CPD hosts 5 German police officers for STAR program

Lauren Estes
lauren@cullmantribune.com

CULLMAN, Ala. — The City of Cullman and the Cullman Police Department this week hosted five German police officers who are participating in the STAR International Police Exchange Alabama Chapter program.

CPD Administrative Lt. Eric Cole said the STAR program isn't an acronym, but a reference to the traditional star-shaped badges of law enforcement.

"The program has chapters across the United States, Germany and Spain," Cole said. "American officers and STAR members can go to Europe in late spring. European officers travel here in the fall. It is a two-week trip that focuses on introducing each other to our practices, equipment and training. We also try to immerse ourselves in each other's cultures and communities."

While here this year, the group had activi-» PAGE 10

Mason, a Cullman baby currently in the running for the Baby of the Year, hopes to have your support in his journey through the contest.

CULLMAN, Ala. — Mason Oakley, 1, a joyful and bright baby from Cullman, is currently a contestant in the Baby of the Year contest, presented by Jessica Alba, which offers a $25,000 prize, a professional photo shoot and a feature in Good Housekeeping magazine. With the current round of voting ending on Thursday, Sept. 26, Mason is seeking support from his community to help him advance.

Meaghen Oakley, Mason's mom, described him as a "happy-go-lucky" baby who always wakes up with a smile. His love for people and animals shines through in his playful nature, whether he's laughing, clapping, dancing or cheering others on.

"Mason has such a joyful little spirit about him. He is a chatty little fella who tries his best to have a conversation with whomever he is around. He enjoys dancing and listening to music and is the fastest little scooter around. Scooting is his version of crawling," Oakley shared. "Mason is extra special to our family because he is the first grandchild on my side of the family as well as being the first baby in over 30 years."

Beyond his infectious personality, Mason is an active baby who enjoys spending time with family and friends. Being the first baby in over 30 years, Mason has become the missing puzzle piece to an extended family that has now been brought closer together. Jones Chapel VFD getting ladder truck

lauren@cullmantribune.com

JONES CHAPEL, Ala. — The Jones Chapel Volunteer Fire Department will be getting a ladder truck this fall.

Fire Chief Clint Thrasher said the truck is a 1999 Spartan Smeal 75' Aerial ladder truck with a 1,750 GPM (gallon per minute) pump and 400-gallon polypropylene tank.

"So basically it's a typical fire engine with a ladder also," Thrasher said. "We weren't brand specific when shopping, but we were looking for the best value. We didn't buy the 'cheapest' truck out there, but we bought what was the best value. It only has 39,000 miles and very low engine hours."

The department purchased the truck from Brindlee Mountain Fire Apparatus, he said, but the truck is from Lehi, Utah.

"We didn't get a grant for it; we financed the truck through Peoples Bank for five years," he said.

"The main purpose of the truck is to have elevated water. There are very few ladder trucks in the area.

"The last time we needed one, we had to get Vinemont to come out, and it took a while to get it all worked out. Of course, we could use it for rescues, ventilation and technical rescues.

"Elevated water is very useful during fires of large structures and firefighters are having a hard time getting the water to where it needs to be."

Thrasher said the department is blessed to have such great support from the community.

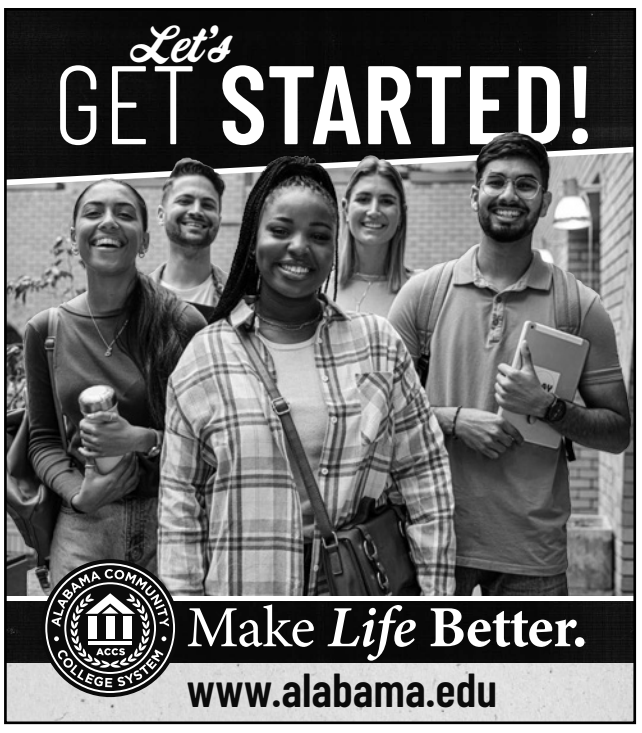

"We are proud to have another tool in our toolbox to help not only our community, but also our neighboring communities," Thrasher said.

