HANCEVILLE, Ala. — Located on Commercial Street in downtown Hanceville, The Stampin' Elephant opened its doors with grandeur and grace on Friday, Jan. 27. The craft studio and specialized gift shop is the creation of Michelle Woosley, and with the help of her husband Rocky, a ribbon cutting was hosted with members of the community.

A California native, Woosley and her husband moved to Hanceville not long ago and said they felt right at home almost immediately.

"My husband has family all over and Hanceville is situated between family in Ohio and family in Florida," shared Woosley.

"Everyone was so kind and friendly when we moved here and I knew that it was home."

As members of the Cullman Area Chamber of Commerce shopped from the wide array of gift baskets, baby gifts, luxury bath salts and crafting supplies, exclamations of "Oh, that's so cute!" and "Did you see this?" were heard from Director of Membership and Marketing Katie Dansby and Director of Programs Paige Clabo.

Their assessment of The Stampin' Elephant and its atmosphere was echoed by many.

Ivey announces almost $192M in broadband expansion funds

Staff Reports
Contributor

MONTGOMERY, Ala. — Alabama's efforts to extend access to broadband service to unserved areas received a boost with the U.S. Treasury Department's approval of the state's plan for the Capital Projects Fund, making $191.8 million available for broadband expansion, Gov. Kay Ivey announced.

The Alabama Department of Economic and Community Affairs (ADECA) will administer the funds as part of a grant program to support projects to extend service to previously unserved areas of the state.

The use of the funds, which are part of the American Rescue Plan Act, for broadband expansion was approved by the Legislature last year. ADECA then worked to create a plan outlining use of the funds and submitted it to the U.S. Treasury Department in September 2022, with approval announced today.

"Access to broadband is a necessity in today's world, and I continue to make it a priority that our state has the full ability to be connected to high-speed internet," said Ivey.

"I often say that broadband expansion is a journey, not a short trip.

"These funds will enable us to take several more strides in that journey toward full access no matter where you live in Alabama."

The governor has made increasing access to broadband a top priority. She stated during her inaugural address that Alabama will be a national model when it comes to broadband expansion.

ADECA's Alabama Digital Expansion Division will roll out the competitive grant program in the coming months.

The program will be modeled after the Alabama Broadband Accessibility Fund, which ADECA has administered since 2018. Grants will be available for internet service providers to make "last-mile" connections to previously unserved homes, businesses and community institutions. Once connected, residents will have the ability to become a customer of the broadband providers.

ADECA will announce application details, deadlines and a workshop for the grant program in the coming months. If awarded, providers will have approximately two years to complete the major infrastructure projects which must provide connections of at least 100 megabits per second download/100 megabits per second upload.

"Under Governor Ivey's leadership and with a strong team effort among the Legislature, internet service providers and many others, the state has made progress in expanding access to high-speed internet," said ADECA Director Kenneth Boswell. "While the need is still great, these funds will enable us to make further progress in closing the digital divide in Alabama."

Since 2018, Ivey has awarded $63.9 million in state funds to support 100 projects through the Alabama Broadband Accessibility Fund. Once all those projects are completed, access to broadband will be available to approximately 61,000 more households, businesses and community institutions that currently have no option to subscribe.

The agency has also developed a statewide broadband map and the Alabama Connectivity Plan, which guide the state's expansion efforts into unserved areas. In September 2022, Ivey announced a grant to support broadband "middle-mile" network infrastructure to improve access for last-mile projects.

Improvement (from Front)

amy@cullmantribune.com

In January of last year, Governor Kay Ivey awarded $18.2 million in Community Development Block Grants (CDBG) to fund infrastructure improvements and upgrades all over the state. The grant gives local governments the ability to provide water service to homes, repair roads, upgrade sewer and storm drainage systems and more.

Two projects in Cullman were funded out of the $18.2 million awarded last year. The first was for drainage improvements and road resurfacing on County Road 18 near Bremen. The second was for street and drainage improvements on Warnke Road, my street for the past 10 years, on the city's west side.

