CULLMAN, Ala. — The sun was warm and bright and the crawfish deliciously fresh and spicy at Goat Island Brewing Friday afternoon, March 24. The bayou-bred team from Hank's Sports Bar boiled crawfish, shrimp, sausage, potatoes and corn on-site as a fundraiser hosted by United Way of Cullman County's (UWCC's) Young Professionals Board- the first crawfish boil fundraiser it has hosted since COVID-19.

Said UWCC Executive Director Waid Harbison, "COVID-19 was a very difficult time for United Way. We were unable to have a lot of our big events like Day of Caring, Stuff the Bus and many other long-term things we had done for the community."

Harbison said that by missing these major events, UWCC also missed out on key opportunities to fund its mission of increasing » PAGE 4

Wiggins (from Front)

Erik Gaffron
MLF

CULLMAN, Ala. — After moving into the lead on Day 2, Jordan Wiggins put it to 'em on the final day of the Toyota Series Presented by Phoenix Boats Central Division event on Lewis Smith Lake for the win. Weighing 14 pounds, 8 ounces on Championship Thursday, Wiggins totaled 44-14 to win by more than 4 pounds. For the win, Wiggins will take home $90,500 in cash and contingency money and add another chapter to the family scrapbook on Smith Lake.

"Man, I am speechless," Wiggins said. "I've been close so many times. I blew it on an open down here where all I had to do was catch 12 pounds and I couldn't do it. That was not going to happen today. I was going to do whatever I had to do to catch 13 to 15. I went as fast as I could go to places where I have caught them this time of year and it just worked out."

Wiggins got started early on the final day, limiting and culling quickly to work his way into the low teens.

"The start this morning was just unbelievable," he said. "I mean I won it in the first hour, to be honest with you. I had 13-something then, and in the end, it all worked out. I thought if I could catch 15 pounds, I was for sure going to win it because 17 pounds down here is hard to do. But you can pull into a spawning pocket on a herring bite and catch 17 pounds, and that was what made me nervous."

A shaky head did the bulk of the work for Jordan Wiggins. After chasing fish that were staging in ditches and drains to open the event, Wiggins switched gears midway through the morning of Day 2. He went to work on shelf rock and structure with immediate deep-water access that spotted bass were using to spawn. He said he focused on darker-colored banks that featured large chunk rocks and docks, a mix he felt was key to attracting spawners.

"I feel like I kind of got lucky because they were moving up as the tournament went along," Wiggins said. "I had a ditch bite going the first day. I caught two big ones, like a 4 and about a 3 ¼ and that's what got me [almost] 16 the first day. I tried to make the ditch bite work [on Day 2], I caught a limit but there just weren't any big ones. So, I abandoned it and went to a stretch where they typically spawn every year, and they were all the right ones."

Wiggins attempted to take advantage of the herring spawn as bluebird skies and moderate winds took hold on Lewis Smith, but it didn't turn out to be productive. Ultimately, the same spawning pattern he'd been on since Day 2 showed him the path to victory, as he used a 3/16-ounce homemade shaky head and a green pumpkin 6.5-inch Reaction Innovations Flirt Worm to seal the deal.

"I tried to make the wake bait bite work and it just wasn't happening," he said. "I'd gone into two places towards the end of the day and caught two 3-pounders on the shaky head that kind of bumped me up to what I had."

The whole Wiggins crew was involved this week.

Jordan's brother, Bass Pro Tour angler Jesse Wiggins, made an appearance on Day 3 also, showing up with his own kids in tow to support his brother and lifelong fishing buddy.

"That's awesome," he said. "He drove all the way back from the Bass Pro Tour event just to watch me fish. That is special, man. If he fishes in a bigger tournament down here, then I follow him around. It's just solid support, you can't ask for anything better. [The family] has my back through thick and thin, it's awesome. We are just a fishing family."

Jesse wasn't the only Wiggins member deserving of a shoutout in Jordan's eyes, as the whole Wiggins family came out to weigh in to show support throughout the week.