The truck will be available to the department in late September.

CULLMAN, Ala. — Nicholas Alexander Breaux, 26, of Birmingham, this week was found not guilty by a Cullman County jury of first-degree rape and first-degree sodomy.

Breaux was indicted back in April 2021 for the alleged incident that occurred in April 2020.

Following the jury's verdict, Cullman County District Attorney Champ Crocker said, "I commend my Assistant District Attorneys Nate Brock and Mike Burleson for trying this difficult case, which was over four years old and had a complicated set of facts. We are not scared of trying cases even when those cases are old and arduous and we will continue to do so. I thank the jury for their service."

Wallace State's Center for Career and Workforce Development launches Powerful Partnerships Program

Special to The Cullman Tribune

HANCEVILLE, Ala. — Wallace State Community College's Center for Career and Workforce Development recently launched its Powerful Partnerships program at the Workforce Training Center on the campus of REHAU in Cullman. The initiative brings together the college and area businesses to drive workforce development and economic growth. Traditions Bank, Cullman Savings Bank, Marshall Medical Center, R.E. Garrison Trucking and Slim Chickens of Cullman committed as inaugural partners, setting the stage for future collaboration.

The Powerful Partnerships initiative is designed to create mutually beneficial relationships between Wallace State and area businesses, offering companies enhanced access to the college's resources while helping equip students with the skills needed to thrive in today's job market.

Vice President for Advancement and Innovation Suzanne Harbin emphasized the Workforce Training Center's pivotal role in this endeavor, underscoring its impact on both students and the broader community.

"Over the last year, the Wallace State Center for Career and Workforce Development has served over 2,700 students through our Adult Education, Workforce Development, Professional Certification and Skills for Success programs.

A significant portion of these students have been served through the Workforce Training Center, and we continue to grow our offerings," said Harbin.

"Our success this last year would not have been possible without the trust and support that business and industry partners have given us to provide these opportunities for their employees to gain personal development, career advancement, skills acquisition and industry certifications.

"Thank you to all our partners and collaborators for your ongoing commitment. Together, we are driving success and opportunity for our students and community, and I am looking forward to the impactful future we will continue to build together through these Powerful Partnerships."

Wallace State serves as a key link between students and potential employers, creating pathways for both professional growth and community development. Bethany Campbell, Director of Employer Engagement and Strategic Partnerships at Wallace State, highlighted the ongoing collaboration between the college and the business community.

"Wallace State has a long-standing tradition of incredible industry and community partners.

"Not only are these companies actively engaged with the college and the training it provides, but they also serve a crucial role for employment of Wallace State students and alumni," Campbell said.

"I look forward to supporting your businesses and organizations through Powerful Partnerships.

"Thank you for the incredible impact that you have on Wallace State and the wonderful community we are a part of."

In addition to providing opportunities for students, the Powerful Partnerships initiative offers business partners a variety of benefits that extend beyond training and education. FAITH: 'Helping others, especially kids, find God is very important to me': Cold Springs' Adriana Young discusses relationship with God

Sammy Confer
sammy@cullmantribune.com

BREMEN, Ala. — Adriana Young is a senior at Cold Springs High School this year and in this interview, she discussed the role that God has played in her life. She shared her favorite Bible verse and talked about how much it means to her.

"Ever since I was little, God has been a very important part of my life. He has made me who I am today, and without Him to pull me through the tribulations of life, I would be in a terrible place. I have never experienced a love greater than the love of God, and I will make it my life's mission to tell others about His goodness," Young said. "One of my favorite Bible verses is James 1:19. It says, 'My dear brothers and sisters, understand this: Everyone should be quick to listen, slow to speak, and slow to anger.' It reminds me in tough times to be the patient and kind person God calls me to be."

Adriana wants to be there for anyone that wants help finding God, and she has so many role models in her own life that she looks up to as well.

"Helping others, especially kids, find God is very important to me. It's a way to provide guidance, support, and a sense of purpose to others who have never had it before. Showcasing God's love to children can positively impact them for the rest of their lives," she said.