The good

The infrastructure upgrades underway are proactive and can be seen as preventative medicine. Our city is turning 150 years old this year, and while working on water and sewage lines might not be as glamorous as the Christmas Tree Lighting in Depot Park each December, it's necessary and needed.

A quick call to Cullman City Hall revealed that the pipes that are being replaced along my road have been in use since the 1940s-50s. At 70-80 years old, the water, sewage and storm water drainage systems are on borrowed time.

Jackson, Mississippi is just one of many cities facing a water crisis after a system failure five months ago. As crews work diligently to replace the pipe system, families will be faced with water outages during the next 10 years.

Hinds County Administrator Kenneth Jones said of the situation in an interview with Fox News, "Every move you make to try to alleviate this problem causes pressure to go in another direction. And, when it gets to one direction, there are old pipes, or the water main breaks. And, when the water mains start to break, it shifts pressure everywhere. It's especially hard on our businesses."

I cannot fathom what it would be like to live without clean running water such as the residents in Jackson or in Flint, Michigan. It sounds like such a preposterous situation in a country of great affluence. I don't even want to allow my imagination to consider the horrors of living with a sewage system failure.

As a homeowner, the prospect of the value of my home increased without me having to make an investment is a good deal in my book. Improved and updated infrastructure and new roads increase property value. That's good math.

People are FINALLY, for the most part, respecting the 25 mph speed limit on Warnke Road. Personally, I'd rather leave the potholes than live with the careless speeders who are historically on parade at 7:30 a.m. and 2:30 p.m.

But the City maintains that it will be resurfacing the road once the pipework is completed, so the speed demons will be back and I can't get approval for spike strips. I'll still help them when they land in the ditch with their phone in hand and kids crying in the backseat.

The bad

For the past two months and for the near future, my car has been and will be dirty. Occasionally, always with prior notification, I'm without water for a few hours. I'm tasked with finding creative routes home. In summation, I'm inconvenienced.

The ugly

I have had a front seat to witness the rudeness and temper tantrums of grown people who view their inconveniences as a modern day tragedy of Shakespearean proportions. I don't know about y'all's upbringing but I'm almost 50 years old and still live with a healthy fear of my family elders. Yes, they have passed and yes I am still scared that they would snatch me up from the great beyond and tie a knot in my tail if I acted with such foolishness. Maybe it's because I'm from a blue collar family and was taught to respect. Full stop. I was taught to respect.

The men who have been working in the cold and rain this winter on my road have been nothing but courteous, respectful and accommodating to me. They don't know me from Adam's housecat yet are always willing to stop what they're doing to move vehicles and equipment to accommodate my schedule. They always apologize for the inconvenience. That part just kills me. They are out here busting their tails to provide improved services to me, my family and my home and they apologize to me for inconveniencing me.

Gentlemen, thank you. Thank you for taking care of the dirty work that provides us with clean drinking water, sewage pipes and roads. Thank you for your patience in dealing with reporters who keep odd working hours and come and go many times a day. Thank you for your service to our city. Thank you.

COUNTY TOURNAMENT

Holly Pond, Fairview, Good Hope, Hanceville capture county championships

Nick Griffin
nick@cullmantribune.com

HANCEVILLE, Ala. – Another Cullman County Tournament is officially in the books and four new champions were crowned at Tom Drake Coliseum Saturday. In the JV finals, the Holly Pond Lady Broncos capped off their tournament run with a 38-29 win over Fairview to win the title and in the boys' game, Fairview's Gavin Pace knocked down a three at the buzzer to give the Aggies a dramatic, 40-37 win over West Point. In the varsity championships, the Good Hope Lady Raiders cruised past Cold Springs 65-29 to remain unbeaten and claim their second consecutive county title and we had another dramatic finish in the boys' game. A three-pointer from Hanceville's Brayden Harris tied the game in the final seconds of regulation and the Bulldogs went on to edge out Good Hope 64-63 in overtime to win their first county championship since 2016.