"I got to give a shoutout to my wife Whitney," said Wiggins. "She puts up with me fishing week in and week out, I'm always gone it seems like, but she's stuck with me so far. My kids keep me going also, they support me big time. I also must thank St. Croix rods, G.A.F. Marine, and Reaction Innovations. They've all helped me out, so I've got to give them a shout-out."

Need (from Front)

Cayla Grace Murphy

HANCEVILLE, Ala. — Hunger and food insecurity are statewide issues, and Wallace State Community College (WSCC) is no exception. Christine Wiggins, Title III director, and Bobby Tarvin, coordinated care specialist, are continuing the college's tradition of meeting the needs of hungry students through Lions' Kitchen.

Lions' Kitchen is a food and toiletries pantry made available to WSCC students, though it's not the first resource like this the college has offered.

"Lions' Kitchen was officially established in 2018, but food pantries and efforts to feed students have existed on Wallace State's campus for many years," remarked Wiggins. "Whether it was a drawer of snacks offered by a teacher, a cabinet of kitchen staples stocked by success coaches or Campus Ministries hosting Food for Thought - a free meal every other Monday – the college has long made efforts to feed her students when the need was known."

In fact, Wiggins shared, Wallace State's Campus Ministries had an on-campus food closet/food pantry for students that existed for more than 20 years, until 2018. It was stocked and supported by local churches, and students were referred there for food when needed. That closet/pantry was in addition to Food for Thought meals.

Through a grant from the United States Department of Education, Lions' Kitchen changed management in June 2022, allowing for dedicated staff to run the program. While the grant focused on meeting the basic needs of students, food is an unallowable expense, leading to a dependence on donations to keep the pantry up and running, said Wiggins, who added, "We are constantly fundraising, increasing awareness and encouraging donations."

Wiggins said the most requested and recommended donations are granola/cereal bars, canned or pouch meat like tuna, and "heat and eat" meals like microwave mashed potatoes, pasta, etc.

Lions' Kitchen has certainly seen an uptick in visits since the beginning of the year.

"This January we had 53 visits, which is up 341% from last year (12 visits in January 2022). And in the fall semester alone, we averaged seven new clients a month," said Wiggins, who attributed part of the increase in visits to having dedicated staff, and another part to their effort to rebrand the free pantry as a support resource.

"We believe that the most important aspect of our work is taking the stigma out of needing support," she said. "Under new management the Lions' Kitchen motto is 'FEED YOUR BRAIN.' Helping students understand that food is as important to their learning as are their books is an important message we work to convey."

Wiggins said the pantry is open to all students, not just those at or below the poverty level like several other local food pantries. She encouraged any student who may have forgotten their lunch, or left their wallet at home or just needs a pack of crackers to tide them over until they get home to drop by the pantry.

Physical donations can be dropped off at the Lions' Kitchen Monday-Thursday from 7:30 a.m.-4 p.m. and Fridays from 7:30 a.m.-1:30 p.m.. Monetary donations can be made through the Wallace State Future Foundation at www.wsccfuturefoundation.org/give by choosing "Lions' Kitchen" from the dropdown menu.

Master Gardeners host Native Azalea and Wildflower Sale

CULLMAN, Ala. — A little bit of after-storm mud wasn't going to stop the Master Gardeners of Cullman County from hosting their Native Azaleas and Wildflower Sale Saturday morning. With funds raised from the sale going toward the continued improvement of the Wildflower Garden at Sportsman Lake Park, the gardeners, as well as specially selected seedlings and clippings, were out bright and early at 8 a.m.

Cullman residents were up and at 'em just as early for the sale, in part to beat the Alabama heat, but mostly to get their hands on native azaleas. Among the wild bergamot and canna lilies, the azaleas were the clear star of the show

Master Gardener Brad Mitchell laughed, "One-hundred-eighty-five azaleas were gone by 9 a.m."

Teri Mobley, another Master Gardener, made sure to note that the plants in the sale were truly locally sourced.

"The plants all either started from seed or propagated from Master Gardeners' own yards," said Mobley.

According to fellow Master Gardener Felicia Roberts, the event itself exceeded the gardeners' expectations; the event sold out and raised over $7,500 in just a couple of hours.

Mobley also hinted at the possibility of this event becoming an annual fundraiser for the Master Gardeners of Cullman County, gesturing at the long check-out line.