"I have had many Godly role models in my life, from my family to my preacher. But there's three people who have stuck out the most the past few years: Kenady Graves, Avery Gerstman, and Bailee Light. They radiate God's love. They show patience, kindness, and love when others can't. They constantly inspire me to be more like God. In every situation, they are a prime example of what Jesus would do."

Adriana was a part of a special mission that has helped out a lot of kids so far, and she wants to continue to be that Godly role model for so many more people.

"One of my favorite missions that I've been a part of has been the FCA association at my school. FCA is a good way to spread the goodness of God to people who may not hear it anywhere else. I have loved it, and it's truly a blessing to be a part of that association," she said.

"It's very important to be a Godly role model to others. God calls us as Christians to stand out in a crowd and to be the light that other people need. We are constantly influencing people every day, no matter your age. That's why God calls us to be steadfast in His word and to be an example of His love, because someone is always watching."

Adriana has continued to inspire a lot of people with her own journey and she talked about some of the traditions she shares with her softball teammates.

"It's truly an honor and such a blessing to be able to inspire others in a way that reflects God's love and guidance. Knowing that I can make a positive difference in someone's life through God's love brings me deep joy and gratitude," she said. "We pray before and after every game to make sure that we dedicate our sport to God."

She gave advice to those people that want a relationship with God but might be new to that kind of experience, and she talked about what she has learned the most during her journey so far.

"My advice to new Christians would be that it's okay to be confused, and it's okay to feel like you don't know what you're doing. God doesn't call us to know; He tells us to listen. The most important thing to do is to put God first. Put God first over everything you do in life, and the rest will come," she said. "What I've learned so far is that it's not going to be easy, but choosing to have a relationship with God is better than living a life without one."

CHS Cross Country off to strong start

Cullman High School's cross-country team kicked off their season with an impressive performance, hosting the Friday Night Lights Distance Carnival. The event featured strong competition from Decatur High School, Vinemont High School, Good Hope High School, and Harmony School, but Cullman's varsity squads dominated on their home course. The varsity girls took first place with a commanding performance, led by Addi Vogelaar, who claimed 1st overall, and Khloe Nalley, who finished 2nd. The top five girls, including Katie Richter, Bella Caretti, and Ann Marie Land, secured places 1-2-4-5-6, totaling an outstanding 18 points to win the meet.

The varsity boys also had a dominant showing, capturing first place with a team score of 24 points. Andrue Barnett led the team with a 2nd place finish, followed closely by Connor Robinson, Cy Dawsey, Henry Crocker, and Dawson Helton. This collective effort placed all five runners in the top seven, showcasing the team's depth and consistency. Both the boys' and girls' teams set the tone for a promising season with their impressive starts at home.

In the following weeks, the Cullman cross-country teams competed in larger invitational meets, including the Pepsi Cross Country Challenge in Moulton and the Chickasaw Trails Invitational in Oakville.

Despite the heightened competition, both teams continued to post solid results. The boys, in particular, have shown excellent pack running, consistently maintaining a 1-5 compression of under 60 seconds in each race, a crucial factor in team scoring and their continued success.

Currently, the team's top performers for the 5k distance are maintaining strong times. For the girls, Mabry Free leads the team with a time of 20:08.11, followed by Addi Vogelaar and Khloe Nalley.

On the boys' side, Henry Crocker holds the fastest time at 17:08.64, with Jacob Taylor and Connor Robinson close behind. With these performances, Cullman cross-country is poised to have a successful season, continuing to build momentum as they head into more competitive meets.

CHS Volleyball defeats Mortimer Jordan to improve to 2-1 in area play

Cullman High School's volleyball team earned a crucial Area victory against Mortimer Jordan at Bearcat Arena, defeating the Blue Devils 3 games to 1. The win improved Cullman's record to 2-1 in Area play, solidifying their position as a strong contender in the race for the top spot. The Bearcats showcased their skill and resilience, particularly in the tightly contested sets, with game scores of 25-21, 25-21, 25-27, and 25-17.

The match opened with Cullman taking the first two sets by identical scores of 25-21. Strong serving and aggressive play at the net helped the Bearcats maintain control, despite Mortimer Jordan's efforts to keep the sets close. Cullman's front line, led by key players who delivered crucial kills and blocks, consistently outpaced their opponents, allowing the Bearcats to build and maintain leads in both sets.