Good Hope 65 – Cold Springs 29 (Varsity Girls Championship)

Rudi Derrick put in a layup and Bailey Tetro knocked down a floater to give Good Hope an early 4-0 lead, but Cold Springs trimmed it to 4-3 on a trey by Ella Bruer. The Lady Raiders would counter with a three each from Bailey Tetro and Ivey Maddox to make it 10-3 with less than five minutes to go in the opening period. Kenady Graves put in one of her own from long-range to cut it to 10-6, but Maddox and Heather Tetro each knocked down a three to stretch the Lady Raider lead to 16-6. Maddox and Derrick each hit a basket to make it 20-6, but Bruer hit another trey and Ciara Calvert put in a shot down low to trim it to 20-11 late in the period. Maddox drilled a deep three before the buzzer to give Good Hope a 24-11 lead going into the second period.

Hanceville 64 – Good Hope 63 (OT) (Varsity Boys Championship)

Brayden Harris and Braxton Broad each drained three-pointers to give the Bulldogs a 6-0 start early in the first quarter. Colton Lindsey hit a pair of free throws to cut into the lead but Zach Campbell took a steal the other way for an easy basket to make it 8-2. Dakota Overton laid one in off a turnover to trim the lead to 8-4 and following another score by Harris, K'mal Bell drilled a three from the left corner to make it a 10-7 game. A basket from Lindsey and a three-pointer by Eli Clements tied the game at 12 late in the opening period but Noah Jones scored inside to put Hanceville back in front 14-12. Weston Hancock and Konnor Helms traded baskets to keep the score at 16-14 with 30 seconds remaining in the first but Clements sank a pair of free throws in the final seconds of the quarter to tie the game at 16 going into the second.

Overton buried a three to start the second quarter and give the Raiders their first lead of the night at 19-16 and after another steal and score by Campbell, Lindsey laid one in to keep Good Hope in front 21-18. However, Broad netted a pair of free throws and scored of an offensive rebound to reclaim a 22-21 lead for the Bulldogs and Harris drilled another three to make it a 25-21 game. Buckets from Hancock and Tyler Cone tied things back up at 25 with two minutes to play in the first half and Hancock laid one in with one minute on the clock to give the Raiders a 27-25 advantage at the halftime break.

Calvert and Bell traded three-pointers at the start of the third to make it a 30-28 game and after a Carson Garrett basket tied the score at 30, baskets from Cone and Lindsey gave Good Hope a 34-30 lead. Harris laid one in and Calvert drained another three to move the Bulldogs back in front 35-34 midway through the period and the lead changed hands with each basket throughout most of the third quarter. Campbell pulled down an offensive rebound and put it back in to score and give Hanceville a 41-38 lead and on the next Bulldogs possession, he banked in a deep three to put them ahead 44-40 with 15 seconds remaining in the quarter. However, Lindsey was able to score down low in the final seconds of the period to cut the lead to 44-42 going into the final frame.

Cone got a pair of running floaters to fall at the start of the fourth, giving the Raiders a 46-44 lead. Campbell knocked down another three to put Hanceville in front 47-46 but Good Hope answered with a bucket by Lindsey and a three from Bell to move ahead 51-47 with five minutes to play. Another three-pointer by Harris trimmed the lead to 55-50 later in the period and Campbell scored another basket off a turnover to make it a 3-point game with three minutes remaining. Lindsey and Calvert exchanged buckets to make it a 57-54 game with two minutes on the clock but both teams struggled with ball security in the final 90 seconds, setting up an inbound pass for Hanceville with about 20 seconds to play in regulation. The Bulldogs brought the ball up the floor with the final seconds ticking away and Harris drilled his biggest three-pointer of the night to tie the score at 57 and send the game to overtime.

A basket from Bell and a pair of Lindsey free throws gave Good Hope a 61-57 lead just a couple minutes into the overtime period but Hanceville was able to seize the momentum after that. Broad laid one in to make it a 2-point game and Garrett buried a three to give the Bulldogs a 62-61 lead with one minute on the clock. On the ensuing inbound pass, Broad stole the ball and laid it up and in to make it a 64-61 game and the Raiders called timeout to draw up their final play. Good Hope's three-point attempt was off the mark and Cone scored on a putback as time expired but it wasn't enough to erase the deficit and Hanceville held on to win a 64-63 thriller over the defending champs.