"What better way than to serve food to the community?"

He continued, "There are so many good churches in Cullman and we wanted to jump in with them and team up to serve the community. We try to do these community meals at least once a year."

The Link hosts its Community Meal each month on a Thursday, beginning at 6 p.m. Each one is sponsored by local churches, organizations or sometimes businesses. Sponsor volunteers prepare and serve the meals.

'Cats split senior night matchups with Bob Jones, Golden

Nick Griffin
nick@cullmantribune.com

CULLMAN, Ala. – After completing the area sweep of Decatur on the road Thursday night, the 'Cats returned home to Bill Shelton Field Friday night to host a senior night doubleheader. Cullman got things started with a matchup against Bob Jones and before the game with the Golden Demons of Colorado, this year's senior class was honored in front of the home crowd for all their contributions to Bearcat baseball program. This year's senior class includes Riley Jackson, Cody Jones, Patton Elkins, Elijah Hayes, Brody Foxx, Garrett Hall, Easton Peed, John Weston Ray, Tucker Cagle, Paxton Ponder, Grayson Wright, Zane Watwood, Hunter Howell, Kaden Burgess and Cole Floyd.

The Bearcats dropped game one to Bob Jones 11-4 but bounced back to take game two over Golden 10-3.

Bob Jones 11 – Cullman 4 (Game One)

The Patriots came out swinging in the first game of Friday's doubleheader, taking a 4-0 lead in the top of the first with a pair of home runs. An RBI single stretched Bob Jones' lead to 5-0 in the top of the second and the Patriots tacked on another run in the third to make it a 6-0 game.

Bob Jones threatened to score again in the top half of the fourth but the 'Cats rolled a 4-6-3 double play to get out of the jam. The Patriots plated three more runs in the fifth to extend the lead to 9-0 and after scoring another run in the sixth, they led the Bearcats 10-0 going into the bottom of the sixth. However, Cullman was finally able to get some runs on the board in the bottom half of the sixth. Garrett Hall drew a walk to put a runner at first and later in the inning, Paxton Ponder knocked a 2-run bomb over the center field wall to trim the lead to 10-2.

Bob Jones got one of the runs back in the top of the seventh to make it an 11-2 game but the Bearcats did some more damage at the plate in the final frame. Elijah Hayes singled up the middle and Zane Watwood drew a walk to put a pair of runners on the bases for Hunter Howell. A few pitches later, Howell laced a 2-run single into right field to cut the lead to seven but that was all the offense the 'Cats could come up with and the Patriots held on to win it 11-4.

Ponder (HR) and Howell (one hit) each posted a pair of RBIs in the loss.

Cullman 10 – Golden 3 (Game Two)

A 2-run homer gave the Demons a 2-0 lead in the top of the first inning, but the Bearcats responded in the bottom half of the second. After reaching base with a walk, Cole Floyd scored on an error later in the inning to trim the lead to 2-1. One pitch later, another error allowed Elijah Hayes to score and tie the game at 2 and just one pitch after that, Hunter Howell blasted a 2-run home run over the right field wall to give Cullman a 4-2 lead going into the third inning.

A solo home run from the Demons cut the lead to 4-3 in the top of the fourth but Easton Peed scored on an error in the bottom of the fourth to get the run back and keep the 'Cats in front 5-3. Paxton Ponder and Riley Jackson led off the bottom of the fifth with single and a double to give Cullman a pair of runners and Ponder scored on an error later in the inning to make it a 6-3 game. Three pitches later, Hayes drove a 2-run double into left field to plate Jackson and Floyd and stretch the lead to 8-3. A sacrifice fly from Tucker Cagle allowed Garrett Hall to score and make it a 9-3 game going into the sixth inning.

Ponder led off the bottom of the sixth with a triple and a Jackson brought him home to score with a sacrifice fly into center field and Cullman went into the seventh holding on to a 10-3 lead. The Bearcats collected the final three outs in the top of the seventh and wrapped up senior night with a 10-3 win over the Demons.