Mortimer Jordan, however, showed their resilience in the third set, battling back in a thrilling back-and-forth contest that extended beyond regulation. They managed to edge out Cullman 27-25, forcing a fourth set and keeping the match alive. Despite this setback, Cullman remained composed and came out strong in the final set, dominating with a score of 25-17. Their energy and precision in the final moments proved too much for Mortimer Jordan to handle.

With the victory, Cullman improved to 2-1 in Area play and gained momentum as the season progresses.

The Bearcats will look to build on this performance and continue their push toward a higher seed in the postseason, while Mortimer Jordan will look to regroup and fight for their next opportunity. The Bearcats' strong showing in front of their home crowd at Bearcat Arena demonstrated their potential and determination as a team.

half-brothers who live out of state, Mason has become the center of attention for the whole family.

"Baby Mason has been the biggest little blessing for our family," Oakley shared.

When asked about a favorite memory with Mason, Oakley recalled Mason's first beach trip with his friend Walker. "Watching Mason touch the sand and play in the ocean for the very first time is something I will never forget. It was extremely special to me that he got to share that with me as well as his little buddy Walker. They're just six weeks apart, and I hope that was the first of many beach trips together."

With $25,000 up for grabs, his family looks to provide for the future of their three boys.

"It would be a huge blessing if Mason was chosen to be the Baby of the Year. We would be able to share his joyous light with others all over.

"The $25,000 would be a huge blessing and we would use the earnings towards our three boy's futures, whether it's with college or elsewhere," Oakley explained.

The contest has not only provided the family with a fun opportunity to showcase Mason's cheerful spirit, but it has also brought attention to Baby2Baby, a nonprofit organization that benefits from donations made through the voting process. Baby2Baby provides diapers, clothing and other essential items to children living in poverty.

"In the last 13 years, Baby2Baby has distributed over 450 million essential items to families in need across the country. Baby2Baby is reaching over one million children every year in all 50 states," according to the contest website.

Currently, Mason sits at No. 3 in the contest rankings. Voting for Mason can be done daily until the close of the current round on Thursday, Sept. 26.

To vote for Mason, visit www.babyoftheyear.org/2024/mason-oakley. Any monetary donations made through the contest are in support of Baby2Baby and are tax deductible.

Mason's mother expressed gratitude for the support they've received so far.

"Thank you for all the encouraging words, love and support that have been given to baby Mason already.

"We truly appreciate all your votes and look forward to seeing how far he goes with the contest. Please continue to vote daily as well as share with others," she said.

"Mason is a huge ray of sunshine that will always turn anyone's cloudy day bright! Vote for Mason!"

BOOK REVIEW: 'Calamity of Souls' by David Baldacci

Cathy Lay Mayor
Tribune Contributor

"Calamity of Souls" is set in southern Virginia in 1968, a time when George Wallace was running for president of the United States on a platform of unity. Unity meaning separation of Blacks and Whites. It was also the Jim Crow era and during the Vietnam war. Baldacci said this book is somewhat autobiographical because he grew up in the 60s and 70s and wanted to be an attorney.

Jerome Washington is employed as a gardener for a wealthy white couple in Franklin County, Virginia. The couple thinks highly of him and has even had his family over for a cookout and to swim in the pool. It is Friday afternoon and Jerome is to be paid for the week's work.

He goes to the back door and knocks, but there is no answer. He goes to the front door, but no one answers. He goes back to the back door and enters the home.

He finds both the husband and wife on the floor covered in blood. Before he can go for help, the police arrive. He is immediately taken into custody on the charge of double homicide.

Robert "Jack" Lee is a local attorney who has been in practice a few years. He is asked to take the case to defend Jerome. He is hesitant to take the case, but he agrees to visit him at the county jail.

When Jack sees Jerome, who has been beaten and is obviously suffering from broken ribs, he decides to take the case.

Jack is struggling to gather evidence, and one of Wallace's backers is trying to insure that Jerome is convicted.

With his influence, the death penalty is reinstated. The prosecuting attorney surprises Jack by charging Jerome's wife, Pearl, as an accomplice to murder.

When Jack is at a low point, Desiree Dubose, a Black civil rights attorney from the North, arrives to help. She has a reputation of defending Black peoples' rights and winning more cases than losing.

Jack and Desiree begin interviewing possible witnesses and trying to find evidence to prove that Jerome and Pearl are innocent. Jack and Desiree experience more hatred and racism than Jack expected, but Desiree is not surprised.

