Berlin Town Council gets park update, talks member pay rates, readies for road work

Town will hold public hearing in December to consider vacating road

W.C. Mann
craig@cullmantribune.com

BERLIN, Ala. — The Berlin Town Council on Monday heard about updates and upgrades to its development plans for the park and farmers market around town hall on U.S. Highway 278.

According to Mayor Patrick Bates, everything is moving ahead according to plan. He did note an upgrade to the plan with downspout collection lines to all planned structures after being informed that doing so would only require an extra 90 feet of pipe. All drainage will go to an on-site detention pond.

Informed of the cost and other issues involved in taking down the current farmers market structure and reassembling it elsewhere on the site, Bates recommended that the building be surplused and sold, to be replaced with a new building. The » PAGE 5

CULLMAN, Ala. — Wednesday was an exciting day at Cullman's Hilltop Community Center. Local, state and national officials gathered to celebrate the Cullman Housing Authority's (CHA) 75th anniversary.

CHA Executive Director Marquisha Griffin was excited to welcome everyone to the community center for the occasion.

"This is a milestone for not just CHA, but the entire community of Cullman, a moment to reflect on the journey that we've made and the bright future that lies ahead," Griffin said.

Cullman Mayor Woody Jacobs stepped up to the podium next to present a proclamation commemorating the CHA's 75th anniversary to Griffin, thanking her for all the work she's put in since accepting the position

"We really appreciate (Griffin) being here. We've formed a friendship and we're going to continue to be friends and assist in any way that we can," Jacobs said. "Cullman is different in a lot of ways and that's because we work together."

The Proclamation reads in part, request was approved unanimously.

Town government pay rates

The council also discussed pay rates for its members and the mayor. Currently, neither Mayor Bates nor any council members receive any pay beyond reimbursement for work-related expenses. All members seemed satisfied with the free arrangement or some minimal pay, but Bates said that the Town would need to have an ordinance in place before next year's elections.

The council will consider the matter over the next few months.

Request to vacate road and right of way

The council received a request to vacate an unnamed and currently unused road and right-of-way from resident Bobby Hill.

Due to mislocation of property lines, the right-of-way includes structures on the resident's property. The council will hold a public hearing on the request at its next meeting.

County Roads 1612 and 1614

Bates told the council that he had received a $75,000 bid for work on County Roads 1612 and 1614, the previously approved spending limit on the current part of the project, with included repairs to washed out areas.

Work is expected to begin next week while county schools are out for Thanksgiving, and should take about two weeks to complete.

The Berlin Town Council meets at 7 p.m. on the third Monday of each month at Berlin Town Hall. The public is invited to attend.

CULLMAN, Ala. — One of the United Way of Cullman County's most popular annual events - Designer Bag Bingo - took place Thursday, Nov. 7, bringing in a record-breaking $40,000.

Attendees paid a $50 fee to play, with a wide variety of designer handbags up for grabs, all donated by local businesses. Funds raised, including donations, go to the nonprofit's General Fund to be allocated to its 18 partner agencies, meaning all the money stays right here in Cullman County to help those in need in the community.

Marketing Assistant Morgan Dingler shared, "We had a great turnout. We sold out of our seats and tables. We had over 600 hundred attendees this year!"

Women United Board Chair Katie Brown announced the Designer Bag Bingo Table Host Awards.

"This year, we are incredibly grateful to have award sponsors from The National for the host who collected the most tips. The award goes to Mr. Steve Moore, former board member of United Way of Cullman County, and employee at Walmart (Distribution Center), one of our major donors. Thank you for your dedication and support!" she said.

"In addition, we are excited to share that we've partnered with Pin High Cullman to offer a 3-month free membership as a special award for a host who collected a minimum of $250 in tips.

"We are pleased to announce that this year's winner is Mr. Brandon Bone with Davidson Homes. A big thank-you to Brandon and Davidson Homes, who are proud Tier 1 Business Alliance Members of United Way. Your support means so much to us!" she continued. "We would also like to extend our thank-you to every single host and bag model who volunteered this year. This event wouldn't have been nearly as successful without you all!"

ing Authority. The Housing Authority was established in 1949 with the first tenant moving in in 1952. The last development was completed in 1967. For 75 years, the Housing Authority has fulfilled its mission to provide safe and decent housing for Cullman County residents. They are equipped and ready to continue providing these services for many years to come. And whereas, the City of Cullman is pleased to commemorate the Cullman Housing Authority's 75th anniversary with this certificate of recognition.