Cooper Loftin went the distance on the mound and earned the win for the Bearcats, allowing three runs on seven hits and striking out six. Hayes (two RBIs) and Ponder each finished with a pair of hits in the win and Howell (HR) posted a pair of RBIs.

education, health and income stability. Harbison proudly noted the partnerships he grew through the planning and execution of Friday's event. "We sold about 150 tickets, which was all profit due to our amazing partnership with the guys at Hanks Sports Bar & Rumors Deli. They provided and cooked all the crawfish as well as the shrimp, to-go boxes and other items. Additionally, we could not have done it without the donation of all the vegetables from Josh Speakman and the guys at the Brandin' Iron, as well as Goat Island Brewing for letting us host the event there."

Jordan Stricklin, a newer member of UWCC's Young Professionals Board, mentioned that it was refreshing to see the community come together and support each other with United Way as a conduit, sharing, "I am looking forward to seeing how this community makes a difference through United Way."

Campaign Chair of UWCC Board of Directors Brian Poole declared, "It was a perfect night at Goat Island Brewing, who graciously provided the venue, with great music supplied by Gin Town Station and Nitrate City." Poole also bragged on the ownership and staff of Hank's Sports Bar, saying, "They showed up and showed out. It was legit Louisiana flavor that got better with every pot that came off the boil!"

Per Poole, "If you missed the boil, don't worry! We will be back in 2024, even bigger and better than before."

CULLMAN, Ala. — The Cullman County Public Library recently hosted an event with the Cullman County Extension Office to give people tips on how to plan and plant a summer garden.

Cullman County Extension Coordinator Kira Sims covered site prep, seeds and transplants, maintenance and other helpful tips.

At the end of the presentation, attendees were given seeds and instructions for how to plant various vegetables.

The library has also started a seed swap, with Chambers Farm and Garden Supply donating a selection of seeds. Library Director Sharon Townson said she hopes the seed swap will be casual.

Cullman County Library Circulation Manager Laura Benton said, "Eventually, it would be nice if patrons could bring seed back in to share.

"While we are focusing on vegetables right now, it would be nice to add a variety of flower seeds."

As the planting cycles go by, people can dry out their seeds and bring them to the library to donate to the swap. The library will also take prepackaged or store-bought seeds.

Anyone from the community can participate, not just library patrons, and it's free.

The library will try to keep seed envelopes on-hand for people to fill up and/or take home.

The seed swap will be an ongoing project at the library. Find out more at by calling 256-734-1068 or visiting www.facebook.com/cullmancountypubliclibrarysystem.

The library is located at 200 Clark St. NE, Cullman.

Group enjoys meeting at Peinhardt Living History Farm

Tiffany McKoy
tsmckoy@cullmantribune.com

CULLMAN, Ala. — Members of the Cullman Historical Society enjoyed a change of scenery at their meeting on Sunday. The group usually meets at the Cullman County Museum, but this time enjoyed a field trip to Peinhardt Living History Farm.

Members were given a tour of the barn built by Carl Peinhardt in 1933.

Rachel Dawsey, the granddaughter of Carl Peinhardt, led the tour while her father, Bill Peinhardt, gave members a history of the farm and the barn itself.

When asked why he wanted to host the meeting at the barn, Bill Peinhardt said, "I was trying to think of uses for the farm in an educational manner." He said he wants to use the farm for educational purposes. It is the site of the popular Peinhardt Farm Day every year.

Bill Peinhardt told historical society members about the barn dances his father used to host in the early 1930s. He explained that Carl Peinhardt would have his band play and they would charge people to come to the dances.

Both Dawsey and her father had many pictures displayed of the early days of the farm and the barn. Bill Peinhardt showed a diary his mother had kept, detailing the beginning of her relationship with Carl Peinhardt.

Members said they loved listening to Bill Peinhardt talk about his family and were grateful for the opportunity.

Dawsey wanted to remind readers that Peinhardt Farm Day(s) will be Saturday and Sunday, Oct. 14-15, 2023. These are the only days the farm will be open to the public this year.

TIFFANY MCKOY/THE CULLMAN TRIBUNE

Bill Peinhardt shares his family history with members of the Cullman Historical Society Sunday, March 26, at Peinhardt Living History Farm.