I found this book reminiscent of "To Kill A Mockingbird," one of my all-time favorites. It involves a White man defending an innocent Black man, which brings hatred onto his family.

As in "To Kill a Mockingbird," the themes are man's inhumanity to man, the cruelness of mob mentality, courage, empathy and the importance of family.

I have read other books set in the 1960s and have been appalled by the use of the "N" word. Baldacci has found a way to convey the epithet without actually using it. I found it much easier to read and was not offended.

David Baldacci published his first novel, "Absolute Power," in 1996. The feature film adaptation followed, with Clint Eastwood as its director and star.

In total, David has published 50 novels for adults; all have been national and international bestsellers, and several have been adapted for film and television.

His novels are published in over 45 languages and in more than 80 countries, with 150 million copies sold worldwide. David has also published seven novels for young readers. (www.davidbaldacci.com)

Cathy Lay Mayor grew up in Cullman and graduated from Cullman High School in 1976. She says when she writes book reviews, she tries to remember what Mrs. Gilbert taught her in 11th-grade English. She lived in Dothan for more than 30 years and is married with three adult children and six grandchildren. She retired to Panama City, but still calls Alabama home.

Berlin (from Front)

craig@cullmantribune.com

BERLIN, Ala. — The Berlin Town Council on Monday, Sept. 16, passed a $1.9 million 2025 budget, including projected expenses from the Town's three funds and with $846,200 carried over from the 2024 budget. In addition to carried-over funds, the budget projects $1,295,200 in revenues. Despite high numbers and big ticket projects, the budget still predicts an end-of-year surplus of $185,200.

Big projected expenses include:

- $550,000 for the Town's park and recreation project, plus $55,000 for architectural services and engineering related to the project
- $300,000 for road work on Mt. Carmel Drive
- $90,000 for payroll and related personnel expenses
- $75,000 for road work on County Roads 1612 and 1614

Recognizing Town Clerk Keirstyn Montgomery's recent completion of her last government accounting certification, and noting that state regulations will require clerks at her tenure to be paid at least $58,000 in the coming year unless the Town tracks overtime, the council voted to raise her salary to $60,000.

As of the end of this farmers market season, she will be at town hall five days per week, and the Town will seek an assistant manager for the market next year.

Mayor Patrick Bates announced that the Town received a $5,000 state Resource Conservation and Development grant to help pay for handicap-accessible restrooms.

The council had previously decided to hold off on that project, but on Monday determined to renew its plans, voting to secure architectural services for the farmers market and park from Birmingham-based CCR Architecture and Interiors.

NOW THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED THAT THE FOLLOWING ORDINANCE SHALL BE ADOPTED AND MADE A PART OF THE PERMANENT RECORDS OF THE CITY OF HANCEVILLE, ALABAMA that:

SECTION 1. LICENSE FROM CITY:
1.1. No person shall operate a tattoo facility or establishment or engage in the practice or business of tattooing as a tattoo operator or as a tattoo artist or body piercing operator unless such person shall first secure a license from the state department of health, and then from the city clerk. Applications for such license shall be made in writing on a form prescribed by the city clerk.
1.2. Each tattoo facility and artist shall obtain a business license before performing any tattoo work.

An owner/operator shall only be required to obtain one license for tattooing and tattoo facility.
1.3. The cost for a business license for a tattoo facility shall be the same as the license for a beauty salon.
1.4. The cost for a business license for a body piercing facility or person who performs body piercing shall be the same as the license for a beauty salon. An owner/operator shall only be required to obtain one license for body piercing.

SECTION 2 OPERATION OF TATTOO FACILITIES: All requirements set forth in Code of Alabama Section 22-17A-1 et seq (the "Code") and any amendments made to said provisions hereafter are hereby incorporated by reference. All such places, individuals and businesses shall maintain the premises in which tattoos and body piercings are performed and equipment is used in the tattoo or body piercing process in a sanitary manner as specified in the above named codes/statutes and as stated herein. Body piercing may only be performed in a Tattoo Facility.

