for their selfless advocacy and dedication to serving older adults in their community," said Jean Brown, commissioner of the Alabama Department of Senior Services. "We are proud to celebrate the achievements of the Alabamians selected for the Senior Citizens Hall of Fame awards."

Those honored in the Hall of Fame ceremony were nominated by members of their community and chosen by the Senior Citizens Hall of Fame Selection Committee. The Hall of Fame was created by the Alabama Legislature in 1983 to honor and recognize Alabamians aged 60 and older for their outstanding contributions to the lives of older Americans.