Harris and Campbell each finished with 16 points for Hanceville and Broad posted 11. Lindsey led the way for Good Hope with 18 points in the loss, followed by Bell with 13 and Cone with 12.

A free throw from Carson Jones tied things up at 6 with less than two minutes to play in the quarter and a three-pointer from Zayden Cruce put the Aggies in front 9-6 going into the second.

A pair of Trace Richardson free throws and a basket from Gavin Pace extended Fairview's lead to 13-6 midway through the second quarter. Pace sank two more free throws later in the period to make it a 15-6 game and buckets from Jones and Richardson made it 19-6 with less than two minutes remaining in the first half. A three-pointer by West Point's Cade Welborn stopped a 13-0 Aggie run and Jaxon Shelton scored inside to trim the lead to 19-11 but Pace scored another basket for Fairview with 30 seconds on the clock to give the Aggies a 21-11 lead at the break.

The Warriors began to close the gap in the third quarter. Chapman laid one in to bring the lead down to single digits and Welborn scored on back to back possessions to make it 24-18 with four minutes to play in the period. Pace and Cruce drilled a pair of three-pointers later in the quarter to stretch the lead to 33-25 but another score from Chapman and a free throw from Shelton cut the lead to 33-28 going into the fourth quarter.

CULLMAN, Ala. — After a pellet gun was found in a Cullman High School trash can during the weekend's cleaning, school administrators are investigating what is thought to be an isolated incident.

"The administrators at Cullman High School are reviewing camera footage from Friday in the area where the pellet gun was located," Cullman City Schools Superintendent Kyle Kallhoff shared with The Tribune. "I want to thank the cleaning crew for reporting this as well as the administration's transparency and swiftness with the matter. Possession of a weapon on school grounds is against the law and will lead to a recommendation to the board of education for expulsion from school (Code of Alabama Section 16-1-24.10). We encourage parents to share any information they may have about this situation with the school administration." Any guardian, parent or student with any information is encouraged to contact school administration.

Wallace State hosts robotics tournaments

Gail Crutchfield
Wallace State

HANCEVILLE, Ala. — Wallace State Community College welcomed more than 40 teams to campus this past weekend for VEX IQ robotics competitions for elementary and middle school students.

Competitions were held in the Wellness Center practice gym, with hundreds of participants and spectators.

"For the students, they learn so much more than how to snap a part together," said Terry Ayers, chair of the Wallace State Computer Science program and sponsor of the WSCC STEM Club, which sponsored the event. "They learn teamwork skills, personal, communication skills, collaborative skills and a lot of conflict resolution. Because a lot of kids will have different idea about how to build a robot and if the other students disagree with how the robot's built, it gives them an opportunity to work through those differences of opinion so that ultimately, they will come together as a team and be able to compete more effectively."

VEX IQ is a snap-together robotics system designed to provide opportunities to students in elementary and early middle school.

The VEX IQ competition allows students to build and program robots, encouraging teamwork, problem solving and leadership as teams construct and operate their robots.

In addition to the game competition, teams are judged on items like team interview, robot design, programming and engineering notebook as part of their overall scores.

Teams advancing to the state competitions to be held the week of Feb. 18 at Auburn University include:

- Excellence Award – Mountain Brook Junior High School (The Nutria Rats)
- Excellence Award – New Bethel Elementary School (EagleBots)
- Teamwork Champion Award – Mountain Brook Junior High (MB-FLOUV)
- Teamwork Champion Award – Mountain Brook Junior High (The Nutria Rats)
- Design Award – Bankhead Middle School (Blue Devil Divas)

Other awards were presented to:

- Teamwork Second Place Award – Etowah Middle School (Etowah Outlaws)
- Teamwork Second Place Award- Etowah Middle School (Big Blue)