After a video presentation that highlighted more of the CHA's impact within the community, Alabama Field Office Director Kenneth Free introduced the event's keynote speaker, U.S. Department of Housing & Urban Development Regional Administrator Jennifer Riley Collins. Collins began her remarks by recognizing Griffin for all she has done and is doing in the community.

"This is amazing, and it speaks to how we work together. Public Housing Authority Executive Directors from across the state to be in this room and partner with (Griffin) and that speaks to who she is," Collins said. "That speaks to the way she is operating in this housing community so please know that you have tapped the right person for the right time for this job. So, I'll say to you, Ms. Griffin, when it gets hard, you have the right heart. Keep going, because you're doing the right thing of making sure that the residents in the housing community are taken care of."

Collins shared stories from her own life and upbringing to emphasize how important the housing issue is to her.

"It is the ripple effect of safe and secure housing that you see standing before you. Because I had a safe house, I was able to thrive academically, I had good health, I had increased economic ability, and I had strengthened community bonds," Collins said. "So, I encourage you all to work together to make sure that another little girl who may be growing up in a housing authority near you, has the same opportunities that were afforded me. What I had was a safe place to call home, a safe place to go home and a community that surrounded me and made sure I stayed on the right track."

Collins has been excited to see the housing community in Cullman continue to grow and develop and hopes to see that progress spread throughout the rest of the country as well.

"As this housing community progresses, so shall Cullman, so shall Huntsville, so shall Birmingham, so shall the state of Alabama and so shall the United States of America," Collins said. "It does not matter who is in the White House, everybody needs a safe place to call home."

In closing, Griffin shared some final remarks with the crowd, highlighting what CHA has accomplished in the past 75 years and setting new goals for the next 75.

"Together I hope we will tackle the challenges of affordable housing. I pledge to work towards solutions that address housing insecurity, build a stronger community and ensure that every family in Cullman has a fair shot at success. We will create not just houses, but homes. Homes that are places of safety, opportunity and hope.

"As we look ahead to the next 75 years, I challenge each of us to think beyond bricks and mortars," Griffin said. "Let's think about the lives that will be transformed, the families that will flourish and the children who will grow up in communities of opportunity. Together we have the power to make the next 75 years even more impactful than the last. The journey of the Cullman Housing Authority will be one of collaboration, perseverance and hope. I look forward to working with all of you as we continue to make Cullman a place where everyone can thrive."

WEST POINT, Ala. — The Brandin' Iron Steakhouse's ninth annual Veterans Day Thanks-Giving Appreciation Dinner will take place Monday, Nov. 25, from noon-6 p.m.

Brandin' Iron General Manager Josh Speakman said the event averages around 1,100 meals in-house for the day.

"We provide a homemade traditional Thanksgiving menu featuring turkey, dressing, ham, sweet potato casserole, green beans, dinner roll and variety of homemade desserts," he said. "We have so many people who pour in and make this a memorable meal."

Cullman VFW POST 2214 Commander Brian Monk said the group tries to take care of every veteran and their families all year long.

"We try our best to assist them with whatever life may throw their way, whether it's good or bad," he said.

"Our goal is that no veteran or their family should have to do without. The holidays can be rough and hard for some. It can also be rewarding. This year once again we will partner with the Brandin' Iron in West Point to feed over 1,100 veterans and family members for the ninth year in a row. Some of those wouldn't have a Thanksgiving meal without us. A lot of veterans just enjoy being around other vets! Veteran families can come in and enjoy a meal with us."

Monk thanked the community for the donations, time and effort that help make the meal possible.

"We also are so thankful for our local sheriff's office for helping us deliver meals to our home-bound veterans," he said. "Oh, and I cannot say thank you enough to all my VFW and Auxiliary members along with the many volunteers from the Brandin' Iron that really make all this possible by cooking all the wonderful and delicious food. Once again to all that have helped, donated or will be helping, thank you from the bottom of our hearts."

When asked about memories stick out to him over the years, Speakman said there are too many specific memories to name just a few.

"But the best of times generates from sharing in the fellowship amongst the guests and our local heroes," Speakman said. "We are always so blessed to do this event for the community."

He said to call 256-739-1112 to schedule a delivery of a meal to a home-bound veteran. Deliveries will be made by the Cullman County Sheriff's Office.

The ninth annual Veterans Day Thanks-Giving Appreciation Dinner will take place Monday, Nov. 25, from noon-6 p.m. at The Brandin' Iron Steakhouse, located at 87 County Road 1242. All local veterans and their families are welcome. This event is completely free.