SECTION 3. DEFINITIONS: All definitions set forth in Code of Alabama Section 22-17A-1 et seq and as amended hereafter are hereby incorporated by reference (and are not being repeated in this ordinance). Tattoo and Body Piercing for the purposes of this ordinance does not include practices that are considered medical or dental procedures by the state medical or dental board. Nor does this definition include piercing of the lobe of the ear with pre-sterilized single-use stud-and-clasp ear-piercing systems. Unless the context specifically indicates otherwise, the meaning of the additional terms used in this ordinance shall be as follows:
3.1. Body Piercing means the perforation of human tissue other than ear for a nonmedical purpose.
3.2. Branding means a permanent mark made on human tissue by burning with a hot iron or other instrument.
3.3 Cutting means a method of extreme body modification and scarification which creates scars on the skin by using a sharp object, such as a scalpel or knife, to cut into the skin. Cutting is differentiated from a method called "Skin Peeling" in that no tissue is removed to create the scar during the cutting method.
3.4. Dermal Punching means a method of creating piercings in the body, which removes a segment of tissue, as opposed to traditional piercing, which makes a half moon shaped slice in the tissue. It is generally used when large gauge jewelry insertion is desired at the time of the procedure.
3.5. Facility has the meaning set forth in the Code.
3.6. Implantation means a form of extreme body modification where items such as shaped metal or other foreign bodies are placed under the skin to produce the outline and texture of the desired image on the surface of the skin or a protrusion from the surface of the body.
3.7. Minor means an individual under 18 years of age who is not emancipated. An emancipated minor is or has been married or has by court order otherwise been legally freed from the care, custody, and control of his or her parents.
3.8. Nullification is the voluntary removal of body parts. Most commonly this means castration (and sometimes penectomy), amputation of fingers or toes, or, in extreme cases, removal of full limbs.

3.9. Scarification means a form of extreme body modification that uses methods or techniques to produce scars on the human body for decorative purposes. Examples of Scarification methods include Branding, Cutting, and Skin Peeling.
3.10. Skin Peeling means a technique of extreme body modification and scarification which consists of cutting on the human body the outline of a design and removing the center, thereby creating a scar where the skin was removed.
3.11. Suspension Piercing means the act of hanging the human body from or partially from hooks pierced through the flesh in various places around the body.
3.12. Tattoo means an indelible mark made upon the body of another individual by the insertion of a pigment in or under the skin or an indelible design upon the body of another individual by production of scars other than by branding. For the purposes of this ordinance, same shall not refer to services normally performed in a Beauty Salon such as permanent makeup.
3.13. Tattoo Facility means the geographic location at which an individual does one or more of the following for compensation:
3.13.1. Places an indelible mark upon the body of another individual by the insertion of a pigment in or under the skin.
3.13.2. Places an indelible design upon the body of another individual by production of scars.
3.13.3. Performs body piercing.
3.14. Tongue Bifurcation means a non-surgical process in which the tongue is split with the use of lasers or nylon material.
3.15. Tongue Splitting means a surgical procedure in which the tongue is cut centrally from its tip part of the way towards its base, forking the end.

SECTION 4. OPERATOR RESPONSIBILITIES: The tattoo and/or body piercing Facility operator has the responsibility to notify the City Clerk of any change of ownership of the Facility or new tattoo artists at the Facility within five (5) business days of its occurrence. The notice must be made in writing to the City Clerk (via letter, fax, email). Failure to notify within five (5) business days of either item listed above will result in an automatic twenty-five dollar ($25) fine being assessed for each occurrence (payable within 5 business days) and possible revocation of license.

SECTION 5. TATTOO ARTIST AND BODY PIERCER RESPONSIBILITIES INCLUDING MINIMUM TRAINING AND CERTIFICATION REQUIREMENTS: The following information shall be kept on file on the premises of a tattoo and body piercing facility and available for immediate inspection by the City upon request:

under this subsection in the presence of the individual performing the tattooing, branding, or body piercing on the minor or in the presence of an employee or agent of that individual.

Opposite each land use, in the appropriate district column or columns, the letter "P" identifies those districts in which a particular land use is permitted and the letter "C" identifies those districts in which a particular land use may be permitted only as conditional use upon approval of the Planning Commission unless otherwise noted. All uses whether permitted by right or approved as a conditional use are subject to all of the requirements of this Ordinance.
7.1.3. The Amendment shall become effective after appropriate public hearing.
7.2. ties in Huntsville, Madison, Decatur, Hartselle, Cullman, Oxford and Montgomery and has been exposed to local law enforcement, fire and rescue and state and local government facilities.

Cole shared his excitement and expressed gratitude for his involvement in the program.

"Being part of the STAR International Police Exchange program is a great opportunity to bridge cultures and enhance our policing skills," Cole said. "Hosting our German colleagues in Cullman allowed us to learn from their experiences while showcasing our community and practices. It's a mutually beneficial experience that reinforces the value of global cooperation in law enforcement."

According to City of Cullman Marketing and Public Relations Coordinator Mary Beth Sellers, activities included a helicopter ride with pilot Gene Bates, hiking at Hurricane Creek Park, lunch at the police department, visiting the Warehouse District and practicing at the shooting range. On Thursday, they also visited Hank's Sports Bar & Rumors Deli and Cullman Fire Rescue.

"It aims to enhance collaboration, share best practices and promote cultural understanding through reciprocal hosting and hands-on experiences in diverse policing environments," Sellers said.

JACKSONVILLE, Ala. — Cassandra Peterson of Holly Pond is one of seven student contributors to Jacksonville State University's student-run news outlet, The Chanticleer, and the student-run radio station, WLJS 91.9 FM, who have been named finalists for Pinnacle Awards by the College Media Association. The Pinnacle Awards recognize excellence in student contributions in news and media production on college campuses.

This year, student members working with WLJS 91.9 FM are finalists for Best Audio Newscast (Tanner Kughn), Best Audio Sportscast (Hayden Coker) and Best Audio Promotion or PSA (Aidan Cathey, Katie Cushing, Cassie Peterson). On the print news side, The Chanticleer contributors are in consideration for Best Feature Story (Anna Barrett), Best Profile (Madeline Ricard), Best Feature Story (Maddie Reid), and the organization is up for Website of the Year (jsuchanticleer.com).

Professor of Public Relations and Advertising and The Ayers Family Endowed Chair of Journalism and Mass Communication at Jacksonville State University, Dr. Chris McCollough, commented on the growing body of accomplishments from the student contributors at both outlets: "Our student staffs have helped ensure that students who make the time to engage with student media on our campus are gaining industry-relevant experience and building an industry-ready portfolio."

He added, "Their hard work is leading to a growing body of award-winning accomplishments, which complement and elevate the value of their education here in the Department of Communication and at Jacksonville State University."

The announcement of seven finalists reflects growth in accomplishment from both outlets since the 2023 award year, when student staff members with The Chanticleer had four finalists for recognition in the student news competitions, winning three awards. The College Media Association, founded in 1954, has long been dedicated to supporting and recognizing excellence in student media. Competing in the Division II category for news and audio, Jacksonville State University's students are up against top media programs at institutions such as Vanderbilt University, Hofstra University and Loyola Marymount.

In the PSA category, they are competing with submissions from programs like Michigan State, Syracuse University and the University of South Carolina.

Both WLJS 91.9 FM and The Chanticleer maintain editorial autonomy and are run by students, with faculty advisory support from the Department of Communication and its Student Media Advisor, Ben Cunningham. Students, regardless of major, are encouraged to engage with Jacksonville State University's student media outlets as contributors or to work as part of the paid senior staff.

Becoming involved not only offers real-world experience, but also opens doors to national recognition, just like the students named as Pinnacle Award finalists this year.

Interested students can stop by the Department of Communication or visit the student media offices to learn more about how to get involved.

"It's an honor to be selected as an inaugural Shelby Scholar," said Samad Gillani, president of the Student Government Association from Hoover, Alabama. We know that these students will be leaders in the future in many fields, and our goal is to help prepare them for successful careers."

As part of their curriculum, Shelby Scholars will participate in two exclusive classes this academic year: a speaker series featuring local, state and national leaders and a course on the Constitution's role in modern society led by former UA Law School Dean and Shelby Institute Academic Director Mark E. Brandon.

Shelby Scholars will also receive curated professional mentoring and education to participate in selective experiential learning opportunities like internships and undergraduate research.

Charles Neil Glasscock, 91

It is with deep sorrow that we announce the passing of Charles Neil Glasscock, who left us on the 16th of September, 2024, at the venerable age of 91. Neil drew his first breath on June 3, 1933, in Cullman, Alabama, and lived a life characterized by unwavering integrity, devotion, and duty to service. Neil was a product of East Elementary and Cullman High School, and his thirst for knowledge led him to further his education at the University of North Alabama and the University of Alabama. He ultimately received his Juris Doctor from Atlanta Law School. This educational journey laid the groundwork for a notable career in federal law enforcement. A proud veteran of the Korean War and a Lt. Colonel in the Army Reserve, Neil's patriotism and valor were integral to his identity. His commitment to his country was both admirable and inspiring. Professionally, Neil was esteemed for his role as a federal agent in the Treasury Department and later as a Deputy Director at the Federal Law Enforcement Training Center in Glynco, Georgia. His unwavering commitment to upholding justice and his leadership in the development of law enforcement officers stood as a testament to his professional excellence. Neil's passion for photography earned him accolades as an award-winning photographer. His ability to capture the beauty of the natural world and the essence of life was not only a source of personal fulfillment but also brought wonder and delight to those who witnessed his craft. Neil's existence was a living embodiment of his core principles: fidelity, service, and distinction. Preceded in death by his son Whitney, Neil's legacy is carried on by his son Greg, his beloved wife Ann Gibson Glasscock, and his grandson Gregory. His memory will be cherished by his family, friends, and all those fortunate enough to have known him. His service to his nation and his community leaves an indelible mark that will be remembered with reverence and affection. A memorial will be held in Cullman at a later date.

BILLY BOB'S STORIES AND STUFF

It was one of those nights

Bill King
Tribune
Contributor

It is 2:00 on a Thursday. No, not 2:00 in the afternoon. I'm upstairs in my office writing what you are now reading. You might ask, "Why are you writing at 2:00 in the morning?" The real question is, "Why am I up at 2:00 in the morning?" Well, I think it has something to do with my age. It's definitely not the coffee. Maybe it is the fear that we might have bad weather. It is raining outside, but not like we had expected. Considering that Hurricane Francine made landfall in Louisiana last night, it's not bad here in Central Alabama. I hear my windchimes on the back porch, but it is a slow, soft melody they are playing. The wind is barely blowing.

They say 60 is the new 40. I guess they say that because we live longer these days. We are also much healthier (and perhaps more immature) than people used to be at 60. I do know for certain that 60 is not nearly as old as it once was. Back when I was 30, 60 was old. Now that I'm staring at 70 and wondering what happened, 60 is young, and 30, well that must be the new teenage years. Now, old doesn't start until somewhere around 90.

I used to hear people say, "Life begins at 40...it begins to go downhill." Things begin to hurt that we used to not even know we had! Body parts that once worked well, have retired!

Honestly, I enjoyed really good health until I hit 60, so maybe 60 really is the new 40. That being said, if 60 is the new 40, then midnight must be the new 9:00!

I think now I'm beginning to understand why I'm up at 2:00 in the morning. I turned in at 9:00 last night. Lately, I go to bed at 9:00 almost every night. When I was younger, I was a night owl. I rarely called it a day before midnight. Midnight is the official ending of each day, so I guess I thought let's get everything we can out of this day before we start on a new one.

Back then, I could sleep in until 10:00 if I had the opportunity. I rarely had that opportunity, but I could easily hang in there until 7:00 or 8:00...could and did. But these days, while I am still barely enjoying the new 40s, 7:00 would be sleeping in. I used to require eight, or maybe even nine hours each night. If I get six these days, I'm happy and not too cranky the next day. Well, don't ask Jean about that last part...she might not agree.

They say that life makes a cycle. That we become like a child again when we get older. Perhaps so, I have noticed myself doing some childish things lately. When I was a child, before my teenage years, I remember my bedtime being 9:00...except on Tuesday nights. Mom let me stay up and watch The Fugitive on Tuesdays and it didn't go off until 10:00. So, I've come full circle and back to going to bed at 9:00 most nights. The Fugitive doesn't come on anymore.

Well, it's almost 4:00 now, and I've rambled on long enough. I've reached my wordcount, plus I'm getting a little tired. I think I'll go back to bed and sleep in...maybe until 7:00! Oh, wait, I can't sleep that late, I've got early pickleball this morning! Life is good and God is great, even in my 40s and at 2:00 in the morning! Have a blessed day!

POET'S CORNER

Pied Beauty | By: Gerard Manley Hopkins, 1844-1889

Glory be to God for dappled things –
For skies of couple-colour as a brinded cow;
For rose-moles all in stipple upon trout that swim;
Fresh-firecoal chestnut-falls; finches' wings;
Landscape plotted and pieced – fold, fallow, and plough;
And áll trádes, their gear and tackle and trim.

All things counter, original, spare, strange;
Whatever is fickle, freckled (who knows how?)
With swift, slow; sweet, sour; adazzle, dim;
He fathers-forth whose beauty is past change:
Praise him.
